HOTELS MAKING READY FOR 4.4

the permit can be obtained, the 4.4 may be obtainable there.

The Louis Cafe will not stock the beer if curtains and partitions must be removed. They do not intend sacrificing the appearance of their establishment for gastronomic acrobats on the part of beer absorbers.

The Albion Sweets will not consider dispensing 4.4 whatever.

The proprietor of a confectionery shop says that with him it will be pastry or beer, but not both. He says, "Cakes and beer won't mix as a business proposition. If I start selling 4.4, I stop baking."

The proprietors of the Dominion Cafe will not handle the new beer as they believe it would interfere with their present patronage.

The regulations state that there must be no sale of the beer on Sunday, and that the beverage rooms must be closed by eleven o'clock, and remain so till seven the following morning.

Beer may be served with meal in hotel dining rooms or to guests of the house in their rooms, but the room in which it is served to outside customers must have the bar either removed or boarded to a height of at least 6 feet 6 inches from the floor or 1 foot from the ceiling, and there must be no obstruction such as partitions, screens or blinds interfering with the view from the street.

A fee of $5,000 is being imposed by the Ontario Government to be paid by brewers outside the province who sell their products to Ontario trade, and $200 will be exacted from Ontario brewers, making the new 4.4 beer.

A nominal fee of $10 must be paid by the hotel-keepers and others who intend retailing the beverage which sum will be returned if the permit is not granted.

SAYS RESTORATION OF MASS IS OBJECT

Sir Joynson-Hicks Chides Anglo-Catholics With Leaning to Rome.

LONDON, May 13 (Canadian Press Cable).—Presiding at the annual conference of the National Church League yesterday, Sir William Joynson-Hicks, Home Secretary, made a vigorous protest against "Romanization" of the Church of England. Sir William chided the Anglo-Catholics with bad temper, and said that the driving force behind their movement was the return, in some form or other, to the pre-Reformation service of the Mass.

Perusal of church papers, he continued, showed a gradual encroachment, particularly in the villages of England, of services approximating those of the Roman Catholic Church which were being forced upon the congregations. Proceeding to criticise some bishops for giving up the attempt to check encroachments Sir William took a fling at the Right Rev. Arthur Foley Winnington-Ingram, Bishop of London, for "writing a very friendly and commendatory letter to the rector of the well-known high church of St. Magnus the Martyr."

The annual report of the league stated that the campaign against Romanizing the Prayer Book was continuing unremittingly. It declared that if the schemes regarding the Prayer Book revision, patronage in ecclesiastical courts, and other matters already before the Church Assembly were not seriously modified the evangelicals might ultimately find themselves forced outside the Church of England.

In conclusion the report of the council called attention to the great urgency for a vigorous campaign on behalf of Reformation principles.

The financial statement of the league showed a deficit of £2,400.

MME. CAILLAUX IS BACK AGAIN

Then in January, 1918, came Caillaux's arrest upon orders of Premier Georges Clemenceau. After two years under guard, he was convicted of commerce and correspondence with the enemy, something akin to treason.

Madame Caillaux suffered the vicissitudes of banishment with her husband, who was deprived of his political rights and forbidden to enter the larger cities of France.

Now with her husband's return to power, she is again in the foremost rank of French society—and making the most of it.

Cherries first were brought to Europe from Keasunt, on the Black Sea, by Luculus about 70 B.C.

W. C. T. U. BOYCOTTS GROCERS WHO HANDLE NEW 4.4 BEER

Campbellford Branch Passes Resolution Unanimously and Asks Aid.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Mrs. R. C. Weston is Chosen as President—Annual Meeting Yesterday.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 13.—The annual meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Moore, Grand Road, with a good attendance present.

A very interesting address on temperance was given by Mrs. J. H. Bell, B.A.

A resolution was unanimously carried that the members of the W.C.T.U. do not deal with any grocer who handles 4.4 beer, and that the temperance women be invited to co-operate with the members of the W.C.T.U. in this matter.

President: Mrs. R. C. Weston.
1st Vice-President: Mrs. Robert Moore.
2nd Vice-President: Mrs. J. H. Bell.
3rd Vice-President: Mrs. Robert Bibby.
Recording Secretary: Mrs. Harry Sperry.
Corresponding Secretary: Mrs. Samuel Johnston.
Treasurer: Mrs. Henry Bakes.
Pianist: Mrs. C. W. Turner.
Auditor: Mrs. C. W. Turner.
Supt. Evangelistic Work: Mesdames Robt. Moore and Edward Scarlett.
Supt. Travellers' Aid: Mesdames Robt. Moore and W. G. Fraser.
Supt. Scientific Temperance: Mrs. W. H. Ashton.
Press Supts.: Mesdames Herbert Shore and W. I. Stillman.
Supts. Law Enforcement: Mesdames R. C. Weston and C. W. Turner.
Supts. Flowers and Fruit: Mesdames I. L. Diamond and William J. Hall.
Parlor Supt.: Mrs. Robt. Bibby.

The usual donation was sent to the Children's Aid Society, Port Hope, and a contribution was also sent to the Budget Fund.

The hostess then served a very dainty lunch, for which a hearty vote of thanks was tendered.

CONSCIENCE WON.

BRIGHTON, Eng., May 12.—The conscience of a Brighton woman troubled her greatly because several years before she stole a cake at a cookery class. She has sent the school board three penny stamps.

AMY LOWELL DEAD.

BROOKLINE, Mass., May 13.—Miss Amy Lowell, the poet and sister of President A. Lowell, of Harvard University, died suddenly at her home here of a paralytic stroke late yesterday afternoon.

GRANT TO LIBRARY OF CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, May 13—The Public Library Board has received the following communication from W. O. Carson of Toronto, Inspector of Libraries:

I have just signed a recommendation for a grant of $248.52 for your library. On the whole, your report is pleasing, but your expenditure for fiction is rather large in proportion. The patronage of your library is very large, lending more than nine books per capita. With such a very large service, you really need more money than you had in 1924. While you obtained from the council 50 cents per capita, you have a call for service that requires more than that amount. The people are evidently behind your library.

W. O. Carson,
Inspector of Public Libraries

The circulation of the library so far this year has reached the high total of 10,360. There has been a large number of new books placed upon the library shelves including a number of books on electricity.

$30 A PERSON FOR ALIEN SMUGGLING

Charles McCarthy Said to Have Taken Across 100 a Week.

DETROIT, May 13 (Canadian Press).—Charles McCarthy of Windsor, Ont., was arrested here yesterday and with his arrest, the police believe that on "underground railroad" for aliens wishing to enter the United States illegally has been stopped.

W. F. Brooke, chief of the immigration border patrols, said that the department had evidence against McCarthy that indicated he had been bringing in approximately 100 aliens a week at an average of $30 a person.

I.O.D.E. Meeting

The regular meeting of the Bemerside chapter of the I.O.D.E. was held on Thursday evening at 7.30 in the Public Library with the Regent, Miss Hazel Atkinson, in the chair. A most successful report of the year's work was given, showing a substantial fund on hand which will augment the memorial fund which both chapters are working so untiringly to accumulate.

It was decided that the next meeting to be held in June be of a social nature, and a good programme is being provided.

Mrs. Albert Gillespie and Miss Sara Nevin attended the Seymour West Institute meeting at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. George Longmuir, Seymour West on Thursday.

Cadets Attend Service.

The Cadets of the High and Public schools, to the number of over eighty, according to the usual custom on the Sunday succeeding inspection, attended divine service in the Methodist church on Sunday morning, where they were addressed by the pastor, Rev. Wesley Elliott, who gave a most practical and inspiring address on the life of Daniel. Mr. Elliott exhorted the cadets to dare to be Daniels and to exemplify him in their lives. The speaker divided his remarks into the heads, Determination, piety and self control, urging his hearer to cultivate these worthy qualities. The cadets were accompanied by their able instructors, Principal E. H. Greig, B.A., Earl Stephens, B.A. and C. S. Haig, Principal of the Public school. The cadets were in charge of their leaders, Arthur Loucks and Walter Bibby of the High and Public schools respectively.

The boys all presented the spic and span appearance for which they were commended so warmly by the inspection officer on Wednesday and were a credit to their instructors as well as themselves.

St. Mary's At Home.

One of the jolliest and most successful events of the season was held on Monday evening, in the new High school, under the auspices of the ladies of St. Mary's parish. More than three hundred guests were in attendance and charming music for dancing was furnished by Ken Blood's Orchestra of Peterborough. There were round and square dances, the music for the latter being furnished by Mrs. Harry Cassidy (piano) and David Johnston (violin) while William Martin called off. Ten tables of cards were provided for those who did not care to dance.

The long tables in the domestic science room were artistically decorated with pink candles, centrepieces and white cherry blossoms and pink roses and were bountifully loaded with dainty refreshments.

The success of the evening was most gratifying to the convenors of the various committees and each of the ladies of the parish who catered so zealously to the pleasure of all present. Guests were present from Peterborough, Havelock, Hastings, Warkworth and Marmora.

At Home At the Regent.

Despite the many attractions in town on Monday evening there was a good crowd in attendance at the Regent theatre when Capt. Hyland provided another of his "At Homes" which have been so popular during the winter.

The Bon-Ton Orchestra of Belleville furnished pleasing music for the dancing, and the colored Dances as well as balloon dances and the bride's waltz (confetti) were all much enjoyed. Very dainty refreshments were providd.

Guests were present from Peterborough and Marmora.

Captain Hyland announces that he will provide another "At Home" in the Regent Theatre next Monday evening, May 18, for which he has again engaged the Bon-Ton Orchestra of Belleville.

Repeat Performance.

The young people of St. Andrew's church ,Campbellford, who presented the humorous play, "Excuse Me", so cleverly last week in their schoolroom, have accepted an invitation to repeat this play in Hastings on Monday evening, May 18, under the auspices of the young people's endeavor.

Owing to the small number in attendance the meeting of the Young People's Endeavour was not held as usual on Monday evening.

Epworth League.

The regular meeting of the Epworth League was held as usual on Monday evening, with a very large crowd in attendance.

The chair was occupied by the pastor, Rev. Wesley Elliott, and the meeting was in charge of the missionary vice-president, Miss Stella Keir.

This being the closing of the contest arrangements were made for the social evening to be held next Wednesday evening when the winning side (the whites) will be banqueted by the other three sides, the red, khaki and blue.

A reading was given by Miss Keir, after which an interesting topic, "Pioneer Missionaries in Bermuda, Newfoundland and the Maritime Provinces" was given by Miss Rose Hollonby.

Pleasing piano solos were rendered by Miss Ina Boyd and Miss Mary McGregor. A novel spelling match followed.

WAIVE STAMP TAX ON SMALL CHEQUE

Hon. J. A. Robb Announces Exemption—Monthly Statements Not Liable.

OTTAWA, May 13. — (Canadian Press).—Cheques and money orders for $5 or less are exempt from the stamp tax under an amendment to the War Revenue Act, introduced in the House of Commons last night by Hon. J. A. Robb, acting Minister of Finance.

Mr. Robb's announcement came during a lengthy debate on incidents of the stamp tax while the House was in committee on budget resolutions.

Monthly statements sent out by business firms will probably escape the stamp tax.

W. G. McQuarrie, of New Westminster, B.C., brought the question up. He said Departmental returns had held that such statements were not liable to the stamp tax, and then that they were liable. Hon. J. A. Robb, acting Minister of Finance, agreed that the Act had not intended that such statements, unless they were receipts, should be subject to the stamp tax. He promised to draw the matter to the attenion of the Departmental officials.

OBITUARY.

MRS. JOHN BURKE.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 13.—Margaret Neville, relict of the late John Burke, died Tuesday morning at her home here, after an illness due to her advanced age. Tuesday was Mrs. Burke's birthday.

The late Mrs. Burke was born in the village of Streetsville, in Peel County, in 1845. Her family removed to Mount Forest, when she was young and at the age of 18 she was married to John Burke, who died 43 years ago. Since her marriage the late Mrs. Burke had spent most of her life in Stratford, but she came to Campbellford 10 years ago with her son, J. A. Burke, the C. N. R. telegraph operator. She lived a quiet life in the community and was a devoted member of St. Mary's church.

The late Mrs. Burke is survived by one daughter and four sons. The former is Mrs. (Dr.) Robbins, of Lyons, Nebraska. The sons are J. T. of Toronto, W. J. of Houck, Arizona, A. A. of Rocky Ford, Colorado, and J. A. of Campbellford. An only sister, Mrs. T. F. Tangney, who was with her at the time of her death, resides in Chicago. A. A. Burke came all the way from his home in Colorado to be with his mother in her last hours. J. T. arrived Tuesday afternoon from Toronto, but the other members of the family, who reside in distant parts of the United States, will be unable to attend the funeral.

The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Thursday morning to St. Mary's church, where requiem high mass will be celebrated by Rev. Father Phelan. The remains will be interred in St. Mary's cemetery.

GENERAL ELECTRIC FINANCING

SCHENECTADY, N.Y., May 12—Stockholders of the General Electric Company meeting here today voted to increase the company's special stock by 2,000,0000 shades of a par value of $10. This stock, it was announced, is to be used in meeting dividend payments. Directors of the company were re-elected.

DEFENDS CONFESSION OF FAITH WHEN INDUCTED AT HAVELOCK

VOTE 89 TO 16.

One of Congregations in This Presbytery That Rejected United Church.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

HAVELOCK, May 13—Havelock Presbyterians began the writing of a new chapter in the history of their church last night when Rev. J. Lennox, recently called to the pastorate was inducted with the solemn ceremony usual on such occasions. The congregation that voted against Union, 89 to 16, will carry on with the Continuing Presbyterian Church and that congregation now has a minister who believes that the Confession of Faith, of which so much criticism has been heard in modern times, is founded on the divine teeching and that the system of government of the Presbyterian Church, by Presbytery, Synod and General Assembly is in accord with the plan laid down in the Holy Scriptures. When Mr. Lennox was questioned by Rev. J. S. Ferguson, of Baltimore, Moderator of the Presbytery of Peterborp, on these sections of church doctrine, his answer expressed unqualified concurrence.

The church was filled to capacity by representatives of the various evangelical churches in Havlock and the ministers present were Rev. T. W. Goodwill of Cobourg, who, as the most recently inducted minister in the Presbytery, according to the usual custom, conducted the opening exercises; Rev. G. I. Crow of Springville, who acted as interim moderator during the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. James McIlroy, pastor for two years but who has accepted a call to Toronto; Rev. D. A. Thomson of Hastings, and George Bennet, a theological student of Knox College, who is supplying the pulpit of Norfood during the summer holidays.

Rev. Mr. Goodwill made a favorable impression upon the audience which heard him for the first time. He is a man of imposing appearance in the pulpit and an earnest and impressive speaker. here was no doubt left in the minds of those who heard him last night as to his stand on the various questions. He believes that the church is an organism, not an organization, that can be taken apart and remodeled without injuring it. No change can be made in an organism unless some vital part is destroyed.

He defended vigorously the Confession of Faith, which he maintained is founded upon Bible teachings, and read different passages of Scriptures to show that the doctrine of predestination is an important part of the Christian Faith. The modern mind which scoff at either the Confession of Faith or the doctrine of predestination is really the carnal mind with a coat of polish. The church is not a pleace of amusement, a house of merchandise or a reform bureau. Christ never instituted a reform bureau while on earth. He realized that all ends were due to sin and He worked out a plan by which the human race could escape the consequence of that sin a plan of redemption made effective by His death on the Cross. When the church mixes in politics, it loses its spiritual power.

The Induction.

Rev. G. I. Crow, as interim moderator, then told of the steps that had been taken leading up to the call which had been accepted by Mr. Lennox. Mr. Thomson of Hastings, the dean of the Presbytery of Peterboro, with 42 years of continuous service in the pulpit to his credit, gave the new minister some fatherly advice. He congratulated Mr. Lennox on being called to such a church as Havelock, as he has known the congregation during his long term in Hastings. He predicted that Mr. Lennox would find his new flock loyal and willing to co-operate with him at all times.

Mr. Lennox was adjured to take heed to himself in his private life. If he were true to himself, he could be false to none. Above all, he was to be a man, for men are needed in the church today. He should be a man of prayer, for he who prays well, works well. He should be a student of nature and philosophy, if he would, but especially of the Bible, as it was his duty to know more of that Book than did any member of his congregation. He should be impartial in his pastoral work, treating all classes alike. Some ministers keep up their churches by pastoral work, and others by their work in the pulpit, but Mr. Lennex was advised to combine the two duties.

A Word to the Congregation.

Rev. G. I. Craw addressed the congregation with regard to their duty to their pastor. The influence of the pew upon the pulpit could hardly be over-estimated. Some congregations in Ontario had given their ministers the best possible training in their profession by insisting on sermons that were worth while. They were exhorted to know and recognize him always as their minister, and to be loyal in supporting him in his work, the highest profession to which any man could be called.

The ministers present extended the right hand of fellowship to Mr. Lennox, welcoming him as a member of the Presbytery, and the new pastor was introduced to the congregation by two of the elders.

The Musical Service.

The Havelock Presbyterians have no forbodings as to the future. They have faced many a critical situation in the past and have always scored a victory. They have an energetic Ladies' Aid Society, that important auxiliary in church work, without which no congregation can succeed. The young people take an active interest in the Sunday School and the various societies. The choir, under the leadership of Miss Helen Thompson, the organist, is large and efficient. Last night a musical programme was rendered in a manner that would have reflected credit on any city choir. The anthem chosen was "Onward Christian Soldiers," and Mrs. Frank Quinn sang sweetly and with feeling as a solo, the beautiful lyric, "Sweet and Low."

UNIONIST OFFER TO REMAIN YEAR WAS REJECTED

NO COMPROMISE.

Unionists Accused of Breaking Up Congregtaion of 87 Years' History.

BURNBRAE, May 12. — Judging from the result of the meeting held in St. Andrew's church on Monday evening, the famous Burnbrae Presbyterian congregation is to be reduced to an augmented charge or a mission station.

Voted against Union.

Following the vote in January last which stood 62 to 52 against entering the United Church, the congregation stayed together. The Unionist minority forbore to exercise their rights and decided to remain until the 10th of June. The session however felt that some understanding should be reached between the two bodies so that they would be able to carry on in harmony and unity. To this end, a meeting was called for May 4th. The congregation duly assembled in the auditorium of the church for devotional exercises conducted by the pastor, Rev. D. A. McKenzie. Afterwards the Unionist members adjourned to the basement and each side proceeded to draft their resolutions and appoint their committees which were to meet in the vestry and decide what was to be done. The committees were as follows:

Atni-Union: Mrs. George Craighead, Mr.. G. V. Taylor; Messrs. W. A. Milne, A. T. Donald, James Stewart.

Unionist: Mrs. William Rannie,Mrs John Rannie; Messrs. Alex. Hume, Malcolm Totton, Andrew Milne.

Refused To Temporise.

The Unionist committee were authorized to meet the other side half way and remain independent for one year with a vote then to be final. Budget monies could be kept separate and general revenue go on the same as before. The anti-Unionists would not agree, however, accusing the Unionists of breaking up the congregation. Consequently no decision was reached.

Great sympathy is felt for the pastor, Rev. D. A. McKenzie and Mrs. McKenzie at this time, as they have not been in the congregation long. Mr. McKenzie has refrained from taking sides in the matter, but has consistently advocated the need of understanding between the opposing forces and has asked time after time that each side come to the meeting prepared to sacrifice something in the interests of the church here and the kingdom of God.

The Unionists felt that they should have some recognition as they contained most of the active workers of the church, but were prepared to make a sacrifice and meet the anti-Unionists on a common footing. However, they were rejected.

Mothers' Day was fittingly observed in St. Andrew's church on Sunday morning.

Mr. Oscar McConnell and family, of Brighton, were Sunday visitors at Burnbrae.

WHEAT POOL PLANS.

Saskatchewan Organization Seek Two Million Acres More.

REGINA, Sask., May 13. — Dwarfing any previous similar efforts, the management of the Saskatchewan wheat pool, immediately the Provincial elections are over, will start a province wide movement to secure 2,000,000 additional acres under contract. Organization work for the effort has already been started at the head office in Regina. At the same time it will attempt to secure the necessary percentage of acreage for the coarse grain pool which will operate for the first time this year. The initial move for coarse grain acreage is the mailing of the contracts to all wheat pool contract holders.

GENERAL CURRIE'S REMINDER.

Sir Arthur Currie's reminder to the people of Montreal that they are not fulfilling their obligations to returned soldiers in the liberal spirit which their services has earned should be taken cognizance of in other places besides the metropolis of Canada.

There are doubtless ex-service men in Peterboro, some of them disabled, who have been finding it hard to keep body and soul together during the period of unemployment.

When these men enlisted they were told from every recruiting meeting platform in the country that the best would be none too good for them when they came back.

How that pledge has been kept needs no telling.

Instead of receiving the bestz, it is to be feared that because of the small proportion of worthless idlers among the returned soldiers many worthy ex-service men have been condemned to something approaching the worst.

When public bodies have utterly failed to give war veterans the preference in filling positions, it is not to be wondered at that private employers of labour have been equally as careless in their obligations to the men who fought.

Sir Arthur Currie, as the Commander-in-Chief of these men overseas, does well to remind his fellow-countrymen of these things, and to appeal for a more loyal and a more generous sympathy for ex-service men who find themselves fighting a hopeless battle.

THAT CENTENARY PICTURE.

Celebrating the 100th anniversary of Peterboro—which does not in any event eventuate until next year—by having a photograph taken of the whole flock of civic dignitaries and officials has struck more than one citizen as slightly out of line with the policy of economy which the Council is supposed to be carrying out.

Compared to the annual expenditure, the cost of providing thirty-eight Aldermen and officials with a copy of the picture is trifling, of course—but the fact remains that worthy causes have been denied civic help or had their grants cut down because of the necessity of retrenchment, and the Santa Claus spirit of this photograph episode does not dovetail with such expressions of thrift.

It is a nice picture, quite a striking compilation of good-looking people and worthy of being given a place of honour on the walls of the Council Chamber.

But in this year of "cutting to the bone" some people cannot avoid the thought that if the Aldermen and officials wanted a picture of themselves the more satisfactory way would have been of each of them to "pay the shot" himself and avoid the complaints of citizens with no sense of the artistic, but a very keen impression of the size of their tax bills.

However, the picture is worth what it cost perhaps as a concrete proof of the fact that as a city we are accumulating quite a sizable collection of civic officials.

VANDALISM IN PARKS.

The appeal of Mayor Turner to citizens generally to protect the flowers in the city parks is timely and should be respected.

That there are vandals in Peterboro who would steal a row of tulips from one of the city's beauty spots is a fact in which it is impossible to take much pride, yet it must be confessed that far too many residents are careless in their treatment of public as well as private property.

This was demonstrated several weeks ago when Victoria Park was officially closed to traffic, in order that the sward and paths might be given a chance to dry up without the damage usually inflicted by careless pedestrians.

The majority of people obeyed the command to stay out—but not a few ignored the signs, and used the park as a short-cut, indifferent as to what harm they might cause.

It is the same tendency that makes such people cut across private lawns and damage the property of others to save themselves a few steps.

This theft of flowers is a more serious matter, however.

The display of tulips in Victoria Park is something in which every citizen should take a genuine pride, as a harbinger of summer and a feast for the eye—and if there are people who cannot keep their dishonest fingers off, it is to be hoped that the Police Court will have a chance to listen to their explanations.

LINDSAY'S EXPERIENCE.

The manner in which the citizens of Lindsay rallied to the call for assistance in the search for little Charlie Hodges, missing since a week ago Monday, is conclusive evidence that when the test comes human nature can be relied upon to show a creditable assay.

Hundreds of Lindsay people spent Sunday in searching the countryside in the hope of locating a possible clue as to the whereabouts of the missing youngster.

Owners of motor cars cheerfully volunteered for service, and the thoroughness with which the hunt for clues was carried out is indicated by the fact that one machine covered 123 miles during the day.

Motor-boat owners and canoeists also did their part in dragging the river, and the whole community has thrown itself into the search.

That made no difference, however.

Misfortune has come, a young boy was missing under mysterious circumstances, and unhesitatingly hundreds of citizens offered their services and did what they could to clear up the mystery.

Often it seems as if we are living in a selfish age, that the majority of people have no concern about those outside their own narrow circle.

But when the shadow of tragedy comes, when help is needed, the Lindsay incident shows that the heart of man still beats true.

THE CALL FOR BREVITY.

It is not a mere coincidence as to time that Washington should be talking seriously about doing something to limit both the length and number of speeches in Congress at the moment that Ottawa is doing the same thing, says the Ottawa Journal. It is rather a coincidence as to need. At both points the conviction has been born out of experience that legislative bodies waste too much time in mere campaigning. It is not complained that representatives are too much disposed to devote excessive and needless attention to public business; but that they neglect national issues in order to carry on their partisan battles.

No one can read the speeches delivered in the protracted debate on the budget without being painfully impressed by the futility of much that has been uttered. Very little of it has been constructive. Fully 75 per cent. of it has consisted of mere repetitions. Plagiarism has become a fine art in Parliament. The object of nearly all of it has been to score a party advantage. That is not only a subversion of the underlying purpose of Parliament, but it is a scandalous waste of time and money. It may be platitudinous to say that, because it has been said so often; yet it has the force of truth behind it.

The trouble has its roots in indolence. Members will not take the time and trouble to so organize their speeches or to make them brief. They dilute ideas with words until they are homeopathic. Hard work and concentration on a speech would not only reduce its proportions, but would add enormously to its effectiveness. In other words, it is poor policy to be verbose. A speech ten minutes in length, bristling with epigrams and points, would be such a novelty that the whole character of our debates might be changed. Monotony and boredom would give place to intense interest in what was being said.

PENSIONS BOARD.

Five years after interment, the body of a Toronto returned soldier has been exhumed and the cause of death has been shown to have been tubercular meningitis of a chronic type and not sleeping sickness, as diagnosed by the medical staff of the Pensions Board, says the Hamilton Spectator. It having been definitely established that the meningitis was contracted overseas, the returned man's widow has been placed upon the pension list and her allowance will be made retroactive to the date of her husband's death. This one wrong has been righted, but how many cases are there of injustices uncorrected? Had it not been that a prominent citizen of Cobourg undertook to pay the expenses of exhumation and autopsy the widow and five fatherless children would have continued in destitute circumstances. It would be interesting to know just how extensive and thorough was the examination by the medical staff of the Pensions Board that resulted in the diagnosis of sleeping sickness. It is a disease of which comparatively little is known—a disease much more difficult to diagnose than tubercular meningitis. That, five years after death, two pathologists were able to determine that tubercular meningitis was the cause of death would seem to indicate that, in life, the returned man had received but a cursory examination at the hands of the medical officers who act in an advisory capacity to the Pensions Board. The soldier in question and members of his family challenged the diagnosis. Why, when there was a doubt, did not the Pensions Board dispose of it by an autopsy immediately after death? Fortunately, decomposition had progressed but slowly, and after five years it was possible to determine the cause of death, but had there been rapid decomposition of the remains the records would have continued to list Pte. Cowin as having died of "sleeping sickness," and the widow and children would have remained dependent upon the charity of the community in which they live. Why, when there is a doubt, does the Pensions Board invariably rule against the soldier and his dependants? This case provides an incentive for a thorough inquiry into the methods of the department. How many more cases of "sleeping sickness" are there on the records?

STILL TINKERING.

The regulations governing the sale of 4.4 beer provide a practical illustration of the ease with which legislation can be hopelessly jumbled when those responsible for it try to please everybody, says the Hamilton Spectator. The major complaint against the Ontario Temperance Act was that it was inconsistent, that it was a rich man's law. Premier Ferguson undoubtedly had this in mind when he drafted the legislation increasing the alcoholic content of beer to 4.4 per cent., thus putting what he declares to be a palatable, non-intoxicating beverage within the means of the working class. But the amendment, legalizing the sale of the stronger beer, is more inconsistent than was the unamended Act. It is argued by its sponsors that it is a harmless, non-intoxicating beverage. One would naturally think, then, that it would be placed in the same category as the 2 1-2 per cent. beer which it replaces, but, instead, the regulations governing its sale are actually more restrictive than those which governed the sale of strong liquors in the pre-prohibition days. Restaurant proprietors, whose dining room are located one flight up, or one flight down, will not be permitted to sell the "harmless, non-intoxicating beer," it is announced, nor will the privilege be extended to proprietors of "L-shaped" dining rooms. The reason for these restrictions, it is explained, is to keep the drinkers of "four-point-four" in the public gaze. There is no doubt that if the stronger beer is palatable, it will increase the revenue of those restaurants where sale of it will be permitted, and it is logical to presume it will decrease the patronage of eating houses denied the right of sale. It is beginning to look as if an attempt is being made to incorporate into the legislation every suggestion that has been advanced since the controversy anent the stronger brew was launched. To the average man it will seem that the lawmakers, at Queen's Park, have gone to great lengths to prove the contention of the temperance workers—that 4.4 beer is not the innocent beverage it is supposed to be.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Wait until the alternative vote bill is brought down in the House of Commons if you think there has been a lot of talking at Ottawa.

It used to be a question of "The Bar or the Boy?" Mr. Nickle has made it a matter of "The Bar or the Beer?"

Hon. Mr. Motherwell is talking the kind of "small potatoes" politics the consumer likes to hear about.

Practically every industry in Peterboro has already arranged for space at the Made-in-Peterboro Exhibition. The success of the event seems to be assured.

What with beer signs, gasoline pumps, detour signs and bill-boards the motor tourist is going to be lucky if he finds any scenery in Ontario.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, MAY 12.—The market was good and steady for butcher cattle at yesterday's prices, with just a slightly firmer tone for anything of choice handy quality.

Best butcher, steers and heifers, handy weights, $7.35 to $7.50; good to choice, $6.75 to $7.25.

Choice fat butcher cows, holding firm at $5.50 to $6.50.

Export trade quiet, with a few loads of heavy cattle left over. Export buyers practically filled all requirements in yesterday's buying. Rogers and Maybee took about 350 cattle, half of these billed through and the balance bought in the market. Mr. H. P. Kennedy has just returned from the Edmonton stock yards, from where 1,000 cattle are this week being loaded at Quebec for the Old Country. These cattle are said to include some of the finest steers ever shipped from Alberta.

The calf trade had a slightly firmer tone at $9.50 to $10.50 tops.

Sheep and lambs steady.

Hogs firm, holders asking 25 cents higher at $12.85 off cars. Market unsettled.

STERLING RATES

Sterling demand $4.84 3-4.

Sterling cables $4.85 1-8.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 12.—Grain went decidedly higher in price today. Activity of exporters stimulated the wheat market. Offerings of corn were unusually scant. Wheat and corn both finished strong, wheat 2 1-2 to 3 cents net higher, May $1.62 1-2 to $1.62 3-4, and July $1.50 1-2 to $1.51, with corn 1 to 3 3-4 cents up, oats showing 5-8 to 1 1-4 cents gain, and provisions 2 to 20 cents decline.

EGG PRICES

OTTAWA, May 12.—Operators who are storing are easing up a little and increasing difficulty is found in making sales of Western eggs at the prices quoted. Many are of the opinion that prices will become dangerous for those putting away reserve stocks. As to whether this sentiment will effect the market will be reflected in prices probably during the present week. Western cars are now being offered extras 29 1-2, firsts 27 1-2, seconds 24 1-2 f.o.b. Yorkton. The freight from that point amounts to about 4 cents.

Toronto and Montreal — Steady and unchanged.

Winnipeg — Jobbing, extras 29, firsts 27, seconds 25.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, May 12. — There was some demand from New York exporters for Canadian Western feed barley in the Montreal market today and sales were made at 4 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg May option, c.i.f. Montreal, and in addition to this a few loads of No. 4 grade were worked direct over the cable.

A moderate amount of business was transacted in car lots of oats in the domestic market for local and country account, and sales of odd cars of No. 2 buckwheat were made at 88 cents per bushel, ex-store, but the trade in other lines of grain was quiet on account of the limited demand from foreign buyers for supplies. Oats were firm and prices were steady.

There were no further developments in the local egg situation, prices for all grades being firmly maintained owing to the fact that there is still keen competition for supplies at the different points throughout the country for storing purposes, and in consequence the offerings here daily are just about sufficient to meet the domestic requirements. The volume of business in a wholesale jobbing way was fairly large. The receipts were 3,597 cases, as against 2,387 for the same day last week, and 4,476 for the corresponding day a year ago.

Butter Market Easier.

The receipts of butter today were 209 packages, as against 237 for the same day last week, and 434 for the corresponding day a year ago. An easy feeling prevailed in the market notwithstanding the small supplies coming forward for the season of the year. There was no improvement in the demand, and business was quiet on account of the fact that buyers in most cases have ample stocks on hand to meet their immediate wants.

In a wholesale jobbing way the market was weaker and prices were reduced 1 cent per lb., with sales of finest creamery at 34 cents per lb. in solid packages, and at 35 cents per lb. in 1-lb. blocks.

New Zealand Cheese.

The receipts of cheese were 13,137 boxes, as compared with 4,950 for the same day last week, and 3,207 for the corresponding day a year ago. Of the above quantity today there were 7,590 boxes of New Zealand cheese which arrived here which makes the total arrivals since the first of April 58,155 boxes besides 11,661 boxes of English cheese, and 2,216 boxes from the United States. The trade on spot was reported quiet owing to the fact that buyers and sellers were apart in their views as to values. Western No. 1 white and colored were quoted at 17 3-4 to 17 7-8 cents per lb., and Eastern at 17 1-2 to 17 5-8 cents per lb.

Cheese Sale on Curb.

MONTREAL, May 12.—On the local curb market there were 1,200 boxes of cheese offered and 600 packages creamery butter. The cheese sold at 17 cents per lb; No. 1 pasteurized creamery at 32 cents per lb., and No. 1 creamery at 31 1-2 cents per lb. delivered here.

Investigate Headaches

Headache causes are both direct and indirect. Here is a list of a few of the causes.

Constipation, bad air, hunger, fatigue, eye strain, indigestion, brain tumors, various neuralgias, nasal growths, mouth breathing, worry, anger, excitement, alcoholic indulences, lack of sleep, coffee, drugs and a score of other things.

The most usual remedy applied by headache sufferers comes from drug stores in small boxes, or vials.

By the use of drugs the pain is killed, as far as the patient can feel, but the headache is not gone.

If persons, who suffer from headaches, make a careful study of themselves they have a chance of effecting a permanent cure.

If they do not care to take the trouble to look into their own case, or have a physician to do it, they might as well resolve to continue in their pain.

Jersey City, N. J.—"A letter which I read in the paper about Carter's Little Liver Pills fitted my own case so closely that I could not help trying them and am very happy I did." So writes Mr. Frank J. Trumbull, whose letter goes on to say, "I had heard about Carter's Little Liver Pills for years but never knew they helped overcome poor appetite and sour stomach, until I read about another man in the same plight who took Carter's with good results. I tried them and can honestly say that they freed me of nasty gas on stomach, so that I can now eat without getting bilious, and they improved my appetite fully 100%. You can rest assured that from now on I will boost Carter's Little Liver Pills whenever I can." For sale and recommended by all druggists.

A THOUGHT.

THE KNOCKER.

Suppose you wanted to symbolize the knocker—would you suggest to the artist to draw a loathsome thing, a crawling, putrid, offensive critic?

Would you suggest the knocker on the door, twin brother to "Welcome" on the mat? Would you picture "Fortune" bringing offers of promise and opportunity? Would "Old Man Experience" be your idea of the symbol?

Or would a strong, competent, hard-hitting business man appeal to you more?

It is all in the point of view, and in the way you use words. There are few words so bad that something good could not be connected with them.

You remember what the old lady said who was asked what was good about the Devil. "He certainly is persistent," was her answer.

The dictionary says a knock is a hard hit; if that be so, a knocker must be a hard hitter. When you are ready to strike, do you measure up to that?

Some long-forgotten philosopher, who was self-educated only, said he was a graduate of the "College of Hard Knocks." Since that day, somehow, alumniship in that organization has been something not to be ashamed of.

The knocker, experience, who polishes and fits men for living, is a hard master, yet a magnificent one to his graduates. If you have been buffeted about by that old knocker, and have won your niche in the world, you are to be congratulated, and no doubt, you have nothing but praise for him. — From Personal Efficiency, March, 1925.

TONNAGE NOT WEIGHT.

LONDON, May 13.—Tonnage of a ship does not mean that the vessel weighs so many tons. It refers to measurement, not weight. The term originated in the time of Henry VII., when Bordeaux wine was brought to England in huge casks called tuns. The size of a vessel was designated by the number of tuns it could carry in its hold.

"More Bread and Better Bread"

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton

THE STORY SO FAR:

GLORIA GORDON, beautiful flapper, marries DICK GREGORY, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes . . . but no hard work or children!

Dick borrows his mother's maid, MAGGIE, to teach Gloria to cook. But she refuses to learn. She meets STANLEY WAYBURN, an actor with whom she once had been in love.

Gloria invites Wayburn to a housewarming. He comes, and Dick instantly suspects that Gloria is in love with him. Wayburn makes love all evening to MYRA GAIL.

The "wild" party breaks up when LOLA HOUGH "bawls out" BILL, her husband, for petting MAY SEYMOUR, wife of DR. JOHN SEYMOUR. Maggie, disgusted, quits her job. Then Gloria hires RANGHILD SWANSON, although Dick tells her he cannot afford a housemaid. She also buys new clothes and insists upon an automobile. Gloria begins to be jealous of MISS BRIGGS, Dick's secretary.

One afternoon Dick returns home unexpectedly to find his wife entertaining Wayburn, May Seymour, and JIM CAREWE. Next morning May phones Gloria to tell her that the gossip about her love affair with Carewe has kept her out of the Home Woman's Club. She begs Gloria to ask MOTHER GREGORY, an officer of the club, to put her into it. Mother Gregory refuses.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Soon after May's tearful telephone message, Mother Gregory got up to go. She wrapped herself in her black broadcloth and furs that always smelled of mothballs, and pecked Gloria on her cheek.

"Goodby," she said severely. "And I hope that your friend, Mrs. Seymour, will be an example to you of what happens to foolish wives who go traipsing around with men who wouldn't marry them if they had the chance! . . . Decent women simply won't have anything to do with them. And you can tell May Seymour for me that until she gives up that Carewe, she can whistle and wait to get into the Home Women's Club, or any other club where I'm a member! For I'll vote her down every time! She's a disgrace to this town!"

. . . So, Gloria thought, it was Mother Gregory who had kept May out of the club! What a hateful woman Dick's mother was!

And how dreadful for May to know that husband were against her, wanted to have nothing at all to do with her! To know that dozens of tongues were wagging about her and her affairs with Jim Carewe! . . . And yet, Gloria knew that but for the grace of Providence, she might be in the same boat with May Seymour, this very minute!

For someone, besides Mother Gregory, might have seen her and Stan Wayburn in her car, just as people had seen May and Jim together! And there would be talk and talk . . . until the whole town would be talking about her and Stan. . . .

Gloria shivered as she picked up the telephone and gave May's number.

"Maysie, dear, I just finished talking to Dick's mother," Gloria began, unhappily, when May answered her ring. "I did my very best for you . . . but it's no use! She says there's not a ghost of a chance for you to get into the club. . . . You're right, there has been a lot of talk about you and Jim! At least, Mother Gregory says there has . . ."

"The old hypocrite!" May broke in harshly. "I'll bet she's at the bottom of the whole thing! She's always hated me the way a lot of other women in this town have . . . because I married their dear, dear doctor! . . . Women always have a cozy corner in their hearts for the family doctor. And they sure do hate him to have a wife. I've found that out!"

Gloria laughed in spite of herself.

"But not Mother Gregory!" she protested. "Why, she's old enough to be Dr. John's mother. . . ."

"Oh, I don't mean she's in love with him, you poor prune!" May broke in. "That's absurd. But just the same, women like to think that their sympathetic doctor takes a personal interest in all their aches and pains. They love to go to him with their troubles. . . . Oh I could tell you a thing or two about being a doctor's wife, if I wanted to! You don't know the half of it, dearie!"

May paused for breath. Then she went on in her high voice: Well, even if I can't get into a women's club, I suppose the stores are still open to me. . . . How would you like to go shopping with me this morning?"

"I can't leave the house to-day. I'm busy," Gloria fibbed.

She wondered how May would feel if she knew the truth . . . that Dick had forbidden her to be seen with May! . . . Not that that would have stopped Gloria, if she had wanted to be seen with May!

But she didn't . . . she was afraid of being talked about, along with her. She didn't want to be classed as a "bird of a feather" with May Seymour. N, indeed!

Gloria began to perceive, dimly, that neither law nor law makers rule this world of ours, but that four little words do . . . "What Will People Say?"

. . . Well, people never would say the things about her and Stan that they were saying about May and Jim, that reckless pair! She would never give them the chance . . . she would be too clever for them. Gloria mad up her mind. There must be ways . . ways of seeing Stan without anyone being the wiser! The thought of not seeing him at all did not occur to her.

Ranghild was cleaning out Gloria's clothes-closet.

The sight of all her dresses hanging there in neat, colorful rows made Gloria think suddenly of Myra Gail.

Lucky Myra! . . . With clothes to burn, here she was getting ready to run over to Paris for two or three more trunksful of them!

And she would come back not only with clothes . . . but with the latest thing in make-up and hair-cuts, too, no doubt! No wonder she was fascinating!

Gloria picked up the extension-telephone that stood beside the night lamp. She gave Myra Gail's number.

"I saw by the public print this morning that you're going abroad, Myra," she said gaily when Mrs. Gail's cool voice answered; "how soon are you sailing, dear?"

"In ten days. Why? Were you thinking of going along?" There was thinly veiled humor in Myra's tone.

"As a matter of fact, I was thinking of doing that very little thing!" Gloria said with spirit. "I'm tired, and I think a sea trip would be the very thing for me!"

"Nothing like it for brushing the cobwebs out of your brain!" Myra commented as she hung up. "Better make up your mind to go along. Love to have you!"

Now, what did she mean by that, Gloria wondered . . . by that phrase of hers, "brushing the cobwebs out of your brain"?

Did Myra think there were cobwebs in her brain? Had she recognized the troubled mental state Gloria was in over Stanley Wayburn?

. . . That was the trouble with Myra, the thing that made Gloria hate and fear her. She seemed to see everything that was going on everywhere, with those cold, gray eyes of hers. She never missed a trick!

Glory turned to Ranghild.

"If I went away for a few weeks, do you think you could manage the house alone?" she asked.

Ranghild went on brushing a green sports suit as she reflected. She was thinking that she had done every bit of work in the house all alone from the minute she had stepped into it!

"I think I could, Mrs. Gregory," was all she said.

"Because I may be going away in a week or so . . . to Europe," Gloria went on.

The sound of her own words excited her. Going to Europe! Of course, she was!

She was sure that she could make Dick scrape up the money for the trip, somehow or other. She would be very sweet and appealing with him . . . and he would give her the money. Honey caught more flies than vinegar . . . that was the big idea!

With Ranghild's help, Gloria dragged her wardrobe trunk from the guest-room closet and dusted it off.

Gloria spent the rest of the day washing out silk stockings and handkerchiefs with soap-chips in her bathroom. She couldn't wait for washday to get these things packed in her trunk. She was in a fever of excitement.

Dick looked around the room in blank amazement. Bureau drawers were flung open. Dresses were flung across the bed. A pile of lingerie lay, white as a cloud, on a chair.

"What do you think you're doing now?" Dick asked.

"Packing the things that I'm not going to take with me," his wife answered.

"Take with you! What are you doing—leaving me?" He sat down on the lingerise piled on the nearest chair.

"Well, I should say not!" Gloria cried. "Did you think I'd leave you just because you were so angry and jealous yesterday? Why, I like you to be jealous . . . 'cause then I know you still love me . . . see?"

She pattered across the room to him, and knelt beside his chair.

"Would you miss me terribly if I went away for a little while . . . with Myra Gail?" she asked.

Dick sat up with a jerk.

"With Myra Gail? But, good Lord, she's going to Europe!" he gasped.

Gloria nodded.

"So am I," she said calmly, "if you'll let me?"

Dick made a gesture of despair.

"Honey," he said, "you can't go. I haven't enough money in the bank to pay for a one-way ticket. . . . Look here, let me show you!"

He took his check book from his inside coat pocket.

"Less than two hundred bucks!" he said. "Hardly enough to pay the current bills! You know, you've been hitting me pretty hard lately with these new clothes you bought, and your automobile . . . and Ranghild's wages.'

Gloria walked away toward the windows.

"Oh, sure, it's my fault we never have any money," she tossed back over her shoulder. "I suppose you never spend a cent on those special cigarets you're forever smoking, or on taxicabs, do you?"

Gloria laughed impudently.

"Why don't you fire Miss Briggs and get a stenographer who doesn't expect a small fortune in the way of salary, if you're so terribly poor?" she asked. "Sometimes I think you must be in love with that woman! Honestly, I do!"

Dick stood up.

"You can't go to Europe," he said quietly, and went downstairs.

Gloria stood looking out of the window into the darkening street for a long time. She was actually sick with disappointment. . . . All day she had been dreaming of Europe, of Paris, of the shops there.

And now she was not to go! . . .

When Ranghild struck the dinner-gong she did not go down.

THIRTEEN CURLS AGAIN.

NEW YORK, May 13.—A fashion fad of Revolutionary days is being revived. It is the wearing of 13 curls. This fad was very popular just after the Republic of 13 States was founded.

In Girlhood and Womanhood

"My first experience with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was about the time I was growing into womanhood," said Mrs. Hilda Hodgins of 504 Aylmer Ave., Windsor, Ont., whose picture appears above. "I had become rundown, my nerves were bad and I got very weak and trembly. My mother gave me Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it completely built me up in health, strengthened my nerves and made me feel well and strong. Since I married, whenever I have felt myself going down in health, or my nerves beginning to bother me, I have taken the 'Favorite Prescription' and every time it has done for me just what I expected it would do—built me up in health and strength, quieted my nerves and made me feel fine. There isn't any medicine a woman can take for her ills that can compare with 'Favorite Prescription.'"

MOTHERS' DAY AT HASTINGS CHURCH

Special Services in Both Church and Sunday School Mark the Day.

HASTINGS, May 13.—A special Mothers' Day service was held in the Methodist Sunday School on Sunday morning. The Mothers' Day Service programme was used. "The Mother's Return," a reading, was given by Mrs. A. M. Brooks; Mrs. N. Beavis read "Jesus, the Children's Friend. Miss Jessie Wilsox sang a solo, and R. C. Doxsie gave an interesting address.

The body of the church was most beautifully decorated with flowers, and a Mother's Day service was also held.

The choir rendered an anthem, "What Is a Mother's Love," by Edgar C. Smith.

Rev. M. L. Hinton had charge of the service and gave an address on "Mothers." Mr. Hinton repeated two very appropriate selections on Mother; Miss Jessie Wilcox sang by request, "For Mother's Sake." Miss Bessie Hinton recited "Rock Me to Sleep, Mother."

The Young Ladies Class of the Sunday School presented Mrs. S. Carter, the oldest mother of the church, with a bouquet of flowers. Miss Bessie Hinton read the following address:

Dear Mrs. Carter.—The members of the Young Ladies' Class and their teacher wish to express in some way their love for you.

They thought that on this day when honor is being shown to Mothers, they would wish you to know they had not forgotten you.

We hope you may long be with us and fill you accustomed place.

We hope that each year as it comes will be brightened by presence of the Saviour whom you love.

Please accept these flowers as an expression of our love for you.

Written on behalf of the class.

May 10, 1925.

After the service another bouquet of flowers was sent to Mrs. Roberts, who was unable to be present at the service.

At the Bethel appointmen another Mothers' Day service was held. Little Miss Bessie Dunham recited "Somebody's Mother."

Mrs. Murphy and two little children gave a pageant on "The Story of Jesus." Miss J. Wilcox sang a solo and Rev. Mr. Hinton gave an address on Mothers' Day.

Social Evening.

A large crowd gathered in the school room of the Methodist Church on Friday evening to enjoy the annual Young People's League social.

The programme opened with a selection from The Star Orchestra, which was heartily encored. Mrs. J. M. Baker and Miss Joyce Richardson sang a duet. Misses Carrie and Ona Doxsee played a piano duet, "Hungarian Rhapsody." Miss Vera Squires of Peterboro gave a very interesting travel talk on her trip of last summer to Wembley, London, England, and Paris.

Miss Jessie Wilcox rendered vocally "It's Better to Laugh Than to Cry," and, being encored, returning sang "Two Marionettes."

Another selection by the orchestra closed the programme. Homemade candy and ice cream were for sale at booths and lunch was served.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Doxsee and sons, Howard and Elwood, were Sunday guests of the former's mother, Mrs. B. F. Doxsee.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Armstrong of Havelock were in Hastings on Sunday.

Miss Lillian Noonan of Peterboro was the week-end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Noonan.

Miss Dorothy Bullen of Campbellford spent the week-end a guest at the Parsonage.

Miss Emma Hubbs has accepted a position in Cobourg and left for that place on Sunday.

ENGINEERS END ANOTHER YEAR

Annual General Meeting on Thursday—Followed by Open Session.

INVITE PUBLIC

The last regular meeting for this season of the Peterboro Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada will be held on Thursday evening, May 14th, at 8.15 p.m., in the Chamber of Commerce. At this meeting Col. C. H. Boyden, B.S., C.E., of the Portland Cement Association of America will present a paper, entitled "Field Control of Concrete."

As is usual for these meetings, a cordial invitation is extended to any of the general public who may be interested in the subject.

Previous to Col. Boyden's paper the annual general meeting of the branch will be held, at which the annual reports will be received and announcement of the results of the election of officers for the year 1925-1926 will be made.

This meeting marks the close of the regular season, during which the local branch, through the activities of the Meetings and Papers Committee, have brought to Peterboro a number of speakers, each prominent in his particular field, to give addresses on a variety of subjects of general and engineering interest.

The meetings have always been open to the general public, and while primarily intended to be of interest to the members, it is hoped that they have appealed to the many non-members who have attended from time to time.

STILL NO TRACE OF LINDSAY BOY

Police Marking Time Until Satisfied Charley Hodges Not Drowned.

NO DEVELOPMENTS.

LINDSAY, May 13. (Special.) — The authorities late on Tuesday announced that they had absolutely nothing to report in connection with the disappearance of little Charley Hodges, save that there were no new developments.

A number of citizens were on the river yesterday dragging the bottom and dead end logs were removed from the channel at Carew's mill, but there was no trace of the boy.

As a result of certain information given the authorities, Chief of Police Umphrey, and the father of the missing lad motored out to Balsam Lake and visited a camp on its shore. On their return they reported that the visit was a waste of time.

On Monday a woman informed Mayor Graham that she dreamt on two nights that the Hodges boy was down a hole between two boat houses on the river shore. She was greatly disturbed over the dreams and she prevailed upon the Mayor to make another search. His Worship selected two citizens to institute a search, the woman accompanying them. Search was fruitless.

The authorities claim to be up against a stone wall and will take no further action until the are satisfied that the boy is not in the river.

BEAVER PELTS SOLD.

Were Feature of New York Fur Auction.

NEW YORK, May 13—(Canadian Press)—Active bidding for beaver was the outstanding feature of the scond day of the six million dollar auction of raw furs tat is now going on in the Masonic Hall here. The medium-sized skins sold relatively better than the larger ones, but the entire collection moved well. Top price for beaver was $37.75, and general prices averaged ten per cent above the winter sale levels. No comparison was made on the mar mot offering, but all of the other furs sold during the day declined Best otter brough $32.50. This offering dropped 10 per cent, as did kolinsky. Best ermine touched $2.84, but the collection was off 15 per cent. from winter sale prices. Squirrel dropped twenty per cent. with a high price of $1.22. Nutria was off 15 per cent, but the best ones fetched $5.10.

Chimpanzees have been known to place four boxes on top of each other to reach a desired object.

FLAG TO BE GIVEN HAVELOCK CADETS

I.O.D.E Decide to Make Presentation—Will Operate Booth June 3.

HAVELOCK, May 13.—The regular meeting of the Harry Lauder Chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire was held on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. B. Haig, with twelve members present.

The treasurer, Mrs. H. W. Roche, was presented with a primary life membership pin, and, on motion of Mrs. R. Jones and Mrs. G. Smith, the Chapter will present a flag to the Cadets.

It was decided to reserve a booth in the park for the celebration on June 3rd, and arrangements were made for obtaining supplies for sale.

LAKEFIELD AGAIN VICTIM OF BLAZE

Frame House Burned Last Night—Firemen Fought For Hours.

LAKEFIELD, May 13. (Special.) —A serious fire which threatened the whole village, occurred last night at Lakefield when the frame house on the corner of Reid and Edward street owned by Mr. Moore and formerly owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Bartinbal, was almost destroyed.

Mr. Moore and Mr. Hutchinson, who had been in the garage at the rear of the house, state that on their return to the house, about 10.30 o'clock, they found the place a mass of flames, the fire seeming to have started in the centre of the house, and it is thought must have been caused by a coal oil stove.

The whole building would have been destroyed but for the gallant work done by the volunteer fire brigade which worked unceasingly all night, and finally managed to save the shell of the house. The back kitchen, the barn and the garage were untouched by the fire.

WIRELESS BELLS.

LONDON, May 13.—So that the central lighthouse station can communicate with many other stations, a system has been devised by which a wireless telephone bell in the outlying station is rung when it is desired. Previously an operator had to listen continually.

"BREAD UPON WATERS."

LONDON, May 13.—An old woman here had been in the habit of feeding bread crumbs to sparrows just outside her window. One morning a sparrow flew down with a one-pound note in its beak. It dropped the bill, ate a few crumbs and flew away.

W. T. R. PRESTON REFUSED TO TELL

pression in a certain passage.

"None of your insults, if you please," the witness responded. "You'll get what's coming to you."

"I'm here to take what's coming to me," retorted Mr. Montgomery, who also remarked that Mr. Preston was the "hero of a hundred libel actions."

"Yes, and I won them too, and if you'll just go outside——" Mr. Preston was saying when the end of his sentence was lost in the laughter of the committee.

Followed By Detective.

The witness informed the counsel for the steamship companies that Sir James Maclaren-Brown, European general manager of the C.P.R., had set a detective to follow him round London.

"Did you ever see the detective," asked Sir Henry Drayton.

"No, but I gave him a good hunt," was the reply.

"You outsleuthed the sleuth," interjected Mr. Montgomery.

"If I couldn't beat a C.P.R. detective,——" but Mr. Preston's concluding words were lost in the laughter of the committee members.

Mr. Montgomery proceeded to review Mr. Preston's report on how he proceeded to secure his information about the shipping company. The report stated that he had approached the whole question with a view to "candid discussion." Mr. Montgomery asked if Mr. Preston had gone first to the line interested in the Canadian-United Kingdom trade. "Yes, if they were willing to discuss things."

Mr. Preston said he got into communication with companies in the Canadian trade to find out their attitude towards his enquiry.

"When I found that certain persons did not care to do anything, I did not waste my time with them," he said.

"Did you get in touch with the C.P.R.' asekd Mr. Montgomery.

"Not personally, but I learned the attitude of the C. P. R. very soon," was Mr. Preston's reply.

Mr. Montgomery objected to the witness's attempt to 'make speeches' and not answering the questions directly. The public of Canada had taken a very different view of Mr. Preston's report from the impression he was trying to create now. Mr. Montgomery asked if the witness had gone to the Canadian Government Merchant Marine and found their view.

Acknowledged Interview.

"No, that was a matter for the Canadian Government," was the answer. Mr. Montgomery asked if the witness recalled giving an interview to an Ottawa paper in March, 1925, in which he stated that all that the shipping interests had done, was to "set up straw men, so that they could destroy them." At first Mr. Preston said he had never given an interview, but later recalled saying that somewhere. The newspaper interview was read by Mr. Montgomery and Mr. Preston was reported as having said that Sir James MacLaren-Brown, European general manager of the C.P.R., should not complain because Mr. Preston had not gone to him in London.

"In your endeavor to find a solution of the problem, you never went near the C.P.R.?" repeated Mr. Montgomery.

The witness replied that he had not.

"You mentioned the Anchor-Donaldson Line?" asked Mr. Montgomery.

"Yes," was the reply. Mr. Preston agreed that the Anchor-Donaldson Line had the reputation of being a very respectable concern.

"Surely you went to them and informed them that Canadian shippers were not satisfield?" pressed Mr. Montgomery.

"I did not," was the reply.

"Surely you went to them in regard to the cattle rates?" asked counsel.

"I did indirectly, later on," said Mr. Preston.

"Reliable Source."

The witness stated that he had obtained his information with regard to the Anchor-Donaldson Line from "what I considered a very reliable source." He thought it was of no use to go to the Anchor-Donaldson directly, because he knew that it was tied up with the "combine." Either directly or indirectly, he had got into touch with all the interests, he insisted.

Continuing, Mr. Montgomery asked Mr. Preston whom he had had his frank discussions with.

The witness replied that one of those whom he had talked with was Lord Kylsant.

Mr. Montgomery asked if he was aware that Lord Kylsant was the president of Harland and Wolff, the firm that was building two of the new Petersen boats.

Mr. Preston replied that he did not. He was under the impression that the Royal Mail Steamship Service with which Lord Kylsant was connected, was a member of the North Atlantic conference.

Pressed by counsel for the name of the person or persons who had made enquiries into the conference lines for him, Mr. Preston at last refused point blank to tell.

"Why are you averse to giving the name of your informant?" asked Chairman MacMaster.

"Because I know he would get just what I am getting from the combine," replied the witness.

"Your report is based not on something which you learned yourself but on something told," Mr. Montgomery said.

Refused to Tell.

Mr. Montgomery asked about the information Mr. Preston secured regarding the White Star Line. The witness replied that "somebody" had told him what he wanted to know. Mr. Montgomery pressed to know who the somebody was.

"Would you like me to call him Mr. A or Mr. X?" he asked.

A. T. Shaw (Independent, Calgary) asked if the specific point which Mr. Preston sought from these companies was whether or not they were prepared to leave the conference.

Mr. Preston agreed that that was what was sought. Mr. Montgomery asked if it wouldn't be the most natural thing for Mr. Preston to go directly to consult the companies.

"I took the other way," said Mr. Preson. "I claim I got into indirect connection with the Hole Reford outfit in Montreal." In London, Mr. Preston got in touch with the Cairns Noble Company, and discussed the whole matter with Major Cairns but principally in reference to cattle rates. The High Commissioner in London had received messages from the Minister of Trade and Commerce asking if a rate on cattle of $15 could be secured. If so, the Government would be willing to pay a $5 subsidy. Mr. Preston explained that by his negotiations with the Cairns Noble Company and the Reford Company, he was indirectly in touch with all the other lines as they were represented by these two. It was, he said, "the proper way to do it." The witness went on to tell of cabling the Minister of Trade and Commerce regarding the progress of the negotiations, which proved futile.

Alleges Discrimination.

Mr. Montgomery examined Mr. Preston in regard to that part of the report in which the witness asserted that appeals to the principal cattle carriers in England had proven useless. After a number of questions, counsel asked if Mr. Preston really intended to suggest that Canada was being discriminated against unfairly in the cattle rate.

"I did intend to suggest that," replied Mr. Preston.

Mr. Montgomery pointed out that the report had drawn a comparison between rates charged on Argentine cattle and those charged on cattle shipped from Canada to Great Britain. He stated that the rates were on an absolutely different basis as the shipper from the Argentine was required to pay a great many extra charges, which, in the Canadian trade were included in the rate charged by the company.

G. H. Montgomery, K.C., counsel for the steamship companies, questioned the witness regarding his interview with Major Cairns, of the Cairns-Noble Shipping Company. Mr. Preston said that he took up the general freight situation with Major Cairns and told him what the Government proposed to do to secure control of ocean rates.

"I may say, Mr. Preston, that my instructions are quite to the contrary," said Mr. Montgomery.

"I don't care what your instructions are; I am making these statements under oath," Mr. Preston replied.

CHILD THROWN AGAINST WALL

owed money. We wanted to bring her home for Thanksgiving—but we couldn't.

"It was dismal, that Thanksgiving Day, without her. How dismal you can only imagine.

"Well, on December 15 I sent Mrs. Giesen-Volk a money order for $15. Shortly after I sent it, she called me up to say the baby was sick.

"I didn't believe her. I said I would be right over. And then she said:

"'I might as well tell you—Agnes is dead.'

"She wanted me to wait until the next day before I came to claim the body.

'But I took a taxicab and went there immediately, crying, creaming, not believing, thinking it only a something I had misunderstood over the phone.

"But it was true. She was dead. She was lying there, waiting for me. My baby. Dead! Dressed in her little white cap, her little white dress and underclothing, her little cloak, her little white bootees I made mystelf.

"This was in Herrlich's undertaking rooms. I wanted to take my baby home, but they wouldn't let me. I screamed. I raved. They told me they were going to bury my darling right away. I almost went insane. I went to the Health Department though, and stopped them.

"There was blood on her little face, and they wouldn't let me touch her. They wouldn't let me fash that red blood off that dear white face. They told me I mustn't even kiss her.

"I went out of that place like a mad woman. I told my husband. I told FrankSchourer, my brother-in-law. I told everybody.

"We went to the undertaker's the next day. One of the infantarium nurses was there.

"Frank looked at the body of my little girl, still in her white clothes, the white cap on her head. He asked the nurse to take off the cap. She would not. She said it was the custom for babies to be buried that way—with all their baby clothes.

"But Frank went over to the body and he took off the cap.

"And we saw the whole side of our baby's head had been smashed!

"Mother of God! go mad even now when I think of it!"

SPECIAL SERVICES FOR MOTHERS' DAY

Millbrook Methodists and Presbyterians Honor Mothers at Church.

MILLBROOK, May 13.—Special Mother's Day services were observed in two of the local churches on Sunday, and also at Carmel in the afternoon.

Grace Presbyterian church took up the programme prepared for general use thoughout the Dominion at its Sunday school session, a pageant depicting the educational activities of the up-to-date church being presented as the chief feature. Miss Alice Armstrong took the part of the mother, telling the story of Jesus to the two children, Edna Gervan and Dalton Brown, who come eagerly questioning about the Bible. "Tell Me the Old, Old Story", was sung, and then two other chidren, Jean and David Gervan, came to the platform and outlined the C.G. I.T. and C.S.E.T. programmes for the 'teen age boys and girls.

A communion service was held at morning worship, the pastor, Rev. G. S. Gervan, being in charge. There were forty-eight communicants at the altar.

The Methodist Sunday School which now meets at 10 a.m., had an attendance of two hundred on Sunday morning. Mr. Hilliard Lang led in the responsive readings from Moffaat's translation of the 13th chapter of 1st Corinthians, the mothers only responding.

Marian Earle recited "Somebody's Mother", and Rev. Joseph Wilks gave a most instructive talk on "The Mothers of the Bible", using the outline, "Even the First Mother; Rebecca, mother of Jacob; Rachael, mother of Joseph; Jochebed, mother of Moses; Hannah, mother of Samuel; Jedidah, mother of Josiah; Elizabeth, mother of John the Baptist; Eunice, mother of Timothy; Mary, mother of John Mark; and Mary, mother of Jesus."

Some of the lessons emphasized were: "When in doubt whether a thing is right, or wrong, let mother settle it."

"Never conceal a secret which you cannot entrust to mother."

"Never do, or go, or say, whatever, or wherever, you would be ashamed to have mother know."

A men's choir of twenty-five voices led the service of song both morning and evening. The selections in the morning included: an anthem, "Mother's Old-Fashioned Flowers", with duet by Messrs. G. A. Duncan and H. Gallagher; a cornet duet, "Looking This Way," by Messrs. G. E. and Ernest Burnham; quartett, "There's an Old-Fashioned Home Over Yonder," by Messrs. Coombe, Dawson, McDowell and Lambert.

"Mezuzah", written in large letters on the blackboard, challenged the attention of the worshippers, Rev. F. H. Howard explaining that this is a Hebrew word applied to a cylinder nailed to the right door-post of a Jewish home, and containing a parchment on which is written certain of God's laws, and having the name "Shaddai", (Jehovah) alone visible when rolled, ready to be placed in the container. A Hebrew mother would touch her fingers to this name when leaving the house, and then kiss the finger tips in token of reverence, her children gaining a lesson in this virtue from the act.

Deuteronomy 11: 13 gave the text, "Thou shalt write them on the door-posts of thine house, and upon thy gates," which originated the custom with the orthodox Jew.

"Some of the boys and girls of today are already determining the type of children they will leave behind to follow them to the grave, and to Heaven."

"The characters of the fathers and mothers are being reproduced in their children, and the devil gets his greatest chance in the laxity of some of these who are evading a moral responsibility":

"Resist beginnings—the folly of the child may be the habit of the youth, and the downfall of the man."

"The door of the temple of success is never left open—everyone who enters must make his or her own door, which closes behind him to the exclusion of others."

"Parents, remember you are dealing with perishable property in the persons of your boys and girls, and they may be 'on the pace' while you are getting ready to set them an example."

The choir numbers at the song-service at night included: Prelude, "Our Father in Heaven"; anthem, "Not Unknown", with duet by Messrs. Byam and McDowell; quintette, "The Sinner and the Song", by Messrs. Coombe, Byam, Dawson McDowell, and Lambert; cornet solo "Perfect Day", by Ernest Burnham and response, "Now the Daylight Fades Away."

Messrs. G. Elson, K. Skitch, J. McKnight and M. Ball were the ushers for the day, those usually filling this office being in the choir, the members of which were: Messrs P. Stinson, L. W. Smith, H. Long, O. Williamson, B. Richards, W. G. Hetherington, W. Tremaine, A. J. Brown, J. Pitt, W. G. Rowland, H. Muspratt, C. C. Garside, B. B. Dawson, W. H. Coombe, G. W. Sayles, H. Argue, V. C. Lambert, G. A. Duncan, F. McMahon, G. Gallagher, J. L. Byam, M. McDowell, G. E. Burham, E. Burham.

A congregation numbering about one hundred gathered at Carmel Church on Sunday afternoon, when the special Mother's Day programme was taken up, Rev. J. Wilks giving the address.

The choir was augmented for the occasion and sang two appropriate selections, Miss Martha Lunn presiding at organ, and Amos Strong giving much appreciated assistance with his violin. Audrey Bristow, Robina Challice, Melville Strong and Alvin Banks, members of the Sunday School, sang "My Mother's Prayer" and the anthem by the general choir was, "The Prayer at Mother's Knee".

Usually the Sunday School session is the only service held in Carmel church, but for some Sundays at least Rev. J. Wilks, who is greatly beloved by all denominations throughout the entire district, will preach in the afternoons, the church service following after the school is dismissed.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Hetherington, of Peterborough, were guests of Misses Emma and Nellie Hetherington on Sunday.

Miss. A. Vance, who has spent the winter in Toronto, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. T. Jackson, Ida.

The Misses Vance are renting their homestead in Millbrook to Mr. H. J. Grassett and family for the summer months.

Miss Eileen Higgs spent Sunday with her sister, Miss Mary Higgs, in Peterborough.

Misses G. Gray, and Pearl Lamb, and Messrs. R. Stone and H. Morton represented the A.Y.P.A. of St. Thomas' church at the district meeting held in Peterborough last Thursday. Mr. Stone is the district President. A number of delegates also went from St. Paul's church Perrytown.

Rev. W. H. Barraclough, B. A., B.D., of Cambridge Street Church, Lindsay, will preach educational sermons in the Methodist church next Sunday, morning and evening, and will also take the service at Zion in the afternoon.

THE OLD ONE IS MORE COMFORTABLE

The Duke of Devonshire has for years worn the same old hat. He keeps it for comfort, he says. Recently 24 ladies, friends of his, sent him 24 new hats on the same day. He accepted them, but still sticks to the old one. Here he is, the old hat in his hand, talking to King George at Monreale, Sicily, where the King was recuperating his health.

A LINE-O-TYPE.

Did you ever think of eating? Some people are chronically afflicted that way, and if you stop to look around the streets you will see that half-famished men are underfoot at every turn. In a George street restaurant at a mid-night early morning lunch last week a young man bustled in alone and sat down at a table next to where we were drinking our second glass of water after a heavy meal of buttered toast. "Two orders of hot cakes, two ham and eggs, two French fried," he told the waiter, and fell to studying the menu card. The waiter trotted off, came back, set up two places, trotted off again, returned with arms laden with food, and looked doubtfully at the visitor, immersed in his perusal of the menu. "Will you begin, or wait for the other gent'man?" he asked. "There's no one else," replied he of the double order. "You got to order two meals these days to get on."

Let's Eat!

Which reminds us of Mr. Dooley and what Mr. Hogan says: "We ought to live where all th' good things iv life comes fr'm." "No," says I, "th' place to live in is where all th' good things iv life goes to."

Folks are sick of a dab of this and a dab of that. Men have to be fed good to be good.

And that's that.

It isn't the doing of a thing —it is the overdoing of a thing that proves a man's undoing.

Comic strips, such as the Examiner's, depicting such misunderstandings as come to Jiggs and Maggie caused Henry VIII. to disregard the social ambitions of his wives, and wrecked his home life.

A Sad Case.

This is the burden of the accusation brought in a letter from some one who should know better, laying all the sins and failings of the world upon the comic strip. "I have stopped all weekly papers coming into my house," says the writer, who failed to sign the letter, "because the comics were turning the children's heads. Their imbecility is intolerable."

Well, well! What do you think of that? If his children are as bad as that we sympathize with him, but we presume he really means to charge the comics with light-headedness. We admit it and throw ourselves on the mercy of the court.

If comics were serious—well, everyone wouldn't turn to page two of the Examiner first thing after the newspaper boy takes a long shot in the general direction of the verandah with his paper.

When Sister Perry and Elder Berry
Take on the duties of censorship,
No more big headlines and nothing merry;
The boys will have to be careful
—very—
Or they'll find themselves in the goaler's grip;
No paragraphs that are light and clever,
No more derisive cartoons whatever,
And say farewell to the comic strip!
—Thrifty.

SPLIT TIME IN CHICAGO

Every broadcasting station in Chicago has to spit its broadcasting time with another station on the same wavelength. This is due to the large number of stations in that district.

BOXING REBROADCAST

South America had a chance to listen in to news of the Boston boxing tournament recently, when station WBZ and KDKA broadcast it from the arena. The reports were rebroadcast on low wavelengths so that CKAC in Montreal and the Buenos Aires station could pick them up.

WANT TO BE HANGMAN

BERLIN, May 12—More than 100 men have applied for the position of official hangman in Berlin, as the result of discussion there for restoring the death penalty. No one has been put to death for a crime in the capital since 1921.

FABLES ON HEALTH.

VACATIONS.

When Mr. Mann of Anytown arrived with the Mrs. and youngsters at the vacation resort, there sat the usual assortment of fat gents playing pinochle and uncomfortably garbed women playing bridge or mah jongg.

"What the dickens do they go on a vacation for?" Mr. Mann queried of Mrs. Mann.

And yet the pinochle-bridge scene may be found at countless thousands of resorts. Grown men and women go on vacations and do little more than play cards or similarly dodge boredom.

These people could well take lessons from their children, who use this opportunity to let loose pent-up suppressions of the year and run about shouting and playing.

Of course, every fat paunched gent can't play Indian or tag, but he can learn the lesson of letting his mind get into healthful paths. He can get away from the hotel steps and hike along tree-covered trails, or across sweet-smelling country meadows.

There are a thousand things he can do that would reduce his girth and put him in far better condition when the vacation ends—that is, unless he is an invalid.

If a card table and a hotel porch is the best a man can do, he would almost be better off to stay at home and spend his vacation at the Indian clubs of a gymnasium.

HOTPOINT SHEATHED WIRE ELEMENTS WILL OUTLAST ANY "OPEN TYPE" BECAUSE:—
They are indestructible

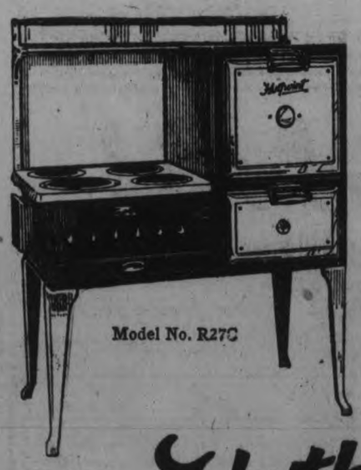
IN order to determine the life of a sheathed-wire element, a special endurance test was commenced in February, 1923. After 16,000 hours' continuous operation—the equivalent of twelve years' domestic usage—there is nothing yet to indicate the actual operating life of a sheathed-wire element. The element undergoing test was taken from stock, and is identical in every way with thousands in every-day use all over Canada.



Model No. R27C

Such results with open-type elements are impossible, because their delicate heating coils are continually exposed to the air, and are, therefore, subject to oxidation—the principal cause of burn-outs in open-type elements.

Do not confuse sheathed-wire elements with so-called "protected" or "covered" types—look for the Hotpoint trade mark. There is only one genuine sheathed-wire element.

New Strength for Mothers While Nursing Baby

Mrs. R. J. Douglas, Shelburne, N.S., writes:—"I found Dr. Chase's Nerve Food of wonderful benefit after the birth of our little boy. I was very nervous, unable to sleep and not able to do any work at all. The Nerve Food restored my health."

Recovery from the nervous and physical strain consequent on baby's coming is often slow and tedious unless such a restorative as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is used to form new rich blood and build up new nervous energy.

So many thousands of mothers have found this medicine to be exactly what they needed under these circumstances that you can be sure of obtaining the desired benefits.

MOTHERS' DAY WAS OBSERVED

CARNATIONS SOLD.

NORWOOD, May 13.—Mother's Day was very fittingly observed on Sunday morning last in the Methodist Church. The program prepared by the Department of Religious Education was followed. The mothers occupied the front middle seats of the church and there was a good representation. The large auditorium was filled. The choir loft was occupied by the Sunday School pupils and their teachers. A religious pageant was given. Those taking part in it were Mrs. A. McNeil, Misses Helen Dixon and Margaret Brethen and Master Charlie Pfuffer. A recitation, entitled "Somebody's Mother," was given by Master Kenneth Montgomery, and a solo, "My Mother's Prayer," was rendered by Mr. J. S. Weir.

Moving Pictures.

A movie picture entertainment was given on Friday evening last in the Town Hall under the auspices of the local Boy Scouts. A large crowd was in attendance. Instrumental solos were rendered by Mrs. F. B. Garlick and Master Jack Kempt and a vocal solo by W. J. Stares. Music between scenes was furnished by Messrs. Ronald Garlick and Keefe McLaughlin.

Personals.

A number from Norwood attended the play, "The Country Doctor," given on Friday evening last by the South Dummer Amateur Dramatic Club.

Mrs. A. J. Nixon is spending a few days with her father, Mr. C. Crowe of Clarina, who is seriously ill.

Miss G. Gillespie, B.A., spent the week-end at her home in Campbellford.

Mrs. Clare and daughter, Miss Meta Clare, spent the week-end with friends at Little Britain.

Miss Southern, teacher at the Wildman School, spent the week-end at her home in Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Finkle, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Finkle, Master Gilbert Finkle and baby Betty of Belleville and Mrs. Roy Spafford of Rome, N. Y., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Weir. Mrs. A. H. Finkle and Mrs. Spafford are remaining for a short visit.

Miss Dorothy Toye, B.A., of the High School staff spent the week-end at her home in Toronto.

Mrs. H. Robb and Mrs. H. Harper returned home from London on Friday evening.

Miss Mary Longley and her friend, Miss Grace Howey, who have been visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Frank Parker, Belmont street, returned to Montreal on Saturday.

Miss Annie Whyte of Trent River was the week-end guest of Miss Lila Engisch.

Rev. T. M. Wesley was in Peterboro on Monday.

Miss A. McIntyre and Misses Mary and Marjory Wade were in Peterboro on Monday to see Dr. J. Wade, who is confined to Nicholls Hospital.

Carnations Sold.

The Y.W.A. of St. Andrew's Church were very successful in selling the carnations they had secured for Mother's Day.

Mrs. A. Rahal and Miss Ada Rahal left on Friday for Cleveland, Ohio, where they purpose residing in the future.

Messrs. O. Edwards and J. Bush spent Sunday in Belleville.

J. Weir took eight horses back to B. Scott's ranch in Dummer on Monday.

YOUNG MEN LEAVE ORLAND FOR STATES

Three Farmers Are Added to List of Those Who Crossed Line.

ORLAND, May 13.—Messrs. G. Rogers, E. McQuilkin and A. D. Phillips have gone to the United States to secure work at the fancy wages offered over there. This last makes 16 young Canadian citizen farmers who have left this immediate vicinity in the last 18 months with no prospects of returning.

Mr. Huyke, who recently purchased the property of D. H. Harmon, has just returned home from Peterboro where he has been on business for the last week.

Ambrose Phillips and son have purchased the Geo. Grosjene farm which has been without a tenant for the last two years.

Hyram Westlake has rented part of the Wm. Lear farm, near here, and will move on the premises in the course of a fortnight.

Mrs. Ezra McNally, who fell backwards from the third step of the stairs, striking her head and was unconcious for some time and was thought to be seriously hurt, is considerably better.

Strawberries did not winter as well as usual and are very much in need of a warm rain.

There will not be so large an acreage of potatoes planted in this locality this year on account of the low prices offered for last season's crop, which is running at from 20 to 30 cents a bag.

VISITS MADRID

OFFICERS ELECTED BY YOUNG PEOPLE

Keene League Held Annual Meeting—Mothers' Day Was Observed.

KEENE, May 13.—The Young People's Leagues of the Methodist church held its annual meeting on Friday evening last and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. David Kempt.
Secretary—Miss Alice Champman.
Treasurer—Miss Mildred Vernon.
Organist—Miss Minnie Edwards.

During the next two months a teachers' training course will be conducted every Friday evening at seven-thirty.

The Mothers' Day programme was presented at both the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches to large congregations, both pastors giving a very excellent address on "Our Mothers".

The regular meeting of the W.M.S. will be held in the Methodist church on Thursday at two-thirty. The Young Men's Bible Class will also meet on Thursday evening at seven-thirty, in the Methodist church, for re-organization and election of officers for the coming year.

Miss Hazel Browne was home during the week end.

Mrs. Johnson has returned home after a prolonged visit to her daughter in New York.

The Misses Marjorie and Betty Brown and Katherine McCarthy visited Peterborough friends on Saturday.

The friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Doris met at their home on Friday evening and gave them a miscellaneous shower. A very delightful time was spent winding up with dancing and refreshments.

Creamery butter is selling for 37 cents with dairy about five cents lower.

There are still a few cases of mumps in the village.

Seeding is practically finished in and around Keene, a few low lying fields being the only places that are not seeded yet.

Miss Marguerite Eggleton is visiting her parents at the C.N.R. station.

WIDOW OFFERS FORTUNE.

TOKIO, May 13.—Mrs. Shinzo Takata, widow of the founder of a large banking house which has suspended business because it was on the verge of failure, has offered her private fortune to the creditors. Nearly $15,000,000 is involved. The bank was hit severely by the earthquake and never was able to recover.

CHANGING TIMES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 13.—The old harem at the Imperial Palace here now is used as a storehouse for national treasures.

PRESENTATION TO CHURCH MOTHERS

Bouquets Given Oldest and Youngest Mothers at Trent River Church.

TRENT RIVER, May 13. — Mother's Day was fittingly observed at the church Sunday afternoon, when the pastor, Rev. E. I. Seymour, delivered an appropriate address to a large congregation.

A printed order of service was followed, and suitable music was rendered. Donald Ellis recited "Somebody's Mother."

At the close of the service Mr. Seymour called upon the oldest Sunday School lady teacher who was a mother, also the youngest mother in the Sunday School service — Mrs. Ridley Wood and Mrs. Chas. Spencer respectively—to come forward and each receive a bouquet of cut flowers from members of the Girls' Class.

Harry Rose returned to Toronto Saturday after having spent a couple of weeks at "Ye Olde Mill."

Miss Irene Liberty spent Sunday with friends here.

Mrs. Jas. Wright, of Toronto, has been at her cottage for a few day, opening up and making preparations for the summer. Mr. Wright expects to be here some time in the near future as soon as health permits.

James Cook is improving his residence by repainting.

AMERICAN ENGLAND.

LONDON, May 13.—Commenting on the fac tthat "nothing seems safe from the fire of Lady Astor's criticism," the Passing Show says sh e"is merely the advance guard of Yankee influences in this country, which are spreading in every direction to such an extent that in the course of three or four years all our institutions will be thoroughly Americanized."

Some of the finest "French" grapes are grown on the south coast of England and shipped across the channel.

BABY'S OWN SOAP
Best for Baby — Best for You

OLD-FASHIONED REMEDY.

Styes on the Eyes Cured by Simple Home-made Lotion.

Styes on the eyes are painful. Also they detract very much from the appearance.

There is an old-fashioned remedy for styes which is said to be very effectve. Any mother can prepare this rmedy in a few minutes' time.

Put a teaspoonful of black tea in a small bag, pour on it enough boiling water to moisten it. Then place ths poultice on the eye while it is warm.

Another lotion for styes may be mae of camphor, one ounce, and muriate of morphia, one grain.

Do not let the lids come together until the part touched is dry.

A few such applications in 24 hours is sufficient.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

MARRIAGE LEAP IN DARK STOPS

By Act of Parliament — Three Days Enforced for Consideration.

ON JUNE 13

On and after June 13, 1925, there will be no more sudden plunges into matrimonial seas, according to City Clerk S. R. Armstrong, but the parties to such contracts will be forced to take at least three days during which opportunity is given for due deliberation and discussion of the advisability or otherwise of the fateful step.

Realizing the trouble which frequently follows in the wake of hastily made marriage vows the government has stepped in and decreed that no marriage shall be solemnized till three days have elapsed after the license has been secured.

Furthermore no license can be issued till birth certificates or sworn affidavits attested by close relatives are presented by the contracting parties, proving them to have reached the proper age for the performing of the marriage ceremony.

That there is serious need of some such adjustment is shown by the ever increasing line up at divorce courts and this new legislation should at least have the effect of causing impetuous lovers to hesitate and regard the intended leap from a greater variety of angles than appear at first sight.

LISTENING TO MUSIC

More Demanded Than From the Votary of Other Arts.

Listening to music with intelligence demands from the listener more than is demanded from the votary of the other arts. The lover of painting or of sculptor may stand before the picture or the statue for as long as he likes. The lover of literature has available to him the books of his authors. Those arts not only provide for their lovers permanent records of their beauties, but some of them enable those who study them to bring into play the healthful activity of comparison. Thus, the person looking at a picture or a piece of sculpture instinctively measures what they represent with the reality in so far as he has seen it. Music, on the other hand, has no such aids to its effect upon its hearers. Being merely sound, and sound that is as fleeting as it is intangible, its effect must chiefly be instanteous effect. For that reason, listening to it, if it is to be intelligent, must be far more concentrated than intelligent looking at a picture or intelligent reading of a book need be.

LOVE DEFINITIONS

Husband—Some one who resents anything a wife does for his own good, and who is tickled to death if any one else suggests that he is working too hard.

Wife—Some one who never says anything about her husband working too hard until he gets sick.

Mother-in-law—Some one who is made the butt of a joke part of the time and a nursemaid the rest of the time.

Woman—The appendix of a man's love; in other words, the one thing that a man wants to get rid of the minute it causes him any pain.

Radio bug—Any man who will stay up half the night trying to get a connection with Cuba, but who refuses to connect up for five minutes with what his wife is trying to tell him.

Pessimist—Any man who worries about a second wife while he still has the first one.

Grouch—Something that any one can have but yourself.

Nerves—Something that no one but yourself is entitled to.

An out of the ordinary recipe for potato buns is given The Examiner by Mrs. M. T. Breckenridge, 315 Pearl avenue:

Mix 2 yeast cakes, 1 tablespoon sugar, 4 cups scalded milk, 1 cup mashed potatoes, 4 cups sifted flour. Let rinse one-half hour, then add one half cup lard and butter 1 egg, 1 cup sugar, creamed, and four or five cups of flour. Let rise for four or five hours then form into buns and let rise again for two or three hours. Then bake.

IS THIS Your BIRTHDAY

WEDNESDAY, MAY 13.—If today is your birthday, you will possess an unusual amount of courage. You would make a good detective, whether you be a man or woman. You will be intensely interested in detective and other thrilling stories. The chances are that you either will marry before you are 21 or not until after you are 35.

You are born under the zodiacal sign of Taurus, the bull, which partly accounts for your fearlessness.

POST'S BED BUG POISON.

Post's Bed Bug Poison is composed of carbonic acid, Methyl Hydrate and Corrosive sublimate. When this preparation is used according to directions, it is sure death to bed bugs, cockroaches and insects of all descriptions. Two or three applications are all that is necessary, but as it is very poisonous this preparation should be kept out of reach of children.

Weddings

BULLIED—PEMBERTON.

Thursday evening, at the First Methodist Church, Miss Doris Pemberton and William E. Bullied were united in marriage, Rev. F. G. H. Stevens officiating in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

The church was beautifully decorated with roses and other seasonable flowers, combined with greenery.

Preceding the service, the father of the bride, E. Pemberton, sang "O Promise Me," and just after the ceremony sang "Because." Miss Lillian Brandvig, who played the accompaniment, also played the wedding march.

The bride wore a charming dress of ivory georgette over satin backed canton crepe, the dress trimmed with silver lace. Her tulle veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Hilda Pemberton served her sister as maid of honor. Her gown was of cherub Canton crepe, and she carried a bouquet of roses and sweet peas. Rita Pemberton, the flower girl, wore a pretty frock of blue printed crepe with pink trimmings. She carried a basket of rosebuds.

Jacob Hanson of West Park was the best man.

Departing from the usual custom, a group of girl friends of the bride served as ushers. They were Misses Margaret Thomas, Fay Cloud, Edith Graves and Phyllis Graves. They wore dresses of pastel colors.

Following the church service, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Pemberton, for about 40 friends and relatives. The house was bright with baskets and bowls of pink and white roses. Following the congratulations, a wedding supper was served. The bridal party, with Rev. and Mrs. Stevens, were seated at one table, having a centerpiece of pink and cream roses, the favors being pink baskets, on the handles of which were pink rosebuds.

Late in the evening, Mrs. Bullied changed her wedding finery for an ensemble of tan and blue and the couple departed for a honeymoon trip to San Francisco. Before leaving, the bride threw her bouquet, which was caught by Miss Margaret Thomas. The new home of the couple will be made at 215 Effie Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Pemberton and family came to Fresno only a few years ago from Peterborough, Canada, and it was there that Mr. Bullied also lived. The romance had its beginning when Miss Pemberton and Mr. Bullied were school friends.

Mrs. W. S. Hill came from her home in Patterson to attend the wedding. — Fresno "Republican," Fresno, California.

REALITY ISN'T ALL IDEALISM

IMPART IDEAS

Fired by religious zeal, a friend of mine enlisted for foreign missionary service. After long anticipation, and a wearisome journey, she landed in India, and presently found herself teaching arithmetic to a lot of squirming, swarthy-skinned, mischievous youngsters. Her youthful dream of preaching touching little sermons to eagerly receptive natives, who would idolize her, had gone glimmering. She had to get on the housetop every day to keep up her morale.

Mothers often feel a good deal like my friend. The dreams of girlhood somehow seem to dissolve into unceasing necessity for manual labor. Faces and hands get dirty so often, and there are so many small garments to be washed and ironed, to say nothing of food to be prepared and an occasional spanking to be administered, that there is little left for those touching scenes of pure sentiment pictured by poets and artists.

And yet, in answering the incredibly various questions that rise so readily to children's lips, in listening to the confidences of teen age boys and girls, in a thousand and one incidents that appear on the surface to be thoroly insignificant, the mother does impart ideas of uprightness and integrity and reliability, to her family. You can't segregate the craft of motherhood from its spiritual grace.

THE WRONG NOTES

Rubinstein Said Be Could Write Symphony Out of Mistakes.

Rubinstein is reported to have said that he could have written a symphony out of the wrong notes he had played as one of the world's greatest piano recitalists. But there is no doubt he played a greater number of right notes—and at all events the spirit of the music he played was in his performance. He was once so annoyed with himself at playing a wrong note in a passage that he began to pull a gold mark out of his pocket each time he did so, and lay it upon the piano—with the intention of subscribing the money to a hospital. "By the time I mastered that Sonata," he said, "the hospital had done well."

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY MEETS

Ex-Alderman Stocker Criticized and Defended—Repairs to be Made.

BEQUEST OF $500.

The regular monthly meeting of the Children's Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon in the board room of the Chamber of Commerce, with the president, B. F. Ackerman, in the chair, and the following members present: J. Edgar, G. W. Powell, W. J. Hopwood, R. H. Parsons, F. H. Dobbin, C S Cummer, J Abraham, Dr E Wood, Rev. P Costello, Mesdames J Holmes, R J Devey, W H Gibbs, H W Darcy, J Welsh, G L Stevens, J Fanning. Mayor Turner, absent in Toronto, sent a card regretting his inability to attend the meeting.

The secretary, J. Edgar, gave the matron's report for the month of April, showing fifteen children in the Shelter, two brought in, and the Shelter under quarantine for measles.

F. H. Dobbin, chairman of the Property committee, presented a voluminous report, colored throughout with its framer's whimsical humour, outlining necessary repairs to the Shelter premises. Mr. Dobbin was authorized to engage men to go ahead with the repairs, which will cost in the neighborhood of $200, and complete the job as soon as possible.

The report of the purchasing committee was read by Mrs. W. H. Gibbs.

Agent's Report

Mr. Powell reported five applications for children during the month, with two wards returned to the Shelter, and fourteen wards visited.

A letter received by Mr. Powell from a mother of four wards of the Children's Aid Society, asking for the return of the children to the home, was discussed at some length. On representation by the agent and other members, as to present conditions in the home, it was decided to retain guardianship of the children until such time as the parents give evidence of making a real home for themselves and their children.

Mr. Powell reported that he had not sufficient time to attend the meetings of the Central Charity Board, on which he has been the representative of the Children's Aid Society, and J. Abraham was appointed to take his place.

Recently, Mrs. Emma Conkrite, grandmother of a small crippled ward of the Shelter, Everett Carruthers, died and left him a bequest of $500. This is an insurance policy in the Independent Order of Oddfellows' Society, with a present value of $471.75. The Supreme Court of the Order notified Mr. Powell that they could not pay over the amount to the Children's Aid Society unless the latter made application for guardianship to the Surrogate Court, or placed the amount to the credit of the infant with the Supreme Court of judicature of Ontario, under a section of the Insurance Act. This was referred to consideration by the society's solicitor, J. Wearing.

The president, B. F. Ackerman, read a notice received from J. J. Kelso, in Toronto, with regard to notification received by him from the Soldiers' Aid Commission that they had decided to give up child welfare activities.

Divergent Ideas

Mr. Edgar reported that ex-Alderman Stocker, a member of the Board of the Children's Aid Society, while engaged in putting up a billboard near the Shelter premises had discovered a manure pile on the grounds which had been left there for use when required in the garden, and had promptly notified the city sanitary authorities, who had ordered the manure removed, thus occasioning much inconvenience to the Shelter guardians, who had in mind the use of the fertilizer at an early date. Mr. Edgar was of the opinion that Mr. Stocker's activities might be confined to better uses.

Dr. Wood rose to the defence of the ex-alderman, by asserting that Mr. Stocker had done a genuine civic service in his action, as the keeping of such a manure pile on such premises was against the laws of the Provincial Board of Health.

Mr. Edgar, on enquiry from one of the members, with regard to the society's tenure of guardianship of its inmates, explained that only in case of sickness in the home would the Shelter receive children for any length of time without making them wards of the organization, and after such action, it endeavored as soon as possible to find suitable homes for them.

Donations and Accounts

The following donations were acknowedged: Mrs. Sangster, boys' clothing; Women's Bible Class of All Saints' Church, bread, cake and candy; Y.M.C.A., bread; Mrs. Phillips, patchwork quilt.

Accounts for the month were as follows: Gilgour and Son $7.22, V. Fisher $4.34, Jas. Juby $7.70, Bell Telephone Company (two accounts) $9.26, Frank White $3.00, J. Steinberg $1.35, McDermid and Jury 60c, Higgins Hardware Co. $1.75, Herb Allen 18 cents, W. H. Hamilton $2.70, Hodgson Bros. $14.75, W. A. J. Giles 76 cents, W. A. Ingram 75 cents, Peterboro Milk Products $12.60, Stocks Bread Co. $5.41, J. C. Turnbull $40.75, G. W. Powell $2.40, R. Neill $4.50, Fred Drake $14.25. Total, $134.27.

YOUR GARDEN

FOR THE WOULD-BE DAHLIA ENTHUSIAST.

With this popular flower there are a number of types to choose from which should please everyone's fancy. The single, collarette, and duplex types are composed of a single or at most two rows of petals. As the number of petals increase in number we have the peony flowered and the decorative types. Then come the ball shaped double ones, with quilled or cupped petals, which include the show, hybrid show and the pompom types. The pompom is simply a miniature copy of the show type and must not exceed two inches in diameter. Finally there are the two cactus dahlias, the true fluted and the hybrid types. The true fluted has the long, narrow, quill-like petals and is a great favorite.

Soil.—An open, sunny location is best, though certain varieties will do well in partial shade, especially if intended for exhibition. A somewhat sandy soil is preferable, as it will produce short, sturdy, compact plants. They will however, do equally well in heavy loam or low land, but will grow tall and rank and bloom later. If you have a heavy soil, it may be lightened by coal ashes, sand and coarse manure.

Preparation.—The soil should be thoroughly plowed or shaded to a depth of 8 to 10 inches, well pulverized and thoroughly worked over. Do this in the fall and then dig over again in the spring for the very best results.

Fertilizing.—Any manure (horse, cow, sheep or hen) may be used as a top dressing every second year. This is applied in the fall and dug in. Then at planting time a commercial fertilizer may be used, rich in nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash. A complete potato fertilizer such as 4-8-6 for heavy soil, or a 5-8-7 for lighter soils, and ground bonemeal in equal proportions, are very satisfactory. When applying commercial fertilizers a 1-4 pound should be used with manure, or 1-2 to 3-4 pound per plant when no manure was dug in the previous fall. At the time of planting mix the commercial fertilizer with the soil about each tuber. It is best to apply it in contact with the tender sprout burning results and often the sprout is destroyed.

Starting the Tubers.—Divide up the parent root while dormant, or just starting, making sure that there are one or two eyes in each piece. Then place the pieces in a warm, light room. A shallow box or flat containing sand or light soil will do nicely. They may also be started in 5-inch pots, cutting the tubers to fit the pots when necessary. If you have not started them already, there is still time, or they may be planted directly outside.

Time and Distance of Planting.—Dahlias may be planted the third week in May or the first of June, depending on the season. On account of late frosts, it is better to set them late than too early. Plenty of room is necessary to attend to the plants conveniently, and they are all better grown in beds by themselves. Even four feet by four feet is not too much if the variety be a large one. Ordinarily about 3-3½ feet will suffice. Place the tubers in a vertical position, or flat, so that the growing point is faced up towards the surface of the soil and about 4-6 inches deep, depending on your type of soil. In the more clayey soils the tubers should be nearer the surface.

Supporting and Training.—These are important items in growing this flower, and ones you should pay particular attention to. The average root will produce several shoots. These should be allowed to grow until they make the first set of leaves, by which time the strongest can be selected. One shoot, or possibly three at most, should be retained and the rest cut off below the surface of the soil. The selected shoot or shoots should be tied to a stake as soon as about two feet high. As the plant develops it will require tying every foot or so to prevent breaking. The tip or tips may be pinched out at any desired height to cause the plant to develop laterals. This is usually done when it is about one foot high.

Possibly you may not wish to have exhibition flowers, but would rather grow dahlias for a general floral effect. In that case try the massing system. This does away with stakes, which are ugly, and gives a more natural and beautiful general appearance. Plant the bulbs in rows from ten inches to two feet apart, according to the amount of room you have to devote to their growing. The plants will then be self-supporting, each plant supporting and protecting the others.

General Culture.—If you carefully and frequently cultivate your soil little watering will be necessary. Watering to be satisfactory must be thorough and consistently practiced at regular intervals, otherwise the plants may receive a check and the flowers will suffer.

Producing Prize Blooms.—Fertilizing as described earlier at intervals during the growing season will help considerably. Disbudding, however, is necessary for best results. This consists of pinching out the side buds of a cluster and leaving only t' terminal one. The nourishment then all goes into the remaining bud. Disbudding should be done when the first bud is small. A certain amount of thinning out of the foliage is also necessary. This may be light or heavy as your conditions seem to require.

BISHOP SWEENY OFFICIATES AT A CONFIRMATION

Forty-six Candidates at St. John's Church Last Night.

INSPIRING ADDRESS.

Relationship of the Holy Spirit to the Candidates Was Theme.

The relationship of the Holy Spirit to the candidates was the central thought in the address of Bishop J. F. Sweeny, at the confirmation service in St. John's Church last night. This relationship he divided under a number of heads, the first of which was regeneration. This took place at the time of baptism when the child is made a member of Christ, a child of God and an inheritor of the Kingdom of Heaven. Except a man be born again of the Spirit he cannot enter the Kingdom of God. In the Bishop's prayer there is reference to regeneration by the Holy Ghost.

The second heading taken was re-invigoration, which concerns this solemn service of dedication. "In the prayer," said the Bishop, "we pray for the seven-fold gift of grace, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and ghostly strength, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and ghostly strength, the spirit of knowledge and true godliness and the fear of God. This is not the first time these gifts are received, but is a further installment."

Re-dedication and re-consecration formed the third division of the gift of the Holy Spirit. This applied in a peculiar manner to the clergy who had been called by the Holy Spirit and set apart for use as His agents in the appeal to man. They are the messengers, the watchmen, the stewards and ambassadors of God.

When in due course of the church year, the seasons of Advent and Lent come round, said the Bishop, we have services of revival and the power of the Holy Spirit makes them effective. This is the 126th confirmation in the diocese since last June, all of which have been attended by large classes of candidates, and this, the Bishop said, was one of the results of the dioceasan mission conducted in the fall of 1923.

Renewal of life was the fifth topic taken by the Bishop. "We pray that we may daily walk in newness of life by God's Holy Spirit."

Speaking to the candidates, the Bishop asked that they should not look upon it as a single event which was over and done with, but should consider it the opening of a new life in the Church of God.

"I know of no other way," said the Bishop, "to resist the devil and his works, to be faithful and able to bear the Cross, and, in time of sorrow and pain, to hold steadfastly to the hand of God. The use of prayer, public worship and above all the attendance at and partaking of the sacrament of the Body and Blood of Christ all help in keeping us members of Christ, children of God and inheritors of the Kingdom of Heaven.

"I want," said the Bishop, "to give you an intimate thought of the indwelling power of God the Holy Spirit. Your bodies are the temples and must be kept worthy of the Holy Spirit, pure and strong and holy. How can anyone dare let his body, the temple of the Holy Spirit, be subject to lust and dissipation? In the moment of temptation remember that it is the temple of God the Holy Spirit and whoso defiles the temple of God, him will God destroy. Christ and St. Paul give advice and warning against sin against the Holy Spirit who is a friend who can be offended and hurt.

Lust, passion and intoxication befoul the soul and poison the intellect. The Holy Spirit is like a flame that burns on the altar of the heart. It can be fed by right living, but can be snuffed out by worldliness. Walk in the spirit and ye shall not fulfill the lusts of the flesh is the positive advice given all the negative commandment against lust."

The Bishop asked for the prayers of the congregation in the collects, in silent prayer and in the hymn, "Come, Gracious Spirit," which was sung by all the choir and congregation while kneeling, that the candidates might enjoy the indwelling power of the Spirit.

Before his address, the Bishop announced the death of the former assistant Bishop, Rev. W. D. Reeves, who passed away at 3.30 yesterday afternoon.

There were present the Rev. T. J. 'Connor-Fenton, Rural Dean, of Norwood; Rev. G. J. Bousfield of St. Luke's; Rev. J. L. Hughes, of St. George's; Rev. J. D. Paterson, of All Saints', who presented one candidate; and Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave, Vicar of St. John's, presenting forty-five candidates.

EARTH TO WHIRL SELF TO PIECES, SCIENTIST SAYS

BY LARRY BOARDMAN

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The earth was formed by meteorites bumping together in space.

Its end will come when it whirls itself aaprt.

This new theory, which already has started a controvery among scientists, has been propounded by Dr. William Jasepr Spillman of the National Academy of Sciences and U.S. Department of Agriculture.

It applies not only to the earth, but to the entire solar system.

Its conclusions are that—

The meteorites which formed the earth were fragments of older planets which has disintegrated and fallen apart.

The earth is growing slowly larger.

It is losing its own initial heat, but is receiving heat from exploding atoms and striking meteorites.

The sun has attained its full growth and is now remaining stationary in size.

It has passed its hottest point, and is gradually cooling off.

The Doctor Explains.

Dr. Spillman explains as follows: "Millions of meteorites are whirling about in space.

They exert a certain amount of attraction for each other.

"Therefore, when the orbits of any two meteorites are close enough, the meteorites are drawn together and form one larger meteorite. Eventually it attains tremendous size.

"This appears to be a logical explanation for all the stars and plants, including the earth.

"For a time the earth grew fast, picking up the smaller meteorites in its path.

"Then—about five billion years ago—its growth slowed down. It had 'virtually 'cleaned up' its orbit of smaller bodies.

"It is still growing, but very gradually. Sceintists estimate it is beng struck by two hundred million meteorites every day. While some of these meteorites are fairly large, many are no bigger than pinheads.

Moons Formed Same Way.

"The various moons—our moon, and those of the other planets—were probably formed in the same way but they were formed within the influence of larger bodies.

"The sun was probably formed by two great masses of meteorites crashing together as their orbits crossed. Those which collided stuck together and transferred the center of gravity to the entire mass.

"Movement is a form of energy, and energy cannot be destroyed. When a moving body is suddenly stopped, its energy of motion is changed into heat.

"Now, however, the sun has attracted virtually all the meteorites around it. Its growth has stopped, which means that no new heat is being generated by striking meteorites.

"It is possible that the sun may have another source of heat, generated by atomic energy."

"Most scientists agree that the sun has passed its hottest point and is now slowly cooling.

"The earth, too, is gradually losing the heat generated by collision of the meteorites which formed it.

"To offset this it is receiving atomic heat and heat from the meteorites still striking it.

End of the Earth—

"As to the end of the earth, we know that new planets are canstantly forming and old planets constantly disintegrating.

"It seems logical to suppose that the meteorites which form the new plants are fragments of the disintegrated old planets which have fallen apart.

"The theory I hold to is that after disintegration sets in—as in a rock which has crystalized through age—the planet's atomic energy runs down and loses its powers of gravitation.

"When this occurs, there being nothing to hold its fragments, they are simply whirled off into space by its centrifugal force.

"This is a theory with an 'if.' So far it has not been proven that the atomic energy of a disintegrating planet runs down.

"But neither has it been disproven, and the theory at least provides a satisfactory explanation for a self-perpetuating solar sytem—which is what we have."

SAFETY RULES BEING SOUGHT

Mechanical Safeguards Not Sufficient, Convention is Told—Education Needed.

ACCIDENTS LESS.

TORONTO, May 13.—(Canadian Press).—At the convention of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association, continuing to-day, discussions and addresses featured the vital subject of protection of industrial workers. Some means other than mechanical safeguards must be found for preventing accidents, F. M. Morton, of the International Harvester Company, Hamilton, told the convention. He stressed the value of co-operation between worker and employer.

"The foreman should instruct the workers how to carry out their work safely, and it is the duty of the worker to practice safe operation of the job.

"Eternal vigilance is necessary to keep accidents down to the minimum," he said. Various ways in which the plant and machinery are safeguarded were told of by S. R. Parsons, president of the British American Oil Company. S. Price, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board stated that there is a general decrease in both permanent disability and death cases.

RIBS BROKEN IN CAR CRASH

Miles Parrington Seriously Injured on Stewart Street Last Night.

TIRE BLEW OUT.

At 9.10 o'clock last night a sedan, driven by Miles Parrington blew out a tire, crashed into a curb, and overturned cracking two of Parrington's ribs, and badly shaking the other occupants in the car. The fire department was called out to be on hand if a fire should possibly start in the car, the motor of which ran some time after the upset.

Parrington was driving north on Stewart street in company with Frank Hopkins, 68 Orpington Road, and Mable McLaren of 531 Chamberlain St., and when about one hundred and fifty ft. south of Wolfe street a front tire blew out, drawing the car to the curb. The front wheels were buckled and the car overturned on the left side.

The occupants were taken to a nearby house and medical aid was summoned. It was then discovered that Parrington had sustained two fractured ribs and that the others were badly shaken up b uninjured, saving a few minor bruises.

When interviewed, Parrington said that he was glad that the others did not suffer greater injury. He stated that the car was travelling at a moderate rate and he swerved slightly to avoid a grid which was protruded above the street level. It must have been at this level that the tire blew out and sent the car over to the curb.

Parrington said he applied the brakes but was of course not in time to avert the upset. He knew nothing about the call which had been sent in to the fire department, until he was removed from the house where he had been taken.

The fire chief says that persons henceforth sending in alarms of this nature will be dealt with as the law provides. He said that ther was no reason for the call being sent in and explained that when the equipment was out answering a false call one of a more serious nature might be rung in and serious damage result before aid could be sent.

SPECIAL SERVICES ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Rev. William Allan Spoke on David's "Two Times Three."

A delightful preacher was Rev. William Allan of New York, who last night conducted the first of the meetings this week in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, before a large audience.

Mr. Allan is here for anniversary week and is holding these special meetings for the expounding of the Scriptures. His subjects are topical and well-thought and instructive, and should draw many to St. Paul's Church during the coming evenings. The services last for one hour.

Last evening Mr. Allan took for his subject "David's Two Times Three," with the verses referring to the theme found in 1st Chronicles, 13th chapter and 1st Samuel, 17th chapter. These deal with David's attempt to bring back the Ark of the Lord, and the twenty years he occupied with the task, and his slaying of the giant Philistine Goliath.

David's life story, the preacher said, was instructing and interesting. He was "a man after God's own heart," though many people thought this a bit too far-fetched. But those who studied the life of David found no difficulty believing the truth of this. David suffered an eclipse and a perfect day—three mistakes and three victories in two days: David's two times three. To restore the Ark of God he made his mistake, which was without exxcuse. His first mistake was getting out of touch with God. No one can make a greater mistake. His second blunder was placing God in second place, when he confided with the other rulers of the land, and then came to God. Don't let us put God in second place in our lives—give him premier place. Otherwise, we will not succeed in our calling in life work. His third mistake was overstepping God's word. The children of Israel had instructions as to the conduct of the Ark, and David used his own means, which proved his undoing. These were his three mistakes.

David's three victories, continued Mr. Allan, were: victory over himself. He was sent with delicacies to his brothers in the front line of fighting and was to carry news of the battle to Saul. He was upbraided, as the youngest, for leaving home and coming into danger. But instead of losing his temper, he held it, and thus his victory. We all can gain victory over ourselves in the same way, with God as our guide and friend. Second, his victory over Saul's armour, which was unsuited, and made him rely on a sling and five small, smooth stones, worn smooth by waters rolling over them, and he used only one-fifth of his supply on the giant when the sneering Philistine advanced towards him, and fell with one stone in his skull. Thus the most insignificant instruments and people are used as God's messengers. Thus his victory over the giant. We see the smooth stones, typical of the power of the Holy Ghost, and just needing a portion of his stones as sufficient with this same power.

Concluding his sermon, Mr. Allan urged his hearers to let not past mistakes rob them of hope. Put God first always — never overstep God's word. You may win one day and lose all the next day if you are out of touch with God.

TUNNEL FOR TRAFFIC.

San Francisco plans to have a motor tunnel from the Sunset district of the city to the main arteries leading to the business center. The tunnel will cost about $1,600,000.

SAM GRAY WINS FOR ATHLETICS BEATING TIGERS

Connie Mack's Star Robbed of Shut-Out By Infield Errors.

YANKS LOSE AGAIN.

Shocker Drops Ten Inning Game to Thurston of White Sox.

DETROIT, Mich., May 12.—Three errors by members of the Athletics' infield created Gray out-of a shut-out victory here to-day, although Philadelphia won over Detroit by a score of 4 to 2. Simmons was the star of the game for the Athletics, scoring a home run, a triple and a double, and accounting for three of the four runs scored by Philadelphia. The score:

Detroit.....	....100020000—	3	8 0

Chicago, 5; New York, 4

CHICAGO, May 12.—The Chicago White Sox defeated New York, 5 to 4, in a ten inning pitching battle between Thurston and Shocker. The locals jumped into an early lead, but Meusel's home run with a runner on base tied the score in the eighth inning. Falk's two-base hit scored Mostil with the winning run in the tenth. Score:

New York	....2000000200—	4	8 2
Chicago....	....0020002001—	5	7 0

Shocker and Schang; Thurston and Schalk.

Cleveland, 9; Boston, 4.

CLEVELAND, May 12.—Smith kept Boston's hits scattered today while Cleveland took advantage of Wingfield's wildness and hit opportunely to win, 9 to 4. The Indians made three double plays to pull Smith out of trouble.

Todt, the Red Sox first baseman, made three doubles and a single in four times at bat. Score:

Boston.....	....200001001—	4	12 1
Cleveland	....20105100x—	9	10 2

St. Louis, 6; Washington, 3

ST. LOUIS, May 12.—The St. Louis Browns solved the shoots of Zachary of the Washington Senators today and won the first game of the series, 6 to 3. Ken Williams, Browns' left fielder, hit his fifth and sixth home runs of the season, while George Sisler ran to twenty-seven his string of games in which he has hit safely. Score:

Washington..	....001100100—	3	9 0
St. Louis	....00031011x—	6	8 2

BASEBALL SIMPLIFIED

What happens when the batsman interferes with the catcher in fielding or throwing a ball by stepping outside the lines of the batsman's position, or in any other way interferes with that player?

There are several different penalties for such interference with the catcher on the part of the batsman. They differ with certain existing situations.

Play No. 1—If there is a runner on third and one or no one out, and the batsman interferes with a play being made at the plate, the runner from third is called out. The penalty is made as severe as possible by wiping out the chance to score a run.

Play No. 2—With the same conditions existing and two out and the batsman interferes with a play at the plate, the batsman is called out. Since it makes the third out the penalty is put directly on the batsmen.

Play No. 3—In any other situation with runners on bases other than third, the batsman is always called out for interfering with the catcher and no bases can be run on the play. With less than two out at such a time the runners sh ply return to their original bases.

MOST PEOPLE HONEST.

SEATTLE, May 13.—Most people are honest, Seattle's treasurer has found. As an experiment in honesty, he wrapped up iron washers in papers that usually contain stacks of 10 silver dollars. He then placed these stacks just under a teller's window in his office. Only a few citizens walked off with the iron.

TORONTO RALLY BEAT SKEETERS, ERRORS HELPED

Malone's Tumble With Two Out Paved Way to Seven Run Session.

GILHOOLEY CHASED.

Roser's 13th Home Run in Baltimore Victory Over Syracuse.

TORONTO, May 12.—Toronto made a comeback today and defeated Jersey City 12 to 6, a six-inning rally that netted seven runs doing the trick. Errors proved costly for the Skeeters, a fumble by Malone preventing the side from being retired without a run after the first two men in the sixth were put out. Holt hit a homer and Layne and Kelly triples.

Heinie Boll was spiked by Wilson in the seventh inning and was forced to leave the game. Gilhooley was chased out of the park for arguing with Umpire Magergurth. The score:

Jersey City....	....013010100—	6	7 3
Toronto....	....10001712x—12	14	1

Baltimore, 7; Syracuse, 3.

SYRACUSE, May 12.—Baltimore pounded out 14 hits off the combined offerings of three Syracuse pitchers here today and won the second game of the series, 7 to 3. Jack Roser hit his thirteenth home run of the season in the second inning. Maisel and Sheedy also got home runs for Baltimore, while Jim Taggert, Stars' left fielder, hit over the fence twice.

Earnshaw held the Stars at his mercy throughout, striking out six and issuing one base on balls. The score:

Baltimore	....010110040—	7	14 2
Syracuse..	....100100010—	3	8 1

Earnshaw and Cobb; Grabowski, Parks, Reppy and McKee.

Newark, 7; Rochester, 2.

ROCHESTER, May 12. — Herb Thormahlen, former Yankee and Dodger hurler, made his debut as a Tribesman here today and the Newark Bears amassed a total of seven runs and twelve hits in seven innings to win by 7 to 2. The score:

Newark....	....100230100—	7	14 0
Rochester	....010100000—	2	8 2

Buffalo, 6; Reading, 1.

BUFFALO, May 12.—The Bisons were not pressed hard to win today's game from Reading, the score of which was 6 to 1. McNamara's home run over the left field wall accounted for the Keystone's lone tally. McNamara puzzled the Bisons for the first three innings, but in the fourth he was easily solved for four tallies. Anderson chalked up his eight four-bagger in the fifth, while Walsh tripled in the seventh to score the sixth counter. The score:

Reading....	....000000100—	1	8 2
Buffalo....	....00043010x—	6	13 0

DOUBLE HEADER FOR BRAVES ON LIGHT HITTING

Set the Cubs Back Another Pair and Cleaned Up the Entire Series.

REDS WIN IN 10TH.

Rixey Gets Close Decision Over Dazzy Vance—Giants Beat St. Louis.

BOSTON, May 12.—Boston took the double header, and the four games of the series from the Chicago Cubs today, winning 2 to 0, and 3 to 1. Although the Braves made but three hits in the first game, and six in the second, they were well timed and were turned into victories by good Boston pitching.

In the first game, seventh inning, Thomas singled, went to second on a sacrifice and scored on Harris' single. In the eighth Burroughs tripled and was brought in an a sacrifice fly by Gibson. Marriott made a home run in the fourth inning of the second game, and in the sixth brought a man home with a single, later scoring himself. Score:

Rixey and Wingo; Vance and Deberry.

New York, 3; St. Louis, 1.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The Giants made it three out of four from the St. Louis Cardinals by winning to-day's game, 3 to 1. Jack Scott lost a shut-out in the ninth inning, when Rogers Hornsby got an infield hit, took second and third without drawing a throw and scored on a single to left by Bottomly. Score:

St. Louis	....000000001—	1	6 0
New York	....01020000x—3	6	0

Dickerman, Sherdell and Gonzales; Scott and Gowdy.

Split Double Bill.

PHILADELPHIA, May 12. — Pittsburgh split a double header with the Phillies to-day, losing the first game by an 8 to 5 count, but taking the second game, 13 to 8.

Aldridge was hit for two homers in the sixth inning of the first game; one by Ring with three on, and the other by Harper with two on base. The Corsairs punished Couch and O'Neil for enough runs in the early innings of the second fray to win. Score:

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

Here is a method that has often worked out in my experience with golfers by which you can grasp the correct feel of the back swing. It hinges on the club being thrown back, or dragged slightly, rather than being pushed. At the start of the back swing push yourself solidly against your right leg, without letting the hip bow out. This will push all your weight against your right leg. Let the clubhead at the same time start back, low, even with the hands. Then, throw it backward and around with the left hand. Keep it slow enough so that you feel the weight of the clubhead dragging against the fingers. At the top catch the clubhead in the grip and stop it. Then give it a moment to turn, and throw it downward, starting with the left arm pull. The right hand snaps in at the ball.

THE PICTURE THAT DECIDED A RACE

So close was the finish in the 25-mile dirt track race at Atlanta, Ga., between Ed "Pop" Daily of Tampa, Fla., in his Simplex of ancient vintage and Sig Haugbahl in his special Daytona Cyclone, supposedly the world's fastest car, that the judges called it a tie and ordered it run over. But that was before they saw the picture which clearly shows Daily winning by inches. Daily got the prize and 100 points toward the dirt track championship of 1925.

Central Ontario League Notes

The Peterborough ball club will invade Kingston to open the Central Ontario League season with the Ponies, a week from today, and the local opening is scheduled for a week from Saturday when Belleville will clash with the Petes at Riverside Park. If the weather conditions are good during the next week the Petes should be in fine condition for the opening clash.

The Central Ontario League subcommittee meets on Friday to pass on the certificates of the various clubs. Peterborough registrations will include the following players: Manager Shiner Johnston, Max Swanston, E. Gartner, Bob Ross, Al. Heckman, Frank Whitehouse, Hap Harrison, Ray Rose, Johnny Marchen, S. McPherson, Geo. Helson, Frank Collins, Red Legon, Jimmy Hall, Herb. Wolfe and Fred Ash.

Graduates from the Central Ontario League ranks who are making good with a vengeance are Mose Compeau, shortstop of the Kingston Ponies and Mickey Murray, the Peterborough boy who has the unique record of playing with three different Central Ontario outfits, Peterborough, Leaside and Oshawa.

Compeau is playing short for Knotty Lee's Kitchener Mint League team and is breaking in nicely, fielding in good style while his hitting has been effective.

The inimitiable Micky got a great start with the Galt team, hitting a homer over the right field fence, following with a timely single and accepting nine fielding chances in spectacular style.

The Kingston Standard declares that Purvis, the Kingston first sacker, is a better fielding first baseman than Hap Harrison or Harry Mills of Belleville. Purvis is a steady youngster, with a good pair of hands, but he'll never pick off as many wild throws as Harrison, or cover as much ground as the Petes' first sacker—or come through with some of the spectacular stops for which Mills has been famous.

Oshawa will be the first city in the league to have under-ground dugouts if the plans of the parks board there go through. It is the intertion to make them opposite the grandstand next the playing field and then cash customers will not have their view interfered with by players sitting in front of them. A new back stop will also be put in place behind the catcher and the ground generally cleaned up. The same percentage basis as last year will be in force that is 15 per cent. to the parks board, the soccer people getting the gate at 3.30. The fences are to be thoroughly repaired so that the teams will get a full revenue.

Kingston has been out to practice every night for a long time and are fast whipping into shape. A new comer from New Brunswick and also one from Montreal have made their appearance and are sure finds according to the dope. One is an outfieder and the other can take his turn on the infield and also turn his hand to the backstopping game. Red Batstone has never missed a practice this season and is in the best possible condition.—Belleville Ontario.

Peterborough unofficialy opened the season Saturday when they took on the Cobourg D. & O. team for an exhibition tilt. From the reports filtering through from the Lift Lock city, Shiner Johnston will not be in his usual place on the middle bag but will direct operations from the bench. Shiner can do his fair share of crabbing and the Petes will be the same scrappy outfit they were when Jakie Solomon was at the helm.—Belleville Ontario.

KINGSTON ADMITS PONIES ARE GOOD

Best Infield in the Central Loop, According to Standard.

(Kingston Standard)

Saturday afternoon the C.O.B.L. team had a great workout with Manager Joe Daly handling the reins. There was a whole raft of players on hand, and as many fans as one used to see at a ball game a few years ago. The infield was still in bad shape, but this didn't slow up the players a little bit, while in the gardens the outfielders were pulling down everything. More and more the team shapes up every bit as good as last year, and the officials are confident that they will come through again and win the Central League championship.

Scott is showing up in better form every time out, and it looks as if he is going to be one of the sensations of the league. His fielding is all that could be desired, and his stand at the pate marks him as a real ball player.

Kingston's infield is just about the best in the league, even though the shortstop position will be more or less experimental. If Halbert comes through the way he is expected, there should be no worrying. Purvis at first, while not any too hefty with the club, is a better fielder than Harrison, Wilson or Mills; Somerville is the best second baseman in the league, and none of the other teams have a third baseman to touch Batstone. The outfield will compare very favoraby with any of the other three teams, while the catching staff, if Quinn shows the form he is capable of, should cause few worries.

The pitching staff looks good, and Gallagher and Cairns rank as two of the best left-handers in the circuit. Gallagher is going better than ever, while Cairns has created a good impression. Young is a husky right-hander, with plenty of speed, good control, and an assortment of curves.

In all it looks as if the team will cut quite a figure in the coming race, with as good chances of copping the flag as any.

BILLY EVANS SAY

FANCY FIGURES.

Star minor league ball players purchased by the majors for a fancy figure, in a great many cases, falter under the responsibility they feel thrust upon them.

Big league records reveal only a very few cases where some high-priced star has delivered from the start. On the contrary, the records are dotted with failures.

Unquestionably too much press-agenting tends to make the path of the highly touted recruit all the more difficult.

Not ony is the public led to expect too much, but the advance notices tend to set heavily on the shoulders of the youngster involved.

It is doubtful if the advertising that results from the purchase of a highpriced minor league star is worth the cost.

By that I mean the club, while it gets much publicity, invariably suffers for it by the failure of the fancy-priced rookie to live up to the kind words said about him.

It is just possible that "Lefty" Groves of the Athletics is working under such a handicap at present.

"LEFTY" GROVES

For several years Mr. Groves was the sensation of the International League, a chief factor in the winning of penants for Jack Dunn's Baltimore club.

When he came to the majors at a fancy figure he was in the headlines for weeks. He was painted the super-pitcher rather than just a southpaw.

I do know that Jack Dunn, who discovered Groves, regards him as a super-pitcher, is confident he will prove it despite a rather bad start.

Dunn predicted that Groves would win 20 games for Mack, which was perhaps the biggest boost given the former Baltimorean.

A tendency to become wild, plus too much publicity, are the present handicaps of Groves.

He is being waited out at the plate. The batters get him in the hole ad then pick on the cripple. When Groves' control enables him to keep the batter in the hole, he will display his real worth.

Connie Mack is not at all worried about his slow start. "He's a great pitcher," says Mack, "the best southpaw I have had since the days of Eddie Plank."

NURMI'S CASE

Once again the definition of an amateur athlete is being freely discussed.

The great Nurmi is the cause. The story is that he uses a heavy pencil in figuring out his expense account.

Running almost nightly for weeks is no soft snap. That is just what Nurmi has been doing. No one believes he has been breaking records for his health.

Nurmi is a real champion. He has defended his reputation against our greatest distance runners and has seldom been bested.

Nurmi must live. If he leaves his dear old Finland to display his track prowess to the lovers of sport in our country, some one must foot the bill.

True, Nurmi is an amateur, but loving cups and gold medals won't buy any groceries. Nurmi is the class of the runners. Class in any sport comes high.

Track proprietors cashed in handsomely in every meet in which Nurmi appeared. It would seem Nurmi was entitled to some consideration.

But then Nurmi is an amateur, and an amateur must not display his wares for money.

The case of Nurmi is just another tangle in the oft-sought definition of what really constitutes an amateur in sport. It is hinted there is no such creature.

CAMPBELLFORD SPORT.

Schedule For Next Week Shows Four Fixtures—Executive Met.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 13.—The executive of the Softball League met in the Public Library last night and drew up the following program for next week, the opening of the League:

Tuesday, May 19—At 6 p.m. the Mill A team will play the Hydro nine on the new playground in the rear of the jail. It has been suggested that this place be christened the Palliser Park as a compliment to Deputy Reeve Palliser, at whose suggestion the Council decided to convert what was waste property, run to weeds and strewn with boulders into a public playground.

At 6 p.m. next Tuesday the teams from the Oddfellows and Masons will play at the Fair Grounds.

On Friday, May 22, a half-holiday in Campbellford, at 2.30 p.m. the Mill B team will play the Clerks at the Fair Grounds.

On Saturday, May 23, the Juniors will play the Shoe Factory team at the Fair Grounds at 2.30 p.m.

It was decided to conduct the League under the rules laid down by the Ontario Softball Association, and to make such local regulations as are required. The League officials will adopt the same sized ball, whether 12 or 14 inches, as is used by the Softball League in Peterboro.

Managers of the different teams are requested to send a list of their players to Secretary Daniel by the end of this week.

KEENE GIRLS WON FROM C.G.E. GIRLS

Fast Softball Game at Keene Ended in 15 to 11 Score.

KEENE, May 13—The Soft Ball season was opened here Tuesday evening with a game between C.G.E. Girls and Keene girls. The score was 15 to 11 in favor of Kenne, which is very creditable for the Keene Girls as they are all attending school here. The C.G.E. girls were very sportsmanlike all through the game and it is hoped they will come again to play another game. Score by innings:

Innings—	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
Keene	1	0	0	4	2	4	4
C. G. E.	0	0	4	3	0	2	2

The Mission Band held their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Jno. Archibald gave two illustrated lectures for the children, Tom Thumb and The Robbers.

WITH HASTINGS SPORTS.

Softball and Baseball Engage Attention as Season Gets Going.

HASTINGS, May 13.—The local baseball team intend going to Warkworth for a friendly return exhibition game.

On Monday evening a softball game was played and the Pirates won from the Giants by a score of 22-6.

On Tuesday evening the Hillcrests played the Senators, the former won, the score ending 18-12.

Senators: Pitcher, S. Stevenson; catcher, W. Wellman; 1st base, K. Cruikshank; 2nd base, C. Baker; 3rd base, P. Lemoire; short stop, C. Dainard; right field, A. Cassidy; left field, B. Scriver; centre field, K. Kennedy.

Umpire: L. B. Scriver.

Base umpire: Harry Chapman.

BURNBRAE SPORTS.

Twenty Candidates Turn Out For Ball Team.

BURNBRAE, May 12. — The first baseball practice of the season was held at Menie on Friday evening. About twenty turned out and went through a snappy work out in spite of the cold weather. There seems to be plenty of material for a good team.

Trent Bridge has applied for membership in the Township Baseball League, so there will probably be six teams in line when the season opens.

The tug of war is again becoming a live question around here. Mr. Jas. Stewart, captain of the team, is now rounding up his men and getting them down to practice in readiness for the celebration on the 25th of May. Burnbrae are out to hold the laurels that have long been theirs in this line of sport.

I WISH I HAD THE SILVER-TONGUED ORATORY OF MARC ANTHONY-

THE SOUL-ENTHRALLING POETRY OF MILTON—THE SPELL-BINDING LOGIC OF A DANIEL WEBSTER, TO TELL OF THE WORLD'S FAMOUS FARCE, "CHARLEY'S AUNT," WHICH IS COMING TO PETERBOROUGH TO-MORROW.

Oh, that I were mighty king of a powerful nation that I might order all to see this great comedy, starring Syd Chaplin, which as a stage play has been running for 33 years and still going on.

I can't weave wondrous words of clever cant as they might do—but I can promise you that you have never had as many laughs in one evening as you will get at the Capitol to-morrow.

MAINTAIN MILITARY POWER IS ADVICE

General J. H. MacBrien Says Extolling Peace Will Not Prevent War.

OTTAWA, May 13. — (Canadian Press). — Addressing a military gathering here last night, General J. H. MacBrien, Canadian Chief of Staff, said extolling peace would not prevent war.

"No thinking man can read the daily papers, make an examination of the frontiers in Europe, read of the trade rivalry between United States and Japan, realize the huge importance placed by commercial countries on control over such strategic positions as the Suez Canal and Straits of Gibraltar without coming to the conclusion that sooner or later there must be grave danger of war," the General said.

TWO NEGROES DIE AFTER GUN FIGHT

Two Others Wounded in False Alarm of Race Riot —30 Shots.

NEW YORK, May 13.—(Canadian Press).—The Harlem section of Manhattan, where thousands of negroes live almost to the exclusion of other races, this morning had quieted down after the shooting of four negroes, two of whom were killed. The excitement was caused last night by false rumors of a race riot, and special police patrols were necessary to keep order. One of the dead men was a negro policeman off duty and not in uniform, who was killed when he ignored the command of an active white patrolman to halt. A negro citizen also was killed, a negro woman and a negro police reservist were seriously wounded. The battle started when the reservist objected to a remark addressed to his wife by another negro. The offender gathered friends around him and opened fire. The reservist responded, and more than thirty shots were exchanged.

SWIMMING LESSONS.

Y. M. C. A. Has Expert Instructor—Art is Advancing Steadily.

Learn to swim! Learn to swim better! The art once acquired is never lost and may stand you in good stead some day.

Swimming is coming to be looked upon as an important part of education. Swimming increases will power, self-reliance and courage, and that is the finest kind of education, for it helps growing boys and girls to lay firm foundations for future usefulness.

We are in a period of evolution of swimming strokes. We are progressing from strokes where the limbs recover in the water to strokes where the limbs recover out of the water. There are many such, including the breast, side, side-over-arm, trudgeon, crawl and combination strokes as well as the various back strokes.

Which stroke should be mastered first? Mr. G. H. Carson, the international expert, who will instruct at the Y.M.C.A. all next week, uses the crawl stroke for beginners. The introduction of this stroke as a means of teaching non-swimmers has revolutionized the system of instruction and learning. The movements are simple, easily dissected, and can be learned by means of a land drill without much effort. The timing and movement of the arm and leg motions closely resemble the dog paddle or primitive man's natural stroke. The correct position of the body, the drive or thrash of the legs, the arm pulling and recovering, relaxation and correct breathing are emphasized in Corsan's improved method of teaching swimming.

The proper position of the body is one-third of the art of swimming; knowing and using the correct movements is another third and regular rythmic breathing is the remaining third.

An opportunity is presented every person, young and old, to receive instruction from an expert next week in the pool of the Young Men's Christian Association. Full information may be obtained by 'phoning 246.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS RALLY

200 ATTENDED.

Sunday School workers of the city met last evening at Knox Church for a rally, at which various departments of Sunday School work in the Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist churches of the city were well represented.

There were about two hundred people in attendance at the supper which preceded the departmental rallies, with a general meeting presided over by M. J. McCannan, superintendent of Knox Sunday School. J. Edgar, president of the local branch of the Ontario Religious Education Council, was also present.

Rev. J. Lavelle Smith, director of religious education at Central Methodist Church, Toronto, and Mr. Long, also of Toronto, were visitors to the rally, and gave inspirational addresses, Rev. Mr. Smith explaining to the superintendents the working of the Daily Vocational Bible Classes.

In the departmental rallies, Mrs. J. A. McKone, of St. Andrew's Church, took charge of the girls' section, and Mrs. S. Carver, of Trinity Church, of the primary department. Rev. J. W. Gordon, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, had charge of the Young People's rally, and Mr. A. S. Zavits, of Murray Street Baptist Church, of the adults' section.

DENNISTOUN GIVES UP HIS COMMISSION

No Explanation, But Follows Closely Notorious Charge By Former Wife.

LONDON, May 13. — (Canadian Press). — Lieut.-Col. Ian Onslow Dennistoun, whose former wife, Dorothy Muriel Dennistoun, lost a breach of contract case against him recently in a trial marked by sensational testimony, has resigned his commission in the army. The reason is not given. Col. Dennistoun, who is now the husband of the Dowager Countess Carnarvon, was charged by his former wife with countenancing her illicit relations with the late Sir John Cowans to further his own military ambitions.

SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

An Enjoyable Musical Programme Followed Session at King George.

A meeting of the King George Home and School Association was held last evening, with an attendance of about one hundred people. The president, Mrs. E. Scott, was in the chair. The banner for this month was won by Miss M. Eastwood's room.

An enjoyable musical programme, following the business session, included instrumental solos by Elsie Markham, Bessie Bathgate, Constance Legon and Progressor D. G. Sloane. Professor Sloane also rendered several vocal solos, and other contributors to the vocal programme were Mr. M. Ketcheson, heard in comic songs, and a mixed quartette with members in the Misses Bernice Cain, soprano, Fern Stenton, contralto, V. Boorman, tenor, and William Smith, bass. Instrumental duetts were played by Alma and Hazel Seymour, Beatrice and Alfred Pooley, Gladstone and Harold Forsythe. Mrs. Percy King gave an interesting report of the Home and School Convention in Toronto at Easter time.

LONDON, May 13. — (Canadian Press).—The Daily Chronicle says the police are taking strong measures against Bolsheviks in London. Permits of numerous persons to remain in England have been cancelled and the renewal of others refused. The number thus dealt with is mounting into the hundreds.

Quantities of literature have also been seized. Bolshevik book shops where Bolshevik newspapers were sold, have been closed. The official Bolshevik paper in England has ceased publication.

NEGRO PEPPERED WITH BUCK SHOT

May Recover After Drinking Bout—White Man's Head Split.

TRURO, N.S., May 13.—(Canadian Press). — Albert Borden, 26, negro, is in the doctor's hands with his body peppered with buckshot and in a precarious condition, while Noble Buchanan, 18, is held by the police on a charge of having done the shooting following an alleged drinking bout at the Buchanan home. Fred. Buchanan, father of the prisoner, is also receiving medical treatment for head wounds, said to have been inflicted by an empty bottle, wielded by the negro. Physicians said Borden might recover.

MARY PICKFORD'S VIEWS OF OTHER WOMEN.

"I have never known a woman whom I did not admire for some quality," Mary Pickford said in discussing the traits she most desires in the woman of to-day.

"I admire the woman who is reasonable—the woman who is not narrow minded. The business woman and the housewife have my enthusiastic admiration. I would never censor the business woman because she isn't a housewife or the housewife because she doesn't go to an office every day.

"As I have said, I find something interesting in all women. Women by nature are kind, sympathetic, generous and self-sacrificing. These characteristics do not only make for personal happiness but spread a friendly glow wherever they go.

"Of course I admire the educated woman, regardless of what she specializes in. The world is advancing so rapidly that the uneducated woman finds it difficult to keep abreast of modern progress. By education I do not necessarily mean the woman who is versed in text books. Education comes by studying the everyday problems we meet, by solving them and profiting from the experiences."

BIG FIRE THRILLER DUE AT ROYAL TO-MORROW.

Near Tragedy Marks Filming of a Fire Picture—William Welsh Narrowly Escapes Serious Injury.

Many people are not aware that the filming of thrill pictures is as fraught with perils as if the scenes depicted had actually occurred in real life. The hospitals in Hollywood are constantly filled with actors and actresses who have been injured in the course of their work.

Recently William Welsh, a well-known film star, was working under director Reeves Eason in the Waldorf Studios in Hollywood and was portraying the part of a fireman. He was required to go into a blazing building to effect the rescue of the occupants. During the scene in the burning room the supports gave way and the blazing ceiling fell squarely on the actor.

Only the quick action of William Haines playing the leading role and Director Eason saved Mr. Welsh from serious burns. This thrilling scene will appear with many others in the picture which will be shown to-morrow at the Royal Theatre.

AT THE CAPITOL

WORLD'S FAMOUS FARCE COMING TO TOWN

It is a surprising thing, indeed, that the movie markers have not filmed "Charley's Aunts" before. Now it is about ready to arrive via the cinema and is advertised for the Capitol Theatre, beginning to-morrow.

"Charley's Aunt" probably holds more records for long-distance running on the stage than anything else outside of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." The farce was written by Brandon Thomas and first produced in England about 1892. The remarkable thing about the play was the fact that it has run continuously for the last thirty-three years and still shows evidence of going strong.

"Charley's Aunt" is also credited with being the funniest play ever written, and in making the picture the producers have designed the scenario to keep all of the biggest laughing sequences in the play intact. Syd Chaplin plays the title role of "Charley's Aunt from Brazil where nuts come from," and he is said to do the best work of his career.

Chaplin is undeniably developing into one of our stellar comedians. There are critics who maintain that his "Submarine Pirate" film, made when feature movies were still young, still stands as the funniest film ever made. It is only lately that he has blossomed out as a featured comedian, for during a period of three or four years he was off the screen and acting as his famous brother's manager and engaging in business ventures of his own.

In the "Charley's Aunt" film, the character of the eccentric old lady is one which lends itself to Syd Chaplin's special flair for pantomime in which he is a past master. The laughs come thick and fast, and the movie men are safe in promising a show of more than the usual hearty roars of mirth.

CORINNE GRIFFITH LEAVES TO-NIGHT

The excellent manner in which Corinne Griffith played a difficult role in "Declasse," the First National picture which is playing at the Capitol Theatre for the last time to-day, cannot be too highly praised. Supported by a cast of well known names under the direction of Robert Vignola. "Declasse" may be regarded as one of the outstanding pictures of the year.

AT THE REGENT

ZANE GREY COWBOY TYPICAL MIX ROLE.

Coming Thursday, Friday and Saturday to the Regent.

Tom Mix fits the role of Jim Lassiter in his latest William Fox production, "Riders of the Purple Sage," so perfectly that it seems Zane Grey must have had the cowboy hero in mind when he wrote this, his greatest novel. It is a typical Mix role, with ample opportunities for Tony, his wonder horse, to share in the daring deeds of his master.

"Riders of the Purple Sage" will come to the Regent Theatre for 3 days, commencing Thursday. It is a picturesque romance of the West of forty years ago. Mix plays the role of a chivalrous soft-spoken cowboy who comes riding forth to avenge his sister, kidnapped by an unscrupulous lawyer.

Pausing in his quest for his sister's abductor, Mix wins the love of a girl rancher while protecting her from the persecution of a villainous cattleman who wants to marry her. In triumphing over a crooked judge, Mix learns he has revenged himself on the man who wronged his sister.

This romantic role shows Mix to best advantage. There are many thrilling episodes in which he displays his superb horsemanship, his skill with the lariat and his quickness in handling a brace of six-shooters.

The charming Mabel Ballin plays the role of the girl rancher, and Marian Nixon, a graceful figure in boy's clothes, acts the part of Lassiter's niece. Beatrice Burnham does a dramatic bit as Lassiter's sister. Harold Goodwin is the gallant young cowboy who aids Lassiter in defence of the ranch.

DRAWS GLOOMY PICTURE.

Sir Alfred Yarrow Sees Germans Making as Good Ships as Britain.

MONTREAL, May 13 (Canadian Press)—A golomy picture of conditions in England is drawn by Sir Alfred Yarrow, head of Yarrow and Company, ship builders, who is in Montreal today. Sir Alfred declared that Germany can build as good ships as England though few British shipping men would acknowledge the fact and that the cost of construction in Germany was about twenty per cent cheaper because the Germans worked more hours and accepted less pay.

Around The City.

A special meeting of the City Council will be held at the beginning of next week to pass on the action of the Board of Works with regard to the contracts for the sewage disposal plant.

A catchy sign appears in a local window. At first glance it seems to say "Boy wanted here," but on closer examination it is seen to read, "A BOY WANTED some fireworks. He got them HERE."

Many of the boys cannot wait for Victoria Day for their fun with their fireworks and are already busy exploding firecrackers in the vicinity of nervous and unsuspecting people.

The Board of Works will hold a special meeting on Thursday night to consider the tenders for the sewage disposal plant. These tenders were referred to a sub-committee of the board which examined them and will report to-morrow night.

There will be a demonstration on Lansdowne Street, near the Exhibition Grounds, of a Wehr, self-contained, one-man grader. Members of the city and county councils and the Suburban Road Commission will be on hand to see this machine work. The grader is at present being assembled at the Duffus Garage, and should be ready to display its prowess at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, which is the hour scheduled for the demonstration.

MANUFACTURERS WHO DESIRE SPACE

At the Made-in-Peterborough Fair Should Secure It At Once—Only Few Good Booths Left.

The arrangement of the armories for the Made-in-Peterborough Fair will of course be entirely different than when formerly used as an automobile show. There will be rows of booths on each side as well as through the middle. Of all this space there are at the present moment but twelve booths not as yet spoken for. The names of—

The Canadian Canoe Co.,
The J. M. Greene Co.,
Curtis Brick Co.,
The Canadian Aladdin Co.,
Parker's Dye Works,

can be added to the list of exhibitors already published. The fair will run one entire week, beginning Monday, June the First and closing Saturday night, June Sixth. This will allow ample time for all to visit it and not be hurried because there will also undoubtedly be many visitors from surrounding towns as the Fair is to to be advertised over an area of more than one hundred miles wide. In additions to the exhibits which will be displayed in beautifully trimmed and decorated booths, there will also be amusements, dancing and fun galore. Everyone will have a good time and the proceeds will go to the Health Associations so that the children of Jackson Park may also have a good time this coming summer.

OBITUARY.

SAMUEL McKIBBON.

There passed away this morning, after a short illness, Samuel McKibbon, only son of Mr. and Mrs. William McKibbon, of Lakefield.

The deceased was born in Smith Township fifty-six years ago. He moved to Lakefield sixteen years ago, where he has since resided. He was well known throughout the district, having been a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters, a member of the Lakefield Curling Club, and also of the Presbyterian Church in Lakefield.

His wife was formerly Malvena Nelson. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Blewett of Peterborough, and Hilda McKibbon of Lakefield, and one son, Jack. Also three sisters, Mrs. McKee of Campbellford; Mrs. Coleman Blewett of Peterborough, and Miss A. McKibbon of Lakefield.

The remains will be at D. Belleghem & Sons' funeral chapel until 6.30 this evening.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, Lakefield, on Thursday afternoon; service at 2 p.m., conducted by Rev. Mr. Jull; interment in Lakefield cemetery.

The late Mr. McKibbon has many relatives in Peterborough.

ERNEST LAWRENCE.

Ernest Lawrence passed away this morning after a brief illness.

The late Mr. Lawrence was well known throughout the city and surrounding district, having been connected with the livery business for a number of years.

The funeral announcements will be made later.

GEORGE GRIFFITH'

The funeral of the late George A Griffith took place on Tuesday at 2 p.m. from the residence of his sisters, the Misses Mary J. Griffith and Belle Griffith, to the Little Lake Cemetery for interment. Rev. R. C. Blagrave, D. D. (Vicar) of St. John's Church officiated.

The pall-bearers were Mr. A. McIntyre, Mr. Frank Dobbin, Dr. J. B. Pentland, Mr. Geo. S. McKee, Mr. J. J. Hartley and Mr. Jas. Graham.

Old Maid Is Unmarried Woman Over Twenty-five Says Bill Just Introduced in U. S. Legislature

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 13.—(Canadian Press). — Two bills introduced in the General Assembly yesterday have a direct bearing on the matrimonial relation or lack of it. One provides that married women may check their husband's finances by requiring the joint signature of husband and wife or the endorsement of the wife to make bank cheques or drafts valid.

The second bill proposes the imposition of an annual tax of $5 on "old maids" and bachelors. An "old maid" is defined as an unmarried woman over 25 years of age, while men escape bachelorhood until they pass their thirtieth birthday.

LITERARY SOCIETY

P.C.I. Students of Form 3B Closed Year's Work and Study.

On Tuesday afternoon, the literary society of For 3B of the P.C.I held its closing meeting of the year.

The president, John Hutchinson, took the chair, and led the meeting to order.

Following the reading of the minutes, Gordon Richardson, the historian and prophet, gave his report and prophecy. In connection with the historian's report, many interesting facts of the form's athletics were mentioned and many a burst of laughter showed that the prophecy of what the 3B boys may do in future life was enjoyed by all.

The poet, William Trebilcock, then read a poem, entitled "The Lost Master," by Robert Service.

The critic of the day, Bernard Ashmore was called upon to give his criticism of the day's meeting.

EXHIBITION OF SWIMMING AT 'Y'

Captain Corsan Will Give Demonstration in Y.W.C.A. on Mondya.

EXPERT SWIMMER.

Captain Corsan, who will be in the city all next week giving swimming lessons at the Y.M.C.A., will give an exhibition and demonstration of swimming, life saving, diving and many other feats in the water. This demonstration will be given in the Y. W. C. A. pool on Monday evening, May 18. Mr. Corsan is the author of "At home in the water," and lives up to the title of his publication. The exhibition covers a programme of twenty events, many of which include several sub-divisions.

TO-NIGHT IS THE NIGHT

If you do not feel well there is some reason for it. In nine cases out of ten it is due to your liver. So start tonight and take two Tanol Calomel Tablets or take one before meals and a glass of hot water in the morning to wash all poisons from the system. Calomel, as you know, is the only drug known that acts upon the liver and that is why there has been such wonderful results from the use of it in the new form called Tanol Calomel. Just get a few of these sample tablets from F. C. Webber's Drug Store, Peterborough, and you will be surprised how effective they are. m.-w.s.

LADIES, WALK RIGHT

ON STRAIGHT CUBAN HEELS

When your slim, high French heels wear like this

Down at the Heel Shoes Repaired Like New

Many ladies find difficulty in walking naturally on slimly constructed French high heels, which with them have a tendency to turn at every step. Besides weakening the ankle, irritating the nerves and affecting one's health generally, unsightly down-at-heel shoes quickly result, as shown in illustration No. 1. When your French high heels wear down to such a condition, let us replace them with straight substantial Cuban heels, like that in illustration No. 2. They will stand up square and firm beneath their wearer's weight, give comfortable ankle support and make walking easy. Your health will also benefit, and the life of your shoes be lengthened. Charges moderate. Expert work always.

NEW CONSTITUTION RECOGNIZES GERMAN LANGUAGE IN ASSEMBLY OF COLONY AWARDED TO BRITAIN

WON FROM GERMANY.

Some Matters Restricted to Sole Administration of Central Authority.

CAPETOWN, May 14.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's).—The following is stated here to be the essential features of the preliminary draft of the Constitution for South-West Africa which was formerly a German colony:

The Colony is to be governed by a body of eight members, one of whom will be Administrator; three to be nominated, one of whom will be a public servant representing the Department for Native Affairs; and the other four will be elected by the Legislative Assembly and must not necessarily be members of that body.

The Assembly is to consist of eighteen members, six to be nominated by the Union Government, and the others to be elected by registered voters.

The territory will be divided into twelve constituencies, containing as far as may be possible an equal number of voters.

Reserved Subjects.

The Assembly will regulate its own procedure and estimates will be submitted, affording the members an opportunity of discussing all the questions of public importance, including those on which the Assembly is not empowered to legislate and which are reserved for treatment by the central authority. These reserved subjects are native affairs, railways, the public service, mines, posts, telegraphs, justice, immigration, defence, currency and customs. Moreover the government reserves for three years the subjects reserved can from time to completely, and a long whizzing government to the Assembly. If those subjects reserved for three years only are not voluntary delegated by the government to the Assembly at the expiration of that term a vote of at least two-thirds of the members of the Assembly may demand their transference.

German Language.

The German language will be recognized in the Assembly as well as in the courts of law.

The draft of the Constitution is to remain in force without amendment for three years after which the government may introduce alterations at the request of at least two-thirds of the members of the Assembly. The clause permanently reserving the subjects mentioned for control of the Central Government, will, however, remains in force as long as the Constitution itself stands.

Sum Disbursed By Department Last Year.

OTTAWA, May 14.—Some interesting figures on the cost of soldiers' re-establishment have been submitted to the House, not including the cost of administration, the department last year disbursed $49,056,179 for pensions and re-establishment of veterans of the Great War. The cost of administration was $2,485,645 or about 4.8 of the total disbursements.

In answer to suggestions that the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment should be abolished, Hon. H. S. Beland told the House that there was no hope that the machinery of the department could be soon dispensed with. For many years the payment of pensions, Canadian and Imperial, the providing of treatment, the supply of artificial limbs and all other services handled by the department must go on. Personally, said Dr. Beland, he was not anxious to remain as minister of the department one moment longer than was required by the department.

HIS SIXTH WIFE.

Joe Howard Holds Record Among Stage Folk.

CHICAGO, May 14. — Joe Howard, composer and musical comedy star, has distanced his rivals, De Wolf Hopper and the late Nat Goodwin, for the American theatrical matrimonial record.

Hopper and Goodwin each had five wives. Howard has taken his sixth, Miss Enita Case, his partner in a vaudeville act. He married her in Milwaukee, four months ago, it has just becomt known.

Nat Goodwin was engaged to his prospective sixth wife when he died.

Hopper, 64 years of age at the time of his fifth divorce said that he was through with matrimony. Unless he changes his mind Howard's position is secure.

KING'S HOTEL ORDERS TABLES FOR 4.4 BEER

Extensive Alterations Being Made—Pool Tables Thrown Out.

OTHERS APATHETIC.

Many Have Opinion That Dry City Will Not Make Much Stir.

In preparation for 4.4, some of Peterborough's hotels are undergoing renovation and improvements, which will make them conform to the regulations. At the Munro House pieces of the floor covering have been stripped away along one end of the bar, so that a portion of it may be moved.

The King's Hotel is perhaps the scene of the greatest preparation. The billiard and pool tables have been removed and sold; the floor has been thoroughly scrubbed, and at present the walls are being prepared for new paper and the woodwork will undergo a treatment of graining which should add greatly to the appearance of the room.

Mr. King is of the opinion that his room should rank with the best in the province when complete readjustments have been effected.

He is also considering the sale of sandwiches and other edibles which will make a pleasing accompaniment to the gurgle of 4.4, and will act as a stabilizer.

Mr. King has ordered twenty tables and a number of chairs, so that patrons will be enabled to drink in a reclining attitude, quite different from the hurried perpendicular pose which has hitherto been the vogue.

The preparations of Mr. Montgomery are not as ostentatious, but should be none the less effective.

The bar will be allowed to remain, though it will be boarded up the required height on the day prior to the EYE PICKED BY OWL.

Serious Injury Disproves Belief of Bird's Day Slumbers.

DAUPHIN, Man., May 14—Leon Maitre, of St. Rose, Man., has ample proof to discount the general belief that an owl sleeps most of the day. He further knows to his sorrow that light in no respect affects the vision of the "wise, old bird."

As the result of accidentally disturbing the owl's nest, Leon is today in danger of losing the sight of his left eye. The first indication he had of his danger, was a whirr of wings and a flutter of feathers as the bird made a savage dart for his head. The accurate aim of the owl is indicated by the fact that the flesh around the eye was not lacerated, the pupil alone being injured.

Campaign In Winnipeg To Prevent the Sale of Beer To Non-Permit Holders

WINNIPEG, Man., May 14.—(Canadian Press).—A determined campaign to curb the sale of beer to non-permit holders was launched yesterday by law enforcement officers here.

Five of the larger breweries in Winnipeg were summoned on charges involving infractions of the Manitoba Temperance Act. All were remanded for one week. The minimum fine for a breach of the Act by a corporation is $1,000.

The police maintain that sale of beer to persons without a permit has reached a serious stage, and have struck at the source of supply in an effort to check the alleged traffic.

FEDERAL LABOR ACT AVAILABLE FOR PROVINCES

Amendments to Industrial Disputes Investigation Act Passed Commons Stages.

AUTHORITY FIXED.

Limited to Disputes Not in Legislative Jurisdiction of Any Province.

OTTAWA, May 14. — (Canadian Press).—With three changes, the bill to amend the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act (commonly known as the Lemieux Act) went through all stages in the House yesterday.

The bill was made necessary by the decision of the Privy Council which found the existing I.D.I. Act ultra vires in that it encroached on Provincial jurisdiction. The purpose of the bill, generally speaking, is to limit the application of the Act to matters not within the Legislative jurisdiction of any Province. There is a further provision to enable any province to take advantage of the provisions of the Dominion Act should it so desire.

The changes embody amendments to the Act brought down last session but which failed to pass. The principal of the changes provide that employers and employees shall give at least thirty days' notice of an intended or desired change affecting wages or hours and that, in the event of a dispute, it shall be unlawful for the employer to make proposed changes or for the employees to go on strike until the dispute has been dealt with by a board. Further, that an employer declaring a lockout or making effective a change in wages contrary to the provisions of the Act will be liable to a fine of not less than one hundred and not more than one thousand dollars for each day the lockout exists.

T. L. Church of North Toronto submitted an amendment, which,

Many Outbreaks In Britain Of Foot and Mouth Disease

LONDON, May 14.—(Canadian Press).—Replying to a series of questions in the House of Commons yesterday in regard to the foot and mouth disease, E. F. L. Wood, Minister of Agriculture, said that 21 outbreaks had occurred in Great Britain during the present year and that £29,669 had been paid in compensation by the Government in connection with them. The total number of animals which had been slaughtered up to May 9, he said, were 137,676 cattle, 78,467 sheep, 61,624 pigs, and 186 goats. The net amount received in respect to the salvage of carcasses of healthy animals which had been slaughtered on account of the outbreaks of the disease since April 1, 1921, after deducting all relevant expenses amounted to £588,448.

VESSELS OFTEN SAIL TO CANADA ALMOST EMPTY

Carry Only Thirty Per Cent. of Their Capacity, Committee is Informed.

AUDITOR EXAMINED

English Company's Representative Withheld Information.

OTTAWA, May 14—(By Canadian Press).—The special parliamentary committee on ocean rates devoted yesterday afternoon to the cross-examination of John R. Middleton, chief accountant of Furness-Withy, Ltd., who was questioned by H. J. Symington, K.C., government counsel. Mr. Symington's questions, which, he said, had been drafted by Gordon Scott, the committee's auditor after examination of the voyage accounts furnished by Mr. Middleton, were designed to obtain certain information not in the accounts.

Mr. Symington produced voyage accounts furnished by the C.P.R. and also the Canadian Government Merchant Marine to show Mr. Middleton that these two companies had given the auditor more information than had Furness-Withy, Ltd., the witness agreed that information furnished by the two Canadian companies was lacking in the sheets furnished by his organization, but asserted that this information was obtainable only in England. Some of the questions which were asked by the auditor through Mr. Symington, the witness objected to answering on the ground that the answers would be made public. They will be asked again when the committee meets in camera.

Mr. Middleton informed the committee that he thought steamers leaving England for Canada were frequently empty to seventy per cent of their capacity. He invited any member of the committee to come to England and examine the books of the company which he represented, at their own expense. The invitation caused some amusement among the members of the committee.

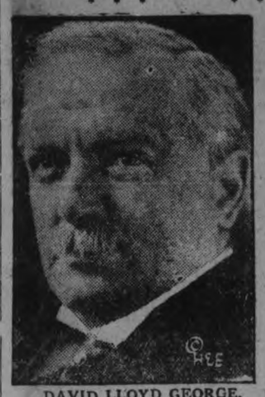
TROUBLE HOUNDS SKIPPER ASHORE

Reaches Hospital Haven Seriously Hurt in Motor Accident.

SYDNEY, N.S., May 14.—(Canadian Press).—As a climax to several weeks of hard luck afloat and ashore, Captain Chesley Anderson, commander and owner of the Nassau schooner Irene and May, yesterday landed in a hospital at North Sydney, suffering from severe glass wounds and probable internal injuries, sustained when his motor car struck a new telegraph pole at Centreville with such force as to break the big stick and drive the skipper's head and shoulders through the windshield. At 6.15 a.m. he was found alone and unconscious by the crew of a passing street car. Anderson's misfortune started some weeks ago when he damaged a Halifax harbor buoy after he had loaded his boat with freight for North Sydney. The Customs Department got after him for illegal coastwise trading, seized his ship and order it be sold by the sheriff. During his enforced absence from the seas, Anderson became a motorist. En route from Halifax to North Sydney, he got into a collision at New Glasgow, then missed the road and went over a bank near Sydney, completely wrecking his machine. Trading for a new car he signalized his arrival at North Sydney by ramming a street car, after which he collided with a building on a wharf and a few days ago went over a bank at Sydney Mines. Seventeen men from a passing street car put him back on wheels, only to be arrested Tuesday and fined ten dollars for speeding Yesterday morning's crash followed.

TIME ERASES OLD BITTERNESS

Asquith's Glowing Tribute to Lloyd George Happy Evidence of Reunion of Two Great Britons in Full Friendship.



DAVID LLOYD GEORGE.
"A Great Civilian"—The Earl of Oxford's Tribute.

HERBERT H. ASQUITH.

LONDON, May 14.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Possibly few men are more conscious of how the passing of time mellows the bitter feelings engendered in the stress of war-time than the Earl of Oxford and Asquith, who received the freedom of London yesterday amid the customary elaborate ceremonial and brilliant company. He made reference to Lloyd George, who was present at the ceremonial and who possesses the freedom of 35 cities in Great Britain, in the following words:

"I have spoken of a great sailor and a great soldier (referring to remarks he had made about Viscount Jellicoe and Earl Haig, both of whom were present), and now let me add a word about a great civilian. Provision, almost miraculous in its range and rapidity, of munitions and a wholly new armory to meet wholly new exigencies, will live in history as the unique achievement of Lloyd George."

This generous and lofty reference to the colleague with whom he at one time was notoriously at open enmity was the most loudly cheered part of Lord Oxford and Asquith's whole speech.

A few nights ago Lord Oxford and Asquith presided at a dinner in aid of the newspaper press fund when, as usual, it is expected that special subscriptions to this well-known benevolent fund will be made. A letter was read on behalf of Lord Rothermere, who is sending £5,000, described Lord Oxford anti Asquith as "the man who spoke with a noble voice for England at the crisis in her fate in 1914, and who, having endured with dignity and good humor the blows that fall upon leading partizans in our domestic politics, has now come into that peaceful haven where our elder statesmen enjoy the esteem and affection of all of us."

Paroled Winnipeg Youth Resentenced To Prison

WINNIPEG, May 14.—Another "lone wolf" burglar has been caught and sentenced, John Simpson, 19-year-old paroled convict, pleaded guilty to several charges of housebreaking in city court yesterday, and was sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

RIDER HAGGARD ROMANCE ENDED

Famous Author Died To-day — Books With African Background Noted.

PROLIFIC WRITER.

LONDON, May 14. — (Canadian Press).—Sir H. Rider Haggard, author, died here to-day.

Sir Henry Rider Haggard was born in Bradenham, Norfolk, June 22, 1856. He engaged in Government service in North Africa, and while a young man became celebrated as a writer of romance and tales of adventure with an African background.

From 1882 to 1924 scarcely a year passed without the publication of a novel by him.

CURRIE ELECTED.

TORONTO, May 14 (Canadian Press)—Colin Currie, of London, Ont., was elected president at the convention of the association of confectionery, biscuit and chocolate manufacturers of Canada, continuing today.

PROBATION OF REPATRIATE IS TOO LONG TERM

Five Years Before Canadian Can Be Restored to Citizenship Once Abandoned.

TO BE CONSIDERED.

Conference of British Dominions to be Sought on Such Immigration Matters.

OTTAWA, May 14. — (Canadian Press).—A conference of the British Dominions and Great Britain will be necessary to the enactment of Canadian immigration legislation dealing with such subjects as repatriation of Canadian subjects and definition of the nationality of a Canadian woman who marries the citizen of another country. This was intimated by Hon. A. B. Copp, secretary of State for Canada, in the course of a discussion in the House of Commons yesterday on estimates of his Department. Incidentally he said Canada hoped to have such a conference called soon, he could not say when.

The case of the Canadian who had taken out partial or complete naturalization papers in, say, the United States and then wished to return to Canada permanently was brought up by Gen. A. E. Ross, Conservative, Kingston. Mr. Copp said that the Government was very sympathetic to the desire of such Canadians seeking repatriation, but that the uniform Imperial law made it necessary that he should take out new papers, which implied five years' probation. At the next Imperial Immigration Conference special consideration would be urged for such returning citizens.

Marriage to Alien.

Then W. D. Euler, Liberal, North Waterloo, brought up the case of the Canadian woman who marries a citizen of the United States. Under the laws of the latter country she had no United States nationality until she had lived there a year.

She thus became a citizen of no country. The Canadian law should be the same as the proposed law in the United Kingdom, where a woman could elect to take her husband's nationality or retain her own. In this he was supported by J. L. Brown, Progressive, Lisgar, and C. G. Powel, Liberal, Quebec South.

Mr. Copp explained that the Canadian Government had received no official intimation of any move in London to establish such a precedent for the Empire, but that no opposition would be offered by Canada to such a move.

Dual Nationality.

L. J. Ladner, Conservative, South Vancouver, brought up the question of dual nationality, particularly that of Japanese who were said to be forbidden by their country to relinquish their prior Jananese citizenship. This point, Mr. Copp said, also was one for discussion in a conference of all the Dominions.

Germination Of Western Wheat Delayed By Frost Grave Danger It May Rot

REGINA, Sask., May 14. — (Canadian Press).—An unusually high percentage of the wheat seed now in the ground in Saskatchewan is not germinating according to reports reaching the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, and the information is embodied in a crop report issued by the company yesterday. It is stated in explanation that wheat will not germinate at a lower temperature than 40 degrees, and in many localities in the Province, it is stated, the soil has been at a much lower temperature almost continually as a result of frequent night frosts.

There is also, according to the report, a grave danger that seed, if not of strong vitality, will rot and die in the land.

The report states 75 per cent. of the wheat is in, and that farmers are turning their attention to coarse grains. Beyond the points mentioned, the report is generally optimistic.

RUMOR MONGERS SHORT OF IDEAS ON MISSING BOY

Lindsay Police Report First Tipless Day Since Charlie Hodges Disappeared.

EXCITEMENT WANES.

Police to Question Lindsay Man Arrested in North Bay on Orillia Warrant.

LINDSAY, May 14.—(Special).—This is the tenth day of the Hodges mystery, and those who hold that the boy was drowned and that his body would float on the ninth day, prosecuted their search yesterday with renewed vigor, but without results.

On Tuesday the steamer Elsie M., the property of the Carew Company, and which has a powerful propellor, came up stream, and churned the Scugog to its depths along the stretch where the search is being prosecuted. The water is only eight or ten feet deep, and if the boy's body was at the bottom, the boat, it was claimed, would quickly disturb it.

Yesterday morning Chief of Police Umphrey went to Orillia in response to a message received from Chief Church concerning the arrest of a man named McGill, who was formerly in the employ of Mr. Hodges, father of the missing boy. McGill, it appears, cultivated a warm attachment for the youth, and he will be interrogated by the Chief as to his movements after leaving Lindsay. He was arrested in North Bay on a warrant issued by the Orillia police department, charging him with non-support, etc.

The rumor mill appears to have suspended operations for the time being as the authorities have not been waited on for twenty-four hours by parties with clues, theories, etc. After his return from Balsam Lake on Tuesday, Chief Umphrey stated that he was about through with chasing shadows.

FRENCH DESIRE TO STRENGTHEN BRITISH ACCORD

Regard the Old Entente as Essential and Would Rekindle Harmony.

CREWE'S GESTURE

Brilliant Reception by British Ambassador in Paris in Response to Anglophile Sentiment.

PARIS, May 14. — (Canadian Press Cable).—Responding to a wave of approval of England, the Marquis of Crewe, British ambassador in Paris, gave a brilliant reception to President Doumergue at the British embassy Tuesday night. Among the guests were some Canadians.

The present change in public opinion with regard to Great Britain is not regarded as entirely due to the election of Von Hindenburg to the presidency of Germany, but to the belief that the entente is essential and requires polishing. Prominent diplomats consider that France is undergoing a phase similar to that of 20 years ago.

Debt Policy Decided.

Officials of the foreign office intimated last evening that a definite policy with regard to the settlement of France's debt to Great Britain and the United States had been decided upon. The present relations between France and Great Britain are regarded as about as satisfactory as they could be in a changing world.

The Marquis of Crewe had an embarrassing experience yesterday when he appeared at an exposition here rather late. He was refused admission by the police. However, a friend happened along and exticated the ambassador from his embarrassment, to the confusion of the police on duty at the exposition and amid some good natured sallies.

COSGRAVE HOPES TO BALANCE TRADE

River Shannon Power Project to be Started This Year.

DUBLIN, May 14. — (Canadian Press).—President Cosgrave, of the Irish Free State, addressing the annual convention of the Ministerial Party Organization yesterday, paused lightly over the events of recent years, except to refer to the effects they have made upon present conditions here. He declared the present Government had been appointed by the people of the Sacrstat for the purpose of maintaining the State and that all of the actions of the present regime were directed toward the advancement of the country so that the Government could be handed over to successors as an ordered and progressive state.

Dealing with Legislative measures President Cosgrave said the budget had brought relief to all classes of the community, and that the new Land Act was expected to increase largely the tillage of the soil. Regarding the adverse trade balance, he declared the Government hoped that exports would be increased to help reduce the redress during the coming year. The Sacrstat should also try to substitute commodities produced within its own boundaries for those now purchased abroad, he said.

Declaring that the River Shannon electrical power scheme would help make Ireland independent of British coal, the President, amid the applause of the delegates, said if nothing unforseen developed, work on the power project would begin in the autumn.

CANNERIES TIED UP.

Deadlock on Fraser River Over Cut in Price.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., May 14.—Fishermen and fish canneries operating on the Fraser River for forty miles inland, are affected in a deadlock that will exist at least until Saturday when a mass meeting of the fishermen will be held here.

More than one thousand fishermen and 700 boats are tied up by the strike against a cut in price by the canner. No nets have been cast in the river for 36 hours and it is possible the industry may be held up for some time.

PRICE OF RUM BECOMES HIGHER

BOAT RAN BLOCKADE.

NEW YORK, May 14 (Canadian Press).—A battle between a smuggler and the coastguard, in which the former succeeded in running the blockade, and is believed to have landed its cargo of liquor here in New York, was revealed yesterday, but the account did not come from the coastguard.

The battle was in the Narrows in the early morning according to the marine police, and the result is not known. The police said, however, the chances were that the speed boat had succeeded in getting in with its precious cargo.

Meanwhile the high price of rum went higher. Each day the price has risen, until yesterday it was agreed by both drys and wets that all imported liquors cost from $10 to $15 more a case than at the beginning of the drive. Scotch selling on Long Island for $32 a case a year ago, and at $38 and $40 in the city, was quoted at $60 a mase yesterday.

CHAUFFEUR WEALTHY.

SYDNEY, New South Wales, May 13.—Ernest Bradshaw, a chauffeur, who married Mrs. Walter Howard Smith in 1923, has inherited a million dollars. His wife, the widow of a wealthy shipbuilder, died from taking poison by mistake.

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK

The wonder trip of the coming summer will be conducted by Dean Laird of Macdonald College, to Victoria, B.C., and back.

Inspired by the success of the trip to Victoria last year on the occasion of the Teachers' Federation meeting at that point, and filled with patriotic motives for everyone to see their own country, the Dean has arranged for a special train of standard sleeping cars to leave Toronto on July 20, visiting Port Arthur, Fort William, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise, Vancouver, thence steamer to Victoria.

Returning, the trip will be via the Okanagan Valley, Nelson, the Kootenay Lakes, Windermere Bungalow, Camp, from which place the party will be motored to Banff, 104 miles over the newly completed Banff-Windermere Highway, the most charming, and awe inspiring trip it is possible to conceive, with stops at Radium Hot Springs, Vermilion River, and Storm Mountain Bungalow Camps—another day at Banff, then Edmontno, Saskatoon, Devil's Gap Bungalow Camp, near Kenora on the Lake of the Woods, steamer from Fort William, to Port McNicoll, thence rail to Toronto, where the trip will terminate on August 10.

Everything is included at the price of $325.00 from Toronto transportation, sleeping cars, accommodation in hotels and bungalow camps, meals in diners, hotels, and on steamers, sightseeing tours at points visited, and all gratuities.

All will be welcome.

Fare from other points than Toronto will be named, and descriptive illustrated booklet sent on application to Dean Laird, Macdonald College, P.O., Que.

Quick Work!

That morning, Mother saved the situation with Quick Quaker. The family had overslept—just about ten minutes for breakfast, but breakfast was just as hot and wholesome as ever.

Quick Quaker cooks perfectly in 3 to 5 minutes. It makes the same flavoury, nourishing porridge as the regular Quaker Oats you have always used, but it cooks in a jiffy—quicker than toast or coffee. Your grocer has both kinds now. Costs but a cent a meal.

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM LEAHY.

DOURO, May 14.—The funeral of the late William Leahy was held on Monday from his late home to St. Joseph's Church and Cemetery, and was largely attended. The Requiem Mass was sung and the service at the cemetery performed by Rev. M. J. McGuire. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Michael and John Leahy (brothers), Thos. E. Whibbs, John Torpey, James Y. Leahy and Michael Ryan. Left to mourn his loss are his widow, four sons: Michael, Joseph, William and James, three daughters, Mrs. John Casey of Otonabee, and Misses Hanna and Kathleen at home; also two grandchildren, two brothers, Messrs. Michael and John of Douro, two sisters, Mrs. Michael Ryan, Douro, and Mrs. Bernard Harrington, of Ennismore.

Among those from a distance who attended the funeral or visited the house of mourning were: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hickson and daughter, Messrs. William Holland and Michael Harrington, Ennismore; Mr. and Mrs. John Doherty and family, Mrs. Michael Fitzgerald and son John, Mr. and Mrs. James Collins, Mrs. M. Brisbois, Mr. and Mrs. John Torpey and family, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Connor and daughters, Mr. George Hall, Miss Loretto Fitzgerald, all of Otonabee; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mann, Mr. and Mrs. David Conroy and daughter, Mrs. A. Doris, Mr. and Mrs. William Godfrey, Mr. Timothy Garvey and son Leo, Mr. Wm. Leahy, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Tobin and Miss Ellen Tobin, all of Peterboro.

Mr. Joseph Leahy, a student at St. Michael's College, Toronto, was called home in the middle of his examinations on account of the death of his father.

ROBERT McELWAIN

EAST EMILY, May 14.—The death took place on Friday night, May 8, in East Emily of one of the oldest residents of this district, Mr. Robert McElwain, in his 86th year.

The late Mr. McElwain had been ill for several months.

Mr. McElwain came to East Emily from Ireland with his parents when only a very small boy, and has since made his home in this community. His wife was Sarah Rusk, who also came from Ireland when quite a young girl.

Mr. McElwain was always well respected and looked up to by all those who were acquainted with him.

The deceased was a staunch member of the Methodist Church and also a member of the L.O.L., No. 114, in Omemee.

He leaves to mourn his loss a sorrowing wife, two sons and two daughters: Samuel and Henry; Mrs. Herb. Jackson and Miss Olive at home, all of East Emily.

The funeral took place on Monday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock from his late residence on the 6th Line of Emily Township; Rev. Mr. Rowland conducting the service. The members of L.O.L. No. 114 attended in a body.

The funeral thence proceeded to Emily Cemetery for interment.

The bearers were Brother Orangemen as follows: J. L. Brooks, J. Bannar, W. Thorn, L. Windrim, W. White and T. Newman.

The many flowers showed the high respect in which Mr. McElwain has always been held by his many friends.

JOHN ARMAND LAPAIN

DUNSFORD, May 14. — A very sad death occurred at the Ross Memorail Hospital, Lindsay, on Thursday last when John Armand Laplain—only child of Mr. and Mrs. C. Laplain, Dunsford, passed away, at the age of 13 years 5 months and 9 days, after an illness of two weeks. He was taken ill on April 22nd and was removed to the hospital where an operation was immediately performed, after which he appeared to recover remarkably well and people were hoping that he would be able to come home in the near future.

On Sunday night he took a turn for the worse from which he never recovered. A second operation was performed on Tuesday morning, but with no result.

The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon from the family residence to the Dunsford cemetery and was attended by a host of friends and relatives.

Services were conducted by Rev. T. R. Houghton of St. John's Anglican church here, of which the parents of the deceased are members.

The school children, about 30 in number, marched from the home to the cemetery and formed a circle around the grave, each one dropping in the bunch of flowers he had carried.

The pall bearers were Walter Thurston, Jimmie Thurston, Wallace Thurston, Burwell Kennedy, Vern Bell and Amos Mulligan.

CHRISTOPHER CROWE.

WARSAW, May 14.—Christopher Crowe, the oldest resident in North Dummer, passed away last night in his eighty-eighth year. He was born on a farm on the English Line in Dummer near William Hardy's place. His wife was Mary Grant, who predeceased him several years ago.

He leaves to mourn his loss three daughters: Mrs. Clarence Newell of South Dummer, Mrs. Fred. MacAdam of Havelock, and Mrs. Arthur Nixon, of Norwood, and two sons, Robert Crowe, who lives near Regina, Sask., and Walter, the youngest son, with whom the late Mr. Crowe had lived for some years. There are three daughters dead. There is one brother, William Crowe who is now the oldest resident in Dummer. There are three sisters: Mrs. John Myles, living near Swift Current, Mrs. William Hunter, Edmonton, and Mrs. Goslin of Regina.

The late Mr. Crowe was a member of the Methodist church and of the North Dummer Orange Lodge, and belongs to one of the oldest families in Dummer. His father was the late Francis Crowe, who came to this country in 1832.

The funeral will be held at two o'clock to-morrow (Friday) to the Warsaw cemetery.

Dogwood is a shortened form of daggerwood. It was so called because it formerly was used to make daggers, which held meat together while it was roasted over a fire.

TROUBLED WITH ECZEMA YEARS

In Pimples Between Knee and Ankle. Itched Badly. Cuticura Healed.

"I was troubled with eczema for three or four years. It broke out in pimples between my knee and ankle and itched badly, especially at night. The irritation caused me to scratch and the scratching caused eruptions.

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and it helped me. I purchased more, and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Alice Clark, Marshfield, Vt., July 16, 1923.

Keep your skin clear by using Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum for every-day toilet purposes. Touch pimples and itching, if any, with Cuticura Ointment. Bathe with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Dry and dust lightly with Cuticura Talcum.

Sample Each Free by Mail. Address Canadian Depot: "Outicura, P. O. Box 2616, Montreal." Price, Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Try our new Shaving Stick.

CARD OF RACES TO BE FEATURE

Campbellford Fair Directors Assured of Fast Horses on Holiday.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 14.—J. Nelson Stone, secretary of the Seymour Agricultural Society, who has returned from a business trip to Toronto, says that he met a number of owners of fast harness horses who inquired as to the condition of the races here on Victoria Day. Mr. Stone says that the indications are that there will be a large number of entries in both the free-for-all and 2.30 classes.

Work on the track will be started in time to have the course ready for the training of the horses, and free stabling and feed on the grounds will be supplied.

Appeal To Public.

John Locke, President of the Society, has addressed the following open letter to the public:

To the People of Campbellford and Seymour:

The directors of your Agricultural Society intend holding a celebration on Monday, May 25th next, Victoria Day, and as the neighboring towns consider this Campbellford day, your directors are using every effort to make it the event of the season and any advice or assistance you can give them would be greatly appreciated.

We are offering good purses for a free-for-all pace or trot, and for a 2.30 pace or trot and expect those races to be well contested, as several owners of fast horses have intimated their intention of being present. We expect the two lacrosse matches to be the best ever held on the Campbellford grounds, as the junior teams who face the ball at 1.30 are evenly matched, and the second game to be played later on in the afternoon, is to be between the amalgamated Campbellford and Hastings intermediate lacrosse team and the amalgamated Norwood and Havelock team, for a silver cup kindly donated by our worthy mayor. The tug-of-war between the Burnbrae team and the Percy team should be interesting as their pull at Warkworth was undecided. Mayor Meyers is getting up a Campbellford team to pull the winners. Everybody come.

John Locke, President.

GETS HYDRO POSITION.

Captain "Pat" Kelly, of Campbellford, Moves to Port Arthur.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 13.—Capt. P. J. Kelly has left for Port Arthur where he has secured a position with the Hydro, of which branch, F. A. Burgar, formerly of Campbellford, is manager. Mr. Kelly's family will remain here for the present.

James Gay, of Frankford, is in town, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Adams.

J. R. Wilkinson, who has been confined to his room for the past two weeks, a sufferer from neuritis, was out again yesterday.

Ralph K. McGregor, who spent the past month with his parents on Front Street, has returned to Streetsville.

George O'Sullivan has received a letter from Fred Wilsher, who states that he has been laid up with rheumatism at his new home at Granby, Que., ever since his arrival there.

GOLD STANDARD BILL IS LAW

LONDON, May 14.—Royal assent was given yesterday to the bill providing for the return to the gold standard, following its third reading and passage through the House of Lords where it was not discussed.

Highest Strength—therefore best value. Safety Top Tin — means less waste. Powdered—it gives you more in weight for your money and therefore costs less. Dissolves quickly.

PRINCE BALKS AT HANDLING SNAKE

Interested, But Horrified, by Sight of Huge Reptile Farm.

HARMFUL SNAKES.

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa, May 14 (Canadian Press)—The Prince of Wales, fresh from his visit to the horse breeding farms at Colesburg and the "feather country," where he was bedecked with ostrich feathers, came upon a different kind of farm yesterday, where the snake holds sway. He showed great interest in the reptiles, but no great pleasure.

The reptiles, only one type of which was not dangerous, occupy an enclosed area, excavated to a depth of about three feet and surrounded by a stream and wall. The Prince watched two black keepers handling, seemingly with much enjoyment, two fourteen foot pythons which wound themselves around the men harmlessly. But when His Highness was invited to a closer inspection of the great serpents, he took a hurried step backward and exclaimed: "No, they horrify me!"

Report Says French Lose Aviation Camp and Four Airplanes.

MADRID, May 14. — (United Press).—A telegram from Seville, published to-day in the Spanish newspaper A.B.C., says that Abd-el-Krim, whose Riff warriors are fighting the French in Morocco, has taken a French aviation camp, capturing four airplanes, several cannons and a considerable quantity of munitions.

New Get-Rich-Quick Scheme Netted $30,000

NEW YORK, May 14 (United Press)—The police today are seeking a man know as Alfredo Gianfilippi, who has set up a new record in the get-rich-quick field. Gianfilippi, according to the police retired recently after a two hour business career that netted him $30,000.

It is alleged that Gianfilippi opened a steamship ticket and foreign exchange office here at 3 p.m. on Monday, May 11. During the next two hours according to the police, he cashed forged cheques for $30,000 and then disappeared.

HOT ARGUMENT IN COMMITTEE ON OCEAN RATES

Counsel For Shipping Companies Cross-Examining W. T. R. Preston.

DOCUMENTS LOST.

Preston Cannot Recover Papers Returned to Department of Railways.

OTTAWA, May 14. — (Canadian Press).—Another sharp passage at arms between W. T. R. Preston and G. H. Montgomery, counsel for the Shipping Federation, ensued last night when the author of the Preston report on ocean rates re-appeared on the stand before the special committee of the House of Commons on Ocean Rates.

Mr. Montgomery asked if Mr. Preston had brought any written evidence to support his assertion that there was a conspiracy between the shipping companies on this side of the Atlantic to discriminate against Canadian ports in favor of United States ports. Mr. Preston replied that he had been trying all day to get back certain documents which he had returned to the Department of Railways but had not succeeded. Mr. Montgomery scathingly suggested that Mr. Preston had had since last March to prepare his defence against criticism of his report which had then been made and which foreshadowed such an investigation as the present one. "We are not going to let you off with anything, Mr. Preston," said Mr. Montgomery. Mr. Preston replied that he did not ask to be let off anything. He was prepared to back up all the statements he had made.

PEMBROKE BOY ACCLAIMED HERO

JUST IN TIME.

PEMBROKE, May 14.—The residents of Pembroke are acclaiming 19 year old Howard Riley, a hero, as a result of the rescue which he performed when he snatched the unconscious form of Muriel Switzer, aged 23, from in front of a fast freight train here last evening.

Miss Switzer had tripped across the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks at Moffatt's crossing, and had fallen unconscious.

Riley, who was some distance behind her saw the fast freight thundering down the track, and running as fast as he could, was just in time to drag the girl to safety.

Had he been a second later both he and the girl would have met with a horrible death.

DEFER SENTENCE ON GUILTY LAWYER

Admitted Forgery of Legal Papers, Theft and False Pretenses.

TORONTO, May 14 (Canadian Press).—Judge Coastworth in general sessions yesterday, deferred until June 10, sentence of Leo J. Phelan, a local barrister, who had pleaded guilty to charges of having forged a discharge of mortgage, of having obtained a deed by false pretences, of theft of $500 from B. T. Riordan, and $1,000 from Low Kee. The Crown accepted a plea of not guilty on three other charges of theft.

STORES UNITE TO FIGHT MAIL ORDERS

Report By American Department of Commerce About Ontario Stores.

WASHINGTON, May 14 (Canadian Press). — Fifty large departmental stores situated in the Province of Ontario are at present considering a plan whereby they would unite into an organization in order to better meet the competition of mail order houses and chain stores, United States Consul Fexil S. Johnston, of Kingston, Ontario, notified the Department of Commerce yesterday. Associated Department Stores of Canada, is said to be the name under which the organization would function.

FEDERAL LABOR ACT AVAILABLE

however, was not accepted, to provide that no Provincial or municipal public utility wholly situated within the Province may be declared to be worked for the general advantage of Canada.

Federal Authority.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, stated that the proposed legislation simply defined what the Federal Government could do in Labor matters. Insofar as amending the constitution of Canada, Mr. Lapointe pointed out that a conference between the Dominion Government and the various Provincial administrations had been called.

Since the recent decision of the Privy Council declaring the old Act ultra vires of the Federal Parliament, stated Mr. Lapointe, numerous requests had been received from employers and employees to revive the Act as far as possible. This was being done and the present bill was based on expressions of views in the decison of the Privy Council rendered a few months ago.

If the validity of the new Act was ever challenge, "we are ready to meet the foe," said Mr. Lapointe, who concluded his speech by pointing out that the bill had been given a most careful scrutiny by the Justice Department.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Opposition, told the House that the late Government had been advised by the Legal Department not to get into the courts in matters connected with the old Act. In the last case, which brought the decision from the Privy Council, the Government would have been wise in not carrying the matter into the courts. Mr. Meighen believed that the Government's case would be weak under the new Act in cases where the employer was an alien corporation.

Mr. Murdock justified the actions of the Labor Department on the grounds that it had been better to find out exactly what authority the Department had. If he had the decision to make over again, he would carry the case on as he had done before.

Labor Not Unanimous.

J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Winnipeg Centre) said that Labor was by no means unanimous on the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act. In practice, it frequently worked to the detriment of labor, and the third man on boards of arbitration was often found with a mind not open on labor matters. He urged the Department to take care that boards were "not loaded on the side of the employer."

Mr. Murdock moved an amendment to the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, 1907, providing that where a dispute directly affects employees in more than one province, and such employees are members of a trade union, having a general committee authorized to carry on negotiations, a statutory declaration to the effect that the dispute has been the subject of negotiations between the committee of the employees and the employer, or that it has been impossible to secure a conference or to enter into negotiations, would be sufficient grounds for the acceptance of an application by the Department, to establish a board. The amendment carried.

PUBLICITY GRABBERS.

The manner in which motion picture stars are aided in their campaign of free advertising by civic officials and governmental dignitaries, as well as by the public generally, throws a peculiar light upon mob mentality.

One of those impossible cowboy heroes of the silver sheet was in Toronto yesterday, and his press agents had prepared for him a programme worthy of the Governor-General or the Premier.

It even included receptions by the Premier of the Province and by the Mayor of Toronto.

Why men holding their positions should lend themselves to such a blatant scheme of advertising is beyond the comprehension of any one who stops to ask himself why moving picture actors should be tendered a reception worthy of national heroes.

If any of these highly-paid worthies wants to gain publicity by riding about in garb supposed to represent that worn by Western cowboys, there is nothing to prevent him.

But in the name of common sense, let men who occupy high positions in the gift of the public refrain from insulting the dignity of their office by taking part in a programme that is purely and simply advertising for actors who use the publicity for getting themselves a larger share of the money paid in at the box office.

SCHOOL PROPERTY.

It has been decided that Toronto's school yards shall be kept for the use of students exclusively during the summer holidays, and that no permits shall be issued to outside organizations.

That decision is a matter for Toronto people to concern themselves with, but the Examiner cannot help wondering if cities are wise in confining the use of school property to students outside of school hours.

A vast amount of the public's money is invested in school property, and there is often reason to wonder whether communities get as much value for the expenditure as they might obtain if more use was made of the plants during periods when they are not employed for the purposes for which they were established.

The buildings themselves might well be used more often for community purposes, and the grounds could be profitably employed as recreation lots under proper supervision.

This hard and fast rule that all this expensive property shall be reserved at all times for pupils seems to be a policy that does not produce the best possible results from the large expenditures that modern educational facilities entail.

If the school plants are adapted for other uses without interfering with the work for which they were provided, byall means let some advantage be taken of them.

It might help to make the people who have to foot the bills more satisfied that they are receiving value for what they have to contribute.

WINSTON "SINNED BRAVELY."

In the midst of his two and a half hour Budget speech at Westminster the other day, Mr. Winston Churchill paused, observed dryly that the "revenue needed fortifying," took a tumbler three-fourths filled with brandy and drained it to the bottom, says the Ottawa Journal. Unfortunately, the British press does not chronicle what that ardent prohibitionist, Lady Astor, said or did, but it does record that Mr. Churchill's act was received with hilarious cheers.

Brandy or some other kind of spirituous stimulant is not a new thing in British Budget speeches. Gladstone, who was a great Churchman, punctuated his most eloquent passages with copious draughts of port, while Disraeli, it is said, preferred white brandy. That, however, was at a time before Mr. Pussyfoot Johnston had invaded England and when Lady Astor was still back in Old Virginia watching grizzled Colonels sipping American bourbon.

It is different now. Westminster has many ardent prohibitionists, and in 1922 Mr. Churchill himself went down before one of them in "wet" Dundee. It must, therefore, have taken something of moral courage for even Winston to brave Lady Astor and her disciples with such ostentatious quaffing of the amber liquid.

Yet that is the British way. Over here, or at Washington, an M.P. or a Congressman would probably have taken the brandy—behind closed doors—but he would never have braved a lot of "dry" votes by taking it in public. We are supposed to be more rugged and more straight-from-the-shoulder than people in the Old Land, but the truth is that we have less moral courage, and are more hypocritical. Over there they seem to follow Luther's admonition to "sin bravely."

THE RURAL CARRIERS.

Representatives of the rural mail carriers are down in Ottawa this week, once again pressing their claim for more generous treatment.

There may be an angle to this question that the Examiner is overlooking, but this paper, in common with many others throughout the country, cannot see why these grievances have not long since been adjusted.

In no other branch of the Government service is this method of employment under contract by public competition relied upon, and it is obviously unsatisfactory.

The man who carries the mail along the rural routes wants to be paid a definite salary, and to have some assurance that he will hold his job so long as he gives proper service—and no one can blame him.

Under the present arrangement he has no guarantee that when his present term ends somebody with little experience of the work necessary will not cut him out of his contract.

The average income of all the rural mail contractors in Canada is estimated at $732—and the contractor has to provide his own equipment, feed his horses, or keep his car running.

In the United States rural carriers receive $75 per mile per year, with free uniform and running equipment supplied, enjoy two weeks' holidays with pay, as well as the statutory holidays.

The Canadian carriers are now asking that they be paid $70 a mile per year, with the ten statutory holidays only.

Their demand for a definite wage scale and permanent employment deserves earnest consideration and action.

ARE YOU A GOOD NEIGHBOR?

Just at this season of the year is a good time for Peterboro people to take stock of themselves.

What kind of a neighbor are you?

You may be quiet and law-abiding, not given to undue borrowing and not stingy about lending in time of emergency, have a pleasant word for those who live around you, and yet fail in a very important particular.

How about the appearance of your house, your lawn, your boulevard, your backyard, your lane?

If, in addition to the other qualities mentioned above, you can show a clean sheet in regard to these things you will have some right to call yourself a one hundred per cent. good neighbor.

There are streets in Peterboro the appearance of which suggests that all the people living thereon qualify under this test.

Neat boulevards, immaculate lawns, well kept flower beds, trim houses, make up a vista that delights the eye and sends visitors away with a most favourable impression.

There are other streets in which the general neatness is spoiled by the indifference of a few householders, where an unkempt lawn or a neglected boulevard or the need of a coat of paint detracts from the appearance of the whole neighborhood.

Right now is an excellent time for those who have been careless in this regard to resolve to be listed as a good neighbor.

Take a pride in your property, take a pride in your street, and the first thing you know some other fellow who has thought about the matter as little as you will have caught the infection and the result will be surprising.

Peterboro is a beautiful city in which to live even now—let us develop a few more good neighbors out of those people who have up to now failed to see that they were falling down, and we'll have a city about which we will be justified in boasting everywhere.

DAWES AND DEMOCRACY.

It is a most significant thing how much American sympathy has been massed behind Vice-President Dawes in his dramatic and direct intervention with a view to compelling the dignified American Senate to function as a business body. The Senate is by long odds the most respected and influential legislative body in the United States. If there exists any confidence in any body of public men in the U. S. A., it would be centred on the Senate.

And yet General Dawes—a brash newcomer in politics—is not only tolerated but applauded when he slaps the Senate contemptuously across the face, ignores that awesome thing, "Senatorial tradition," and proposes to hustle the most dignified body in his country into the efficiency of a board of directors.

The meaning surely is that the very practical people to the south of us have tired of the tedium and ossified pomposity which our alleged "statesmen" so often mistake for dignity and a fitting seriousness, and insist that their national business bodies do business. This change is important to us, because it has also occurred in this country. We in Canada no longer venerate and reverence our "statesmen" as we did a generation ago.

Public men might well consider the causes for this change. Why is it that there are no figures in Parliament today that possess the authority that was so natural to Sir John Macdonald, George Brown, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir George Cartier, Alexander Mackenzie and that generation of statesmen? There is still a little partizan cohesiveness. "The machines" occasionally seem to function. The caucus exercises authority within the Houses of Parliament. But the vast majority of the electorate no longer look for light and leading to great figures that stand out against the sky-line and command trust and fidelity throughout the nation.

There was a time when American Senators could have haughtily and effectively rebuked General Dawes, and told him to walk with more modesty until he had attained to the experience and the wisdom of an Elder Statesman. But their most spirited retorts now only sound waspish and wounded, and are regarded by the Vice-President as the stingless insults of the futile. He does not dream of falling into abashed silence. He repeats his lecture, to "the grave and reverend seigneurs" whenever he makes a public appearance.

Worse still, the people seem to be with him. They want short speeches and swift decisions. They agree that the first business association of the country should get to business and not keep national interests waiting. They had rather trust Dawes than the Senators. This is really an ominous development for a democracy. It is out of just such a situation that the Dictatorship of Mussolini came. The people, after all, are the final judges. If they want a Coolidge-Dawes dictatorship, they can get it.

There is no task before our public men of anything like equal importance to that of recapturing, if possible, the confidence of the people. They must not imagine—just because the electorate, when confronted by a choice between two more or less "rotten eggs," choose the least odoriferous—that this choice indicates confidence in the men chosen. That confidence will only be shown by a general willingness to trust to their wisdom after they begin to function in Parliament. It is notorious that this measure of confidence does not now exist, either in Canada, in the United States or—to any large extent—in Great Britain.

This is a very serious thing. It may in some day of stress be fatal to democracy. A nation needs nothing more deeply than that it shall find leaders who can command its faith.—Montreal Star.

A THOUGHT.

THE MEASURE OF A MAN.

Not—
"How did he die?"
But—
"How did he live?"
Not—
"What did he gain?"
But—
"What did he give?"
These are the units
To measure the worth
Of a man, as a man,
Regardless of birth.
Not—
"What was his station?"
But—
"Had he a heart?"
And
"How did he play
His God-given part?
Was he ever ready
With a word of good cheer,
To bring back a smile,
To banish a tear?"
Not—
"What was his church?"
Nor—
"What was his creed?"
But—
"Had he befriended
Those really in need?"
Not—
"What did the sketch
In the newspaper say?"
But—
"How many were sorry
When he passed away?"

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 13.—Persistent selling on a market in which demand was thin carried wheat prices down grade most of the time to-day. Much of the selling was to realize profits, but much also was from tired outholders and from speculators who were looking for a decline.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1-2 to 2 3-4 cents net lower; May $1.61 and July $1.48 1-4 to $1.48 1-2, with corn 1-2 to 2 3-8 cents down; oats 3-8 to 1-2 cents off, and provisions showing setbacks varying from 20 to 50 cents.

STERLING RATES

Sterling demand $4.84 7-8.

Sterling cables $4.85 1-4.

EGG MARKETS

OTTAWA, May 13.—All markets seem to be marking time as very little change in prices has taken place. Storage stocks are heavier than last year and particularly so in the United States where on May 1 there were 4,901,000 cases as compared with 3,563,000 cases on the same date last year. The stocks of frozen poultry in the United States amounted to 82,953,000 pounds on May 1 as compared with 52,094,000 pounds on the same date last year.

Toronto—Jobbing, extras 33, firsts 31, seconds 27 to 29.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, May 13.—The export trade in Canadian grain here today was reported quiet owing to the fact that foreign buyers did not respond to the higher prices asked by local exporters.

There was a fair enquiry for oats on spot, but owing to the small offerings the volume of business was curtailed, and the only sales of importance reported was a transaction of 25,000 bushels of extra No. 1 feed at 8 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg May option, c.i.f. Montreal.

The trade in baled continues disappointing for the season of the year, which is attributed to the unfavorable condition of the English markets for Canadian hay and, therefore, the shipments so far this season have been small. The domestic demand was small but prices were unchanged.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton

THE STORY SO FAR:

GLORIA GORDON, beautiful flapper, marries DICK GREGORY, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes . . . but no hard work or children!

Dick borrows his mother's maid, MAGGIE, to teach Gloria to cook. But she refuses to learn. She meets STANLEY WAYBURN, an actor with whom she once had been in love.

Gloria invites Wayburn to a housewarming. He comes, and Dick instantly suspects that Gloria is in love with him. Wayburn makes love all evening to MYRA GAIL.

The "wild" party breaks up when LOLA HOUGH "bawls out" BILL, her husband, for petting MAY SEYMOUR, wife of DR. JOHN SEYMOUR. Maggie, disgusted, quits her job. Then Gloria hires RANGHILD SWANSON, although Dick tells her he cannot afford a housemaid. She also buys new clothes and insists upon an automobile. Gloria begins to be jealous of MISS BRIGGS, Dick's secretary.

One afternoon Dick returns home unexpectedly to find his wife entertaining Wayburn, May Seymour, and JIM CAREWE. Next morning May phones Gloria to tell her that the gossip about her love affair with Carewe has kept her out of the Home Woman's Club. She begs Gloria to ask MOTHER GREGORY, an officer of the club, to put her into it. Mother Gregory refuses.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Early the next morning, while Gloria and Ranghild were busily unpacking the wardrobe trunk, the front doorbell rang three times.

"That's Mrs. Seymour's ring. Ask her to come up here, please, Ranghild," Gloria said.

Sure enough it was May.

May triumphant! In a new spring suit and a felt hat crowned with lilacs! She was freshly rouged and powdered. And there was a flicker of humor in her green eyes. . . . In short, May was herself again!

"Ah, hah, you thought I'd be in sackcloth and ashes, didn't you?" she asked Gloria in her impudent way, "just because I'd had a turn-down from a club of miserable old frumps? Not on your eyebrow pencil! Those dames can't high-hat me, dearie. . . . I don't want to belong to their little group of serious thinkers!"

May sat down before Gloria's dressing table and rubbed some perfume under her pointed chin. She grinned impishly.

"Are you going to join? I don't exactly see you in a Home Women's Club," she said. "You're hardly a homekeeping type, Glory. I wish you wouldn't join. . . . I think you owe it to me not to! Just to show those women that they can't snub me, and get away with it!"

Gloria set her lips firmly.

"I've promised Mother Gregory I'd join," she said. She had no intention of being an outcast along with May There were points where friendship ceased. This was one of them!

"I thought you didn't care a darn whether you got into the club or not, anyway," Gloria went on. "You just said you didn't!"

May bit her lip.

"That was pure bunk," she confessed. "Whistling in the dark to keep up my courage."

May wiped her eyes and blew her nose loudly. Gloria could see that she was having hard work to fight back the tears in her eyes.

"Between you and me, Gloria," she said, shakily, "it's all but killed me to hear that they didn't want me in that club. . . . I never used to care what women said about me, but this got my goat, somehow. You take it from me, it's no use trying to buck other women. They've laid down certain lines, and unless a girl follows them, they'll get her . . they've almost got me.

"Why, this morning, when Jim phoned, I wouldn't even let him talk to me . . . 'fraid the phone girl might be listening-in. And, cross my heart, there has never been anything really wrong between me and Jim . . . just a little foolishness." * * *

Gloria was sure that May was telling the truth.

"I came in to ask you to go downtown with me, but I can see you're too busy," May said naturally, after a minute or two. "Don't forget that I'm having the card-club Thursday, will you? It's the last time we'll all see our loving enemy—Myra Gail—before she goes away next week."

"I thought you liked Myra," Gloria said, surprised.

"Yeh, I love her the way you do!" May retorted, making little claws of her two hands. "But just the same, I'd rather have her for a friend than an enemy . . . and she's a friend of all these club women who've iced me, besides!"

May picked up a hand-mirror and studied her face.

"Ye gods, I believe I'm getting a line between my eyebrows!" she cried, "or is it just a shadow? . . . By the way, isn't this hat of mine the cat's kanittens! I spent all the money for the butcher's bill on it. . . . There's one place where I can knock the rest of the women for a Chicago loop, anyway . . . in my clothes."

Gloria's smile pitied May. She knew that May was far from being well-dressed. Her hat was too garish, her tan shoes too tan, her thin stockings too thin.

Myra Gail was the best dressed woman in town, when it came to that. With a pang, Gloria thought of Paris and the clothes Myra would bring home from Paris. . . .

After May had gone, she went back unhappily to the job of unpacking the trunk that was destined not to cross the ocean in the hold of a French boat! . . . How stingy Dick was not to let her go with Myra! * * *

That afternoon a letter came . . . a large, white envelope with handwriting that had a certain dash, a careless charm.

Gloria knew, somehow, that it was from Stanley Wayburn before she looked at it. A thrill ran through her as she opened it.

"Russet, dear," it said. "There's so much I want to say to you. And yet when I come to write it, it isn't much . . . just this: I must see you! When? Where? Make it soon. Phone me."

No name was signed to the little note. Gloria didn't like that. It seemed cowardly not to sign one's name to a letter. . . . She would have liked Stan to run chances for her.

But, then, she knew he never would. He never had. "Safety First." That was his motto.

She tore the paper up and threw it into the waste basket. Then, fearful lest Ranghild might piece to together and read it, she took the torn pieces downstairs and burned them in the living-room grate.

After that she ran upstairs to her room, bolted the door, and telephoned Stanley Wayburn.

An hour later the two of them were together . . . speeding along the lonely country roads west of the town, in the car that had been Gloria's birthday gift from Dick.

Gloria's heart was like a wild bird, suddenly freed from the cage that had bruised its wings.

The eyes she turned to Wayburn were starry with happiness, and wet with tears of relief at seeing him again.

"I've missed you so!" she said. Wayburn's arms went around her like a vise. He kissed her hungrily. Gloria closed her eyes.

"Look out!" Stan yelled. He grabbed the steering wheel just in time to keep them from swerving off the road into the ditch that ran along it.

Gloria straightened her hat, and took a tighter hold on the wheel.

"Well," she sighed, "if I have to die in an automobile accident, I'd rather be with you at the time than anyone else in the world!"

Stan smiled grimly.

"I'm not so keen on dying just now, so keep your eyes on the road," he said. Under his harshness, Gloria drooped like a flower.

It was blue dusk when they drove back into town. The street-lamps made golden pools in the wet streets. * * *

Gloria drove the car into a dark and lonely side-street to let Wayburn out. A few days ago this precaution would never have occuorred to her. But since May had been black-balled by the Home Women's club, Gloria was afraid of people, and the things they might say about her and Stan.

"Will you meet me day after tomorrow . . . same time and place?" Stan asked, opening the door of the machine.

Gloria shook her head.

"Can't," she said. "That's Thursday. I've promised May I'd go to the card-club meeting that day."

She longed to ask him why he couldn't meet her the next afternoon. But she hadn't the courage. . . . She had a miserable conviction that there was a woman mixed up in everything Stan did, every engagement he had.

"Search for the woman," and you often found Stan at the same time!

And Thursday afternoon, when Gloria went up the front walk to May's house, she was still wondering with whom Stan's engagement on Wednesday had been.

Sonya Chotek had left town. That eliminated her. Perhaps it had been Myra Gail whom Stan had seen!

"How are you, Myra?" she asked sweetly. "Didn't I see you downtown yesterday afternoon?"

"Not me," Myra shook her head. "I was out in the country driving all day."

Instantly Gloria was filled with wild jealousy. She was sure that Myra had been driving with Stanley Wayburn . . . just as sure as if she had seen them together!

Burning with anger, she went downstairs and found the table where she was to play. Lola Hough sat there, waiting. Lola in her old foulard dress, was bright-eyed and excited. These card-club days were high spots in her dull life. *

"We're partners," she said to Gloria. "Myra Gail and May are going to play here, too."

Glory was sorry she had to start out the game with Lola for a partner. She was a very poor player, and nearly always spoiled her partner's chance for the prize.

Myra and May sat down at the table presently. Gloria dealt the cards. She fairly slapped them down on the table as if they were live things to vent her spite upon! * * * *

Two red spots of color rose in Gloria's face. All her anger toward Stanley Wayburn and Myra gathered like a cyclone. In its path, Lola stood quite defenseless.

"You poor simp!" Gloria flamed at her, "to make a bid like that when you had a bust hand! You must be crazy! I should think you'd learn a few rules of the game, if you're going to even make a stab at playing bridge!"

All the color drained out of Lola's cheeks. If Gloria had slapped her face she couldn't have hurt her more. She put one hand on the table and rose. Every woman in the room was looking at her.

"I'm sorry," she said. "Perhaps I shouldn't play cards with people like you, who never forget that there's a prize at the end of the game. I don't play a professional game like yours!"

May came across the room.

"Please, girls, don't quarrel," she said, trying to push Lola down in her chair. "Do sit down Lola, and go on with your game."

But Lola was firm.

"No," she said, with a breaking voice. "I'm going. There's no use in my trying to keep up with you girls. . . . I don't have time to play often enough to keep my wits sharp. And I shouldn't have come to-day, at all. I left my ironing to come. . . ."

She went unsteadily upstairs to get her wraps.

"Well, let's get on with our game," Gloria broke the cold silence Lola had left behind her. "She really hasn't any business to be playing bridge, anyway. She's the worst player!"

Suddenly Myra got up too.

"I think I'll go with Lola," she said quietly.

Chimney Fire Checked

On Friday morning a serious chimney fire occurred at the home of Mr. Jermyn Palmer. When the alarm was given over the phone, it was feared that the house, which is of frame, could not be saved as the smoke was issuing from every direction. A bucket brigade was soon on the scene and the trouble was located in the bottom of the chimney where a foot or more of red coals was bedded. Fortunately no damage resulted.

OXFORD BOYS WEAR SPARKLING RAIMENT

OXFORD, England, May 14.—For several years past Oxford men of adventurous character have been experimenting with new fashions in evening clothes. They have tried coats without tails, and coats with white lapels, and double breasted coats with knee breeches, but always in vain.

At last a new style has been accepted. Young Oxford men of means and spirit now go out of an evening in silk stockings, light silk knee breeches, blue or purple velvet jackets, and cream silk shirts much frilled at the throat and the cuffs.

While the fashion is not greatly suitable for subway or rainy evening wear it is declared by its proponents to be certainly more picturesque and a vast deal more pleasing than the "full dress" which what they characterize as the dullest of last centuries, has decreed should encase mankind when he steps out for a bit of an evening.

THE MARKETS.

situation owing to the fact that packers and dealers are taking all the surplus supplies for storing purposes therefore there is no pressure on the market, the demand from grocers and other dealers for small lots to meet actual wants was good and a fairly active trade was done in a wholesale jobbing way. The receipts were 2,513 cases, as compared with 1,763 for the same day last week, and 2,919 for the corresponding day a year ago. The stock of cold storage eggs in the Province of Quebec on May 1 was 1,374,305 dozen, as against 1,495,588 dozen a year ago.

The receipts of butter today were 55 packages as compared with 55 for the same day last week, and 191 for the corresponding day a year ago. The stock of creamery butter in the Province of Quebec on May 1 was 920,211 lbs., as against 937,936 lbs. for the same date last year.

There was no actual change in the condition of the market, prices being steadier under a slight improvement in the demand from local buyers for supplies of fresh made goods and as the offerings were none too large a better feeling prevailed.

Cheese Receipts.

The receipts of cheese were 2,016 boxes, as against 1,647 for the same day last week, and 2,983 for the corresponding day a year ago. The stock of cheese in the Province of Quebec on May 1 was 8,926,731 lbs. as against 5,113,955 lbs. for the same date last year.

There was no improvement in the volume of business here on account of the indifferent attitude of English importers and the rather discouraging cable advices coming forward. The tone of the market was about steady, with Western No. 1 white and colored quoted at 17 3-4 to 17 7-8 cents per lb., and Eastern No. 1 white and colored at 17 1-2 to 17 5-8 cents per lb.

LACHINE CANAL GATES CRASHED

Three Swept Away By Rush of Water After Accident.

MONTREAL, May 14. — While proceeding up towards the entrance to the Lachine Canal yesterday morning the steamer Jamaica struck the gate of Lock No. One on the south basin of the canal and despite the counterpressure of water in the other basins, three gates were carried away.

South Basin No. One emptied itself into the canal and a tug which was bringing down a tow was carried away in the rush of water.

It transpired further that the Jamaica after pushing through the gates against the heavy water pressure of the upper lock and breaking them, got through safely herself and moored at the foot of Colborne street in an apparently undamaged condition. There were no casualties. The damage will probably be repaired today.

The accident was identical with the one which happened two years ago when the steamer John B. Ketchum, which was proceeding down, carried away the same gates.

The liner Saturnia and the freighter Concordia, rising suddenly to the new harbor level, broke their mooring ropes.

Mr. Duffus in his brief address rather startled his hearers by expressing his belief that there would be a Provincial election before the summer was over. He congratulated the Toronto Liberals on their evidently good organization, and said their activity would act as a stimulant to members of the party in districts more favored politically than Toronto.

ROTHERMERE MILL CLOSE TO QUEBEC

Construction of Paper Plant To Be Begun This Year.

QUEBEC, May 14.—Work on the plant of the Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills, Limited, near Quebec City, which has been proposed for some time, and which will have a capacity of four hundred tons of newsprint per day and employ about one thousand men, will begin before the end of the present year, it has become known with the return from England of Frank W. Clarke, who represents the Rothermere interests in Canada. While in England, Mr. Clarke conferred with Lord Rothermere and his associates. He states that plans fo the mill have taken on definite form. The site is under consideration, certain surveys and preliminary work will be done shortly, and it is hoped that suitable arrangements will be made and the mill located at or close to the City of Quebec.

The plant will be self-contained, manufacturing under the same roof its own ground wood and sulphite, as well as paper.

The board of directors of the company includes, in addition to Lord Rothermere and Frank W. Clarke, Sir Herbert Holt, Honorable Smeaton White, R. C. McMichael, K.C., all of Montreal, and E. E. Sursham, of London, England.

KNOX LADIES ENTERTAINED

Mrs. W. J. Byers Was Hostess at Pleasant Tea Yesterday.

MUSICAL ITEMS.

A very enjoyable talent tea was held jointly by Mrs. W. J. Byers and Mrs. A. W. Archibald yesterday, at the home of Mrs. Byers, the proceeds donated to the Ladies' Aid Society of Knox Church. There was a good attendance during the afternoon and evening, when a pleasant musical programme was rendered. The guests were received by Mrs. Byers and Mrs. George Davis, president of the society. Mrs. Archibald ushered the ladies into the dining room. Tea was poured by Mrs. John Mervin, at a table prettily decorated with yellow daffodils and red tulips. Tea-room assistants were Mrs. Walter Byers, Mrs. Roy Byers, Miss Mary Morton and Miss Isabel Archibald.

The musical programme incluuded vocal solos by Mrs. Walter Byers, Mrs. L. Spriggs, the Misses Georgie Cuffe and Isabel Black; instrumental numbers by Mrs. M. C. Mackinnon and Miss Olga Johnston, and an instrumental duet by the Misses Mildred and Jean McCannon.

Demure Young Thing And Forbidden Fruit

She was a demure young thing, with a "butter won't melt" expression around her mouth. She asked the clerk in the bookstore for "Snappy Stories." The young lady informed her that it was among the periodicals banned from Canada. A second choice revealed the same condition. She looked very disappointed as she went out.

THE WATER LILY FROCK NOW.

Here is the water lily frock, one of the loveliest of summer creations, in flesh colored georgette crepe, embroidered in crystal beads and fringed with crystal fringe. A large silk water lily with very realistic looking buds forms the shoulder corsage.

FILMS IN COLORS.

ANTWERP, May 13.—A Belgian has invented a device, which reproduces moving picture films on a screen in natural colors. He says it can be attached to any projection apparatus.

HOME TOWN RECIPE.

2 cups brown sugar.
½ cup sweet milk.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
1 cup butter.
1 egg.
1 teaspoon carrawayseed.

Mix very soft and roll out. Sprinkle top with sugar. Cut in shapes and bake in quick oven. Two teaspoons of vanilla may be substituted for the carraway seed, if desired.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

REMOVING TEA STAINS.

Tea stains should be removed from linen as soon as the liquid is spilled. Sprinkle borax over the stain and moisten with water. Let stand a while before rinsing with boiling water.

IRONING TABLE LINEN.

SAVES TABLE LINEN

Table linen should be hung on the clothes line so that the weight and strain comes on the warp threads—that is the long way of the cloth, as the warp threads are stronger than the woof threads.

USE A PAD.

Always iron laces and embroideries on a pad so as to bring out the pattern.

TAKE BERRIES OUT.

Strawberries or any berries bought in boxes will keep better if spread out on a flat dish. Left in boxes they are apt to mildew or spoil.

SWINGING SKIRTS MARK NEW SEASON

Fullness is Achieved by Gathered Skirt—Some Use Ruffles.

By HEDDA HOYT

NEW YORK, May 14.—(United Press).—Hotels and dance rendezvous are crowded nightly with the younger element of the smart set whose frocks prove that not only is dancing in full swing but that skirts are also in full swing.

The typical dance frock of the New York Miss is made with fitted bodice, normal waistline and short, flaring skirt. Skirt fullness is achieved by a gathered skirt, set onto the normal waistline, by godets, circular effects or ruffles. About the only type of frock using ruffles however, is the tulle frock whose skirt is composed entirely of ruffles posed over a scant and knee-length underslip.

Chiffon is the most popular material for the dance frock. Pinks from shell tones to deep corals are very numerous and these are followed in popularity by lettuce green, ecru, white and orchid. Ecru chiffon worn with ecru satin slippers and matching hosiery is very popular. Satin slippers, by the way, match the frock this season and they are far nicer for Summer than the silver brocades. Either silver, flesh or matching hosiery may be worn with them.

One sees the straightline gown worn only by a few matrons whose size demands straight lines. Very few long sleeved frocks are noted, although one sees them in the shops. Necklines are generally rounded and lower in front than in the rear. Often crystal or brilliant banding outlines the decolletage and this is also used to conceal the joining of skirt and bodice. Chiffon flowers in pastel shades either contrasting to or in the exact shade of the frock are worn on the left shoulder. Occasionally one sees the corsage worn under the breast. Three-strand pearls are the popular jewelry. The huge pearl choker being chosen for day wear.

At the dining rooms of the hotels one sees the large transparent hat matching the chiffon frock with which it is worn.

Y. W. C. A. WILL MARK BIRTHDAY

Comes of Age in the Present Building—Record of Success.

BURN MORTGAGE.

To-morrow evening, the local Young Women's Christian Association celebrates its coming of age, in the twenty-first anniversary of its existence in the present building, on the corner of Simcoe and Aylmer Streets.

In the early days of the institution, it occupied two rooms on Brock Street, later having rooms on George Street. In January of 1904, the late Senator Cox offered to subscribe one-quarter of any amount raised for the benefit of the Y, and in September of 1904, the cornerstone of the present building was laid. The mortgage on the building was burned in 1910. In 1917, the swimming pool, the mortgage on which will be burned at to-morrow evening's celebration, was built.

In membership totals, in activities and in finances, the institution has progressed during the years since it had its inception in Peterboro. In the year 1905 to 1906, the income totalled $2,954.18, in the period from 1911 to 1912, $8,863.47, and in the past year $24,705.35.

To-morrow evening, past secretaries and presidents from out of town have been invited to be present, and letters from others will be read.

A cordial invitation to the general public is extended by the officials of the Y. The entire building will be open for inspection, the swimming-pool has recently been freshly painted in honor of the occasion, and the business meeting will be followed by a social hour in the green room.

ART ASSOCIATION TO BUY PAINTING

At an executive meeting of the Women's Art Association yesterday, discussion took place as to the purchase of one of the paintings of F. McGillivray-Knowles of New York, an exhibit of whose work and that of his wife was held in the studio at the Conservatory of Music. It was practically decided to make the purchase, the choice falling on "The Laurentian Highlands," one of the loveliest of the landscapes from the brush of Mr. Knowles.

This purchase will implement a resolution passed by the Women's Art Association in 1919, when they decided to purchase a painting by some Canadian artist, to form the nucleus of a local art gallery. The society already possesses an example of the work of another noted Canadian, Miss Katherine E. Wallis, in a bronze plaque, "Pleasures of Solitude," which hangs in the studio at the Conservatory, where Mr. Knowles' picture will also be on view.

CHILDREN BURNED IN PARENTS ABSENCE

Believed That One of the Children Upset Lamp and Ignited Home.

BATH, N.B., May 14 (Canadian Press).—Freddie Brooks, aged 4 years, and his baby brother, Earl, aged 8 months, children of Gideon Brooks, were burned to death soon after last midnight when their home here, in which they had been left alone, was destroyed by fire.

Edward McSmessery, who attempted to rescue the children, was seriously burned and overcome by smoke. He was rescued by Robert Ryan, who dragged him through the woodshed door to the open air. The mother was attending an entertainment at the time, and the father was working in a mill. It is believed that Freddie upset the lamp.

SPECIAL SERVICES ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

"Why Some Christians and Churches Accomplish So Little," Subject.

The special services at St. Paul's Church, conducted by Rev. William Allan, are continuing with growing interest. The subject last night was "Why Some Christians and Churches Accomplish So Little," based on the story of Elisha, giving leave to the young prophets to enlarge their dwelling, causing iron to swim; 2 King, Chapter 6, verses 1-7.

Mr. Allan said: "There is such a thing as a making the iron swim. In it we see the power of God operating to help all who look to Him. It responds to every cry of faith. The young man may have lost the head of the axe for some time and did not notice it missing. Or may have noticed the loss and kept on swinging the handle to deceive his associates. It is harder to swing the handles alone than with the axe-head and handle, and it accomplishes nothing. As examples:

David's early piety and spiritual power cannot be questioned. At that time he wrote the 23rd Psalm slew Goliath, and gave God the credit for the victory. Sin overcame him; he began to swing the handle minus the axe-head. He went through the form or religion, in other words, but had parted company with the power thereof. He later confessed his sin, and was once more in possession of a complete axe—his old time spiritual power. It is more difficult to keep up the form of religion than to live the real thing. It is just possible some of us are doing this very thing.

There is the case of the Disciples, who in a case of need had tried, but failed to accomplish anything. They asked Jesus, "Why could not we cast him out?" They had been swinging the axe-handle which had lost its head. They had gone through the motions, but power was not manifested. Jesus said, "This kind goeth not out by prayer and fasting." What does it mean to fast? In a certain sense no Christian has a right to dictate to you as where you should go, and what you should do. You can even ignore God if you have a mind to do so! But if you go anywhere or do anything which makes it hard for you to do go your room and pray, it is wrong. You may keep up the form of religion, but have parted company with the power.

There is the case of Peter and some other disciples. Peter tells the Lord they had fished all night and taken nothing. He means they had been doing the equivalent of swinging the handle minus the axe-head. How many churches which, if told the truth, would say, "We have caught nothing!" They are busy, but how little is being produced in real spiritual result. We need to get back to the upper room, till be feel the impulse of the Holy Ghost in all our ambitious and activities. Then we shall go on from victory to victory.

Do you know that Bon Ami comes in two forms—cake and powder? Both are made from the same ingredients—both have the same wonderful gift of cleaning and polishing without scratching.

For some purposes you'll want the Bon Ami powder in its handy, sifter-top tin—it's so easy to shake out on a damp cloth. For other uses you'll prefer the solid Bon Ami cake that you can rub on the cloth like soap.

Most housewives keep both the cake and powder always on hand. These two "partners in cleanliness" are unequalled for cleaning and polishing all the things listed at the right.

SENSATION IN DEATH OF GIRL AT VANCOUVER

Janet Smith Found in Chinese Laundry Basement Shot to Death.

LAX POLICE

Coroner's Inquiry Held After Traces Removed—Criticism Made of Officials.

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 14.—(By Canadian Press).—Sensation has followed sensation in what has gained prominence as the "Janet Smith case", and there is every indication that further startling developments will follow the laying of a charge of murder against Woo Foon Sing, Chinese servant in the household of F. L. Baker, Vancouver broker, more than nine months after the girl's dead body was found in the basement laundry of the Shaughnessy Heights home.

Janet Smith, a pretty little Scottish girl, was engaged by Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Baker in London, during a visit of the Vancouver couple to Europe in 1922, as nursemaid. She was of a particularly happy disposition, so much so that she was called the "Scottish nightingale" by those who heard her constantly singing as she went about her work.

F. L. Baker lived in the West End of Vancouver, while a brother, R. P. Baker had a home on Shaughnessy Heights. Early in 1924 R.P. Baker and his wife went to Europe and during their absence the residence at 3851 Osler avenue was occupied by F. L. Baker and family.

Shortly after noon on Saturday, July 26, 1924, the police of Point Grey, the municipality ni which Shaughnessy Heights is situated, received a call from the Osler avenue house.

James Green, acting desk sergeant went to the place where he found Janet Smith stretched on the concrete floor of the basement laundry with a great, gaping bullet wound in her head. Dr. Backwood, the municipal police surgeon, attended a few moments later and declared life extinct. Green telephoned to Coroner W. D. Brydon-Jack, announcing the death, and returned to the police station when a constable arrived to relieve him.

Green informed Chief of Police Simpson of Point Grey, that, in his opinion, the case was one of suicide, and the police acted upon this assumption.

Now happened a circumstance that has caused a great deal of wonderment. The body was removed from the house to an undertaking parlor, and before an inquest could be arranged, was embalmed, destroying all possibility of considerable valuable post-mortem data being secured.

The coroner's enquiry was held on the following Monday. Wong Boon Sing told the court that he came into the basement and found the girl in the position seen by the police. Later he amitted that he attempted to lift her head, and in doing had stained his house apron with blood. Beside the girl's body was an army automatic pistol, while an electric smoothing iron, torn from the socket, was beside the body, which showed ugly burns behind the right shoulder.

The inquest was of a more or less perfunctory character and a verdict of accidental death was returned, it being suggested to the court that th girl was, in all probability, playing with the pistol and shot herself.

The Council of Scottish Societies, and the Vancouver press and public were not satisfied with the result of the enquiry and started an agitation which resulted in the provincial police being assigned to the case three weeks later.

Investigation by Inspector Forbes Cruikshank and his detectives resulted in the discovery of some startling evidence at the first enquiry. There was no bullet mark to show where the .45 calibre ball would have struck the wall, for examination of a spot indicated as having been caused by the bullet after passing through the girl's head was disproved. A mark did show on the cement floor, however, which detectives argued was more like a bullet abrasion.

One of the most peculiar pieces of evidence adduced, however, was that while a deep burning, ostensibly from the smoothing iron which was found beside the dead girl, had occurred on the back of her shoulder, the clothing was not even scorched, while her corsets partially covered the burned area.

Attorney-General A. M. Manson ordered the body exhumed and a second inquest to be held, when it was shown in evidence that it would have been impossible, owing to the length of the pistol, for the girl to have held it in her own hands and to have fired the shot without pressing the nose of the weapon against her forehead—and there was no evidence of burning about the wound. Firearm experts declared the pistol must have been held at a distance greater than eight inches from the head.

Wong Foon Sing was a witness again, and despite the closest possible cross-examination, did not waver in the slightest from the story he told at the first inquiry. He admitted that he knew the revolver, which was one Mr. Baker had used in the war. He had removed it, several weeks before from a knapsack in the front hall, to the attic. He did not—and no other witness suggested that Janet Smith even knew where the firearm was kept.

Evidence of workmen on an adjacent buildin was to the effect that Janet Smith had appeared on the fatal day singing for a moment at one of the windows, and they paused in their work to listen to her song. This would be about an hour before she died. After thoroughly probing the whole case the jury returned a verdict of murder.

Attorney-General Manson appointed M. B. Jackson, a Victoria lawyer, special investigator, and he continued the probe since that time. The Scottish societies also persisted in an independent enquiry, and offered a reward for the discovery of the perpetrators of the crime.

Ugly rumors followed one another and wild stories were current on every hand. The public was about to forget the case, when on March 20 last Wong Foon Sing suddenly and mysteriously disappeared, evidence tending to show that he had been kidnapped from the Osler avenue house.

Nothing of a definite character was heard until a month later a weekly publication announced that he was being held in captivity and an effort was being made to extract a different story from him. A public appeal was made for funds to maintain his guards.

Police became busy and search renewed for the missing Chinaman. The Chinese consulate posted a reward of $500 for his return, and private and city detectives were employed in the search for him.

Early on the morning of May 1 the Point Grey police was informed by a passing motorist and also by telephone that a man was acting strangely on Marine Drive. On responding to the call they found Wong Foon Sing, blindfolded and groping his way along the road. He was immediately arrested on a warrant charging him with the murder of Janet Smith, the information being sworn to by Walter Owen, assistant superintendent of provincial police, ten days before.

The Chinaman told a story of having been held in captivity since the night he was spirited away from the Shaughnessy Heights home. Under constant guard, he claimed he was continuously abused and subjected to third degree methods. His sudden reappearance and strange story aroused public indignation, and there are those who believe that his incarceration could hardly have been unknown to police officials.

HORSE KICKED MRS. C. A. HOPE

Frightened by Falling Dashboard—Compound Fracture Resulted to Passenger.

WILL LIKELY KNIT

While Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hope of Rural Route No. 7, were driving into the city in a democrat yesterday the dash board dropped and one of the horse becoming frightened lashed out with its hoofs kicking Mrs. Hope and injuring her seriously about the limbs.

Doctor Baker was summoned and Mrs. Hope was taken to St. Joseph's hospital where it was discovered that she had sustained a compound fracture of the tibia and fibula of the right limb and a deep gash in the left.

The accident occurred about 10.30 and in the afternoon Mrs. Hope was resting easily.

Mr. Hope succeeded in keeping the horses checked and prevented what might have been a bad run away.

Mrs. Hope is 62 years of age but it is expected that the fracture will knit rapidly.

HEART TROUBLE SHORTNESS OF BREATH

Mrs. Geo. E. Bowman, Morrisburg, Ont., writes:—"I am writing you a few lines to let you know of my experience with Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Two years ago I became very poorly with my heart and nerves and whenever I took the least little bit of exercise my heart would start to jump and flutter. I could not walk up-stairs without having to sit down and rest before I was half-way up, on account of my breath becoming so short.

I commenced taking

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

NO REDUCTION IN PAY OF SAILORS

General Manager Denies Report of Reductions of Government Ships

GOOD FOOD SERVED.

OTTAWA, May 14.—(Canadian Press.)— Labor conditions on the ships of the Canadian Merchant Marine were discussed in the Commons committee on railways and shipping this morning, when C. W. Stewart (Progressive, Humbolt), quoted a statement made in a labor publication that the merchant marine had reduced expenditure last year be reducing the pay of the seamen and the quality of food served.

General Manager Teakle, in reply, said neither the pay nor the quality of the food had been reduced.

The committee carried a motion recommending the estimate of fifty million dollars for the Canadian National Railways for 1925-26.

NO CONFERENCE.

British Government Will Not Take Initiative in Calling Gathering.

LONDON, May 14. — The British government will not at present take the initiative in calling a world disarmament conference, Premier Stanley Baldwin told the House of Commons to-day in replying to a member's question.

Premier Baldwin said the League of Nations still had under consideration the question of disarmament and therefore any initiative on the part of the British government at this time would not be advantageous.

RIFFIANS WERE DRIVEN BACK BY FRENCH FORCES

Retreated Along a Wide Front After Severe Fighting Yesterday.

OUTPOSTS RELIEVED.

Only Two Blockhouses Are Now Surrounded By Moroccan Forces.

PARIS, May 14. — Riffian tribesmen, who invaded the French zone of Morocco under orders from Abd-el-Krim were driven back along a wide front yesterday, according to a statement from the French headquarters.

SEVERE FIGHTING.

RABAT, French Morocco, May 14—Abd-el-Krim's Riffian invaders were severely punished by French yesterday in serious operations which relieved all but two of the surrounded outposts and established French on the Bibane Heights.

One of the two French blockhouse garrisons, well surrounded and holding off the Riffians, is Aoeulay Post, where only a dozen native troops are still able to handle the guns, out of a garrison of 50 men and two French officers. All the others have been seriously wounded or killed.

The French have met the stiffest sort of resistance in their forward movement and their was much stiff hard fighting, but Babane Heights were attained, and positions established there. The French losses are not stated.

Villages Captured.

The village of Agdour was taken at the point of the bayonet and the two French outposts at Bibanel and Darremich, which had been completely surrounded by the tribesmen for ten days, were relieved. The French troops, under General Colombat, advanced in three columns, flanked on the right by cavalry and on the left by aviation. They first attacked the Riffians on the plains, and then moving behind a rolling barrage of artillery fire, stormed the strongly fortified Riffian positions in the foothills.

The French attack began at daylight yesterday. In addition to General Colombat's heavy advance, a diversion was executed by Col. Freydenburg's columns. Moving from his position in the central sector toward the west, this commander relieved two other surrounded blockhouse garrisons at Amzez and Ialerza.

WEAK AND NERVOUS.

In This Condition the Blood Supply Should Be Promptly Enriched.

Hardly any condition of ill health causes more worry to the sufferer than that for which there is generally least sympathy. Men and women with nerves out of gear often become irritable and are blamed for ill temper, when it is not their fault. Their poor health is the cause. The tired, over-busy wife and mother, whose household cares have worn her out; the bread-winner whose anxieties have worried him until he is thin and ill are among the nerve sufferers who become run down. Their nerves, like all bodily organs, need rich, red blood. In such cases the best and simplest treatment is a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which enrich the blood and tone up the nervous system and bring good health and cheerfulness. Proof is given by Mr. Donald McLellan, Bay St. Lawrence, N. S., says:—"I was nervous and run down and did not sleep well. As I grew older I became worse, and suffered from the nervousness more than can be readily believed. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I began a treatment of this medicine. After taking five boxes I felt like a new man; could eat well and sleep well, and felt improved in every way. I think very highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and recommend them to any person who is run down and in want of vitality."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, at 50 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ASSUMED POWER.

Tilley Says the Home Bank Went From Frying Pan Into the Fire.

TORONTO, May 14. — (Canadian Press).—"We went from the frying pan into the fire when Mr. Haney left the presidency of the Home Bank and was succeeded by Mr. Daly," said W. N. Tilley, K.C., continuing this morning his argument before the Appellate Court for reversal of the conviction of R. P. Gough, former vice-president of the bank. "There was this difference between them," he added. "Haney told the board about things after they had happened and sought confirmation; Daly never told at all."

Gough, he said, had approved of the resignation of Haney and the appointment of Daly, because he had protested, as had Gough, at Haney's method of doing business. "Gough," he said, "thought that Daly's views were sound and that the bank was getting as president a man whose views were similar to his own."

"Why," asked Mr. Justice Ferguson, "should Daly have more responsibility as president than Gough as vice-president?"

Mr. Tilley: "Because he assumed it."

CONDEMN DAWES PLAN.

German Officers Say It Is Incapable of Fulfilment.

BERLIN, May 14. — (Canadian Press).—The National Federation of German Officers, in convention here to-day, condemned the Dawes reparation plan as incapable of fulfilment and "of serious damage to German industrial life besides a political gagging and enslaving of the German people."

The convention criticized the Government for not sending to the foreign powers a disclaimer of Germany's war guilt.

FISH WEIGHED 1,015 POUNDS

BIG BATTLE

How would you like to have a fish on the end of your line weighing half a ton and reported to be a century old? That's what a Charlotte street man thought he had on Tuesday night, but it turned out to be an eel. A Vancouver man was more lucky, when he caught a sturgeon 12 feet, 6 inches long and weighing 1,015 pounds. It was valued at $200.

This is the season for fish-stories, and the farther the season advances the fishier they become. The story about the Vancouver man and his sturgeon that was longer than his boat was told in the Empress hotel, when a party of fishermen gathered, doubtless attracted by the presence there, although not one of the group, of that good sport Chris. Graham. There's nothing fishy about the 37 inch eel that was caught below the first locks—it was eaten in stewed form yesterday.

Doubtful as most people will be about accepting the story from the west, it is nevertheless true that such a huge fish at one time abounded in the waters there and may even exist, in scattered locations, today. Years ago, when the Canadian Pacific Railway was being built through to the coast, the sturgeon, then according to ancient law the sole property of the ruling British monarch, was plentiful and was sold on western markets. The species is very rare now and is under government protection, though sometimes a big fellow gets caught by mistake—mutual mistake—and a few are taken by poachers. There are authentic stories of huge fish that come occasionally from the depths of some Rocky mountain lakes to dwarf the pleasure canoes that venture out on the treacherous surfaces. One such appeared three years ago in Waterton lake, whose depths have never been plumbed.

And this may sound fishier than ever, but the biggest sturgeon are often caught by their tails. Indians, who have now special permits to fish sturgeon within their domains, sink a line along which big, unbaited, hooks are strung, about a foot from the bottom of a river or stream. The line is strung with the hooks facing down stream. The sturgeon work upstream and when they come to the swaying line of hooks they nose partly past the obstruction until their moving tails, their propellors, catch on the hooks.

The eel that measured 37 inches was caught on Tuesday night, just at dusk, by a man fishing from a punt with a bamboo pole and pickerel bait. He had a stiff battle while the eel was in the water and almost as wicked a fight after it came out, learning effectively the meaning of the expression "slippery" as an eel."

MEN HOLD BANQUET.

St. Paul's Association to Reorganize at Gathering Tonight—200 Expected.

The men of St. Paul's Church are holding a banquet tonight at 6.30, for the purpose of re-organizing The Men of St. Paul's. The members of the Ladies' Aid are to serve supper, and it is expected about 200 men will be on hand. An address is to be delivered by Rev. William Allan, who is conducting special services this week.

This body has in the past accomplished much useful and tangible work, and since many new-comers are in the church, it was felt the society should re-organize.

PETERBORO' MAN SEEKING WIFE WRITES LORD MAYOR OF LONDON

Letter Comes Back to Provincial Minister at Queen's Park.

MINUTE DESCRIPTION.

Applicant For Perfect Girl Has Some Charms of His Own.

TORONTO, May 14. — A Peterboro man who seeks an English wife, recently wrote the Lord Mayor of London about it. The latter turned the letter over to W. C. Noxon, the Agent General in London for Ontario, and Mr. Noxon has in turn sent the letter back to the Department of Agriculture, as a novel illustration of what he is called on to do.

"I am appealing to your sense of sportsmanship and good nature," says the Peterboro man to the Lord Mayor. "I assure you that I would gladly do a like favor for you if our positions in life were reversed * * * * am a Canadian, 27 years of age; I am 5 foot and 9 inches in height; weigh 160 pounds; am well built, and all in all, am generally considered to present a good appearance. I come from a good and highly respectable family —am refined, well educated, and have travelled extensively; and last but by no means least I now desire to marry a good English girl, and, as the saying goes, 'settle down.'"

The girl he seeks must be well educated, board minded, tolerably good looking, a lover of home, nature and out of doors.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

Wheat Prices Went Up On Opening Of Market

CHICAGO, May 14. — (Canadian Press).—Wheat prices went straight upward to-day as soon as the market opened. Unexpected firmness of quotations at Liverpool, together with improved export demand here and the surprising smallness of shipments from Argentina were largely responsible. There was also talk current that on account of the low temperature an unusual big percentage of seeded wheat in Saskatchewan has failed to germinate. Opening ¼ to 2 cents higher, May 1.62½ and July 1.49 3-4 to 1.50¼, was followed by ascent to 1.66¼ for May and 1.51¼ for July.

Cold weather complaints gave independent strength to the corn market. After opening at ½ to 1 3-8 cents advance, July 1.16 3-4 to 1.17¼, prices scored a slight additional gain.

Oats sympathized with corn and wheat. Starting at 1-8 to ¼ to ⅜ cent advance, July 44 7-8 to 45 cents, oats made some further ascent. Declines in value of hogs acted as a weight on the provision market.

Wall Street Strength Well Sustained To-day

NEW YORK, May 14.—(Canadian Press).—The underlying strength of the market was well sustained throughout the morning, Wall Street regarding favorably the attitude of the Washington administration toward further tax legislation and the report of a sharp gain in April exports.

Sugars and food shares continued to attract some buying orders, Cushman Baking being pushed up 5 points before noon.

Chesapeake and Ohio advanced about 2 points above last night's close. Savage Aams was subjected to heavy selling pressure, being driven down more than 3 points to the lowest level of the year.

Call money renewed at 3 3-4 per cent.

Winnipeg Wheat Jumps After Stagnant Week

WINNIPEG, May 14.—(Canadian Press).—After holding within a comparatively narrow range during the past few days, the local wheat market registered sharp advances to-day with May touching a high of 181¼ and July 173. Closing prices were fractionally below the top for the day, May gaining 5 3-4 at 180½, July 5 3-4 at 172½, and October 2 at 139 5-8.

Toronto Mining 'Change Weak In Spite of Sales

TORONTO, May 14.—(Canadian Press).—The market on the Standard Mining Exchange was weak this morning, though sales reached a respectable total. A good deal of interest centred in Silvers, McKinley, Darragh and Ophir each improving a half point. Hattie Preferred dropped 7-8 at 7 1-8, and Argonaut one, while La Rose advanced two at 49.

Consolidated Smelters Is Feature At Toronto

TORONTO, May 14.—(Canadian Press).—Consolidated Smelters was the outstanding feature on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, with approximately 1,425 shares changing hands. Smelters was the most active issue on the board; it jumped 2½ points to 76½. Dominion Canners advanced 3½ points, and after hitting as high as 102, dropped and closed at 101½. Burt F. N. closed 3-8 to 49 7-8. Brazilian and City Dairy, after a slow start, advanced 1-8 to 50½ and 80.

Crowds Lined Streets to Honor W. F. Massey—Bell Sworn In.

TEMPORARY PREMIER.

WELLINGTON, N.Z., May 14.—(Canadian Press.) — Impressive ceremony marked the funeral today of Premier W. F. Massey, who died last Monday. Dense throngs lined the streets, bareheaded and silent as the hearse passed. The burial took place at Point Haswell.

After the funeral, Sir Francis Bell, Attorney General, took the oath of office as Premier and will hold the position until the Reform party chooses a new leader.

CATCH CHANDOS MAN.

License Inspector and Constable Charge Johnston With Selling.

Provincial Constable N. F. Maker has rounded up a man in Chandos, who has been sought since February on a charge of selling liquor. With License Inspector Joseph Stewart he left here at 3 a.m., armed with a warrant, and caught Jim Johnston before he was out of bed.

Johnston was remanded until Wednesday next, when the case will be heard at Apsley.

ALFALFA SEED REMAINS GOOD FOR LONG TIME

Samples Twenty-Seven Years Old Show High Germination Per Cent.

HARD SEEDS SLOW

Tests Showed That They Were Not Dead—Good Seed Grows Quickly.

How long does alfalfa seed retain its vitality? The statement that "seed more than one year old is scarcely worth saving" seems a trifle far fetched in view of the results of tests made by Dr. Wm. P. Headden showing the high germination of seed even after it had been kept in storage twenty-seven and a half years. In telling of these tests, Dr. Headden writes as follows:

"The most important thing to crop growers is the quality of the seed that is furnished them by the seedsman. It should be true to name, of a good strain and strong in vitality. In many instances he can secure such seed by proper selection and care, but in other cases he is practically dependent upon what is offered by dealers.

"There are such statements as these: 'Great care should be taken to procure alfalfa seed, plump and perfectly new, as two-year-old seed does not come up freely'; again, 'The vitality of alfalfa seed is so low that seed over one year old is scarcely worth sowing.'

"Thirty years ago I was interested in this subject and published the results of a number of experiments which by this time are probably forgotten. The main features of them may be of interest now, more so even than at the time they were first published.

"I divided the seed obtainable at that time into two classes—prime seed and screenings, and the latter into three grades, first, second and third. Prime seed needs no description, but the screenings varied so greatly in size, in the brightness and plumpness of the seed, also in freedom from fungi, that the third grade was very disreputable looking stuff.

"The first lots of seed experimented with ranged in age from one to six years, some of it hand gathered and much of it either bought in market or from the producer.

"The prime seed from one to six years old gave me a germination of from 88 to 98.5 per cent. The six-year-old seed was better than some two-year-old seed, but all samples except the one-year-old seed showed that the quoted opinions were wrong. The hand gathered one-year-old seed did not sprout as freely as some of the older seed, but all samples were very good. The number of seeds to the pound were around 215,000. The screenings used in the first experiments were one, two and three years old.

"The first quality of screenings gave a germination of 55.5, 66.5, and 79.0 per cent.; the second and third quality of screenings were equally good or bad as the reader may see fit to put it; but they gave 38 and 38.5 per cent. The number of seeds per pound ranged from 259,000 to 344,000.

"The term 'a good stand' is a very general one, but may be taken to mean in a young plantation about 250,000 plants to an acre. This number is not necessary to yield a maximum hay crop, for the yield depends upon the size of the crown as well as upon the number of plants.

"There used to be and may be still for all that I know, an opinion that good screenings would give an altogether satisfactory stand and this was correct, but it did not say anything about the number of seed that rotted or young plants that died, but simply asserted that enough plants were produced to yield a maximum crop.

"There were two reasons why the percentage of germination was low in the screenings; the first of these was that many of them rotted. This was to be expected because they contained a great many very immature seed. They would not have been screenings if they had not. The second one was the presence of hard seed, which are usually present in larger numbers than in prime seed, though I found as high as 13 per cent of these hard seed in some samples of prime seed.

"The hard seed are ill shaped and do not readily absorb water; they are not, however, dead seed; they are simply very slow about germinating. Good alfalfa seed germinated quickly; three days are ample to show the quality of the sample. I continued the test on hard seed thirty-eight days, when 78 per cent had sprouted, 13 per cent had rotted, and 9 per cent were still left.

"The samples above referred to, both prime seed and screenings, were tested again six and ten years later. At the end of the ten-year period, when the seed samples were from twelve to sixteen years old, the germination was found to be, for prime seed, from 63 to 92.5; the sixteen-year-old sample gave 63 per cent. The screenings tested were from eleven to thirteen years old and gave a germination test from 14 to 38 per cent. The germination with twelve-year-old prime seed was 92, 93, 94 and 98 per cent.

"Twelve and one-half years later these samples were tested again, when 46 per cent of a sample of prime seed twenty-seven and one-half years old germinated, and from 90 to 94 per cent of a sample of prime hand gathered seed germinated. Of the screenings from 11.5 to 27 per cent. germinated.

"These samples were not stored with any special precautions; in fact, they were rather indifferently cared for; some had been kept in small bottles in a room with a rather high temperature. The twenty-seven and one-half year old prime seed had been exposed in a show case for six years."

Green feed may be given to chicks as soon as they will eat it. Swiss chard, lettuce, lawn clippings, or sprouted oats cut in one-quarter inch lengths are good green feeds.

Farm Premises Should Be Kept Attractive

Attractive farm premises are an asset to any farm. Time spent in clearing up around the farmstead, putting things away, and hauling out manure will bring in good returns. It will not only increase the money returns to farming by making possible better production and sales, but will make the farm a more attractive home.

MANY FARMERS ARE RETURNING

Hundreds Coming Back From Western Canada and States to Ontario.

WANT MIXED FARMS

TORONTO, Ont., May 14 (Canadian Press).—Hundreds of former Ontario farmers are returning from Minnesota, the Dakotas and Western Canada to take up homesteads in Northern Ontario, according to the Department of Lands and Forests of the Ontario Provincial Government. An official states that the one-type farm generally found in Western Canada is not suitable for these Ontarioans, and although the soil is much the same in Minnesota and the Dakotas as here, hundreds of ex-Canadians are coming back. They have to go through the same routine to get land in New Ontario as newcomers from Europe.

These "prodigals" are welcomed in the newly opened settlement areas in the north, however, and it is largely for their benefit that the colonization branch has obtained power under regulations to make grants of $500 before patents are secured for homestead lands, to aid in clearing, etc., and after the patents are secured, and the necessary homestead work done, loans from the Department of Agriculture, up to $2,500, may be secured for further development. These advantages apply to settlers from Quebec, quite a number of these Quebec families having come over to this province this spring, the official says, to take up land in the Cochrane district.

PLANTS ON SALE FOR SETTING OUT

Early Cabbage Plants Were on Cobourg Market on Saturday.

COBOURG, May 14.—A new feature on Cobourg market Saturday was the sale for the first time this spring of plants for setting out. Early cabbage plants were 20 cents a dozen, and pansies were 25 cents for three berry boxes of plants. Wild flowers were offered also, lilies and some daffodils from the gardens.

Potatoes are still selling for 75 cents a bag; eggs sold for 26 cents and 27 cents a dozen and butter from 35 cents to 37 cents. Cream was 30 cents a pint, green onions, 5 cents a bunch. Gladioli bulbs were 5 cents for a dozen. There were a few apples and also a few carrots and parsnips, probably the last of the 1924 yield to be offered.

Six or seven butchers were busy cutting up meat. Some of these men came quite a distance, which necessitates their leaving home at five a.m., or earlier. Live hogs are selling to-day at $11.00 a hundredweight. There were few chickens and fowl offered Saturday, the former of course refers to 1924 birds as broilers are not yet in. Day-old chicks are 20 cents each, 40 cents a dozen is asked for duck eggs. Wood sells on the Cobourg market from $10 to $12 a cord. Hay remains around the $13 mark, with quite an abundance offering.

The New Vegetables'

In the stores new potatoes are selling at four pounds for 25 cents. Carrots and beets are 10 cents a bunch. Cabbage is 8 cents a pound. Green peas and new beans are also in. Lettuce sells from 15 cents to 25 cents by the head and at 10 cents a bunch.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

CLEAN MILK SUPPLY'

To the Editor of the Farm Page.

Dear Sir: As my business brings me in contact with the best dairy farmers throughout this part of Central Ontario and being somewhat interested in dairying I cannot help in doing some observing and I wish to congratulate our milk vendors and those supplying them with milk for the nice cleanliness of their herds and surroundings as compared with the average herd under ordinary conditions. If special mention was to be made of any it might be made of Leonard Clancy and Sons of Otonabee, who, with his beautiful herd of twenty spotless cows, and his whitened stables and flowing spring, would be hard to surpass. And just a word of caution to all is that you are nearing the time of season when milk is tenderest and lactic acid develops the fastest. Do not spare aeration and the ice, no matter if the weather does seem cool. Thanking you, I remain, yours, &c. —W. H. Merrill.

CLOVER MAKES EARLY PASTURE'

Sweet clover is an excellent pasture crop, but it should not be pastured until it has reached a height of at least eight inches. Sweet clover grows rapidly during the early part of the season and may get ahead of the livestock available to turn on it. If this happens it may be clipped, but the sickle bar of the mower must be set high enough to cut at least eight inches above the ground, for sweet clover grows from branches, not from a crown, as in the case of alfalfa. Several of the lower branches must be left to insure a second growth.

IMPORTED FRUIT DOESN'T SPOIL CANADIAN SALE

Campbellford Merchant Says Only Few People Can Afford Its Use.

PRICE TOO HIGH

Strawberry Growers of Canada Set Their Price by That of Imports.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 14.—Strawberries and potatoes from the semi-tropical Southern States are still on sale here, and have been since the beginning of the year. Only the fruit stores handle the berries, but the imported potatoes form part of the stock-in-trade of every grocer in town. The present price of strawberries is 40 cents for a box holding a full quart. Fifty cents was the figure at the beginning of the season. The duty on this fruit is two cents a pound, or about one cent a quart; that on potatoes is 35 cents per 300 pounds.

In the recent prolonged debate on the budget, American strawberries and potatoes furnished more than one orator with a text. The general trend of the arguments used—arguments that received editorial support from more than one influential party paper—was that the duty on these commodities should be made high enough to keep them out altogether in the interests of Canadian producers. As for the consumers, who probably outnumber the growers 3,000 to one, few champions appeared.

"If," said one speaker of note, "strawberries from the South are imported, the Canadian public's appetite for that fruit becomes sated before the home crop is ready for the market, and the result is that the growers in this country cannot get rid of their produce.

Local Dealers' Opinion'

A prominent merchant of Campbellford, who always sells American potatoes in season and who formerly handled imported strawberries, takes issue with this argument.

"That kind of talk is all bunk," he said to The Examiner. Only a small percentage of the people can afford to eat imported strawberries at forty or fifty cents a box, so that the public appetite is not likely to become sated Just as soon as the home supply of potatoes and berries is put on the market the importation automatically ceases. Anyway, the season for these in the United States closes about the time it opens here. Providence has made a wise provision for making the supply of foodstuffs perpetual, but our statesmen appear to have an ambition to nullify this decree. The higher the price of American potatoes and strawberries when the home season opens, the better it is for the Canadian producer, because it is this price which sets the opening figure for the home grown stuff.

"Creating an artificial demand for a commodity by placing an embargo on its use for a given time, is a new and heroic method of keeping up the price. Why not employ the same method to help out the butter and cheese workers and the wheat growers? A hungry public, with money which they have been denied the right to spend, would certainly make ideal customers once the embargo was lifted. Such a system might be good for the producer, but wouldn't it be a little tough on the customers?

"The American grower is not getting rich out of the Canadian public. Strawberries shipped here from Florida or Arkansas, and sold at 40 cents a box, leave little for the grower when the freight charges are paid. The American grower works under a disadvantage, due to the climate which make early production possible. He must ship his potatoes and berries out of the State and to a cooler temperature within 24 hours after they are harvested or they will spoil on his hands. He cannot hold his potatoes for a higher price as the Canadian farmer sometimes does. Then, when the strawberries and potatoes are placed on the market here, there is a dearth of these in the South and the required supply must be secured from northern latitudes. Let Nature take its course untrammelled by legislative restrictions, and the public all over the American continent will be able to enjoy the fruits of the earth in season."

PROMISE NOT KEPT

Early Spring Was Expected, But Cold Weather Has Come Instead.

COBOURG, May 14.—Not only is the weather unpleasantly cold, but it is retarding growth to such an extent as to cause some anxiety to Northumberland County farmers. The promise of an early spring is not being fulfilled, said a farmer to-day in discussing the matter. Asked as to the condition of the crop in Hamilton Township he stated that the fall grain was patchy. It is alive and if warmer weather would come on, the growth would soon even up fairly well. Some of the early sown grain has not caught very well, but in many fields the grain is up, and with adverse weather conditions has been at a standstill for about a fortnight, as far as growth is concerned.

KEEP CHICKS FROM INFECTION.

The first problem in brooding chicks is the prevention of disease and parasites. Bacillary white diarrhea, coccidiosis, round worms, tape worms, ceca worms, gape worms, lice, and mites are all becoming more prevalent each year throughout this section. Chicks do not create these pests themselves. The infection always comes from outside sources. Keep young chicks away from contaminated places and there will be no sources. Keep young chicks away from contaminated places and there will be no opportunity for them to become infested.

HEREFORDS FROM LILLIPUTIA!

Herefords sometimes run small in size, but not so small as the two shown here. Compare their height with that of their owner, Jesse B. Hidden of San Diego. Hidden says he found the midgets in Arizona, 100 miles from any other cattle. The liliputians are pure-breds, three and four years old, respectively.

REPORT OF MAY FARM CONDITIONS

Rain Has Delayed Seeding in Eastern Ontario.

The following is a summary of reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Rain has delayed seeding in Eastern and Northern Ontario but has been otherwise very beneficial. There have been showers in the South-western section but Central Ontario has been dry. While the weather has been cool, all crops are well advanced.

Extracts from some county reports follow:

Dundas.—"The season's operations are fully three weeks ahead of previous years, and seeding is proceeding rapidly —approximately 50% of cereal grains have been sown. A marked increase is noticeable of seed oats being treated for smut. Farmers are generally more optimistic than for several years, owing to the relatively good prices of farm products. At two recent sales grade milk cows averaged $78 and $86 respectively."

Grey.—"Spraying is going ahead fast. One firm sold seven new power sprayers and another sold at least three, considerable new orchard being planted."

Hastings.—"Fall wheat and clover never looked better. There has been very little winter killing and while growth has been slow this spring the prospects are bright for a good crop. Greater interest is being taken in spraying this spring. Nearly all the larger orchards will be thoroughly sprayed.

There has been a noticeable increase in the demand for nitro-cultures this spring. Seeding has been somewhat delayed during the week with rains but the coming week will see the finish of practically all spring grains."

Kenora.—"It is seldom that live stock has come through the winter in as good a shape as they have this year. There is a keen demand for dairy cows and as high as $95 has been offered for animals that have been tested.

"This week 340 head of cattle have been tested for T. B. under the Supervised Herd Plan. Some of these have been tested the second time. Of this amount 31 reacted. One farmer losing 8 out of 10 cows and another farmer losing 7. It is interesting to note that these two farmers had their cattle tested about two years ago and lost two head each at that time. However, as no systematic cleaning up of the premises was done at that time it is supposed that the germs remained in the stables and the other animals contracted the disease in that way. These are the only two farmers that have lost over 2 head of cattle through the test. Every stable is being thoroughly disinfected and those who have reactors in their herd will be tested again in sixty days and by so doing, hope to eradicate the disease entirely from the herds of this district."

Kent.—"Spring grains in most cases are showing through the ground. On some of the clay land, however, the germination has been very uneven due to the dry spring. Recent rains, will, however, overcome this. A large percentage of the beets have been sown and an odd field of corn is planted. If the weather becomes warm, corn planting will be general next week. We would estimate that the acreage of corn will be decreased from one-quarter an one-third from that of 1924.

"The very bad wind storm has had a serious effect on the onions on the marsh land. Many acres will have to reseeded as a result of the blowing.

"We had an excellent rain on Thursday. It has not only greatly benefited the growing crops but has made it possible to work the land up in much better shape for corn and beans."

Leeds.—"Alfalfa and sweet clover are the main topics of discussion at farmers' meetings, at country stores and seed houses. Alfalfa acreage will be increased fivefold and sweet clover doubled.

"Seeding is fully two to three weeks in advance of last year. The dormant spray has already been applied on some apple orchards."

Timiskaming.—"In going about the country looking over clover fields here and there, I am pleased to report, that all clover fields seem to have wintered very well. It would seem that but a small percentage has been winter killed.

"Here and there through the district, a few farmers have considerable seeding done, although I believe it is a bit early, in view of the fact that the ground is yet cold, and very little growth is showing. Oats, wheat, and barley will all have an increased acreage this year. I expect there will be a decrease in the amount of hay produced in comparison with 1924."

Flowers for Farm Garden

PLANTING GLADIOLI.

The popularity of the gladiolus is due to two or three simple qualities which appeal forcibly to the amateur gardener. One is that the plants are not difficult to grow, though exhibition blooms are the result of real care and culture. A further appeal is found in the fact that it is general possible to save, and even increase the stock when once it is obtained. New bulbs are formed as are also bulblets, these making multiplication of the stock by no means difficult. A third and possibly still more attractive gladiolus quality is that the blooms are lasting and easily adapted to any home decoration. The capacity the flower has for taking up water enables it to open all the blooms right to the top of the spike, all that needs to be done being to take away the faded flowers as necessary.

The gladiolus will grow under almost any conditions, even drought and gravel not killing it. It is however a great distance between the product under these conditions, and that resulting from good care and attention. The plants grow vigorously being able to take up a full supply of plant food. For this reason it is well to provide all that is necessary in the way of fertilizers, and take no risks. One essential for all good gardening applies here; that is thorough cultivation, and in preparing the ground too much care is hardly possible. Well decayed stable manure should be dug in during the previous fall if possible, the digging being something more than just turning over the top few inches of soil. Twelve to eighteen inches is a decent depth to go. When this was done in the fall the ground will be in good condition to work over previous to planting. If the fall digging was not done extra care will be required before planting to see that lumps are well broken up. Much discussion has taken place as to the best commercial fertilizer to use, but it is possible that a good phosphate is as good as any. Any fertilizer that helps potatoes will probably be good for gladioli. It is quite safe to apply a good sprinkling of bone meal before planting, and this might be worked in the top few inches of soil. Some growers place it in the holes or trenches when planting. Others plant the bulbs then partly fill up the holes and at this point distribute the fertilizer. It probably does not matter so very much if it is so applied that it does not get washed away out of reach of the roots. A good sprinkling of fertilizer over the bed after planting is completed often produces good results.

This again is a debatable point. It is possible to obtain quite a succession of bloom by spreading the planting over several weeks, planting say at intervals of ten to fourteen days. This is only suggested where there are quite a quantity of bulbs available. Under favorable conditions a sound good sized bulb will bloom about ninety days after planting. It is said that if all the bulbs of various sizes of one kind are planted at the same time a regular succession will result, for the largest bulbs bloom first and the smallest last. If the soil is good and well drained, four to six inches is not too deep to plant, this again being regulated to some extent according to the size of the bulbs. Except where large quantities are grown, it is wise to place each bulb right side up. A shallow trench may be taken out, the bulbs put in place and covered afterwards, or a trowel might be used to do the actual work of planting. The ground should be kept cultivated after planting to make it easy for the young shoots to come through, but this must cease before there is danger of bruising these, as they reach the surface.

FEED BABY CHICKS WHEN TWO DAYS OLD

Keep Bran Before Them All the Time in First Week.

Take chicks from incubator in the evening when thirty-six to forty-eight hours old and give each chick two or three swallows of sour milk. The next morning provide chicks with grit (sharp sand), sour milk and water and give them their first feed.

For the first week keep bran before them at all times and for scratch feed use a mixture of fine cracked corn, cracked wheat, steel cut oats, equal parts. Feed this grain five times daily but never quite enough to satisfy except the evening feed, when they can be given all they will eat.

For the second week give the same scratch feed, feeding four times daily. For the mash keep a mixture of 2 parts bran, 1 part brown middlings, 1 part sifted ground oats, and 1 part cornmeal before them.

From the third to the eighth week use the same scratch grain fed three times daily and the same mash with the addition of one-half part beef scrap.

From the ninth week to maturity the mash mixture may be 1 part bran, 1 part brown middlings, 1 part ground oats, 1 part cornmeal, and one-half part beef scrap. For scratch grain they can be then fed cracked corn 2 parts, wheat 2 parts, and oats 1 part.

Sour milk is almost essential for first two weeks and should be provided for at least the first eight weeks. If possible to provide, then after second week increase beef scrap to one part at any time that milk is eliminated.

The foregoing system of feeding may lead to trouble with leg weakness in case the chicks are to be indoors practically all the time. In such a case it would be well to feed scratch grain lightly in morning and a full feed of it in the evening from the beginning and place the second week mash before the chicks for from five to ten minutes in the middle of the forenoon and early in the afternoon. Never use the pure bran with this system and gradually change to third week mash at the beginning of the third week.

RAISING LITTLE PIGS

A very good ration for pigs just learning to eat is the following: 65 pounds corn chop, 25 pounds shorts, and 30 pounds tankage.

Proper attention to sanitation and general cleanliness about the hog barn and yards will prevent many of the losses in young pigs from necrotic enteritis, scours, sore mouth, and parasites.

A simple mineral mixture such as one-third each by weight of salt, air slaked lime, and wood ashes will make up any probable deficiency in the mineral contents of the brood sow's ration. Protein supplement to the ration, however, is of much greater importance than the mineral mixture.

Nature's tonics for young pigs are exercise, sunshine, plenty of green succulent feed, plenty of good water, and clean surroundings. The man who will be the most successful and wean a high average number of pigs from each sow is the man who will plan to take advantage of these tonics

A good sow should be retained as long as she is useful. If she raises a litter of eight good pigs, she is valuable property. Some of her best pigs should be saved for breeding purposes. The sow which spends the entire summer raising one, two, or three pigs is a losing proposition. Find out which is to blame, the sow or the man. It pays to give the sow careful attention at farrowing time.

Prices And Sales Of Livestock Above 1924

Livestock figures for the first four months of the year show a decided gain over the same period of last year. Sales of cattle on the leading livestock exchanges totalled 229,840 against 224,873 last year. Sales of calves totalled 86,723 against 78,284, a gain of 11 per cent. Hog sales were 508,528 against 442,095, an increase of 15 per cent. The number of sheep marketed is still below last year's figure, the totals being 36,076 and 50,129.

Livestock prices are substantially better in nearly all grades this year than last, especially in the case of hogs. Top prices which were around $7 last year, are now $13.50, and in many cases the quotations are double those of last year. Current hog prices, however, tend to ease somewhat.

WATCH GROWTH OF EACH COLONY

PREVENT SWARMS

During the month of May, carefully watch the growth of each colony. Hives smaller than the ten-frame Jumbo or twelve-frame Langstroth hives are not large enough for really good queens. As soon as the bees are filling all the spaces between the frames and are over between the outer frames and hive walls, another chamber should be given without a queen excluder; this not only enlarges the brood chamber, but is an aid in the precaution of swarming. The colonies are usually ready for this manipulation just prior to the early flow from dandelion and fruit bloom. During this early flow, it may be necessary to supply an extra super for the storage of nectar; do not force the bees to store any surplus in the brood chamber, as this reduces the space available for the queen, and is likely to excite the swarming impulse. It is also advisable, at this time, to clip the wings of all mated queens, as this will help to prevent the escape of swarms later. In localities where there is little or no nectar available between first and main flows, strong colonies must be watched for starvation, especially if the period of dearth be a long one.

Do not examine colonies on cold days. Avoid keeping colony open too long for fear of chilling brood or encouraging robbing. Do not practise spreading the brood nest, as this may result in dead brood. Only examine colonies when there is some definite manipulation to perform.

DRAWS ELECTRICITY FROM SUN AND AIR

French Peasant Invents New Method of Speeding the Growth of Crops.

An amazing new method of farming, in which the magnetism of the earth, the electricity of the air, and electricity from the heat of the sun are used to speed the growth of plants, was disclosed recently during a police investigation of the strange disappearance of a man in Brittany, France.

A police magistrate working on the case received an odd letter from a peasant in the little Norman hamlet of La-Queue-les-Yvelines, saying that the missing man had been murdered and his body buried on the farm of Justin Christofloreau, whom the writer described as a "servant of Satan." Following the clue, the magistrate visited Christofloreau's farm.

There he found no body, nor any evidence that a crime had been committed, but he found that Christofloreau was what his superstitious neighbors had declared him to be—a wizard. His wizardry, however, was not of the malignant kind, but entirely practical and based on scientific principles. For this obscure French peasant, employing strange, home-made instruments, had developed a new process of agriculture.

The apparatus devised by Christofloreau, as described in the June Popular Science Monthly, consists of a number of 25-foot wooden poles sunk in the ground. On top of each pole is a metal pointer directed to the south to take all possible advantage of terrestrial magnetic currents. Each pole has an antenna to gather atmospheric electricity. There is also a metal cylinder of copper and zinc strips soldered together, which is said to convert the heat of the sun into electric current through the thermo-couple principle.

All of the electromagnetic energy collected and generated by the apparatus from the sun, the air, and the earth, is led into the ground by galvanized-iron wires, which extend down the poles, and wires from the pole pass through the ground for about 1,000 yards.

By the use of electricity in this manner, Christofloreau is said to have accelerated the growth of normal plants, rejuvenated barren trees, and grown crops such as never before have been seen in this vicinity. The introduction of electricity, he claims, destroys harmful parasites, and at the same time fertilizes the earth by promoting beneficial chemical processes.

RAISING ORPHAN LAMBS.

Orphan lambs are at best a nuisance, but when it is desired to raise them by hand, they should be fed straight cow's milk, two ounces at a feed, five or six times a day for the first week. After the first week, feeding may be in greater amounts and less frequent. Avoid over-feeding milk at the start and get the animals to eating grain and alfalfa as quickly as possible.

CHEESE MAKING THE MAINSTAY OF WARKWORTH

Leading Industry of the District Has Made Dairy Farming Pay.

FIRST CLASS CHEESE.

WARKWORTH, May 14. — The cheese factory here, Warkworth's leading industry, has been in operation for some time but is not yet running at more than half its capacity as all the patrons do not begin to bring in milk until later in the season.

As an evidence of the large business carried on by this factory, it is given out that even at this early date 20,000 pounds of milk were delivered here on Monday last and the output of cheese on that date was 19 boxes, averaging 90 pounds each. The factory has made two deliveries this season, selling independently to a firm in Montreal subject to the price on the Belleville board. The price received for both shipments was 17 1-8 cents, three cents higher than the opening figures last year.

M. V. Drewry is owner of the factory, president of the company, and maker of the cheese. He has been connected with the enterprise for the past 37 years, 21 years in his present position. The cheese sent out by the Warkworth factory has always enjoyed a high reputation in the Canadian and British markets, due to the careful administration of Mr. Drewry. Last year every shipment send out was graded 100 per cent. by the inspection at Belleville until just at the close of the season when some of the patrons began feeding the tops of Swede turnips to their cows. Cheese made from the milk of the cows when shipped were plainly marked "turnipy." Turnips can be fed if used carefully without tainting the milk but feeding the tops always appears to cause trouble.

The Warkworth factory is a bonanza for the dairy farmers of this district. It has paid off the mortgage on many a farm and enabled many a patron to spend the closing years of his life in comfortable retirement.

Home Canning

Studies made in connection with the canning of certain fruits and vegetables show that it takes much longer than was formerly supposed for heat to penetrate a jar or a can, and for the material at the center to reach the temperature of the canner.

"Hot pack" canning is, therefore, recommended in order to decrease the time for heating the entire contents of the jar or the can to the temperature of the canner. This means cooking the fruits and vegetables for a short time, then filling the partly-cooked material into the jars as hot as possible. This precooking also shrinks the products, and no food value is lost if the hot liquor that has cooked out is used, instead of hot water.

Both Processing Periods Are Given.

It is possible to pack directly into the jars or cans such fruits as apples, peaches, apricots, cherries, gooseberries, and plums, and also tomatoes. Even in this case the jars or cans should be filled up with hot syrup or juice. The processing period for these materials when cold packed is 20 minutes, whereas when packed hot they can be processed in five minutes.

The time periods in the new tables are based on the use of quart glass jars. The housekeeper is also told how to adapt the processing time to pint glass jars and tin cans. The method of treatment before processing is stated in every case. When the material can be packed either hot or cold, both processing periods are given.

The Canning Budget.

The "canning budget" is stressed by food experts who have estimated the amount of canned food necessary to feed a family of five for six months. A quart of canned vegetables a day is suggested. This means that 154 quarts are required from November 1 to April 1. Variety can be obtained by the following division: Tomatoes (served twice a week), 44 quarts; string beans (once a week), 22 quarts; vegetable soup or mixture (twice a week), 44 quarts; corn or peas (once a week), 22 quarts; and greens (once a week), 22 quarts.

Canning Compounds Dangerous.

Preserving powders or canning compounds used to insure the keeping of fruits and vegetables may be harmful to health. Canning compounds usually contain salicylic acid or boric acid, although sold under different trade names and sometimes at a price much above their real value. While salicylic acid is a medicine useful in certain diseases, it is also known to be a poisonous substance and its excessive use in canned foods may lead to serious disturbance of the health. Boric acid is recognized under the pure food law as harmful to health, and while it possesses some antiseptic power, it is not safe to depend upon it alone to prevent or check the growth of harmful bacteria in foods. The safest method is to prepare fruits and vegetables in a cleanly manner and to sterilize them properly according to the instructions in the circulars.

WIND-PUFFS ON HORSE'

Wind-puffs on the legs of driving horses are not particularly serious except that they are a blemish. No severe treatment should be given, such as cutting open the enlargement, or blistering very severely. An application of equal parts of tincture of iodin and spirits of camphor can be used and will furnish plenty of blistering action. Bandages are also used by horsemen after the horses come in from the road.

Mother: "Why, Willie?"

Willie: "Well, he said I could have it to start a herd."

CINCINNATI SCORELESS AGAINST NEHF WHO YIELDED BUT ONE HIT, GIANTS EXTENDING THEIR LEAD

George Kelly Accounted for Two of New York's Three Runs.

BRAVES HALTED

Brooklyn Win From St. Louis With Seven Runs in Seventh Frame.

NEW YORK, May 13—Art Nehf shut out the Cincinnati Reds with one hit today, the Giants winning the opening game of the series by 3 to 0. Nehf also distinguished himself with five assists. George Kelly led the scoring for the Giants with a triple and a double which netted two runs. Score:

Cincinnati .. ....000 000 000—0 1 1

Brooklyn 9; St. Louis 8

BROOKLYN, May 13 — Eddie Brown's home run with the bases filled in the seventh inning proved to be the blow that gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 9 to 8 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals here today. The Dodgers went into the seventh inning trailing the Cards by five runs, three of which were made up before Brown's circuit drive. Score:

Brooklyn .. ....000 020 70x—9 10 0

Phillies 6; Chicago 5

PHILADELPHIA, May 13—Philadelphia came from behind in the eighth inning today and by scoring two runs defeated the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 5, and gave them their sixth straight loss.

Hartnett's ninth home run of the season and circuit blows by Griffith and Friberg, the former pair in the sixth inning, gave the visitors a margin of one run until the flare-up in the eighth, that drove Keen to the showers. Score:

Chicago .. .. ..000 202 010—5 13 3
Philadelphia ...201 010 02x—6 13 0

Keen, Bush and Hartnett; Carlson and Wilson.

Pittsburgh 5; Boston 4

BOSTON, May 13 — Pittsburgh today halted Boston's winning streak, which had reached five games, by taking the first game of the series here 5 to 4. Singles by Cuyler and Traynor in the seventh were big factors in what proved the winning runs. The Braves did not have a man left on base. Score:

Pittsburgh .. ..200 002 100—5 13 2
Boston .. ..000 400 000—4 5 2

Yde, Kramer and E. Smith; Genewich, Graham and O'Neil, Gibson.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

Throwing the clubhead back with the left arm gets back to the trouble I have so often mentioned of breaking the clubhead back with the wrists. This wrist action in the back swing gets the clubhead back so quickly that the feel of it is lost to the fingers and it is therefore hard to arrest it properly at the top of the back swing. Thus the control of the club is lost, and a complete control is one of the fundamentals of the correct swing. Breaking the club back with wrist action is usually the cause of it going far beyond the horizontal, too, because a little wrist action in the back swing has a great effect on the clubhead. It is better to keep all wrist action out and simply let the clubhead turn the wrists at the top. However, keep the wrists free from rigidity going back.

CAUGHT ON THE FLY

A fast practice game was played at the Exhibition Grounds on Tuesday between the Lock Works Mercantile League team and the C.G.E. Junior City League team. The Lock Works pushed across three runs near the end of the game to win 3-2. Guerin and Rogers formed the battery for the Lockmakers, while Hardill and Collins worked for the Electricians.

A meeting of the East Peterboro Baseball League, will be held shortly to draw up the schedule. It is probable that two sections will be operated: a rural section of four teams, Curve Lake, Lakefield, Keene and Zion, and a city section for which a number of teams are available.

The Lakefield Juniors had a good work out on Tuesday. There were enough players out to line up two good teams who played a six-inning game with a score it 2-1. Wood and Halliday, and Donnelly and Delahaye were the opposing batteries. Manager LeBarr has his squad pretty well cut down now but is doubtful yet as to who will fill a few of the infield positions.

All the baseball fields in the city, both at the school grounds and in the parks, are resounding these nights with the sound of young men and boys engaged in healthy play. Seniors, intermediates, juniors, juveniles, midgets and bantams in the O.B.A.A. series, school boys in their league and mercantilers and other leagues, all help to keep the diamonds occupied.

A meeting of the city league executive is slated for the beginning of next week, when schedules and grounds will be discussed.

OSHAWA GIRLS TEAM HONORED

RECEIVED TOKENS.

OSHAWA, May 13 (Special)—The Oshawa Girls' Basketball team, which won the intermediate championship of the Ontario Ladies' Basketball Association was tendered a complimentary banquet by the Board of Directors of the Y.M.C.A. last evening when presentations of individual tokens and a beautiful silver trophy was the honor bestowed on the members of the team: Misses Vivian Fulton, Doris Kennedy, Jean Hall, Marion Germond, Mary Bowers, Marion Fisk, Agnes Alger, Helen Ford, Marion Mason, and Capt. Kathleen McLaughlin and Coach J. E. McCutcheon. Mayor H. P. Schell on behalf of the city council presented coat sweaters; Past President W. E. Clarke, of the Amateur Athletic Association, suitably engraved rings; the Y.M.C.A. through Secretary H. L. Bloomfield, specially designed crests; the Ladies' Ontario Basketball Association official medals; Geo. W. McLaughlin, a beautiful silver trophy; the Oshawa Board of Trade vanity cases through President A. E. Lovell and bouquet of roses by Oshawa Rotary Club through Roy Kirby. Miss Marion Fisk, Miss Kathleen McLaughlin and Coach J. E. McCutcheon replied on behalf of the champions.

The champion team announced that they were going to enter the Oshawa Ladies' Softball Association as a team under the nom de plume of "Pirates."

CIRCUIT CLOUT CLEARED BASES IN LEAFS' GAME

Roberts Generous With Eight Passes—One Innings Netted Seven Runs.

BIRDS HIT HOMERS

Syracuse Opened Up Big Lead, But Baltimore Batters Pulled It Down.

TORONTO, May 13.—The Leafs staged another sixth inning rally today and scored seven runs to defeat Jersey City by 7 to 4. Going into the sixth the Skeeters were leading by 3 to 0. Roberts walked eight men and Joe Kelly was passed four times in succession. A homer by Gehringer cleared the loaded bases in the sixth, while Jacobson homered in the first inning to drive in Gaudette ahead of him. The score:

Jersey City.... ....201000010— 4 8 2
Toronto.... ....00000700x— 7 6 3

Roberts, Clary and Freitag; Thomas and Manion.

Baltimore, 5; Syracuse, 4.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., May 13.—Connolly, Sheedy and Cobb drove out home runs for Baltimore here to-day after Syracuse had got off to a four run lead in the third inning and the Orioles won their third straight from the Stars 5 to 4.

Baltimore tied the score in the sixth, and Cobb dashed in with the winning run when Roettger muffed Maisel's high fly in the seventh with two down. Score:

Baltimore .. ..000613100— 5 8 0
Syracuse.. ....004000000— 4 9 3

Rochester, 9; Newark, 4.

ROCHESTER, May 13.—Rochester staked a ninth inning rally to score five runs on six hits and defeat Newark here today by 9 to 8. Ellis, after one bad first inning, pitched brilliantly, until the ninth when he was knocked out in favor of Brown. Brown pitched to two batters and both hit safely, the first scoring the winning run. Score:

Rochester ....300000105— 9 13 2

Ellis, Brown and Styles; Moore and Head.

Buffalo, 7; Reading, 1.

BUFFALO, May 13.—Joe Maley chalked up another victory for himself and the Bisons today, beating Reading by 7 to 1. Camu's home run drive over the left wall saving the Keystones a dip into the kalsomine. Maley was hit but five times. Kelly, Hill and Kingdon walloped out four baggers, that of Kelly being probably the longest ever seen on the home lot. Manager Abbott tried four mixers, Smallwood showing up best of the quartet. Buffalo's ten hits were clean ones—not a fluke in the bunch. The score:

Buffalo.... ....32101000x— 7 10 0

Roberts, Mattison, Hyman, Smallwood and Seasholtz; Maley and Hill.

SISLER MARKED UP 50TH HIT AS SENATORS WIN

YANKS SHUT OUT

Only Three Hits Off Robertson of White Sox—Tygers Beaten.

ST. LOUIS, May 13—Mogridge was in form and the Washington Senators defeated the St. Louis Browns today, 8 to 1, in the second game of the series. George Sisler, Brown playing manager, singled in the ninth for his fiftieth hit of the season and thus brought to 28 his string of consecutive hitting games. Score:

Washington ....200 001 041—8 12 1
St. Louis .....000 000 010—1 6 1

Mogridge and Ruel; Gaston, Grant, Stauffer and Severeid.

Athletics 3; Detroit 1

DETROIT, May 13—Detroit garnered but three hits today off the offerings of Baumgartner, Groves and Harriss and the Philadelphia Athletics won by a score of 3 to 1. Baumgartner was removed from the batting order in favor of a pinch hitter in the seventh inning, Groves taking the mound, to be relieved in the eighth by Harriss, who held the Tigers without a hit for the rest of the game. Score:

Philadelphia .. ..000 011 010—3 7 1
Detroit. .. .. ..000 001 000—1 3 3

Chicago 4; New York 0

CHICAGO, May 13—Charley Robertson let New York down with three hits while Chicago hit opportunely behind Hoyt's wildness and shutout the Yankees, 4 to 0. Score:

Chicago .. .. ..110 002 00x—4 6 1

Hoyt, Ferguson and Schang; Robertson and Schalk.

Cleveland 6; Boston 4

CLEVELAND, May 13—The Indians drove Ray Francis, recently obtained by Boston from New York from the box in the first inning here this afternoon, scoring five runs which helped them to defeat the Red Sox, 6 to 4.

Uhle pitched well in the pinches except in the eighth, when he walked two batters and hit another. Boone and Speaker made home runs, Speaker's coming with a man on base in the first inning. Score:

Boston .. ..010 110 010—4 12 0
Cleveland .. ...310 000 00x—6 10 0

REPORT ON THE ELIGIBILITY OF JACK OUELLET

Will Be Heard By the O. B. A. A. Executive in Toronto on Friday.

CIRCUIT DOINGS.

Other Teams Take Leaf From Petes in Developing Players.

(Special to The Examiner)

OSHAWA, May 14—On Friday evening of this week the committee named for the passing of certificates by the Central Ontario Amateur Baseball League composed of Past Presidents A. C. Kummel of Peterboro; E. Parsons of Oshawa; M. P. Duff of Belleville; President C. M. Anderson, Oshawa, and Secretary-Treasurer Newton Thompson, Belleville, convenes in Oshawa to scrutinize the O.B.A.A. certificates handed in from the four cities of the circuit, Peterboro, Kingston, Belleville and Oshawa.

The executive members of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association has been called to meet in the Carls-Rite Hotel, Toronto, on Friday evening of this week to pass on all business which has accumulated to date and Secretary A. J. Walsh writes "there is a lot of it."

A report on the eligibility of pitcher Jack Oulette o Belleville has been asked for by the O.B.A.A. Executive and same will be heard at Toronto on Friday evening. Also the eligibility of Andy Somerville of Orono as to his qualifying in Oshawa for the coming summer.

The Durham and Ontario League representatives from Cobourg, Port Hope, Orono and Oshawa will meet in the latter place on Saturday afternoon for the purpose of scrutinizing certificates of both the intermediate and junior series and the appointments of umpires as made by President of the League.

Cliff Harcourt and Henry Gordon of Cobourg; J. C. Rowden and J. Henderson of Port Hope and Roy Morphy and Art Legge of Oshawa are the umps chosen to handle the games of both series of the Durham and Ontario League.

The visiting teams of the Central Ontario senior league will be properly housed at Alexandra Park this year. Today witnessed the completion of new covered players' benches for the home as well as visiting teams. This is the first forward step of the new manager, Al Reeves.

All players signed by Oshawa have been ordered to be at Alexandra Park, Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from now up to opening of the Central Ontario season, after which Manager Reeves has reserved Tuesday and Friday evenings for workouts.

President C. M. Anderson of the Central Ontario League was seen out driving with the issuer of Oshawa motor licenses on Monday of this week. "Chick" has his credentials to guide his new bus down to the opening game Belleville at Peterboro on Saturday, May 23rd. Speed cops beware!

"Hap" Harrison on a recent visit to Oshawa handed out "look out for Shiner Johnson and his Peterboro crew." "Hap" and "optimism" always travel together; he always has a quart left in the gas tank of his bus when entering any city of the Central League circuit.

Oshawa ball fans are looking forward to the first appearance of Alec Kayson Victoria Day, May 25th, as one of the arbitrators in the Kingston-Oshawa opening. It is seven years ago this summer that Alec issued "one more word from you two and you'll both go to the showers." Jake Solomon, manager of the Peterboro crew and Walter Shultz, the Oshawa first sacker, were the two offending uniformed players.

Peterboro with its amalgamation of senior, intermediate and junior players hit the right trail for the advancement of baseball in Central Ontario League and the three other teams are more or less falling in line.

Belleville sport writers are expecting wonders from "Lefty" Jeffrey, the youngster who stood Oshawa off for eight innings at Alexandra Park here a couple of seasons ago. He is likely to get regular assignments during the coming season.

With the portsiders Whitehouse of Peterboro and Jeffrey of Belleville both doing the flinging in the opening at Peterboro, graduates from junior teams, it should make an afternoon's sport worth while seeing.

"Teddy" Gallagher of Kingston and "Duke" Dainty of Oshawa are likely to be called on for mound duty at the opening in the motor city, Monday, May 25th. Gallagher has always been a favorite with Oshawa fans since 1917 when he worked with Adam Dale in the town league.

J. J. Solomon will be a missing link in the enjoyment of Central Ontario League baseball fans during the coming summer. Many cash customers attended ball games to see the Peterboro Irishman do his stunts on the coaching lines.

Central Ontario League Notes

Dr. Fred Rutherford of Peterborough is being groomed for second base on the Belleville team this year and from Quinte reports is making good. Ed. Dugan and "Toots" Ward are with Oshawa, so Peterborough is well represented around the circuit.

A bleacher stand is to be installed at the Fair Grounds, Kingston, for the benefit of the Ponies' fans. And oh what a panning the Petes will get from those same bleachers when the season gets under way!

The Petes have had two good practices this week and should be in fairly satisfactory condition when the barrier is raised at Kingston next Wednesday.

Cairns, the left-handed pitcher on the Kingston staff, was in Peterborough for some time several years ago and did some mound work for the Bankers in the Mercantile League.

Max Swanston, in point of service with the Petes, is the veteran of the Central Ontario League team, having been with the Petes since the League opened. Hap Harrison has been a member of the local crew since 1920, when the Petes captured the League honors.

The Central League situation this year is different in many respects to other years. Previously every club in the circuit knew just about what the other clubs had or just about the comparative strength and knew what to expect. This year, however, all clubs are making a few odd experiments and just how these experiments will work out remains to be seen. Some doubt has been expressed locally as to whether the brand of ball will be up to the standard set in former seasons. As far as Oshawa is concerned it will be and there is now doubt but that Peterboro, Kingston and Belleville will be in the race from start to finish. At the present stage all teams look to be evenly balanced and the opening games will give the fans a line on the various line-ups.—Oshawa Reformer.

The Oshawa C.O.B.L. pitching staff will not be unlike that of Dan Howley of the Leafs. Manager Reeves has a whole string of twirlers available this season, including Dainty, Jimmy Breckenbridge, Lennox, Somerville, with one or two others who have substituted in the pinches in previous years. The strength in this department ought to carry the Motor City crew a long way in the race—Oshawa Reformer.

Ward handled the danger corner for the Centrals in Saturday's exhibition fracas between the Centrals and Harold Luke's Mets which the senior squad tucked away to the tune of 9 to 2. Manager Reeves would like to convert this lad into a regular third sacker, there being none of the former third basemen available. The infield was composed of Ward, Morrison at short, Rowden at second and Dineen at first. As the opening of the season draws near it would seem there will not be many changes in the line-up from last year. The outfielders will probably be intact with a couple of changes in the inner circle.—Oshawa Reformer.

SCULLING TRYOUTS.

First Race For Philadelphia Gold Challenge Cup to be Held May 19.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13 (Canadian Press).—The opportunity to enter the preliminary elimination race for the Philadelphia gold challenge cup tryouts will be given all senior scullers who won the championship contests last year. The gold cup committee has decided to hold two races here instead of one, in order to test the ability of all scullers.

The first race will be held on the Schuylkill River on May 19, and the winner of this contest will be entered in the final tryouts to pick the American representative on the same course on May 22.

SEVEN RUNS IN FIFTH INNINGS

Timely Rally Won School League Game For King Edward Boys.

SCORE WAS 8-6.

A fifth inning rally which scored seven runs won the game for the King Edward school last night when they beat Prince of Wales boys 8-6 in a scheduled school league game at King Edward school grounds. A barrage of hits, including a home run by Kearns, coupled with some errors on the part of the visiting team, was responsible for the victory. At the time the score was 5-1 for the visitors, Cotton contributed a home run to the Prince of Wales total. Alex. Kay was the umpire and gave satisfaction to all. The teams:

A GLOOMY OUTLOOK FOR BRITISH TRADE

Sir Robert Horne Says Position Worse Than It Was Six Months Ago.

LONDON, May 14.—A gloomy view of Britain's trade outlook was expressed by Sir Robert Horne at a recent dinner of the British Overseas Banks Association. He said he had just come back from a journey abroad, which had taken some months, and he was of the opinion "that we are in a worse position today than we were six months ago, and that was bad enough. If we look at the staple trades of the country we cannot help having a feeling of anxiety and apprehension as to the future."

Sir Robert referred to the state of the shipbuilding, coal, heavy steel, woollen and cotton trades, and said it was his deliberate belief that every section of society had to combine to find some solution of the problem, otherwise there was no hope for the country.

A LINE-O-TYPE.

Just as we are getting used to reading about automobile crashes and smashes, along comes a horse to do more personal damage than all the car collisions, mishaps, mistakes and wrecks of this spring. Most of us were getting so contemptuous of old Dobbin that we would walk right under his head while trying to escape a rattling car. Yet the greatest damage a car has done in Peterborough this year—outside of the occasional one that has ruined its own beauty—is break two ribs. And a horse yesterday presented his mistress with a compound fracture of two bones. And right in the city too!

Horse Sense

Here we are talking about the motor-mad age and the traffic problem, and new speed laws and whatnot, disregarding the old grey nag compeltely, and a long whizzing punch from nowhere in particular drops us for the clammy clout. You never can tell, can you?

Still; better watch these plaguey cars too.

And taking about progress, do do you remember when the bandsmen used to carry torches on their hats so they could see the music?

SENATE VACANCIES.

Members Wondering Why Seven Seats Remain Vacant.

OTTAWA May 14. — The possibility that the proposed interprovincial conference on senate reform might result in a reduction in the membership of the Senate was suggested in the Upper Chambe as a reason for the delay in filling the seven vacant seats in the Senate.

Answering a query from Senator Sir James Longheed, the Opposition leader said that his impression was that the government had not filled the vacancies because it was awaiting the outcome of the proposed provincial convention on the Senate.

General laughter greeted his suggestion that the personnel of the Senate might be reduced in number after the conference.

Senator Laugheed added that perhaps the approaching general election might have something to do with the delay.

BOY FATALLY SHOT.

Succumbs to Accidental Wounding While Hunting Gophers.

WINNIPEG, May 14. — The death of one boy, and the injury of another as the result of gopher hunting expeditions was reported yesterday. Teddy Malmquist, 15, of Elm Creek, Man., who received a bullet in his spine when a companion's gun accidentally discharged a month ago, died in hospital here Wednesday, and a report from Adville, Sask., told of the wounding of Emery Swedberg. The condition of Swedberg is not serious.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 14.—Arrangements have been completed to provide land for 300 British families coming to Canada under the Empire Settlement Act.

THEATRES

TOM MIX AND TONY CLEVERLY OUTWIT GUNMEN IN NEW FILM.

Whether in a seventeenth century costume or in his favorite cowboy garb, Tom Mix is always original in his exploits. Aided by Tony, his wonder horse, Mix outwits his foes and escapes by a clever ruse in his latest William Fox starring vehicle, based on Zane Grey's "Riders of the Purple Sage."

Mix enjoyed performing the thrilling feats of Dick Turpin in merrie England, but there were many incidents in the course of producing "Riders of the Purple Sage" to indicate he was happy to be back in a western setting. He is always planning deeds of new daring.

One of his most brilliant feats in "Riders of the Purple Sage" is his escape when ambushed by hired assassins of his arch enemy, an unscrupulous cattleman. At the first volley, Mix tumbles from the saddle as if wounded, taking with him one end of his lariat. The other end is knotted to the pummel of his saddle.

When he has tied the loose end of the lariat to a big sage bush, he signals Tony to proceed. Crouched on his improvised sage bush sledge, Mix is shielded from view of the gunmen by the intervening brush. By the time they have reached the spot where Mix tumbled from his horse, he has been drawn to safety by the faithful Tony. He mounts and gallops away.

Mix had been studying the problem of how to escape from ambush. The idea of the sage bush sledge came to him spontaneously while making the scene. There are many other incidents of great daring in "Riders of the Purple Sage," which will be shown at the Regent Theatre for three days, beginning to-day.

AT THE ROYAL

FIRE THRILLER AT ROYAL, "FIGHTING THE FLAMES."

For thrills and action in motion pictures it will be hard to beat the recent release of the Columbia Pictures Corporation. It is, as its names implies, a fire picture, only instead of having the fire as the big kick in the last reel this picture has several fires.

Engines dash down the street. At the last fire there is a most difficult rescue scene accomplished in which the hero has to lift the girl up to a roof when there is no other place to go. The rescue is accomplished on a scaling ladder. Anyone who has ever tried to climb anywhere on these portable broomsticks with rungs on the sides knows what a difficult task this must be.

William Haines plays the lead and a very active part it is. Dorothy Devore is the heroine and a good look at her makes one sure that the rescue is well worth the trouble. Haines and Miss Devore have played together before in a picture by the same producers. They were together in the film version of Cosmo Hamilton's "Who Cares."

Supporting the two leads are Duran Torrence, the brother of the noted screen villain and a very excellent actor in his own right. Sheldon Lewis is the villain in the play and anyone who has seen him knows what a villainous man he can be. Charlie Murray and William Welsh are also among this very excellent cast.

The great hit of the picture is made by Frankie Darrow, who is sometimes known as the young Barrymore of the screen. He plays a very big part and is taking audiences by storm all over. It is predicted that a big place will be found for this little boy in the near future.

The picture itself was most excellently directed by Reeves Eason, who has a reputation among producers as being one of the most capable action directors in the industry.

AMATEUR NIGHT AT THE ROYAL TONIGHT

For tonight at the Royal we have been promised an all new selection of amateurs. Following is the list of entries secured early in the week. More may be on hand for tonight.

Ilisabeth Harrison, "Me and My Boy Friend"; Billy Gaskin, violin solo; Rachael Walker, recitation, "Meddlesome Matty"; Nelly Bobbs, Sally; William McIntyre, step dancing; 3 girls, the two Miss Bradleys and Miss Logan, Spanish dance.

Mr. Harris will sing two songs, "Hello Audience," which he wrote himself, and the new dance hit "Oh, Kathrina."

AT THE CAPITOL

"CHARLEY'S AUNT" UNIVERSAL FARCE.

Screen Version of Riotous Hit Has Syd Chaplin in Title Role.

The screen version of the internationally famous farce "Charley's Aunt," by Brandon Thomas, will be the feature attraction at the Capitol Theatre to-day. Syd Chaplin has the title role and the supporting cast is composed of players of wide repute.

As a stage play "Charley's Aunt" has already grossed over three million dollars and holds the money-making record for the stage. It has been produced in every civilized country in the world which, in addition to giving it an international reputation has established it as a play with the basic qualities of farce comedy that can be appreciated and understood in any language.

"Charley's Aunt" was first produced at Bury St. Edmunds in Suffolk in 1892 with W. S. Penley starring, and was then brought to London, playing first at the Royalty Theatre and then at the Globe where it ran continuously for four years a total of 1,466 performances. The fame of "Charley's Aunt" spread far and wide and seven touring companies started out through the provinces. Several companies are still touring with it in England, and each year it is put on in London where it is one of the "draws" of the holiday season.

Some of the great stage stars who have played in "Charley's Aunt" were the original W. S. Penley, who is said to have made a million and a half dollars out of it; Lyn Harding, Brandon Thomas, Miss Nina Boucicault, Julian Royce, Reeves Smith and A. E. Matthews. It was first played in America by Girardot.

The Christies gave this picture an especially elaborate production, and it is said to be the funnest feature that the screen has offered this season.

TALKING WITH THE DEAD

There has been so much discussion of recent years in the subject whether or not it is possible to talk with the dead, growing largely out of the writings of Sir Oliver Lodge and Dr. Conan Doyle, that a large audience is expected tonight in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church to hear this subject discussed by Rev. Wm. Allan, of New York. Not long since while addressing a series of meetings in different churches in Glasgow, Scotland, because of the interest taken in the subject in that city Mr. Allan was asked by ministers to repeat this adress eight times in the course of six weeks. The Bible has a good dea to say on the subject and Mr. Allan discusses it from the standpoint of the Scriptures.

A Concert and Dance will be held in the G.W.V.A. Hall on Friday, May 15th, under the auspices of the Female Voice Choir, the proceeds in aid of the G.W.V.A. A good orchestra has been provided. Admission 25 cents.

Edward Herron will appear on Tuesday to answer a charge of selling maskinonge. The summons was served by Provincial Constable N. F. Maker on instructions from Game Inspector R. W. Carson.

It is rumoured that the Canadian General Electric Company is contemplating taking a vote in its factory to determine whether the employees would be willing to commence work at six o'clock in the morning, and cease at four o'clock, instead of the present schedule of hours from seven to five. This is possibly an aftermath of the daylight saving agitation.

The fire department was called at 12.25 today to 525 Romaine street, where a spark from a chimney fire had ignited the roof. Considerable damage was done to the roof, amounting in all to about $150.00.

ALARM CAUSED BY THE GROWTH OF COMMUNISM

CONFERENCE IN MAY.

Great Growth Seen, Especially in Wales and North England.

LONDON, May 14 (Canadian Press)—Alarm over the growth of Communism in Great Britain, which has been voiced recently, seems to have invaded the British Cabinet, and now it is understood, the advisability of refusing all foreign Communists permission to enter the country for the annual conference of British Communists at Glasgow on May 31, is being considered.

The Cabinet's reported attitude is regarded more or less as an admission of the Government's anxiety over the rapid growth of the Communist element since the barriers to its members entering this country were removed by the late Labor government.

Investigations are understood to have revealed that several hundred foreign Communists entered England during the last year and that they have worked since that time distributing propaganda and conducting meetings throughout the country. Their activities have been especially centred in the mining districts of Wales and the industrial regions of North England and Scotland.

D. B. DENISON.

D. B. Denison passed away at Coldwater. The deceased is well known to some of the older residents of Peterboro, since he used to run the National Hotel, where the Empress Hotel now stands.

The remains will come to Peterboro, arriving by Canadian National at noon on Saturday, and will proceed direct to the Little Lake cemetery.

ROBERT HANBIDGE
(Contributed.)

There passed peacefully away at his home in Otonabee, on Sunday morning, May 3rd, Robert Hanbidge, in his 86th year. His death was not unexpected, he having been in failing health for the past two years.

He was the eldest son of the late William Hanbidge, and was born in the Township of Dummer in the year 1840. The family moved to Otonabee in 1858, where he resided until his death.

Two sisters survive him, Mrs. Samuel Deyell, Peterborough, and Mrs. William Armstrong, Ravenna, Ont., one brother, William John, predeceased him on Jan 2 of this year. His wife, Mary Jane Deyell, passed away suddenly five months ago.

The late Mr. Hanbidge was a shrewd progressive farmer, enduring the hardships of earlier life, and by thrift and economy made a success of his calling, and in his neighborhood was recognized a man of honor and influence.

He took an active part in all public questions, was ever an ardent supporter of the temperance cause. Shortly after coming to Otonabee he united with the Bible Christian Church —afterwards the Methodist. Endowed by nature with grace and talent, he became an active worker, and in an official capacity was a pillar of the church in his neighborhood. The purity of his motives, the loftiness of his purpose, and the ardent zeal of his service made his life a benediction to those about him.

The funeral was held on Tuesday, May 5, from his late residence to the May 5, from his late residence to the Little Lake Cemetery. A beautiful service was conducted by his pastor, Rev. R. Bamforth, Mark Street Church, assisted by Rev. B. Gratton, Peterborough.

Many friends and neighbors were present to pay their last tribute to the one they so well knew and respected.

Servant of God, well done!
Thy glorious warefare's past;
The battle's fought, the race is won,
And thou art crowned at last.

BOOTHS TAKEN FOR BIG FAIR

Only a Few Spaces Left and Still Two Weeks to Go.

OPEN JUNE 1.

There is but little more than two weeks before the Made-in-Peterboro Fair throws its doors open to the public. The manufacturers are planning to have all the booths ready on the Saturday night before the Fair, so that when the doors are thrown open Monday everything will be in readiness. There are going to be some vain regrets expressed by those who later find that they want booths and are unable to secure them. At the present writing there are only two or three booths at the most left. We give below a list of names to be added to those already published as among the exhibitors of the Fair:

The Imperial Oil Co.
The Otonabee Mills.
Lavoie Knitting Co.
Insurance Companies.
Richard Hall & Son.
J. A. McNabb Co., Ltd.
Grant & Thorpe.
Peterboro Business College.
Associated Churches.
Bond's Drug Store.
Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. (combined booth).

It is certain that every foot of space available for exhibits will be occupied, and those who put off engaging space until the last moment are going to be disappointed. The Armories is going to be crowded with both exhibits and spectators as it has never been before. The Fair, running for an entire week with a good attendance every afternoon and evening, will enable the Health Association to carry on its work which is doing so much good for the city of Peterboro. The summer camp at Jackson Park is now one of Peterboro's regular institutions; something that the children look forward to each season. Over two hundred and fifty little ones spend happy weeks there each summer, and among them is little Lily Storey, of East City, although she is not the Lily referred to the early part of the week. For two seasons she has enjoyed being at the camp and has been benefited thereby. The children there are under the supervision of a trained nurse, and the best of care is taken of them. The money that you spend for a good time at the Fair is devoted to helping this work at Jackson Park.

G. N. GORDON ARGUES CASE

SUPREME COURT.

OTTAWA, May 14 (Special to Examiner) — Before the Supreme Court of Canada this morning, G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., of Peterborough, argued the case for the appellant, W. W. Armstrong, of Regina, for recision of an agreement for purchase of a section of land from the Mutual Life Assurance Company. Mr. Gordon claimed there was a breach of warranty and that the majority of the Court of Appeal of Saskatchewan was in error in not accepting the trial judges' finding of fact.

Mr. C. E. Gregory, K.C., of Regina, defended the judgment now standing and argued that it was not a case of a finding of fact.

Chief Justice Anglin announced for the Court that it would reserve judgment and give its decision later.

Another chapter has been written and a question that has vexed the councils, first of the town and then of the city of Peterborough for the last twenty-five years is well on its way to disposal now. Last night a start was made on the last portion of the work of taking the sewage of the city from the Otonabee, when the Board of Works passed on the tenders for the construction of a sewage disposal plant and made their recommendations as to which should be accepted. These recommendations will be considered by the council at a special meeting at the beginning of next week.

For years the farmers of the two Monaghans and Otonabee sent deputations to the city council asking for relief from the pollution of the river. After many fruitless visits, an order was obtained from the Provincial Board of Health for the construction of the plant but the fulfilling of this order was held up because of a disagreement between the engineers of the board and the city as to what system should be used. The system decided on finally was the activated sludge type as advocated by the board.

When the board finally succeeded in getting their own way about the system they lost a lot of time after the plans and specifications were prepared before they approved of them. Finally they approved the plans and tenders were called for which were passed on last night. On Monday or Tuesday of next week a further chapter will be written when the council passes the by-

SIR FRANCIS BELL IS CHOSEN PREMIER

Succeeds Late Hon. W. F. Massey in New Zealand.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, May 15, (Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's.) — Sir Francis Henry Dillon Bell, Attorney General of New Zealand, was last evening chosen as Premier in succession to the late Hon. W. F. Massey.

Hon. William Nosworthy, Minister of Agriculture and Immigration in the Massey Cabinet, becomes Minister of Finance, a post which was also held by the late premier, and the existing members of the Executive Council have been confirmed in office and in the present ministerial portfolios.

Sir Francis Bell, who became Attorney General of New Zealand in 1918, and Minister of External Affairs in 1923, was born in Nelson, N. Z., on March 31, 1851, the eldest son of the late Sir Francis Dillon Bell. He was called to the bar in 1874 and practised his profession at Wellington. He was created K.C., in 1908; K.C.M.G. in 1915, and G.C.M.G. in 1923. He was called to the Legislative Council in 1912, when he was appointed leader. He was Minister of Justice in 1921, and acting premier in 1921 and 1923-24. In 1878 he married Caroline, the daughter of Hon W. Robinson of New Zealand, and has two sons and four daughters.

DRUGS IMPORTED BY WITNESS IN CHINESE TRIAL

GIRL NOT ADDICT.

F. L. Baker Denies Big Party at House Before Janet Smith Shot.

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 15. — (Canadian Press).—The prosecution concluded its case Thursday afternoon in the preliminary hearing of Wong Foon Sing, charged with the murder of Janet Smith here last July. F. L. Baker, at whose home the girl met her death, admitted under cross-examination that while in Paris with his wife and child, accompanied by Janet Smith, who was employed as a maid, the firm of Baker-Goldwyne and Company, of which he was a member, negotiated a contract for drugs from Japan to the value of 40,000 pounds sterling.

Mr. Baker, under cross-examination by J. H. Senkler, defence counsel, stated the business was conducted in a legitimate manner. He denied with considerable warmth, that there had been a party in his house for the two nights preceding the tragedy; that any person had ever been familiar with Janet Smith in his house; that there were ever any drugs on his premises, and that either the nursemaid or the Chinaman had ever been known to have connection in any way with narcotics.

Witness outlined the statement he gave the police on August 11, 1924, which contained a review of the circumstances of his arrival home on the day of the tragedy following a telephone call at his office from Wong that Janet Smith had been shot. To further questions, witness had no clear recollection of a conversation with Patrolman J. R. Green, of Point Grey, who accompanied Dr. B. Blackwood to the scene of the shooting.

Going back to the day of the tragedy, Mr. Jackson asked witness: "Didn't you take General McRae to the house?"

"No, I did not."

Wiped Up Stains.

"Am I misinformed then that you took him there and you got some strong acid and instructed the boy to clean up the blood?" pressed Mr. Jackson.

"You certainly must have been as I never took McRae there. I know I told he was there before my brother came home and that there were blood marks. I ordered them to be cleaned up," said Baker.

"Do you swear that you and General McRae were not there together, cleaning up those stains?"

"We were not—not to my knowledge now anyway," witness declared.

Baker said he had the boy clean up the blood the Wednesday following the tragedy, having refrained from giving orders to that effect until after the inquest.

Mr. Jackson asked about the witness' connection with the firm of Baker and Goldwynne, of London.

Bought Narcotics.

"Was your firm engaged in the dope traffic?"

"We handled chemicals."

"Heroin, cocaine and morphine?"

"Yes."

"Ah."

"That is most unfair," exclaimed defence counsel.

"I am laying the foundation for further questions regarding the relation of Janet Smith and the accused to this business," said Mr. Jackson.

"They had nothing to do with that business. I never discussed my business with the accused or Janet Smith," said witness.

"Did you have a contract with the Humphreys's firm, signed while you were in France with Janet Smith?"

"She was not with us on that trip."

GENERAL DEPRESSION IN CITY BROUGHT OUT BEST IN PEOPLE IN ENDEAVOR TO HELP NEEDY

Unemployment Was Not Specially Acute, But Followed on Lean Preceding Years—Peterboro Has Reason to be Proud of Generous Spirit.

SPLENDID EFFORTS MADE BY SOCIETIES

In common with every other manufacturing centre, Peterborough has during the winter just passed had an unusually difficult problem to solve in the matter of unemployment. Not that the industrial situation was worse in 1924-1925 than in previous years, but largely because of the lean years that preceded it. Many of the citizens needing help and employment were good, sound, thrifty family men, energetic in work and eager to make ends meet. Many of them had never previously been compelled to seek aid, and were diffident about approaching prospective employers or the city officials.

It is a recognized fact that Peterborough is ever in the forefront in efforts that co-operate for the general welfare of the citizens, and for the special needs of any given class of resident. It is among the few cities in Canada that can boast its containing no slum district. It was among the first to organize a Great War Veteran Association for the help of the returned men and the solution of his many problems, and to provide for recreation and use a magnificent hall. There are few cities that can show as good record for a generous response to outside as well as to local calls as can this city. This is evidenced by the recent donation of a car of food for needy miners in the Cape Breton area, gathered together in a few days and shipped with the good wishes of the citizens.

Peterborough had been a centre of steady and unbroken prosperity so long, it had been a city in which so many staunch working men had vested their little capital and in which a very large proportion owned their own homes, that it was hard to realize the problem was not one of transient workers temporarily out of employment, but the under-employed permanent band. He was of a class that would suffer long ere admitting his needs, and hated the very thought of accepting help. That man, and that man's family, suffered most.

Everyone Helped

It is a remarkable story, this tale of helping the unemployed, for during the winter many cases were encountered where the poor helped the poor, the wage-earner shared up with his former mate, and even the indigent shared his last loaf with him who had no loaf to share. But not these alone. If one get in conversation with men of almost every financial circumstance he may get from the vast majority of them a confession that these men, quietly, secretly, have been giving till it hurts, but wild horses could not drag from them the identification of those to whom they have given. While hundreds of Peterborough citizens will thus give that a little child may not need clothes, forego luxuries that others may be fed, and wear patched shoes that women may not go barefoot, no one may cast a slur upon the city.

Not only individuals, but fraternal

Neglected Precautions Against Flooding of Hold When Sand-sucking Hose Removed.

CORONER'S INQUEST

WINDSOR, May 15.—(Canadian Press).—Blame for the capsizing of the Sandsucker, Kelley's Island, of Sandusky, which turned upside down off Point Pelee May 2, was blamed by a coroner's jury at Leamington yesterday afternoon on the skipper of the craft, Captain William G. Slackford, who was drowned, with eight of his crew, in the fatality.

Negligence on his part in ordering the sand-sucker hose to be disconnected before the aperture through which it was thrust could be covered in the lee of a rough sea was given as the cause of the accident.

Several recommendations to the Canadian Government were also contained in the jury's report. The Goverment was asked to equip the life-saving station at Point Pelee with an up-to-date boat to replace an antiquated and unseaworthy craft; with a runway, extending from one side of the point to the other so that the life-boat could be used in quickly answering distress calls from either side; with a watch tower, and with a new boat house to accommodate the boat and the men.

Too Rough For Rescue.

From witnesses the jury learned that when the life-crew saw the survivors of the Kelley Island standing on the keel of the upturned boat, they were unable to go to their rescue and take them off because of the rough sea. Capt. James Wilkinson, in charge of the station, told the jury that he had repeatedly called the attention of the inspector of life-saving equipment at Parry Sound to the condition of the equipment without getting any action on the latter.

Seven out of a crew of sixteen were saved when the Kelley Island capsized. The boat had finished loading sand and was about to clear for Sandusky, in a rough sea, when

MASSEY BURIED AT WELLINGTON

Funeral of New Zealand's Premier From the Parliament Buildings.

DENSE THRONGS.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, May 15.—(Canadian Press Cable).—A seemingly endless procession of mourners passed before the casket containing the mortal remains of Premier W. F. Massey for several hours previous to the funeral of the noted statesman Thursday. Dense throngs stood bareheaded and silent as the hearse moved on its way to the cemetery, and in the long cortege were several motor cars filled with beautiful floral tributes.

The funeral took place from the parliament buildings, where the deceased had been a conspicuous figure for many years as head of the government of the Dominion of New Zealand, and where he had had many political triumphs in his lengthy occupancy of the premiership. Interment was in the cemetery at Point Raswell.

BUSH FIRES AT HEAD OF LAKES ARE EXTENDING

Heavy Forest Loss Threatened Unless Rain Comes Soon to North Shore.

DRIVEN BY WIND

Country Dry as Tinder — Seaplanes to be Sent to Help.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., May 15. —(Canadian Press)—Unless rains come soon it is possible that damage amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars may be done in the district round the head of the lakes. Fires seem to be starting up in all directions and the country is now as dry as tinder, so that fire-fighting is carried on under the worst possible conditions, accentuated by the high winds.

Accurate news of the extent of the fires is hard to obtain, as most of the settlers in the threatened districts are too busy fighting the flames. Late last evening word was brought in that the homestead of a family named Webb, settlers in Conmee township, had been surrounded by fire and all the buildings destroyed.

The fire that was creeping up towards the watershed of Fort William water supply, Loch Lomond, has been fairly well checked, but in the outlying regions, where help is scarce, it is harder to make an impression on the advancing flames. Fires are still raging beyond Hymers, on the Duluth extension of the Canadian National Railway, and through the settlement, chiefly composed of Finns, the vicinity of Nolalu and Silver Mountain. Many of the old lumber camps have gone up in smoke.

Max Rabbits, Chief Fire Ranger, is massing his forces and word has been received from the Dominion Forestry Department that seaplanes will reach the head of the lakes in a few days, to assist the fire-fighters.

KING GOVERNMENT IS SUSTAINED BY 77 MAJORITY ON AMENDMENT TO BUDGET URGING FREE TRADE

Originally Submitted by Progressive Leader, But Ruled Out of Order.

REVIEWED BY EVANS

Adoption Would Have Meant Want of Confidence in Govt., Premier Said.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 15 — The Progressive amendment to the budget was defeated in the House of Commons last night by 110 to 33, a majority for the government of 77.

The budget then received second reading.

On Second reading of the bill to amend the Customs Act — the bill giving effect to tariff changes proposed in the budget—John Evans of Saskatoon yesterday afternoon moved the amendment which Robert Forke, Progressive leader, proposed on March 26 to the main budget resolution. Mr. Forke's amendment was then ruled out of order as a Conservative amendment had already been moved.

"The House regrets that the budget presented by the acting minister of finance contains evidence of the application of unsound principles of public finance, affords no relief from the excessive burdens of indirect taxation and constitutes a failure to carry into effect substantial economies in public expenditure, and the fiscal policy of the Liberal party as from time to time enunciated;

And that the policy of protection maintained in the present budget has greatly increased the cost of living and production has failed to provide adequate revenue or to prevent serious depression in trade and industry;

And be it further resolved that a revision of the tariff schedules based on the needs for revenue instead of on the principle of protection is long overdue, and should be immediately undertaken in order to bring down the costs of living and to place our industries on a permanently sound basis."

In Awkward Position

A. J. Lewis (Progressive, Swift Current) declared that the amendment before the House placed some of the members in an awkward position. When the budget vote was being taken, there were only two things before the House. The first was a vote on the Conservative amendment, and the second was a vote on the budget. Mr. Lewis stated that he had previously intended to support the sub-amendment moved previously by Mr. Forke, but declared out of order. He had also questioned the government in respect to the bringing down of certain legislation which he thought was of prime interest to the country, and the answer he had received was to the effect that this legislation

PETITION AGAINST SUNDAY DOCK TOIL

QUEBEC, May 15.— Honorable Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, will be formally waited upon when he arrives here on Saturday to attend the banquet of Hon. Dr. Beland, Minister of Health and Civil Re-establishment, and asked to lend his support to the movement now on foot to eliminate Sunday work on the docks as far as possible.

A few days ago Rev. Abbe Philip Casgrain, Roman Catholic chaplain for the port of Quebec, and a number of other clergymen of various denominations, drew up an appeal in this sense. The preliminary information contained therein has already been forwarded to Ottawa.

The Federal Government, through the Minister of Justice, will be asked to get in touch with the steamship lines using the St. Lawrence water route, suggesting that the dates of their sailing be changed so that all the liners will not arrive in port on Sunday. This, it is claimed, seriously interferes with the Sabbath obligations of all those who must meet the ships.

It is generally understood that the sailing schedules will not be changed this year, as much confusion would result.

PRESTON'S ASSERTION OF HAVING BEEN FOLLOWED BY DETECTIVE FANTASTIC, SAYS C.P.R. MANAGER

Denial of Charge Cabled From London to Ocean Rates Enquiry Committee.

THURSDAY SESSION

Preston Admits He Would Interview Shippers First If Making Enquiry Again.

OTTAWA, May 15. — (Canadian Press).—Cross-examination of W. T. R. Preston, the author of the report asserting that a great ocean combine existed on the North Atlantic, the effect of which was almost to isolate Canadian imports and exports from other ports of the world reached by ocean routes, was again the feature of Thursday afternoon's sitting of the Ocean Rates Committee.

A declaration of Mr. Preston made at a previous sitting, was contradicted at the outset of yesterday's hearing. C. H. Montgomery, K.C., counsel for the steamship companies, read a cablegram from Sir George MacLaren-Brown, European general manager of the C.P.R., declaring that he had never detailed a detective to follow Mr. Preston while the latter was in London. "Preston's statement absolutely incorrect and fantastic. I did not have him followed by a detective. Why should I?" read the cablegram.

"Produce the telegram which he sent to have me watched in Vienna," retorted Mr. Preston. "What's the use of talk of that sort?" he added.

Sources of Information.

Mr. Montgomery took Mr. Preston through a number of the statements contained in the report and asked him various questions designed to bring out the sources of the information and its application to ocean rates as at present constituted. Some of the letters from manufacturers were dated in 1919 and 1920. One extract which stated that a manufacturer with British connections would have to close down unless ocean rates were reduced, was referred to.

"Did you investigate to see if this factory closed down?" asked Mr. Montgomery.

"No," was the reply.

"Wasn't it a matter of interest to you to see if this calamity occurred?" pursued steamship counsel.

Mr. Preston replied that he had not pursued his investigation any further.

"But you put it in your report," commented Mr. Montgomery.

Mr. Preston expressed the opinion that wheat rates were fixed by the conference, notwithstanding the fluctuations which sometimes occur a number of times daily during the grain shipping season. He said that he thought there should be some measure of control of ocean rates. He persisted in the statement contained in his report that British steamship lines "controlled by peers, baronets and knights" car-

THE BANKRUPTCY ACT.

In the Estate of Henry A. Sculthorp, also trading as H. Sculthorp and Son, Bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that Henry A. Sculthorp of the Town of Port Hope, Ontario, was adjudged bankrupt and a Receiving Order made on the 12th day of May, 1925, and that George S. Holmested, K.C., Registrar, has appointed me to be the Custodian of the estate of the debtor until the creditors at their first meeting shall elect a Trustee to administer the estate of the debtor.

Notice is further given that the first meeting of creditors in the above estate will be held at the office of George J. Sherry, Official Receiver, near the Court House, in the City of Peterborough, Ontario, on Friday the 22nd of May, 1925, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Standard time.

To entitle you to vote thereat proof of your claim must be lodged with me before the meeting is held. Proxies to be used at the meeting must be lodged with me prior thereto.

And further take notice that if you have any claim against the debtor for which you are entitled to rank, proof of such claim must be filed with me within thirty days from the date of this notice, for from and after the expiration of the said thirty days, the Trustee will distribute the proceeds of the debtor's estate among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which he has then notice.

Dated at Toronto this 14th day of May, 1925.

would be brought down. Having all these facts in mind, he had decided to vote with the government on the tariff issue. He could not now "swallow himself" and therefore intended to absent himself from the house and not vote in the matter.

Premier's Challenge

As soon as the house resumed at eight o'clock, Premier King took the floor. He could not see that Mr. Evan's could serve any useful purpose. The principles involved in the budget bill had been debated for six weeks. They had not been changed since, in resolution form they had been adopted by the House and the bill based on them had already been given one reading. It was obvious that no good purpose could be served by re-opening debate on the budget. Adoption of the Evans amendment would mean one thing, and one thing only—want of confidence in the government. Since this was so, debate on this amendment should be brief, and "the sooner we find out whether this government has the confidence of this House, the better, added Premier King. If the amendment carried, it would mean that the bill to provide necessary funds for the carrying on of public business would be negatived and the government would have no authority to carry out its legislative program.

Drayton's Quandary

Sir Henry Drayton (Conservative, West York), was the only other speaker before the division was taken. He regretted that the usual practice of sending out copies of the amendment in advance had not been fololwing. As he took his feet he said he was reading the amendment for the first time. He was torn between two duties; his duty to the industries of Canada in protecting them against a dangerous principle involved in the amendment; and his duty which he felt to be a very serious one of giving the people of Canada an opportunity of expressing their opinion of this government.

"I cannot imagine anything more useful for the Dominion than a vote of want of confidence in the Government," said Sir Henry.

"Bring it on," shouted several Liberal members.

Sir Henry said it was all very well for the government supporters to be brave at this time. If the Government wanted to "bring it on" the government had it in its own hands. The disturbing thing about this amendment was that its sponsors knew they were perfectly safe in supporting it knowing that the government could not be defeated thereby. The Progressive members on the budget division had voted down an amendment which embodied the fundamental principles of reduced taxation and economy, and now they asked the house to vote against the government on a dubious issue. They knew they could support this amendment and still not put the government out. Sir Henry said that personally the amendment put him into a quandary, but he would follow his principles.

He was not in the habit of swallowing his principles for the purposes of a vote nor could he support what was a "safety first proposition" with a group who wished to appear as supporting freer trade with a sure knowledge that they could not upset the Government. He deplored the revival of the budget debate at this time and he trusted that without further delay the vote would be taken.

The house then divided on the question without further debate.

CAMPBELLFORD SPORTING NOTES

Bowling Club Opens Season Friday—Football Teams Active Now.

USE SMALL BALL

CAMPBELLFORD, May 15.—The Bowling Club will officially open the season on Friday afternoon, when all the members are requested to turn out. The green is in excellent condition, the lighting system is complete and the interior of the club house has been fitted up in modern style. One of the events of the opening will be a match between T. S. Tait and J. R. Wilkinson, who are among the best bowlers in the club, Mr. Tait having issued a challenge at the annual meeting held recently.

The lady members of the club met yesterday at the residence of Mrs. L. B. Glover, whose husband is president, and decided to hold a card party in the town hall on Friday afternoon and evening of next week. There will be tables for bridge in the afternoon and for progressive euchre in the evenings.

Football on Victoria Day.

The Thistles of Peterborough have sent word that they will come to Campbellford on Victoria Day to play the local football team, made up of players from the parishes of Christ church and St. Mary's, the prize to be the handsome silver cup donated by Rev. Father Phelan. This game will be played after the lacrosse events are disposed of.

Football Juniors.

The junior football players will hold their first practice at the Fair grounds this evening, when a team of the best will be chosen. These will be selected from the Boy Scouts and the members must not be over 14 years of age. The coaches will be Rev. G. C. Clarke, Scoutmaster Beattie and H. Cubitt.

It is proposed to enter this team in the Public School Football League, which is to be organized in this district with the schools of Warkworth, Hilton, Havelock, Springbrook and other places represented.

One Point Settled.

Secretary Daniel of the Softball League, received a phone message yesterday from Alex. Kay of Peterborough, informing him that the League in that city would this year play with the 12-inch instead of the 14-inch ball. The Campbellford League will use the same sized ball so that there will be no disuute if games are played with teams from Peterboro.

BAKERS MET AT CAMPBELLFORD

Discussed Matters Connected With Business—Are Not Raising Price of Bread.

ODDFELLOWS MET

CAMPBELLFORD, May 15.—A meeting of the Bakers' Association of Central Ontario was held in the Public Library yesterday afternoon, with a large attendance of members, every local and district bakery being represented. Housekeepers, however, have no cause for alarm—there was no attempt made to raise the price of bread, and the meeting was not called with any such intention. The members disest only to themselves and the gathest only to tremselves and the gathering was harmonious.

Oddfellows in Session.

A district meeting of Oddfellows was held yesterday with representatives present from Stirling, Hastings, Springbrook and Campbellford, the delegates from the local lodge being R. J. Bullen, Sergt. George T. Salter and S. A. Maguire. The meeting was called to order by R. Dunk, D.D.G.M. of Campbellford.

The new officers elected were G. Thompson, D.D.G.M., and T. Sine, secretary-treasurer, both officers being members of the Stirling Lodge.

Percy Sherwin and T. Craighead will represent the Campbellford Oddfellows at the meeting of the Grand Lodge in Hamilton in June.

Council Notes.

Work on the Second street sewer was begun yesterday, with Street Superintendent Fry in charge of the operations as the sewer is to be constructed by day labor. The finishing touches to the sewers on Tice street will be given to-day. The other sewers recently completed are those on Canrobert, Kent and Napier, and Front and Oliver road. When the work on Second and Market streets is completed the town will have a modern system of sewers and will then be in a position to take up the question of permanent improvements of the streets.

The new road roller and scraper will not be here until next week. An operator for this outfit will be selected at a special meeting of the Council called for this evening.

Has Agricultural Diploma.

Owen Hoey of East Seymour, is another young farmer of this district who holds a diploma from the Agricultural College at Guelph. E. A. McCook, of West Seymour, being the only other to take the course. Neither of the young men regrets the time spent in Guelph making themselves familiar with the scientific details of their calling.

MANY CASES ON COURT DOCKET

One Plaintiff Failed to Show Up and Case Was Stricken From List.

WILL CASE SETTLED

COBOURG, May 15.—C. Edward Nichols brought claim against the estate of the late Mennie Calvert, of Cartwright Township, for board and care, and the case was scheduled to come before Judge Cameron here on Tuesday. When County Court assembled, however, no one appeared in support of the claim, and Judge Cameron struck it off the list.

Irwin Will Case Settled.

Judgment in terms of consent minutes were filed on Wednesday afternoon, May 13, in the action brought before Judge Cameron in the Surrogate Court by the executors, Samuel Sidney Dickinson and William Braund, of the estate of Rachel Irwin, Port Hope, deceased. Judge Cameron ordered that probate be granted to the plaintiffs of the will of deceased, propounded by them. The defendants in the suit were Robert James Gardiner, Richard Wilson, Frederick Wilson and George Day, Sr.

W. A. F. Campbell, Port Hope, Mr. F. M. Field, who acted for the public trustee, and Kerr and Cochrane, Cobourg, were legal counsel in the case.

Charges Assault.

Francis Stoker, who was arrested after the alleged shooting and spectacular fire that destroyed James Lawson's home and threatened the village of Kendal with destruction on Sunday night and Monday morning, has laid information against James Lawson, charging common assault. Stoker came before Magistrate Floyd and was remanded for a week.

KITCHEN SHOWER TO ELDORADO COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. V. Spencer Were Recipients of Many Useful Gifts.

ELDORADO, May 15.—A social gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. Spencer at the Eldorado Factory, when a large number of guests met and presented them with a kitchen shower, as the young couple are just recently married. After the meeting had been called to order by the president, Nicholas Blackburn, Mrs. J. M. Whyte read a short address welcoming the young people to the midst, not only of social life, but of church life in the community. Mrs Spencer was then requested to accept the various gifts and to open each parcel and read the name of the giver and the little pieces of poetry contained therein which were to accompany each gift. Mr. and Mrs. Spencer both thanked those present for their good wishes and gifts. After a few speeches from some of the gentlemen, lunch was served, and all enjoyed a social time together. This is the first year Mr. Spencer has made cheese himself and the first year at this factory.

Work for Neighbor.

A large number of Orangemen and neighbors gathered at the farm of Joseph Sandford, Kellar's Bridge, for the purpose of a working bee to put in his spring work, seeding, etc., as Mr. Sandford is unable to put it in himself. Mr. Sandford is at his home and is improving slowly.

The annual report of the Eldorado (Foxes) and the Union Church Women's Missionary Auxiliary for the past year, beginning on May 11, 1924, and ending May 1, 1925, is highly satisfactory. The total receipts were $203.45, from which $171 was remitted to the branch treasurer leaving a balance of $31.08 on hand. The first meeting of the year was to be at the home of Mrs. Albert Empey last Thursday.

Mother's Day was observed here at the churches. The attendance was not large, owing to the funeral of Mr. Angus McKenzie, who was fatally injured by a tractor.

LEARNING TO SWIM.

It is unfortunate that some way cannot be found to take advantage of the offer of the Y.M.C.A. to teach the pupils of Peterboro's schools the art of swimming.

The association very kindly volunteered to perform this service without any charge, but the Board of Education, in view of the rapidly approaching examinations, has considered it wise to refuse the offer.

A knowledge of swimming is a very important asset in this district of lakes and rivers, and the opportunity that is offered by the presence in Peterboro of such a famous instructor as George H. Corsan is so unusual that it seems a pity that some plan could not be devised by which those pupils who have not learned to swim would not have to let this chance slip by.

The Y.M.C.A. has done much in recent years to spread the value of proficiency in swimming, and a large number of youngsters owe their skill in the art to the instructions they have received.

It is important, of course, that studies should not be encroached upon at this period of the year; it is just a question, however, if it is not equally as important that children who will spend much of their time during the next few months in the neighborhood of lake or river should learn to take care of themselves in the water.

THE PROGRESSIVES' POSITION.

The Progressives who used to complain of the organization and discipline of the two old parties seem to have developed into exactly the same kind of machine they formerly decided as archaic and obsolete.

No other interpretation can be placed upon the action of the Progressives in ousting the Chief Whip from his position because he voted with the Government, and of reading the riot act to other members of the party who voted contrary to the opinion of the leader and the majority of his followers.

Further evidence that the Progressives are to all intents and purposes a political organization on the same lines as the Liberal and Conservative parties, is furnished by the intimation that Mr. Forke may introduce an amendment to the Budget on its second reading for the purpose of giving a convincing demonstration that the Progressives are a unit and can vote as such when the occasion arrives.

If this unusual step is taken it may do more than show that the party led by Mr. Forke is under rigid discipline; it may lead to a speedy dissolution of the House and a general election.

With three Provincial campaigns already on the cards, the Progressives should ask themselves if it is worth while to give the country over to the turmoil of a general campaign merely for demonstration purposes.

THE HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

Much as many Easterners, who recognize that the people of the West have problems that require solution, would like to meet their Western friends half-way in inaugurating policies that would be beneficial to them, they hesitate to follow them in this mania for the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway.

In the first place, it is impossible to believe that this Hudson Bay Railway, "with its terminus among the icebergs," as one paper describes it, would ever begin to be a commercial success.

And, secondly, Canada cannot afford to plunge into any more railway speculations.

This country has already about two billion dollars invested in railways.

The annual fixed charges that have to be met are holding back the development of Canada, and their effect is reflected in every phase of the country's life.

To throw thirty million dollars into a railway scheme that has no chance to succeed would be simply madness, and it is difficult to understand the viewpoint of those Progressive members who forget their usual clamour for economy when this Hudson Bay Railway folly is to the fore.

The proposition is impossible; it cannot be justified by even the warmest field of the Western Provinces, and some of the Western newspapers have not hesitated to condemn the undertaking.

THE C. G. E. VOTE.

The employees of the Canadian General Electric Company who recently voted 3 to 1 in favour of daylight saving on a city-wide basis, have rejected by a vote of 3 to 2 a proposal that the plant should be operated on a summer-time basis on its own account.

The result of the vote is not surprising.

It is, in fact, an answer to the opponents of daylight saving who declared that those who wanted the "fast" time could adopt it for themselves.

The whole success of daylight saving, of course, hinges upon the fact that it must be generally adopted.

It would be seen at its best advantage were the whole Continent to adopt it, as did Great Britain, France and Belgium.

But, at least, in order to be of any use at all it must be put into effect on a community basis.

The industries, stores, schools and other institutions in any particular centre must all be governed by daylight saving or the whole scheme falls to the ground.

That 40 per cent. of the employees of the city's largest industry were willing to accept the disadvantages of confining daylight saving to themselves while the rest of the community used standard time is fairly strong evidence that a good many people are serious in their advocacy of summer time, and that the whole agitation will be revived again next year unless the question is settled by the electors at the January elections.

The summer of 1925 will be notable for a made-in-Peterboro exhibition and a made-in-Peterboro ball club.

A MADE-IN-CANADA HOME.

There is a very comfortably furnished house in London where Canadian-made goods have the preference, says the Advertiser. The man of the house never made a speech about it, but admitted to a friend that as far as he knew everything in it was Canadian-made.

"I don't know whether you would call it a fad or not," re remarked, "but it has been an idea that I have carried around for quite a while, and in a sense it has given me quite a good deal of satisfaction. In our house the rugs are Canadian-made, so is the furniture, the stove, electric fixtures, yes and even the wall paper, the paint and the varnish. I try to carry the same idea out in the matter of clothing and it works very well. I don't think there is anything very unusual about the idea, because I am in business myself in Canada, and depend almost entirely on Canadian trade for my living. I don't think I would appreciate it very much if the people to whom I expect to sell my goods would pass me up and look some place outside of Canada to buy instead. So I take it that what I expect from others I should be prepared to extend to them. I'm not blind to the fact that we must buy from and sell to outside countries, neither am I blind to the advantage of putting as much money as possible to work right here in Canada."

That is almost word for word the view of the man who dwells in a made-in-Canada atmosphere. He is not an exclusionist, nor would he quarrel with a person who differed with him on the policy he is following. Yet there is something wholesome in his logic and something contagious about his desire to say a good word for the Canadian-made article. If the people of Canada will not encourage their own manufacturers and say a good word for the good things they produce, who, then, can we expect to do it?

PRESIDENT HINDENBURG.

President Hindenburg is plainly doing all he can to make the German people forget Field-Marshal von Hindenburg.

But it was Field-Marshal von Hindenburg who was elected.

The Kaiser's flag that covered Berlin was the true symbol of the arrival of the hero of the Mazurian Lakes—not the entirely proper and tactful flag of the German Republic which floated from the new President's car.

President Hindenburg, in addition to taking the official oath of loyalty to the Republic, went out of his way to issue a personal manifesto to the German people, in which he promised again to devote all his energies to guarding the constitution and laws, emphasized the need of winning the approval of "other nations," and insisted that he is not the leader of a party, but belongs to "the people in its entirety."

There is no reason to doubt his sincerity. Hindenburg all through has seemed to stand a model of sincerity. He was a simple-minded soldier, who had made a life-specialty of the defence of Germany against Russia in the East Prussian lake district; and when the Russian armies poured into that region in far greater strength than was expected so soon, he was summoned from his retirement to apply that knowledge. That was practically his entire contribution to the war.

All the adulation that followed was made-to-order outside for propagandist purposes. Hindenburg himself never played up to it. When he was asked whether he was about to be transferred to the Western front—which had by then bogged down hopelessly into trench warfare—he replied laconically: "I never betray any secrets of high strategy—that I do not know."

* * * *

It is tempting to apply the French parallel after 1870 to present German developments. Marshal MacMahon—who was much the Hindenburg type of soldier—was elected to the Presidency in 1873, which, so far as recovery went, corresponded fairly well with the present time in German recuperation. The Monarchists were then very strong in France. But the election of MacMahon did not lead to a restoration, either of the Empire, the Orleanists or the Legitimists.

It must be remembered, however, that the antecedent circumstances were very different. France had been swept by a real revolution nearly a hundred years earlier. It had been a republic for a period, and had been under three forms of shifting Monarchy during the preceding century. The Bourbons were practically eliminated. There was no sentiment behind any candidate of either house. Even the sentiment attached to "a glorious past" had been fully exploited and deflated when Napoleon the Little was raised to the throne of Napoleon the Great—and finished at Sedan.

The German people doubtless have a contempt for the two most prominent Hohenzollerns. But the glamor that long surrounded the office of Kaiser appears to have been but little dimmed. Then "the glorious past" in their case is linked with the House of Hohenzollern and its miraculous achievements; and it only requires a popular figure to emerge from this line to arouse in the Germans at least as much hope as the French felt when they acclaimed Louis Napoleon "Emperor." They have not yet suffered the disappointments of a restoration, as the French had so recently when Marshal MacMahon was seated in the Presidency.

But there will always be a difference in Germany. A Kaiser, hand-made by the people, will never have the god-like authority of a resplendent archangel "in shining armor," inheriting from ancestors who won their subjects with the sword. When a nation makes and unmakes its own kings, it is a democracy in spirit and in courage, however it may be classed in the school-books. No English King has ever been an autocrat since Cromwell.

The old Germany is dead—just as the old France died when Louis the Feeble fled to Varennes. That was when the Revolution succeeded. After that, it did not much matter whether they guillotined the discredited fugitive or let him live. Still exactly as the new France was no more peaceful than the old, so the new Germany—whether it be nominally a republic or an empire—will be just as belligerent as the Germany of Bismarck when it imagines that profits are to be won by war.—Montreal Star.

A THOUGHT.

KEEPING' IN TRIM.

Stick out your chest, man, and hold up your head, and walk till you're weary of limb. Don't let your muscles and system go dead, but keep your old carcass in trim.

Seems to me, folks are too lazy these days. They don't move around like they should. All the old get-up gets down in a daze. It's a fact you could change, if you would.

Too many things are right handy to ride: our street cars, our autos and such. Hence the ambition for walking has died, and we're not exercising so much.

Maybe you'll answer, "Aw, shucks, what's the diff. Just walkin's too tiresome to do." Wait till your joints and your muscles get stiff—then you'll know what I'm sayin' is true.

Next time you'd ride, just try walkin' instead! A tonic you never can beat. Stick out your chest, man, and hold up your head and give your whole system a treat.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, May 14.—Half a dozen choice handyweight butchers were taken by a packing house this morning at $8 a cwt., and Frank Hunnisett bought about two loads of heavier butchers at $7.30 and $7.50 a cwt. Another load of butchers that came in late on Wednesday was held at $7.85 a cwt. Butchers' cows were quite steady, with one top at $6.50 a cwt. One bull, just out of the bologna class sold at $4.50 a cwt. With the exception of a number of springers and milch cows and a few pens of stockers, the market will be cleaned up at noon.

Calves eased about 50 cents a cwt. on Wednesday afternoon, but Tuesday's prices in cases was $1.50 a cwt. higher, and the week's advance figures about one dollar a cwt. A few just good calves sold at 10 cents, and mediums 8 to 9½ cents a pound this morning.

The lamb and sheep market is steady, and the spring lambs coming in are of poor quality on the average. Sheep sold from 5½ to 9 cents a pound, and spring lambs from $6 to $12 each.

Packers paid $12 a cwt. f.o.b. for Wednesday's hogs, and this brings the price up one dollar a cwt for the week. This will be the price over the week end, although Chicago and Buffalo prices are quoted 25 to 35 cents a cwt. lower.

Joe Wilson of the firm of H. P. Kennedy & Co. who has been looking after the Edmonton end of the business all winter, is back on this market again for a while.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, May 14.—Considerable activity took place on the Montreal export market today owing to the improved demand from United Kingdom buyers for coarse grains, and as cables were stronger with bids higher, a moderate amount of business was worked in Canadian Western oats for May-June shipment, and some sales of barley were also made, but exporters stated that the prices bid for Manitoba Spring wheat were several cents per bushel below working basis. New York exporters were also in the market for oats and were bidding 10 1-2 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg May option for No. 3 Canadian Western, f.o.b. Montreal, while sales of spot supplies of No. 2 Canadian Western oats were made at 15 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg May option, c.i.f. Montreal, and No. 1 feed grade sold at 3 1-2 cents per bushel over the same option, c.i.f. Montreal.

Millfeed Increase.

A feature of the local millfeed situation was the stronger feeling that developed in the market and prices generally were advanced $1 per ton. This was attributed to the steady increasing demand for supplies and the small offerings, some millers being completely out of stock and were buying in the market in order to meet their requirements. The enquiry from the United States was good and Boston buyers were bidding $36 per ton for bran and $37 for shorts delivered, with sellers asking $1 per ton more. There was also a good demand for feed flour, and sales were made at $4 per barrel in jute sasks.

There were no new developments in the local egg situation, the undertone to the market being steady and prics unchanged. A fairly good business continues to be done in a wholesale jobbing way. The receipts were 2,551 cases, as against 2,455 for the same day last week, and 3,120 for the correspjonding day a year ago.

The receipts of butter today were 1,412 packages, as against 1,276 for the same day last week, and 1,978 for the corresponding day a year ago. A moderate amount of business was done for local account, there being some demand for small lots to meet immediate wants, but the market on the whole was quiet with a steady undertone. In a wholesale jobbing way a fair trade was reported and prices were unchanged at 34 cents per lb. for finest creamery in solid packages, and at 35 cents per lb in 1 lb. blocks.

The receipts of cheese today were 2,633 boxes, as compared with 2,654 for the same day last week, and 2,509 for the corresponding day a year ago. There was no improvement in the demand from any source and the market was reported quiet with Western No. 1 white and colored quoted at 17 3-4 to 17 7-8

Your teeth are only as healthy as your gums

4 out of 5

Dental statistics prove that four out of every five over 40—as well as thousands younger—pay Pyorrhea's toll. Do you want to elude this dread disease?

The gums are the keys to health. You must keep them firm, strong and healthy if you would elude Pyorrhea and its attendant ills—loosened teeth, neuritis, indigestion, anaemia and similar diseases.

Forhan's For the Gums counteracts the effects of harmful bacteria; hardens soft, tender gums, keeps them sound, firm and pink. Furthermore, it cleans and whitens the teeth and keeps the mouth fresh, clean and wholesome.

If you don't care to discontinue your favorite dentifrice, at least brush your gums and teeth once a day with Forhan's.

It is a preparation of proved efficacy in the treatment of Pyorrhea. It is the one that many thousands have found beneficial for years. For your own sake, make sure that you get it. Ask for, and insist upon, Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

Just as a ship needs the closest attention under the water-line so do your teeth under the gum-line

by Beatrice Burton

THE STORY SO FAR:

GLORIA GORDON, beautiful flapper, marries DICK GREGORY, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes . . . but no hard work or children!

Dick borrows his mother's maid, MAGGIE, to teach Gloria to cook. But she refuses to learn. She meets STANLEY WAYBURN, an actor with whom she once had been in love.

Gloria invites Wayburn to a housewarming. He comes, and Dick instantly suspects that Gloria is in love with him. Wayburn makes love all evening to MYRA GAIL.

The "wild" party breaks up when LOLA HOUGH "bawls out" BILL, her husband, for petting MAY SEYMOUR, wife of DR. JOHN SEYMOUR. Maggie, disgusted, quits her job. Then Gloria hires RANGHILD SWANSON, although Dick tells her he cannot afford a housemaid. She also buys new clothes and insists upon an automobile. Gloria begins to be jealous of MISS BRIGGS, Dick's secretary.

One afternoon Dick returns home unexpectedly to find his wife entertaining Wayburn, May Seymour, and JIM CAREWE. Next morning May phones Gloria to tell her that the gossip about her love affair with Carewe has kept her out of the Home Woman's Club. She begs Gloria to ask MOTHER GREGORY, an officer of the club, to put her into it. Mother Gregory refuses.

With utter dismay, Gloria watched Myra Gail get up from her table.

. . . It was one thing to quarrel with the shabby Lola, who had few friends—and quite another to have Myra for an enemy!

For Myra was a born leader. And the rest of the women were sure to side with Lola against Gloria if Myra did. Women were such sheep! They had no minds of their own!

In a flash Gloria was on her feet.

"Please don't go," she pleaded, laying one hand on Myra's arm. "I'll run upstairs and tell Lola I'm sorry for what I said. I'll bring her back."

She ran upstairs to May's bedroom where Lola was pinning on her unfashionable old hat.

"Please don't go, Lola," Gloria begged. "I'm awfully sorry for what I said to you just now. You know I didn't mean it. Please come on downstairs with me. Do!"

Lola shook her head.

"No," she said. "The things you said were too true, Glory. I haven't any business trying to play cards with the rest of you girls. You're all crackerjacks . . . and I guess I'm no good for anything but housework. Don't ask me to play any more to-day. . . . I couldn't face the bunch downstairs."

At that moment Myra Gail came into the bedroom. She turned to Gloria, furiously.

"It's you who ought to be ashamed to face the crowd!" she cried, "after what you did to Lola! It was the meanest thing I've ever seen one girl do to another! Believe me, I'll think twice before I play cards with you again. . . . Come along, Lola, and I'll drive you home."

She marched past Gloria without another word or look. Lola followed meekly. Dazed, Gloria watched them go.

"Glo-ree!" May called her from the hall below. "Come on down so we can go on playing."

Gloria tossed her head and went down. No one greeted her as she came into the room. Gloria could feel the chill in the air.

She knew that the other girls were down on her because Myra was.

. . . Well, what did it matter? What did the friendship of women amount to, anyway? Gloria told herself she would have given up a dozen card parties for one drive with Stan Wayburn. . . . She wished she had gone riding with him this very afternoon.

She picked up her cards.

She was what May called a "mean" player. She played for the prize. She sat there now, tight-lipped and hard-eyed. She gathered in her tricks, intent as a kingfisher killing fish at a river's edge.

Gone was the Gloria of the limpid eyes, soft lips and babyish chin . . . the Gloria whom Dick loved.

"Well, Glory Gregory's won the prize, as usual," little Mrs. Wing cried, when the scores were added up two hours later.

"And it's one that will suit her to a T!" May added. She went into the dining-room and returned carrying a dusty bottle of French brandy.

"What do you know about that for a slam! She gives me liquor and says it will suit me to a T!" Gloria shrilled. "What am I going to do with the stuff, girls? If I take it home to Dick, he'll put me out . . . he's so pure!"

"Don't take it home to Dick. Take it home and hide it. You may need it some time, yourself, for a party," May advised.

But Gloria knew that she wouldn't dare to have another party soon in Dick's house. . . . Then, suddenly, she thought of Stan. She would give him the brandy! He liked a nip now and then.

Gloria telephoned him from the coat-closet under the stairs when she put on her wraps.

"Meet me outside Dick's office building in fifteen minutes," she said. "I'm driving downtown to bring him home, and I want to give you something, first."

Stan waited a moment before he answered.

"In front of your husband's office building?" he repeated. "That's not so good. What if he should look out of the window and see us.

"Coward!" Gloria cried. "You should be willing to take a chance if I am!"

She hung up.

Stanley was waiting on the edge of the curb when she drove up beside him.

"Get in a minute," she said. "I want to talk to you . . . or rather, I want to ask you something? Were you out driving with Myra Gail yesterday afternoon? . . . Now answer me, quick! Just like that! Yes or no?"

Stan shook his head. But his cheeks were mantled with a dull red flush. Gloria was sure that he was not going to tell her the truth.

"Of course, I wasn't," he said "Let's see, where was I yesterday afternoon? Nowhere in particular, I guess . . ."

He broke off and took her hands in their driving gloves in his. He smiled sown into her clear, amber eyes.

"What a jealous little thing you are!" he said. "I wonder what you'd be like if you were married to me. Would you be jealous then?"

"Would I?" Gloria breathed. Stan's touch, even through her gloves, was comforting. "I'd camp on your trail. . . . I'd be so jealous! I wouldn't let another woman look at you or speak to you, even!"

"Do you feel that way about Dick?" Wayburn asked. He was vastly amused by her fury.

"No, I can't imaging being jealous of Dick; I wish I were," Gloria said.

She did honestly wish that she were jealous of Dick . . . that she cared for him wildly and longingly, as she was sure she loved Stanley Wayburn.

. . . It must be wonderful to marry the man you loved! To be not only his sweetheart but his wife, his pal and his partner . . . to have all of him, his moods, his tempers, his worries, as well as his love!

To have the right to smooth away the tired lines around his eyes with your finger-tips—to be a haven of rest and peace for him at the end of his long work day!

For Glory could see that this was the way to be a wife, the kind of wife she had never been to Dick. Poor Dick! She had given him anything but rest and peace. . . .

"It's getting dark. I'm going to kiss you," Stan said abruptly.

But Gloria turned her head away from him.

"Here's what I wanted to give you," she said wanly. She handed him the bottle of brandy. "I won it playing cards."

"Some prize, I'll remark!" Stan said with enthusiasm.

He took her face between his hands and kissed her savagely, again and again.

"Don't!" Gloria cried. "You must not kiss me! We're forgetting I'm married!"

"Good Lord, how I want you!" he muttered in a thick voice. And then he was gone.

Gloria rubbed her bruised lips with her handkerchief.

What did Stan meanh wen he said he wanted her? That he loved her? Surely, he must! . . . If he didn't, would he kiss her that way?

And with the memory of these kisses on her mouth, Gloria went up to Dick's offices.

In his private office Dick was dictating to Miss Briggs. The door stood open.

Gloria didn't go in at once. She tiptoes over to the mirror that hung above Miss Briggs' desk and looked at herself in it. She wondered if Stan had mussed her hair or knocked her hat awry when he kissed her.

She powdered her little nose carefully and drew a moistened finger-tip along her eyebrows.

Then, all at once, Gloria became aware of Miss Briggs talking in a voice that was strangely loud for her.

"Please let me telephone for a taxi-cab to take you home!" she was pleading with Dick.

"No, no, my wife's coming down for me in her car," Dick answered shortly. His voice was muffled. "I'm just dizzy . . . be all right again in a second."

Gloria went softly to the door between the two rooms, and looked into Dick's office.

He was bent forward over his desk, with his head on his folded arms. Beside him stood Miss Briggs.

Even as Gloria watched her, she drew it away and picked up a pencil. Then she backed away from Dick.

"Look here, Mr. Gregory," she said sharply. "It's none of my business, I suppose. But have you had a doctor? You know, you've had three of these spells in a month . . ."

"Oh, don't keep talking, Susy," he groaned. "My head's thumping like a trip hammer. . . ." He dropped it into his hands again.

Susy! So that was what he called her when they were there alone, was it?—Gloria thought. Not even Susan . . . but Susy! The sedate Miss Briggs!

And she had all but patted Dick's shoulder, when she had hovered over him a moment ago! Was she in love with him . . . this "day-time wife" of his?

AIRPLANES TAKING MINERS TO MINES

Supplies Are Also Transported Into Alaska by Planes.

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 14—Success in the use of airplanes to carry miners and supplies to mining districts near Fairbanks, Alaska, and in the Pacific northwest, has resulted in plans being made here for speeding up a stampede in the Cassiar country of northern British Columbia this summer over air routes.

Dog-sleighs and pack-mules were pitted against freight-carrying airplanes for the time when the weather would permit prospectors to rush to Dease Lake.

Reports of rich gold strikes in the Cassiar were confirmed at the start of winter. Canadian police placed a ban on adventurers making the journey, for fear of starvation during the severe winter and the possibility of freezing to death if an attempt was made to return to civilization.

A strange assortment of dogs composed the teams arriving at Wrangell, Alaska, preparing for the rush. The husky type, bred in the north, predominated. There were also Irish setters. A German police dog led another team.

LINDSAY MYSTERY IS STILL UNSOLVED

Police Believe That Charlie Hodges Was Drowned in Scugog.

LINDSAY, May 15. (Special.) — Dragging operations on the Scugog Thursday for the body of Charley Hodges, who has been missing for 10 days, proved fruitless.

The police still adhere to the belief that the youth went to his death by drowning, but Ald. Moore, chairman of police, does not share this opinion.

Chief Umphrey returned Wednesday night from Orillia, but failed to locate the man McGill who worked as a farm hand, for Charles Hodges, when he followed farming in Simcoe county.

McGill is wanted in Orillia for non-support and house breaking.

His brother has been arrested on the latter charge, and Chief Church thought he had the man whom the Lindsay Chief wished to interrogate when he sent word of his arrest.

McGill is a man of peculiar mentality, and when in Hodges employ, cultivated a strong attachment for the missing boy. A difference exists between McGill and Hodges over a wage bill. McGill's mother and aunt were interviewed by Chief Umphrey but they could give information as to his whereabouts.

Some of the logs in the large crib near Carew's mill were shifted yesterday by those who were patrolling the river, as it was felt the body was lodged beneath.

BICYCLE DAMAGED

Run Over by Car—Inspector Warns of Danger to Wheels.

A youth jumped from his bicycle and left it standing at the curb while he went into a store. When he came out he found that a car had ran over the front wheel, reducing it to a wreck.

The driver of the car alleged that the bicycle was lying in the street.

All of which suggests to the police authorities the fact that too many bicycles are left lying about in a haphazard manner and that proper care should be taken in parking them, as their unmanagable character is well known.

If proper care were taken, such regrettable accidents would not occur.

"Any one knows," said Inspector Reid, "that a bicycle leaning against the curb is liable to be blown down by the slightest puff of wind. A wheel should be leaned carefully against a post on the side of the building."

CHINESE FOR 'QUEEN'S.

Four Students to Take Up Mining Engineering.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 15.—According to a letter received Thursday by Mr. K. G. Yip, a Chinese student attending Queen's medical college in his fifth year, four Chinese students will be coming to the university within the very near future to study mining engineering.

The students are now in Nanyong College, Shanghai, China, and are anxious to study at Queens. A recommendation is being made to the Canadian trade commissioner to have these four students, together with eight others, brought to Canada. It is understood that the other students will attend McGill and Varsity.

MINIATURE BANFF SEEN AT WEMBLEY

C. P. R. Has Constructed Piece of Canadian Scenery at Exhibition.

LONDON, May 15—(By Cable).—As he stood on the miniature Station of Banff yesterday afternoon, previous to entering the Imperial Limited for a ride around Treasure Island, Wembley Exhibition, Admiral of the Fleet, Lord Jellicoe remarked to Sir Geo. McLaren Brown. "This is but another work the Canadian Pacific are doing and I am sure the Canadian Pacific trains are going to prove, in connection with the wonders of Treasure Island, one of the drawing cards of the Exhibition."

Attracted by the brilliant sunshiny weather after days of wet, vast crowds of people trekked to Wembley yesterday, and enroute to the opening of the Island paid a visit to the Canadian Pacific pavilion where are so many new features including a life size model engine, 2300, a replica of which draws two model Canadian Pacific trains around Treasure Island one engine being called "Peter Pan" and another "Alice." Two new panoramic scenes representing the harbor of St. John and the beauties of Nova Scotia are much admired and just as last year visitors gave pride of place in the exhibition to the Canadian Pacific pavilion. On all hands it is declared they have achieved the impossible and gone one better than the best.

Just across from the Canadian Pacific pavilion, by London bridge, the people assembled at an early hour to await the arrival of Lord Jellicoe who came to declare Treasure Island open. It is intended most of all to delight the children and this is done with the help of the Canadian Pacific by encircling the Island by a railway line on which run two model trains designed after the pattern of the Canadian Pacific and constructed by Bassett Lowke, of Northampton. Entering just opposite the main entrance is a replica of Banff Station fitted with a little waiting room containing small pictures of Canadian scenery and a bookstall where the latest postcards, and information about Canada are readily obtained.

EULOGY OF MILNER.

CAPE TOWN, May 15.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—A striking eulogy to the late Lord Milner was expressed by General Smuts, former premier of South Africa, in the Cape Times Thursday.

General Smuts says he found Lord Milner, who was governor of the Transvaal and Orange River Colony from 1901 to 1905, the soul of courtesy and urbanity during the Boer War. He says he considers Lord Milner one of the outstanding figures of the great war.

46 HOLSTEINS SOLD.

Brought $9,755 at Brockville Farm Sale.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., May 15.—Forty-six pure bred Holstein Friesian animals belonging to the Avondale farm herd of Senator A. C. Hardy were sold at auction here yesterday for an aggregate sum of $9,755. The majority of the animals went to buyers from Eastern Ontario and Northern New York, the highest price, $625, being paid by the A. C. Hartshorn Holstein Co., Hamilton, N.Y., for Ruby Walker Sylvia Model, a five year old cow.

Here is a picture taken as the giant dirigible Los Angeles ...nt scouting for the "rum fleet" off the Jersey coast and in the vicinity of Fire Island. Pictures of the "fleet" were taken at the request of Secretary of Navy Wilbur, who said it would give the dirigible crew good scouting practice and that prohibition agents and coast guard might make use of the data in helping to snare wily rum-runners. The shadow in the picture is cast by the dirigible.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER.

DISCOVERS NEW COMET.

CAPETOWN, May 13.—W. Reid, amateur astronomer, says he has discovered a new comet. He already is credited with the discovery of seven comets.

BOYS AND GIRLS GIVE PROGRAMME

Football and Baseball Clubs Unite in Entertainment at Warsaw.

WARSAW, May 1 —On Wednesday evening the Boys' Football Club and the Girls' Baseball Club gave an entertainment in Third Line school. There was a good attendance and a very interesting program of music and recitations was given, also some very amusing contests.

On Friday evening, May 22, the Warsaw Baseball Girls' Club is giving an "At Home."

On Friday evening last the South Dummer Dramatic Club put on "The Country Doctor." It was splendidly done. The Club was assisted by a quartette from Havelock. They have been asked to put on the same play on Friday evening, of this week in aid of the Warsaw Methodist Church.

The Warsaw baseball girls have joined the Peterboro' Club, so their games will depend on them. Miss Alberta Darling is captain, and William Selkirk is managing the practices which are held in the mill yard every Tuesday and Friday evening. About twelve or thirteen girls turn out to every practice.

Mothers' Day.

Mothers' Day was observed in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning. Rev. W. Atkinson followed the form as sent out by the O. R. E. C. Mrs. Munro sang and little Kenyon Choate recited "Somebody's Mother." The pulpit and organ were decorated with flowers.

In the Anglican Church, some ladies had taken flowers for Mothers' Day, though the service was the regular one.

The Methodist Church had flowers around the pulpit and the word "Love" in gilt letters. Rev. F. G. Weir preached from "Children, Obey Your parents." He thought that of all special days of the year Mothers' Day was one of the most important. The choir seats were filled with mothers. They gave two selections, in one of them Mrs. Munro sang the solo. The regular program sent out by the Ontario Religious Education Council was used at the Sunday School service in connection with "Go-to-Sunday-School Day," a very short address was given on "The Part Mothers Play in Building the Home, the Church, and the Nation."

In Cottessloe in the afternoon, Mr. Atkinson followed the program, speaking on the part played by the mother in the building of the home, church and nation. Hannah Elliott recited "Somebody's Mother."

The Methodist people held a congregational meeting on Wednesday evening. Matters of business were carried through so that this church, as the others on the circuit, can enter the Union, as the Methodist body does as a whole, on June 10, with everything clear.

Sowing Complete.

Many have finished spring sowing, many are nearly through, and those who are not finished are rushing it when weather permits.

The hard frosts of last week made farmers a little anxious about clover fields and newly started grain. Fall wheat is far enough on, as a whole, not to have been injured. Leafage has been delayed, but better the frosts before the buds are out than when they are.

Not much is done in gardens beyond cleaning them, and planting a few potatoes in the vegetable garden.

Many cattle were taken to summer quarters last week, and more are going this week.

Several made trips back for suckers, but the weather was too dull for large catches.

Mr. and Mrs. Digineed motored to Campbellford on Sunday, and spent the day with friends.

Mrs. A. G. Choate and Mrs. Geo. Taylor were in Peterboro' on Monday.

MARMORA PERSONALS.

MARMORA, May 13.—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Emmorey visited friends at Shanick on Sunday.

Stomach Distress

MRS. CHAS. TRIMPER

Bear River, N. S.—"It is a pleasure to me to write a few lines about Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In August 1923 I was taken sick and a doctor was called. He pronounced my case inflammation of the stomach and attended me for about a week, but I was getting worse. My son advised me to try Dr Pierce's Discovery. I did so, and am glad to say in twenty-four hours was out of bed. I am still taking Dr. Pierce's medicine. I have not had a doctor since. I am feeling well for a woman past sixty. I would highly recommend Dr. Pierce's Discovery to any similar sufferer."—Mr. Charles Trimper, Route 1.

Golden Medical Discovery is put up in Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont., and sold by all druggists in both tablets and liquid. Send Dr. Pierce 10c for trial pkg.

A PICTURE SCOOP.

Here are the children of Mrs. Horace Dodge II while at play in the yard. They took quite a liking to an Nea Service and Examiner cameraman and made him play with them. Horace ("Buddy") is a skooter fan. He couldn't keep his eyes open because of the sun. At the upper right "Buddy" wants more attention from Delphine, while in the lower right picture he has deserted sister to embrace his nurse. These pictures are the first ever taken of the children at the estate.

MODERN GIRL LIKE CALIFORNIA BUNGALOW LACKING TOP STORY, HAS LOST BLUSH OF MODESTY

MORE EFFICIENT.

(By a Staff Reporter)

DARTFORD, May 15.—The girls of to-day are not as efficient as were the girls of the time of their grandmothers. That question was settled after an interesting debate held in the Methodist Church at an entertainment that followed the anniversary services on Sunday. The champions of the present-day girls were Morley E. Smith and Miss Clara Perry, both teachers in the Warkworth schools, while W. H. Nelson, deputy-reeve of Percy, and Miss Mabel Honey upheld the cause of the girls of yesterday. Each of the ladies who took part in the debate was a type of the class for whose cause she spoke. Miss Perry, highly educated and engaged in a professional calling with a comfortable salary attached, Miss Honey, a farmer's daughter, skilled in every department daughte, s— , d in every departmen of housewifery.

Interesting Discussion.

Ten-minute speeches were made by each of the debaters and no lawyer could have done more for his client than did the speakers. Mr. Smith's argument was that the modern girl is independent, being able to earn her own living in different lines, that they so efficient; in short, that they are taking men's places everywhere.

The girl of two generations ago could not become as efficient as her sister of to-day because she lacked the opportunities. The human race has gained by leaps and bounds in the last 30 years, and the modern girl has thrown off all conventionalities.

Top Storey Lacking.

Miss Honey took up the cudgels vigorously on behalf of grandmother's girls. Girls to-day, she said, have lost all that is religious and fine in life and their conversation is garnished with slang. The present age has not produced a Harriet Beecher Stowe, a Joan of Arc or a Florence Nightingale, or a woman of the high type of the late Queen Victoria.

The girl of grandmother's time had native intelligence which was not drilled out of them by colleges and then education not practical. The girl of to-day s like a California bungalow, lacking a op storey. She is subject to physica lictions unknown a few years ago, ially and morally she has fallen off, uses powder on her face and dresses attract the attention of men. Modesty w is a thing of the past, and the blush unknown.

Our grandmothers were good housepers and taught that art to their nughters. The modern girl during the ar knitted socks for the soldiers and nany a man in uniform had sore feet as result. Grandmother's daughter could nanage a home; now the man who marries has to work outside and do the housework as well.

The Old-Time Dance.

Sparkling with wit was the address of Miss Perry who put up a vigorous defense for her sisters of to-day and who in pungent phrases described the home and social life of 50 years ago. When grandmother danced she was in constant dread that some awkward mate would tread on her train, but to-day it would require a high stepper to reach the dress of a young lady in a ball-room. There were, she said, plenty of Laura Secords and Florence Nightingales in the Great War. The world is getting better, Miss Perry declared, and the girls are improving with it and helping in the march of progress.

Grandmother's Girls.

According to Mr. Nelson the girls whose cause he championed, were good housekeepers. They helped to plant and to harvest the crop and often walked 15 miles to market. The modern girl has to have a car to make a trip of two blocks. She is not helping mother, but she is playing games. She cannot bake bread, she knows nothing about the care of children, and if called upon to milk a cow would ask for the lemon squeezer, she is unable to make her own clothing; in a word, the modern girl has ignored nature and adopted art.

The judges were Mrs. Sarah Moise Mrs. George Helson and W. E. Hermiston, and these arbiters, after spending nearly an hour in retirement, announced that Miss Honey and Mr. Nelson had won by two points.

The Musical Programme.

The choir, with Miss Lillian Reynolds as organist, rendered a number of selections and the following programme was given in addition, Rev. V. S. Kemp, pastor of the church, presiding:

Recitation by Miss Clara Perry; violin, organ, saxaphone and concertina numbers by George Sweet, and his young son Bruce, who is known as the musical prodigy of the district; reading by Miss Moise; solos by Mrs. Gray, and an address by Rev. C.D.Daniel, of Campbell ford, who preached the anniversary sermons on Sunday.

Receipts Were $278.

The neat little church in which this entertainment was held was built in 1882, and when it was dedicated every cent of indebtedness had been cleared off. The congregation in all these years have been faithful in their attendance and generous in their support. The trustees asked them to contribute $125 at the anniversary services and the collection on Sunday amounted to $181. The receipts from the Monday night entertainment were $97, a grand total of $278, or nearly twice the objective.

YOU POOR KID, WHY ARE YOU SO SKINNY?

Don't your mother know that Cod Liver Oil will put pounds of good healthy flesh on your bones in just a few weeks?

Tell her every druggist has it in sugar-coated tablet form now so that you won't have to take the nasty, fishy-tasting oil that is apt to upset your delicate stomach.

Tell her that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets are chock-full of vitalizinz vitamines and are the greatest flesh producers and health builders she can find.

One sickly thin kid, age 9, gained 12 pounds in 7 months.

She must ask Warne Drug Co, McDermid & Jury, Jas. Lynch, or any good druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets 60 — tablets—60 cents as pleasant to take as candy.

CHIEF WEBSTER RESIGNS POST

Lakefield Council Regrets the Loss of Chief of Fire Brigade.

EFFICIENT CORPS.

LAKEFIELD, May 14. — Fire Chief W. L. Webster handed his resignation to the Municipal Council on Monday night as he has accepted a good position in Toronto. His resignation was accepted with deepest regret as Mr. Webster is chiefly responsible for the splendid state of efficiency of the Volunteer Fire Brigade which was organized four and a half years ago with him as Chief, and which has done splendid service in the village since, and is now one of the most important assets of the village, as Chief Webster and his men have been prompt to answer the call to duty at any hour of the day or night. Volunteer service, cheerfully rendered, is good citizenship, and is characteristic of Mr. Webster.

The appointment of a successor was laid over till later, but probably either the assistant Fire Chief, Mr. W. Murduff, or Mr. A. H. Clarke will be appointed.

The citizens are unanimous in extending their good wishes to Mr. Webster in his new position.

A Little Excitement.

When "Polly," the handsome green parrot belonging to Dr. J. C. Smith, escaped from his cage on Saturday morning and flew to the top of an elm tree in the doctor's back yard, there was indeed a sensation, and like magic a crowd gathered. "Polly" was coaxed and tempted to come down, but without avail. Mr. Keith Wannamaker volunteered to climb the tree, but as he was almost within reaching distance, "Polly" backed a little further along the branch he had selected for a resting place, and said "Hello!"

As a last resort, little Donald Smith, aged three, who is a prime favorite of the parrot, was brought out and "soundly spanked," this was the last straw, and "Polly," who will never allow his favorite to be punished, flew down to defend Donald. The last glimpse the crowd had of the scene, Donald was regaling himself with a cookie, and "Polly" was beside him saying, "Polly wants a cracker."

The parrot, formerly the property of Mr. and Mrs. Hicks, of Burleigh Falls, was presented to Dr. Smith last winter, and is a remarkable bird. Besides being an exceptionally handsome parrot, he is also a wonderful talker, and has a large vocabulary.

At Peterboro Concert.

Several motor car loads of music-lovers attended the splendid concert given by St. Paul's choir in Peterboro on Monday. Dr. J. C. Smith, who is a member of the choir, was among those who took part.

Among the Lakefield people present were: Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Burrows, Mrs. W. M. Graham, Misses M. and E. Ray, Mrs. Leonard, Misses Nelson, Ruth Crawford, and M. Sanderson, and A. McKibbin and Mr. W. H. Casement.

Rev. F. W. Anderson, M.A., of Port Hope, will be the preacher at the morning service in the Presbyterian Church.

The members of Lakefield Lodge No. 358 I.O.O.F. will hold their annual church parade on Sunday evening, May 17th, to the Lakefield Baptist Church, where Rev. W. H. Howard will preach to them.

Personal.

Mr. R. D. Murduff spent the week-end in Toronto.

Miss M. Hampton was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Barrie in Norwood.

Miss McKibbin is visiting friends in Peterboro.

Rev. P. L. Jull was in Peterboro on Tuesday.

NEW BISHOP CHOSEN IN NIAGARA DIOCESE

Rev. D. T. Owen, Rector of Christ Church Cathedral, Hamilton, Elected.

HAMILTON, May 15.—(Canadian Press).—The Very Rev. Derwyn T. Owen, rector of Christ's Church Cathedral, was yesterday afternoon appointed Bishop of the Anglican Diocese of Niagara on the first ballot when the clergy and lay delegates convened to appoint a successor to the late Bishop Clark.

Bishop-elect Owen was born in Twickenham, England, and is 49 years of age. He was educated at Eastbourne, Toronto, Church School, and in 1900 was ordained a deacon, and a year later elevated to the priesthood.

The new Bishop is married and has five children.

A GHOSTLY PLACE.

LONDON, May 15.—The largest collection of skulls in the world is in the Royal College of Surgeons' Museum here. There are more than 6,000 specimens, some dating from the year 9 B. C.

The first aerial passage of the British Channel was in 1785, when Francois Blanchard, a Frenchman, and an American companion, made the trip in a balloon.

This Child Identifies the Store Where You Can Buy Congoleum Rugs

To make it easy for you to select your new floor-coverings—to save time and trouble for you during this busy Spring house-cleaning season—thousands of stores throughout Canada are now showing special "easy-to-choose-from" displays of Congoleum Gold-Seal Art-Rugs. You can identify these stores by the Congoleum Play Girl in the windows.

Time to Brighten Up the Home

You surely need at least one—probably several—of these beautiful, sanitary, easy-to-clean Art-Rugs. For no other floor-covering adds so much to the cheerful appearance of the home, or removes so much of the drudgery.

Besides, Congoleum Gold-Seal Art-Rugs are wonderfully economical. They cost very little to start with, and, under ordinary conditions, they last for years. The money-back Gold-Seal Guarantee insures satisfaction.

If you have not yet used Congoleum Art-Rugs in your home, you'll be interested in their many advantages

Easily Cleaned—Waterproof

In addition to their low cost and beautiful patterns, these modern floor-coverings are waterproof, grease-proof and dust-proof. A light going-over with a damp mop removes every trace of dirt and leaves them spotlessly clean. If water gets under the edges of the rug no harm is done, for the material is waterproof right through to the under surface.

Another unique feature of Congoleum Gold-Seal Rugs is that they lie flat on the floor without fastening of any kind. There are no unsightly tears or tack holes to hide if you wish to move the rug to a different room.

Whether you need new floor-covering for your home or for your summer camp—whether you need it for kitchen, dining-room, bedrooms, living-room or porch, you're sure to find just what you want in Congoleum Gold-Seal Art-Rugs.

Look for the store that displays the Congoleum Play Girl in the window. And make your purchases now, while assortments of patterns and rug sizes are complete.

GATE QUESTION NOW SETTLED

Alnwick Council Decides That Joseph Kelly Must Remove Gate.

BUY A GRADER.

ROSENEATH, May 15 — The Alnwick township council held a special meeting in the town hall Roseneath on Saturday evening to settle the Kelly gate question and also to decide about buying a new grader.

The gate question came up first. Since the April meeting the township solicitor had replied stating that there was only one thing to do and that was to have the obstruction removed. A lively discussion took place but the council with the exception of Councillor Brown decided that the only course was to order Mr. Kelly to remove the gate. Mr. Brown said he did not think it was fair to ask Mr. Kelly to remove the gate, he did not see why Mr. Shearer wanted the gate off after allowing it to be put on. Councillor Parker was asked to write out the resolution but he refused saying that he had written out one at the last meeting and the rest of the council would not sanction it so that now they could write it to suit themselves. Councillor Brown said that he could not, or rather wouldn't try to write it out with the result that Reeve Mauncey wrote out the following resolution and it was seconded by Councillor Gimlen "That the council authorize the clerk to write Mr. Jos. Kelly asking him to remove gate, fence and also posts on the road." This resolution passed unanimously.

Regarding the grader the matter narrowed down between the Allen and the Ross and finally council decided to purchase a No. 2 Ross grader.

Councillor Parker and Braithwaite moved that tenders be asked to secure a man to run the new grader.

Councillors Gimlen and Brown moved an amendment that Reeve Mauncey and Councillor Braithwaite be a committee to hire a man without tenders being asked and the amendment carried.

The baseball team had a work out on Saturday evening and although the players were not numerous, owing to the cold weather, considerable fielding and batting practice was indulged in.

Wm. Arnold has purchased a pure bred Shorthorn bull from Col. C. M. Blythe of Guelph, Ontario.

The annual meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday last at the home of Mrs. E. Brisbin with a good attendance. The election of officers was as follows: President, Mrs. Jas. A. Brown; Vice President, Mrs. M. Davey; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. C. W. Varcoe; District Director, Mrs. G. Ingham. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Alfred Braithwaite on June 11th. The regular day, June 4th is the day the local ladies are invited to meet with the Fenella ladies at the regular summer meeting when there will be a special government speaker on it was thought best to change the date

Survivor's Story.

One of the seven survivors and a watchman, recalled that at 2 o'clock when the boat finished loading said it was on even keel. He prepared to assist in raising the boom and raising the anchors under the direction of Captain Slackford, who was operating the winch. The hose swinging around on its own weight and the boat which had commenced to list before the hose was disconnected, slanted down towards the water.

Captain Slackford, Krause recalled, told him to go below and help out in the plates, and witness heard him say, "My God, it's too late to pull her around." At that time the pump room was filling with water. There was about three feet of water in the room at that time. "The water was coming in so fast we could not get the plate into place," said Krause.

Witness referred to a couple of alleyway doors which were supposed to be water-tight. "When I got on deck I hollered to the captain and told him to blow the alarm," said Krause. "He pulled the cord and I heard several blasts. I ran aft, I don't know for what purpose, probably intending to get the aft lifeboat out."

No Time For Lifeboat.

Krause could not recall when a lifeboat drill had been held but he remembered seeing the boats swing out on several occasions. Witness said there was no time to swing the lifeboat out before the ship turned over and he told how he floated around in the wreckage and finally hauled himself up by the propeller. Later he and the other survivors tried to attract the attention of five boats that passed about three miles away, but without success.

William Loveridge, the wheelsman and the third survivor to be called, explained the location of the water tanks in the ship. There were several of these, he said.

"I was in bed asleep at the time of the accident," recounted Loveridge. "My partner warned me that the boat was turning over. I grabbed a life preserver and went on deck and floated around for some time before I got up on the bottom with the other survivors. Loveridge said a tug passed a mile and a half distant and did not come to their aid. It passed closer than any of the ships recalled. Witness heard the whistle blowing several times; he could not recall how many.

SPECIAL CONFERENCE.

Gospel Hall Will Be Scene of Gathering on Three Days.

Commencing May 23 the christians at Gospel Hall will hold a three-day convention, three sessions each day. The meetings will be held in the G.W.V.A. Hall.

About a dozen speakers will be among the hundreds who will come and all Peterborough is asked to assist in this event. On Sunday night, May 24, the conference will gather in Central Park for a Song Service. Preachers from Africa, Scotland, Ireland England and United States, as well as those of Canada will speak.

TENDERS FOR ETC.

laws and the end will then be in sight.

The recommendations to the City Council, passed by the Board of Works, for the contracts for the sewage disposal plants call for the contracts to be awarded to F. R. Wilford, the Smart-Turner Co., the Francis Hawkin Co., W. R Turner, and the Dorr Company. The lowest tender was not accepted in every case as some of the apparatus offered was not designed for sewage disposal purposes.

It was moved by Alderman McIntyre, seconded by Alderman Crowe that the tender of F. R. Wilford Co. to construct the sewage disposal plant for $78,000 be accepted.

It is said that Mr. Wilford has some of his equipment at Lakefield or Young's Point and he can move it down cheaply and doesn't have to buy any special equipment. He has done considerable water construction and is well recommended. Mr. Parsons said that he had been speaking with Mr. Wilford who appeared quite satisfied to accept the contract. The motion carried.

Sewage Pumps

In taking up the second section, pumps, the Mayor asked what pump the City Engineer would recommend. He favored the Wood-Trask pump which was specially designed to pass sewage. He said the difference in power consumption would pay for any difference in price and there would be no trouble with clogging. This pump fitted with the C.G.E. motor was favored so that parts for motors if necessary could be obtained easily. "The other pumps," said Mr. Parsons, "were made for pumping clear water and not adapted for pumping sewage. The Mayor moved that the tender of the Smart-Turner Co. for three Wood-Trash pumps with C. G. E. motors at $11,316 fo the three be accepted. Alderman Phelan seconded the motion which carried.

Air Compressor System

The City Engineer recommended the Connersville compressors which are specially designed for activated sludge work, rather than the Wilbraham-Green compressor which he said had not been tried on this work and required a larger motor. The Mayor and Aldeman Jones moved that the tender of the Francis Hankin Co. for Connersville Compressors at $18,753 be accepted.

All the tenders for air diffusing system cover the same make of plates and the lowest tender, that of W. R. Turner for $14,576.00 was accepted.

Clarifier Mechanism

The Dorr Company quoted two prices for clarifier mechanism on two different terms of payment. The terms that they offered at the low price were considered unfair as they asked for 50 per cent of the price on shipment, so the higher price, $31,970, was accepted. The other price was $31,190 and the aldermen calculated that the saving would be taken up in interest charges.

The deposit checks sent in with the tenders will be returned to the tenderers after the contracts have been executed.

One tender for pump equipment came in two days after the closing date. The City Engineer was authorized to send the check back.

Telephone Poles

The question of placing telephone or other poles on the streets is left to the Mayor, the Chairman and the City Engineer. The matter arose from the placing of poles on Gilmour street west of the Monaghan road where the city had planned to put the poles on a right-of-way back of the property.

Will Fix Drain

The drain across C. Clancy's lot will be filled in with pipe to a point agreed on by the owner and City Engineer. This drain at present it is said becomes blocked and causes annoyance.

PRESTON'S ASSERTION

ried freight from foreign ports at a lower figure than from British ports. He said that he had figures to substantiate this statement.

Just before concluding his cross-examination, Mr. Montgomery asserted that "Mr. Preston's report was written not in good faith, and done maliciously."

"I would expect that from you," retorted the witness. He informed J. T. Shaw, of Calgary, a member of the committee, that he would go straight to the steamship companies if he had to make his investigation over again.

Letters to Minister.

In answer to questions by Sir Henry Drayton, Mr. Preston admitted that he had written a number of letters to Hon. T. A. Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce, during his investigation overseas. The letters were marked "private and confidential," he said. Sir Henry immediately asked for the production of the letters.

Chairman McMaster said that he would ask Mr. Preston to get in touch with Mr. Low and try to obtain the letters.

Sir Henry said that the matter was in the hands of the committee, and that production of the letters could be ordered. "If the committee is going to consider only those things which the Government says it may consider it might as well stop sitting," he remarked.

Mr. Montgomery read a letter from the Canadian High Commissioner, written February, 1924, stating that it would not be wise to weigh too heavy upon the companies lest they withdraw their ships and "kill the goose." The letter pointed out that the companies are going through serious times. Mr. Montgomery asked if Mr. Preston agreed that the companies were going through serious times.

"I don't know anything at all about it," said Mr. Preston.

Mr. Symington, on the conclusion of Mr. Montgomery's examination, suggested that the witness give an account of his visit to England, but the steamship companies' counsel protested on the grounds that Mr. Preston had been examined and cross-examined, and made his report, and wasn't proper, according to procedure, for him to make a speech at that point.

J. T. Shaw then addressed questions to Mr. Preston in regard to what authority the Order-in-Council gave him.

Mr. Preston said he did not see the Order-in-Council for a long time after his work had commenced, but he understood that he was to try to get a general solution for the freight rates problem.

"Would it not have been better for the accredited representative of the Government to go direct to the companies?" asked Mr. Shaw.

"If I had to do it over again, I would go straight to them," said Mr. Preston.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 14. — Wheat ready to be delivered here this month jumped up in prices today as much as 7 1-2 cents a bushel. Brisk demand from Europe and a big falling off in shipments from Argentina wes the chief apparent reason. Closing quotations on wheat were strong, 2 to 7 cents above yesterday's finish, latest transactions today being at $1.67 3-4 to $1.68 for May and $1.52 to $1.52 1-4 for July; with corn 1-2 to 1 3-8 cents up; oats showing 1-2 to 5-8 to 3-4 gain and provisions varying from 40 cents decline to 5 cents advance.

One Chicago firm was alone credited with having sold during the last two days a million bushels of wheat for export at the highest premium yet on the 1924 crop. Under such circumstances any prospect of much increase of the amount of wheat here this month appeared slight, especially as the Minneapolis stock was reported as having decreased 1,100,00 bushels in the last five days.

It was estimated that the world carry-over of wheat on July 1 would be the smallest on record. Figures from the United States Department of Agriculture put the carry-over at 125,000,000 as against 283,000,000 July 1, 1924. Immense shrinkage of forwardings of wheat from Argentina was meanwhile announced, the total shipments last week from that country being 259,000 bushels compared with 2,923,000 bushels a year back.

U. S. Authorities Detain Artificial Pearl Maker.

QUEBEC, May 15. — After he had signed a contract with a business firm in Eastport, Maine, to manufacture artificial pearls at their plant, Charles Hartenberger, a native of France, and his wife, now find themselves detained by the United States' immigration authorities. They will be deported unless the authorities at Washington see fit to have them admitted to the States, the main reason given by the local authorities here for the detention is that it is against the immigration laws of the United States to admit an alien under the "Labor Contract" clause.

A LINE-O-TYPE.

The much debated name of "Dog-catcher" might be avoided in Peterborough by taking the hint of a city official who proposes the appointment of a "Nuisance Inspector."

Nuisance Inspector. Whether the name would be any more acceptable to the applicants for the position is a debatable point that could only be settled in a test. It seems to be a difficult position for which to frame an innocuous title. "Nuisance Inspector" would at least be on a par with "Sanitary Inspector," about which there has been no kick registered.

A Nuisance Inspector would be a very handy person to have around. Apparently, from information divulged by the aforesaid official, his duties would be to pick up the loose ends left by every other official and employee of the city. In addition, he would catch dogs. And in his spare time he could look for missing electric light bulbs and broken telephone wires.

The suggestion is that in his peregrinations in search of erring and wandering dogs, the dog-catcher—elevated to the position of Nuisance Inspector—would note and report such things as broken sidewalks, sunken roads, cracked pavement, dangerous limbs of trees, trees that need pruning, and such things. Then he could have power to prevent children from running their scooters on the sidewalks, and might keep a fatherly eye on young girls.

It was proposed some time ago, that the Aldermen should note and report imperfections in the roadways and sidewalks, but the Aldermen considered this not part of their duties. It was last week suggested that the street sweepers might carry notebooks for such a purpose, but this was discounted on the theory that the streets must be swept, and even if a man did carry a notebook and pencil he would have no time to make annotations. And the men might demand more money.

So the plan put forward for a Nuisance Inspector might be workable. It would, at least, prove a method to avoid the objectionable "Dog Catcher" title.

Statistics gathered in the city result in the guess that there are not enough people saving for their vacations.

This is the anniversary of the birth of a great woman—a woman famous not so much perhaps for the magnitude of the work she herself accomplished as for the impetus she gave for good. One hundred and five years ago Florence Nightingale was born. She lived to be ninety years of age, a long long life, of which the beauty and glory are still being projected, and will be a spirit of influence for good to humanity in centuries to come. Florence Nightingale elevated the profession of nursing to a dignity and importance in the eyes of the world that it had never had and which it has never lost.

A Great Woman.

The Crimean War gave Floence Nightingale her great opportunity, and she was noted afterwards for her advice in later wars. But for the Crimean War her work at home prepared her. The training of her early life was the important phase for those following her to remember and emulate.

A nurse's life is anything but a holiday, and when one watches the devoted services of the nurses in the city hospitals, under all conditions and demands, a better understanding appears of the heroism of Florence Nightingale and her legion of followers through other wars and the no less exacting years of peace.

Peterborough has the proud record of preparing for their life work some of the best trained nurses in Canada, and many have gone to the United States. This can, in large measure, be ascribed to the excellency of the teaching imparted, but must rest fundamentally on the character of the material on which the teachers work. And that is a compliment for Peterborough girls at large, and nurses—trained and in training—in particular.

Honor the memory of Florence Nightingale—and tender your respects to Peterborough-born and trained nurses everywhere.

The time for Pen and Sword was when
"My ladye fayre," for pity,
Could tend her wounded knight, and then
Grow tender at his ditty.
Some ladies now make pretty songs,
And some make pretty nurses;
Some men are good for righting wrongs,
And some for writing verses.

Tires at Bargain Prices Plus Service

GOODYEAR

MADE IN CANADA

WE, Goodyear Selected Dealers, sell Tires at bargain prices. It doesn't matter what price you want to pay, there is a Tire which gives the greatest value for that price. No matter what size you use, what type, we will quote you the lowest price for a tire of Goodyear quality.

We have 30 x 3½ Cord 4-ply and Fabric 4-ply Tires between $6 and $8—tires which we have watched for the past two years and which we have seen go 6,000, 7,000, 8,000, 9,000 miles. We have the Goodyear Wingfoot Tire in Cord and Fabric—a tire in road-grip excelled only by the Goodyear All-Weather; in mileage excelled by no other. We have the popular Goodyear All-Weather Tread Tire—the largest selling tire in the world—in fabric, cord and Balloon Cord.

The prices we quote are possible only because Goodyears have the largest sale of any tire in the world and are sold all over the world. Goodyear buys raw materials in huge quantities—and gets the lowest prices. Goodyear, through its branches in every part of the world, knows when to buy. Goodyear has lowest overhead costs because they are spread over millions of tires. Goodyear factories operate day and night, further reducing manufacturing costs. Goodyear gets the pick of tire builders because their jobs with Goodyear are full-time, steady jobs.

World-wide Goodyear sales mean lower cost for tire improvements. The cost of research and invention—of better materials and machinery—is spread over millions of tires. World-wide use means that Goodyear can test tires under widely varying conditions.

Tremendous sale makes possible Goodyear's own cotton mills. Only because of those mills was Supertwist developed—the wonderful, new, Goodyear Cord fabric now used in all Goodyear Cord Tires—both Balloon and other sizes. Supertwist adds longer life to tires because it s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-s more—gives to the blows of the road instead of breaking.

All these Goodyear qualities we Goodyear Selected Dealers offer you at bargain prices—at prices comparing favorably with the prices of tires built without Goodyear's world-wide advantages.

More! The Goodyear method of distribution saves you money. Goodyear branches carry stocks—save us freight charges—give quick delivery. We are Goodyear men—a part of the Goodyear organization. We are just as anxious as Goodyear to see you get full mileage from Goodyear Tires. We render a service which costs you nothing, but which saves you money and time and trouble. When you consider tire prices, consider this Goodyear service which is rendered free.

CAMPBELLFORD COUNCIL TO BUY NEW ROAD BUILDING MACHINERY

Stone Crusher Will Cost $1,600—Only Opposed By One Councillor.

NEW DEBENTURE.

By-law Provides For Issue of $8,800 to Pay For Acquistion.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 15.—At a special session of the Town Council last night it was decided to purchase a stone crusher at a cost of $1,600 to be used in connection with the road roller and scarifier, which was bought at the last regular session. Of the six councillors including the Mayor, who were present when the vote was taken, only Deputy Reeve Palliser opposed the purchase. He moved that no further outlay be made for road machinery, but failed to secure a seconder, the other members being of the opinion that the street improvement outfit would not be complete without a crusher.

When the Council was called to order, all the members were present except Reeve Davidson and Councillor Moore, but Councillor Kingston left before the vote on the road machinery question was taken. Councillor Cole said that he was in favor of purchasing a crusher.

Big Cut in Price.

The firm from which the roller and scarifier were purchased wrote offering to supply the town with a crusher, the usual price of which is $2,300, for $1,600, provided the machine was shipped on the same car as the roller, this price to be f.o.b. in Toronto.

Some of the councillors were in favor of buying a separator, which will grade the crushed rock, the coarse stone to be put on the roadways first and the finer grade to be used for top dressing. No decision was reached on this point, but it may be decided later to purchase the equipment complete. Crusher and separator would cost about $2,900. The motion to purchase the crusher was made by Councillor Cole, and seconded by Councillor Southworth.

It is estimated that with a crusher the town can produce all the crushed stone required at a cost of not more than 75 cents a yard. R. Foy offered to do this work at 93 cents if furnished with the rock and ex-Councillor Redden's bid, sent in some time ago, was for $1.25 a yard.

New Debenture Issue

The council passed a by-law that had been prepared by Town Solicitor Lynch, providing for a debenture issue of $8800 to pay for the new road machinery. These debentures will run for five years and bear interest at the rate of 5½ per cent.

Deputy Reeve's Objection

The reason given by Deputy Reeve Palliser for voting against the purchase of a crusher was that there was a large quantity off gravel on the streets and that if this were levelled by the scarifier and pressed solid by the roller that would be sufficient for this year.

Mayor Meyers called attention to the fact that there was no gravel on the side streets and that crushed stone would be required for these.

Who Pays the Taxes?

Tax Collector Cumming, who was present, reported that he had been unable to collect the business tax or the tax for oiling the streets in front of the premises occupied by the C.N.R. as an express and down town ticket office. The total amount charged on the tax roll is nearly $50.00.

Fred Wilsher was C.N.R. agent up to a few weeks ago when he resigned and moved to Granby, Que. It seems that he was not employed by the railway company on a salary but worked on a commission basis and leased the premises from George O'Sullivan. The railway people disclaim all responsibility for the taxes. On the advice of Town Solicitor Lynch, Mr. Wilsher will be notified to appear before the Court of Revision on Thursday, May 28, to show cause why he should not pay the tax. If he finds today so, the usual steps will be taken to collect the amount.

Petition for Sewer

Ex-Councillor Redden presented a petition signed by himself and others asking for a sewer on Kent street. This petition was referred to Clerk McGregor for verification, following the procedure usual in such cases.

Clay tile will be used in the second steet sewer, subject to the approval of the engineer.

To Set the Rate.

Another special meeting will be held on May 21st to set the tax rate for the current year, a task which the majority of the members approach this year with considerable trepidation. The purchase of the road machinery will not affect the rate this year, as the first payment on the debentures will not be made until 1926.

Assessments For Sewers.

Mayor Meyers, Reeve Davidson, Councillors Moore, Kingston and Abernethy will meet as a court of revision on June 5th to hear appeals against the assessments for the construction of the sewers on Sebastapol and tributary streets and on Front and Major Streets.

WHAT CAMPBELLFORD COUNCIL DID.

Voted to purchase a stone crusher.

Passed a bylaw to raise $8800 by a debenture issue to pay for road building machinery.

Decided to notify Fred Wilsher of Granby, Que., to appear before the Court of Revision on Thursday, June 25, to show cause why he should not pay the business and street oiling tax charged against the premises which he occupied in Campbellford while acting as the C. N. R. express agent.

Agreed to hold special meeting on May 21 to strike the tax rate for the year.

Resolved to hold a Court of Revision on June 5th to hear complaints against assessments for the sewer recently completed.

Referred to Clerk McGregor for verification a petition signed by ex-Councillor Redden and others for sewer on section of Kent street.

Decided to use best grade of tile for Second street sewer.

Arranged programme for sidewalk building and various other improvements in various parts of the town.

BETHANY MAN WAS PAINFULLY HURT

Heavy Plank Fell on Foot of A. Driver, Inflicting Severe Injuries.

BETHANY, May 15.—A. Driver met with a painful accident on Wednesday while engaged in loading heavy plans from a pile into a cart for A. Cody. The plant which was 3-inch hardwood and extra wide slipped and fell on Mr. Driver's foot He will be confined to the house for a few weeks.

Victor Grandy disposed of a valuable horse to E. Lewis, Peterboro, on Monday.

F. Maples, who has been manager of the Bank of Toronto in the village for the last year, has been transferred to the branch at Lynhurst, Ont.

Mr. Warren of Elmvale will be his successor. The change will take place at the end of the week.

Baseball Meeting.

An enthusiastic baseball meeting was held in the town hall on Tuesday evening, for the purpose of drawing up a schedule and forming a league. The following teams have been entered in the East Durham League: Blackstock, Nestleton, Yelverton and Pontypool will form one half, and Janetville, Bethany, Millbrook and Mount Pleasant will comprise the other half. Each section will play its own schedule, and the winner of each half will play off to decide the winner and enter into the O.B.A.A. play off. Representatives were present from each team and a good season is looked for.

The Bethany Athletic Association purpose holding a field day on May 25. A ball tournament will be held. The teams competing will be Cognawagnas of Peterboro against the home team, and Janetville vs. Millbrook. The winner meet to decide the winner. In addition to the ball games, a mile relay race will be run, open to pupils of the schools in the Township of Manvers, and a concert at night by the Fox Company. The above association has staged this programme for several years, and a disappointment has yet to be met with by their patrons. The boys give all they have got on the field and prove themselves to be right good sports in order to make this occasion a success.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church was held at the home of the new president, Mrs. T. J. Jackson on Tuesday afternoon, eleven members being present. Plans were discussed for the success of the society for the coming year. After the business was attended to, prayers were offered for those who were unable to attend owing to illness. At the close of the meeting a very dainty luncheon was served by the hostess.

Miss Olga Fowler, A.T.C.M., of Peterboro intends holding her closing piano recital early in June and will be assisted in the programme by Miss Winnie Evans, violinst.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rowan and Mrs. S. McMullen spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. B. McMullen, Oshawa.

Miss L. Washington and Mrs. A. Driver were Peterboro visitors on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Greenlaw spent Wednesday in Toronto.

James McKinnon is erecting a fine spacious verandah to his residence.

GILT LEATHER.

Dancing slippers of black satin are trimmed with straps of gilt leather.

OBITUARY.

MRS. JOHN BURKE.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 15. — There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes on the casket of Mrs. John Burke, who was buried yesterday from the home of her son on Booth Street, wreaths from members of the family who mourned the passing of a devoted mother, and from friends who for the past ten years had esteemed the deceased as a quiet and kindly neighbor. Requiem Mass was sung by Rev. Father Phelan at St. Mary's Church, and the remains were laid at rest in St. Mary's Cemetery.

THOMAS J. MYLES.

HASTINGS, May 15, 1924. — The funeral of the late Thomas J. Myles was held on Wednesday morning, service being held in the Church of Our Lady Mount Carmel.

Deceased was a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters and the funeral was held under the auspices of that body, the order marching to the church.

The bearers were all members of the Order and were Messrs. J. F. McCarthy, John Condon, Phil Elmhirst, J. F. Jones, R. Walsh, Richard Walsh.

Interment took place in the Roman Catholic cemetery.

MRS. MARY ANN BENNETT

CAMPBELLFORD, May 15.—funeral of Mary Ann Bennett, wife of Nelson Miller, was held Thursday afternoon, services being held in the Baptist Church. The deceased, who had resided in Campbellford for nearly half a century, was in her seventy-eighth year. She was noted for her industry and was caretaker of the public school here when men who are now gray haired were pupils. She was twice married, her first husband being the late James Fellwell. She is survived by several step children, but leaves no offspring of her own. The remains were interred in Christ Church Cemetery, the late Mrs. Miller having been a member of that denomination, although she attended the Baptist Church with her second husband.

CAMPBELLFORD NEWS

CAMPBELLFORD, May 15.—Miss Nellie Hoover, who has been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Church in Orillia for several weeks, returned home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wenman of Lindsay spent Sunday at the home of the latter's sister, Miss Mae Moffit.

Mrs. (Rev. G. C. Clarke is in Toronto this week as a delegate from the Girls' Auxiliary of Christ Church to the Womens' Auxiliary annual convention.

Mrs. John Fairman visited in Peterboro on Thursday.

Circle Elects Officers.

The annual meeting of the Young Ladies' Mission Circle of the Methodist Church was held on Tuesday evening in the school room when most satisfactory reports of the year's work were presented.

Miss Verna Saunders was appointed delegate to the District Missionary Convention, to be held on Friday, May 15, at Mount Pleasant Church, Hubble Hill, when the convention will be addressed by Miss Rorke, a missionary on furlough from Japan, who is supported by the Bay of Quinte W.M.S.

At Your Grocer's Saturday

Tremendous Popularity of New Product, Kellogg's Pep, to be Widely Introduced on Saturday.

The arrival of a new food is always something of an event, and hence we are looking forward with considerable interest to the introduction sale of "Pep" in Peterboro on Saturday next.

"Pep" is the latest member of the Kellogg family and has won instant and amazing popularity wherever it has been introduced.

"Pep" is made in the wonderful new plant at London, Ontario, which has just been reorganized and refitted so that now it produces over a million breakfasts every day.

Some idea of the production capacity may be gained from the size of the box factory which can turn out 10,000 cases a day and 25,000 cartons an hour. The Kellogg plant consumes 4,000 bushels of corn every day, and apart from the vast output of Corn Flakes, Bran, Krumbles and now "Pep," it produces, for example, 700 bags of hominy feed and 300 bags of white corn flour a day.

To see this huge plant at work, to see the army of white uniformed employees, is to realize the enormous popularity of Kellogg's products and to pay tribute to the success won by Kellogg's through their triple watchword, QUALITY, FLAVOR and VALUE.

HEAVY FIGHTING STILL GOING ON

Riffians Captured Airplanes and Many Prisoners From French.

MANY WOUNDED.

PARIS, May 15. — (Canadian Press). — General de Chambrun's men, in cleaning out a strong position of the Riffians on the heights of Bibane, in Morocco, in a single day, are declared to have administered a salutary lesson to the invaders. In military circles it was said yesterday that it required close fighting with cold steel to dislodge Abd-el-Krim's followers.

MANY WOUNDED.

TETUAN, Spanish Morocco, May 15.—(Canadian Press).—Advices received from the French zone are to the effect that the fighting between the French forces and rebel tribesmen continue, with heavy losses on both sides. The French military hospitals are described as being filled to capacity, making necessary the evacuation to other hospitals of the wounded.

MANY PRISONERS.

MADRID, May 15. — (Canadian Press).—A despatch to the newspaper Informanciones, from Seville, quotes passengers arriving there from the French zone in Morocco as describing the situation as critical. It is asserted that there is consternation in the villages behind the fighting front owing to the increasing number of wounded men sent to the hospitals each day. The despatch says that travellers brought to Seville a rumor that after a sanguinary fight the forces of Abd-el-Krim, with the aid of artillery and machine guns, captured a French airdrome with its airplanes and other war material, and also took many prisoners. Moore from the interior report that Abd-el-Krim has three aviators. Two of them are Germans and the other a Russian.

GERMAN PLANES MENACE BRITAIN

Great Increase Planned in Commercial Aviation Dangerous in War Time.

OVER NINE COUNTRIES.

LONDON, May 15. — A terrible menace to British commercial aviation, in the opinion of Sir Samuel Instone, is found in the proposed increase of Germany's air services by 75 per cent. this summer.

The morning Post quotes Sir Samuel Instone, the British aviation expert, as saying that a great net work of German air lines will spread over Europe, controlled by Junkers and affecting eight or nine countries, including Germany, Hungary, Austria, Esthonia, Latvia Switzerland and Roumania.

"Although the German machines are not war machines," Instone said, "they would be to an air service what our merchant marine was to the British navy."

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

CAMPBELLFORD, May 15 — Mr. Ernest Buckton, who has been with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Buckton Sr., for some time, left on Tuesday for Montreal, where he will sail for his old home in England.

Miss Hilda Hollenby, who has been employed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Irwin, left on Tuesday for Toronto where she has secured a position.

Stanley-Diamond.

A wedding of much interest to her many friends in Campbellford took place in St. Peter's Church, Revelstoke, B.C., by Rev. F. C. Mortimer, when Betty Blanche, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Diamond, of Toronto (formerly of Campbellford), was united in marriage to Mr. Oswald Stanley, of Trail, B.C., son of Mr. J. H. Stanley and the late Mrs. Stanley, formerly of Port Colborne.

NO INFORMATION ON SARNIA GIRL

HAD LEFT SARNIA.

SARNIA, Ont., May 15.—(Canadian Press).—Inquiry here yesterday failed to reveal any information concerning Louise Havers, of Detroit, stated to be a former Sarnia girl whose life was attempted on Friday last at Detroit by the means of poisoned candy. Miss Havers married Alexander Papineau, a mill manager, the year after she left Sarnia, and last October divorced him and was given the privilege of using her maiden name. On Friday she received a box of chocolates and became suspicious. Analysis of the contents showed that they had been treated with an uncommon and virulent poison. The Detroit police are searching for a battered typewriter using oversize type, with which the address on the box label was written.

GENERAL DEPRESSION IN CITY BROUGHT OUT BEST

societies and clubs did their share—and more. In many cases the men in work, or in partial employment, have "paid the dues," and kept in good standing their less fortunate brethren. They have shared their homes, and even provisions, in such a way that it is well one should not reveal their identity—which indeed they would resent. Another organization that must be named is the Home and School Association, in all its several branches in city schools. At every meeting of the Board of Education are reported children absent because of the need of clothing or boots, and on every occasion there is the appended note, "Supplied by the Home and School Association." This banding together of parents and teachers of the children in each school is perhaps one of the most inspiring tokens of good will. There is no lodge obligations; only the co-operation engendered by the spirit of good-neighborliness. It is a touching, hopeful, instance of mutual helpfulness.

Organizations not fraternal, such as Kiwanis, Rotary, and members of church and women's societies have done a great work, and with them as with many others the left hand knows not what the right hand does. It is generally conceded that this method of showing fellow feeling would be best if it were not, in a city this size, ever liable to the possibility of overlapping or of oversight. And oversight would be the greater calamity.

How much good was dispensed by members of Churches as such can never be estimated. Individual groups and individual men and women, have been actively engaged all winter. One civic employee who makes regular tours of certain houses learns on the way where clothing may be had, and after his business hours he returns to collect it for some needy family. At a gathering of women someone's need is mentioned, ways and means are talked, and the result is help given unostentatiously and without request of acknowledgement.

Social Service'

Organized administration of relief has many commendable attributes. There are persons of means who do not find it their duty to administer, or whose business calls or other claims may prevent the personal distribution of their help to the needy. There are cases also where skilled practical advice and even direction, where the knowledge of the nurse, and the experience of the housewife are even greater aids than monetary offerings. And beyond a doubt there is a class of persons that would rather seek aid from an official administrator than from a personal friend. And these individual societies are carrying on this social service work in a commendable manner.

The City's Part'

Through Relief Officer F. W. Miller the city extends to needy persons temporary assistance over the rough places. Mr. Miller is reticent about his duties; he never betrays a confidence.

No one is given financial assistance in the form of an order for rent, fuel or groceries, if he refuses to work. If no work is to be found at the Government Employment Bureau or in places known to the Relief Officer, the applicant is given an opportunity to saw wood provided by the city. This sawn wood is then distributed to other needy families where there is no one capable of doing the work.

Employment Service's

Another office in the city where the manager is modest about his work but proud in his ability to help—is that of the local branch of the Government Employment Service of Canada. H. Robertson, the superintendent, handles hundreds of applications a month regularly, and scores a week in winter. He endeavors to place every man and woman who applies for work, and is genuinely sorry when he is compelled to tell a caller, "Nothing yet." Genial, but efficient, he is not among the least of those working for the good of the city in reducing its unemployment, sometimes creating jobs to take care of particularly needy cases.

In the Employment office there is efficiency in the highest degree. It is not a hangout for unemployed, as some seem to think. The visitor is impressed by the business methods used in dealing with applications for help and for employment, and the general appearance of the office will compare favorably with that of any business office in the city. Many personal calls are received, and requests are coming by telephone, some days, in a constant stream. All are tabulated in card index systems, regular reports are made up for the head office and for statistical purposes, and no one is dismissed without a courteous reply to any request. Probably the citizens themselves do not realize that their own Employment Service, with its office on Charlotte street, is ready to render at all times good service to employers and employees.

In these offices no unnecessary, unduly inquisitive, questions are asked of applicants, nor is the service ever made to minister to political wire-pulling or to be offensive. On the other hand, frauds are exceedingly difficult to get away with.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

"OLD MAID AT TWENTY-FIVE?" "NONSENSE," SAY CITY WOMEN

Five Agree in Interview That Thirty is Age of Perfection.

CHANCE NOT GONE

Interviewed yesterday by The Examiner, on the question of the age at which a woman may be designated "an old maid," several city ladies expressed themselves as not favoring the plan of the Florida, U.S., legislature to so designate every unmarried woman over 25. The Act declares that a $5 tax shall be imposed upon "old maids" and bachelors, setting the ages at 25 and 30 respectively.

The Peterborough ladies who commented on the attempt of a State legislature to declare when a woman has lost her charm for obvious reasons requested that their names be not mentioned, and in order to secure their opinions the request was acceded to. Two of the ladies are married, the remaining three are single.

"I don't agree with the age limit," one of the married spokeswomen said. "I don't think any man, or any body of men, can say at what age a woman loses her attractiveness and passes her opportunity to be married." This lady, and it is a startling fact that nearly all the others agreed with her, set the age of woman's perfection at thirty. "If I could stay at a certain age all my life," she said, "that age would be thirty."

Which is a happy reply to the wiseacres who would declare every woman older than 25 past hope.

Times Have Changed.

"A hundred years ago," said one of the maiden ladies, continuing the eulogy of thirty as the perfect age, although she is herself some birthdays away in the right direction, "thirty meant middle age to women. They were settled for good when they arrived there. Ahead of them was nothing but housework, the children, and the children's children. To-day, I believe thirty is the beginning of things for an up-to-date woman. If she doesn't marry she may have a career in some sphere of more mundane activity. Many women combine both, and a few do it successfully. Take the case of Annie Nichols, the author and producer of "Abie's Irish Rose." At thirty she is one of the most successful women in the world and the mother of a healthy five-year-old boy besides. And she looks like a mere flapper."

"We can't all be like her," interjected the second married lady. "Some of us are more disposed to domesticity than others, and even the production of a play or a book has no thrills for us. It would be wrong to suggest that we should all have careers outside our homes. But still, I don't think many women feel their youth is over at thirty. Everybody worships youth, of course, and flappers have the limelight, but we have our place."

Venus de Milo.

"If it's looks these fellows are judging by, they don't know much," another of the still youthful spinsters declared positively, kicking the floor in a pensive mood. "Why, take the most beautiful statue ever produced—the Venus de Milo—and you'll find a fully developed woman was chosen. Venus was no flapper. I don't know what this bunch of old fossils can do about it, but I, for one, certainly don't think a woman should be called an old maid just because she hasn't married before reaching twenty-five."

"I think it's silly," another member of the party remarked. "They must be seeking publicity or have some other idea, for surely they couldn't expect people to take their plan seriously. Why, at thirty, a woman is just beginning to be sure of herself, and is just learning for certain what she wants to do with her life and what she wants from it. What man makes a success of his life and work before he reaches thirty years of age? Then why say that women are either successes or failures at twenty-five? It's perfectly absurd!"

After this symposium it was to be expected that the remaining two ladies would not differ greatly, nor did they. "In these days, when every door is open to us to develop the faculties that have been dormant for centuries," one said, "it is just silly to say that if we have passed twenty-five without marrying we are in a rut and must be classed 'old maids.' I know, personally, many women who have started out on their careers at thirty and made successes of them. It is at that age that a woman develops the personality that makes womanhood so perfect. Like a good many men, I will probably be that age myself before I start practice—and I'll tell the world I'm a long way from being down and out."

Perhaps the finest thought was expressed by the last speaker, a lady who might possibly, in Florida, be among the debated class. "I think," she said, "that a woman who has just left her immature twenties behind her has all the charm of youth without its insipidity. At thirty, a woman is just like the rose in full bloom. The dewy bloom of youth is still upon her . . . and the wrinkles are still in hiding. I would like to say that some of the sweetest friends I have are what these lawmakers would call 'old maids.' If they are 'old maids,' then I thank God for them."

Mrs. A. A. Perrin, McDonnel St., was hostess yesterday afternoon at a delightful tea, attended by about one hundred and twenty five of her friends. The pretty rooms were decorated with flowers, with pink roses and snapdragon and daffodils in the drawing room, where Mrs. Perrin, wearing crabapple crepe romaine, heavily embroidered with grey wool and beaded in blue, was assisted in receiving her guests by Mrs. James Massey of Port Hope, in black and white silk crepe. Mrs. F. Whitehouse ushered the ladies to the tea room where the table was beautifully arranged with Venetian lace, centred by a silver basket holding a large old-fashioned bouquet of pink roses and pink snapdragon, daffodils and purple iris, with individual silver holders holding pink roses. Tea was poured by Mrs. J. W. Meyers and Mrs. William Westlake cut the ices. Miss Sybil Brown of Port Hope was in charge of the tea room, assisted by the Misses Enid Sanderson and Lela McClelland. Miss Kathryn Whitehouse officiated at the door. During the afternoon several well received vocal solos were given by Mrs. J. H. Renwcik, with piano acompaniment by Mrs. E. J. Racher. Out of town guests who motored from Port Hope included Mrs. D. Shay, Mrs. (Dr.) Hawkins, Mrs. Martin and Miss Ida Squinger.

Mrs. W. Chambers (nee Ada Halliday) was guest of honor this week at two linen showers given for her by friends. On Wednesday evening, Mrs. O. E. Kingdon, Barnardo avenue, entertained a number of the bride's friends, when the basket of linen presented to her was brought in by Jean and Arthur Kingdon, and last evening, Mrs. L. Wilson, Albert street, was hostess at a linen shower for Mrs. Chambers.

HOME TOWN RECIPE.

The following timely recipe for the pineapple preserving season comes from Mrs. C. Mills, 563 Sherbrooke Street. It is a pineapple and rhubarb preserve:

Pare pineapples and cut in small pieces. To each pound of fruit add one-half pound sugar and let stand over night. For each pineapple used take one pound of rhubarb and three-quarters of a pound of sugar. Boil rhubarb and sugar together for half an hour, add pineapple and let boil five minutes.

April and December Walk Down the Street

April and December walked down the street, hand in hand. December wore a flat black hat, of ancient vintage, a long, trailing black gown and a warm black jacket on a warm day. April had bare knees, a light dress and a hat with flyaway ribbons. December plodded along, and April skipped. In December's hair were the snows of many winters, in her eyes the faded bleakness of life. April's round, marble eyes danced with the zest of childhood and springtime.—December was seventy and April was seven.

HONOR GREAT WOMAN TODAY

Florence Nightingale, the Lady of the Lamp, Won World Renown.

WAS PREPARED

Florence Nightingale—whose natal day this is—is probably the best known woman who ever lived and worked among the common, everyday experiences of human life. From their cradles children are told the story of her achievements; the first story books picture "The Lady With the Lamp," and all through literature and history there is the imprint of her wonderful deeds.

As a little girl Florence Nightingale was interested by her philanthropic mother in the then crying needs for reform in the hospital service and the refining of the profession of the nurse. As a child she was devoting her training-time to the preparation for her life work that was to be enduring.

She is known popularly and generally for the part she took first in the Crimean war—and then afterward for her advice and wisdom in consultation in later wars. But her work in the Crimea was made possible by the preparation at home through the years when she was a child and then when she was emerging into a career of her own. She was finally an expert in the science of hospital work and the art of the nursing profession—and she acquired her place of recognition by the patient thorough, tedious method of application through a long period of training. She knew the work of war time hospital and nurse service but she was as well prepared to advise and direct the work in civil times of peace, in city hospitals, in community health work, in emergency occasions, in the hygienic and sanitary education for the school and home.

There is no accounting the value of the influence of this one carefully trained, earnest worker in one important line of human activity upon the world—upon all nations and all the generations following her. It is a tribute to nursing of the highest order to pay tribute to-day to Florence Nightingale.

Cynthia Grey Says

The question that seems to worry most husband hunters is this one: Which kind of woman does a man want—the home girl or the super-vamp? The Jenny Wren or the Bird of Paradise?

Of course, it depends a great deal on the type of husband the girl happens to be looking for. But the most popular young "petter" in town isn't always the one who picks the prize husband. Sometimes she gets no husband at all, in fact.

Such a girl is Booth Tarkington's "Alice Adams." Alice was enormously popular in her teens. By the time she was ready to marry, no one wanted to marry her. All the men who had "petted" her had lost all their interest in her, as men do. They kiss and—ride away! The one kiss they keep on wanting is the one they never get!

I should advise "Daisy G" to read Booth Tarkington's book. Here's the letter she wrote to me:

Dear Miss Grey: I am 23 years old, and I can have a different beau every night in the week. In fact, I do. But none of them seems to be wildly anxious to give me an engagement ring. They all want the petting privileges of the engaged without making me an offer of marriage. Is there something wrong with me? Do you think I'm too easy to kiss, perhaps?—Daisy G.

Questions-Answers

Dear Miss Grey: My husband has a very pretty girl working in his office. Whether he's interested in her or not I don't know. But he certainly does not seem to care for me any more. Shall I ask him to discharge her?—Wife.

No. Perhaps the cause of your husband's coldness is not this girl who works for him, but you, yourself. Are you sure that you make the same effort to please him that you did when you were his sweetheart? Too many women blame another woman for robbing them of their husbands, when the truth of the matter is that they, themselves, let their men slip through their fingers.

Dear Miss Grey: Is it proper to take off one's hat in a restaurant at luncheon time?—Mrs. G.

No. Not then, or any other time you are in a public dining room. Although if you start out in the evening, it is permissible to go with your head uncovered.

Some Forms Of Approach For The Husband-Hunter

Always study your man before you flatter him.

If he's the successful business-man type, begin your conversation with him in one of these ways:

"Do you know the thing about you that impresses me? . . ."

"The first time I ever saw you I said to myself . . ."

"I've always noticed this about you . . ."

On the other hand, if he is the poetic type, start off in any of these ways:

"The first time I ever saw you I said to myself . . ."

"I've always noticed this about you . . ."

"Do you know the thing about you that impresses me? . . ."

But if he is the athletic, polo-playing type, you will do well to follow one of these three courses:

"I've alway noticed this about you . . ."

"Do you know the thing about you that impresses me? . . ."

"The first time I ever saw you I said yo myself . . ."

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

BRANTFORD, May 15.—(Canadian Press).—Sir Gilbert Parker, Bart., of London, England, is in this city, his former home, for a quiet holiday.

WHISPERS

A dance can be roasted even though it isn't well done.

The type of woman that other women call "catty" is the one who cat-naps until the men come into the room. Then she wakes up! And comes to life with a bang!

Many a woman has been weighed in the balance, and found wanting .....to reduce!

If stores gave their women-customers charge accounts for automobiles as they give them for dry-goods, there's hardly a family in this country that wouldn't have an automobile within two weeks!

Is This Your BIRTHDAY

FRIDAY, MAY 15—If you are celebrating your birthday today, you will be a true lover of nature. The study of it will interest you greatly and at times of the year you can hardly stay in your office or your home. The call of the great outdoors is constantly in your ears. Your health should be good, because of the large amount of time you spend out in the open air. You may not become very wealthy, but you should enjoy life thoroughly.

You are born under the zodiacal sign of Taurus, which is partly responsible for your desire to roam all over the world.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carr, 333 Reid street, announce the engagement of their daughter Ruby to Mr. Harvey E. Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Henry. The marriage to take place the latter part of May.

SELF-TRIMMED IS WATCHWORD

Milady Purchases Simple Frock and Adds Her Own Handiwork.

LEATHER POPULAR

By HEDDA HOYT.

NEW YORK, May 16 (United Press).—She who gets trimmed often does her own trimming these days.

Never in the history of styles has there been such a variety of trimmings at the lace and trimming counters. Since only the very expensive gowns are adorned with unique trimming, Milady purchases simple frocks and applies her own handwork making herself a competitor to the French gownmaker.

There are, beautiful Persian, Russian and Chinese bandings, lace jabots, net and lace frills and gorgeous embroidery appliques which one can utilize this season. Persian banding comes in wool or silk in various color combinations and this makes a lovely finish for the deep-set armholes of the peasant sleeve. It also acts as a neck and pocket finish. One of this embroidered banding is also trimmed with closely set colored buttons. Often just a small strip of this is used at the side or front closing of the wool sports blouse. There is a gray kasha jumper frock in a Fifth Avenue window which has a band of wool embroidery in orchid, purple and red-worked on a gray background, finishing the pockets of the jumper, the side blouse-opening and cuffs. It is very effective.

Jabots are now sold by the yard which, when applied from neckline to hem of the Summer gown, are all the trimming necessary. Often this comes in dress lengths being wider at the top and narrowing at the hemline.

Leather trimming is popular and comes in colored as well as silver and gold banding. This can be matched by design appliques of leather and when used on a cloth frock as sleeve or hem-border finish is very effective. Among the beautiful appliques are Chinese designs done in the Peking stitch which is similar to French knots. These come in lovely soft shades. They can be whipped or buttonholed to a frock to good advantage.

Even flowered cretonne is used on frocks in applique effect as on the black crepe foundation of a black chiffon frock. Here large pinkish roses with buds and green leaves are set onto the front of the underslip in corsage effect with leaves falling toward the hem.

Ecru net and lace evening gowns will be generally worn this summer. One can purchase net and lace combinations by the yard and there are lovely ruffles of tucked net and lace to combine with the material to give the hem flare. Such a frock is worn over a pastel slip and with a wide horsehair hat of green, ecru or brown makes a stunning garden party outfit.

"For all washing and cleaning you can't beat this soap—" says Mrs. Experience, who chooses soap for its economy and labour-saving value.

"Sunlight puts the sunshine of cleanliness into the home! For washing clothes, dishes, wood-work, linoleums, in fact, for anything that can be cleaned with soap and water—I call on Sunlight. And Sunlight does its work so well and leaves everything sweet and clean.

"Sunlight really is economical, too! You see, every bit of it is pure, cleansing soap, containing no filling or hardening materials, which are only waste as far as we women are concerned.

"You get greater cleaning value out of a pure laundry soap—and so I say, 'Always keep a good supply of Sunlight on hand'. It really improves with age. And because of its purity, Sunlight is kind to your hands and keeps them smooth and comfortable." Sunlight is made by Lever Brothers Limited, Toronto.

FROST RETARDS GRAIN GROWTH

Best's Station Farmers Have Completed Seeding—Suckers Provide Sport.

NEW TRAINS.

BEST'S STATION, May 15.—Many of the farmers are through seeding but owing to the severe frost of last week very little growth is noticed.

Several of the nearby residents find the 7.30 a.m. and 8.30 p.m. train very convenient. These two extra trains started May 4.

Suckers Are Biting.

A few of the prominent sucker hunters enjoy spending an evening at Mud Lake and Lancaster's Bridge. Although since May 3 there has not been very favorable weather for this sport some report a very good catch.

G. A. Gillespie, manager of the Peterboro' Milk Products, has started his milk and cream trucks through this district. He will continue his daily trips during the summer and fall months.

WEATHER DELAYS SEEDING IN EMILY

Rain and Cold Weather Interrupt Work of Farmers.

KING'S WHARF, May 15.—The recent rain and cold weather has put a stop to seeding which was being done for the last few days. There is very little done as yet in this locality as the ground is very wet. Few gardens are planted. The meadows are green and clover and fall wheat look fine. The stock have to be fed out of the barn as there is no grass yet.

Mr. Richard Murtha has moved back to his farm where he intends to farm this year.

There was a meeting at the Maple Leaf Cheese Factory Tuesday and everybody was in favor of sending their milk. The cheese-maker was out and engaged his milk-drawers and it is going to open about May 35.

Miss Agnes Crowley, who resided here in the village until the death of her mother a few months ago, sold her furniture and went to Rochester to live but has decided to reside in the village again. She returned last week, refurnished her house and has taken up residence again. We are glad to see her back again.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Milloy, of Lindsay, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. O'Neill Sunday.

Miss Ruby Perdue motored to Peterboro' Sunday and spent the day with friends.

Mr. John Winn was a business visitor to Lindsay Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carroll spent Sunday the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Peter Perdue.

Messrs. P. Perdue and J. Winn delivered a fine bunch of cattle Monday to Mr. Bushnell of Omemee for which they received a good price.

Mr. Angus Twomey has disposed of his driver to Mr. Sandy of Omemee for a good price.

Mr. Joseph O'Leary and sister Florence entertained a large number of their friends and neighbors Tuesday evening where an enjoyable time was spent by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. O'Neill entertained their friends and neighbors Friday evening with progressive euchre and dancing when all spent a very pleasant evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Perdue and family, of Peterboro', spent Sunday the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Twomey.

Miss Mary O'Connell spent the week-end the guest of her cousin, Miss Kathleen Corbett.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Brick, of Lindsay spent Friday the guests of friends in this locality.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Perdue, of Peterboro', were the guests of friends here last week.

Miss Ella Foley, of Keene, spent the week-end the guest of Miss Lillian Herlihey.

Mrs. Thos. Perdue, of Detroit, Mich., was the guest of friends here over the week-end.

The Misses Agnes and Hazel O'Neill, of Lindsay, spent the week-end at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Devine spent Tuesday in Lindsay the guest of friends.

Mr. P. Corkery spent the week-end the guest of friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Carroll and Mr. Ed. Herlihey, of Downeyville, spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Perdue.

Miss Marie Pluard, of Ennismore, was the guest of friends here Sunday.

Miss Geraldine Harrington, teacher at S. S. No. 15, spent the week-end at her home in Ennismore.

Mr. Herb. Clancy, of Peterboro', spent the week-end the guest of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clancy.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. F. Crowley and family, of Peterboro', spent Sunday the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Martin Herlihey.

Miss Mary Herman, of Ann Arbor, Mich., is spending some time the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Heenan, having been called here owing to the serious illness of her father.

The stork called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Herlihey and left a fine baby boy last week.

Mrs. Edward Hoolihan, who has been seriously ill in Lindsay, is able to be home again.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS.

Young People Still Actively Work in Meetings Despite Spring.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, May 15.—The weekly meeting of the Young People's League was held as usual on Thursday evening, in charge of the devotional department, under the vice-president, Thomas Fry. The program was as follows:

Devotional talk by Rev. Chas Daniels; hymn, by White's; devotional topic, by Thos. Fry; readings, by Mrs. Harry Barnum and Miss Verna Barnum; a scriptural contest, by Mrs. Fred Barnum.

The next meeting will be in charge of the missionary department.

Mr. Thos. Petherick, Mrs. Minnie Petherick and Masters Gerald and Arthur Petherick spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ingram.

Misses Agnes Thomson and Alma Simpson, Messrs. Earl and Everett Fairman attended the anniversary services held at Dartford on Sunday.

These services were conducted by Rev. Charles Daniels of the Seymour Circuit.

Miss Hazel Brown was the guest of Miss Verna Barnum on Sunday.

SEEDING FURNISHED.

Downeyville Farmers Await Good Weather to Plant Garden Truck.

DOWNEYVILLE, May 15.—The weather still remains cold and although a large number around here have finished seeding there is not much growth and grain does not look as well as it should, the spring was so early. A few gardens are planted but most people are waiting for the fine days before planting anything.

Mrs. Dennis C. Scully, of Lindsay, is spending some time here with her father, Mr. Dennis Hoolihan, who is seriously ill.

Mr Lewis, of the Peterboro' Creamery, was a business visitor through here during the week. The Lindsay cream truck made a trip through here last week but may not return.

KIWANIS CLUB LEARNED ABOUT BIG CANADIANS

Adrian MacDonald Spoke on "Canada's Great Men" at Noon.

NOT BACKWARD.

In Politics and Business, But No Opportunity in Arts and Letters.

Adrian MacDonald, M.A., of the staff of the Peterborough Normal School, addressed the Kiwanis Club today on the subject of Canada's great men. In starting, he referred to the statement of "Sam Slick" or Judge Haliburton, that there would be no outstanding men produced in Canada within the next century. For consideration of this statement, Mr. MacDonald divided Canadian life into three realms—political life, business life, and the world of arts and letters.

In the political realm Joseph Howe was the principal example. The speaker told of his early life and the famous libel suit brought against him by the Halifax City Council. Howe became the most prominent man in Nova Scotia by that trial, and led in the fight for responsible government. Responsible government was not, said Mr. MacDonald, brought on by the American Revolution, but was held back, as the British Government did not think that the colonies had been too much kept down, but thought that they had been given too much freedom. Other great men he mentioned as having been produced in Canadian political life were John A. MacDonald, Brown and other Fathers of Confederation. Politics then, said the speaker, has developed many outstanding men.

In the world of business, the example taken was Lord Strathcona. His life and success were held up as indicating what opdicating what opportunities were portunities were found in business in Canada, for a man to make a name for himself as one of the world's great business men. The hard work and careful saving of Donald Smith, as he was then, were the foundation of his fortune and great business interests. In this realm, said Mr. MacDonald, the prophecy of Haliburton has been disproved many times.

It is in the realm of Arts and Letters that the statement of Judge Haliburton has come true, said Mr. MacDonald. There is no outlet or opportunity for the men of genius in Canada, and as soon as a really great writer has started to make a name for himself in Canada, he leaves this country and goes to Europe or the United States. Here people are not so closely in touch with the great artistic and literary movements of the world as they are in New York or London or Paris and the Judge's simile of a frog pond and a large lake is particularly applicable.

The principal fault that Mr. MacDonald has to find with Canadians is that the great men, both of the past and present are neglected and unknown. He mentioned a test of a number of fairly well educated young people who were questioned about Sir John A. Maconald, and 20 per cent. of them did not connect his name with Confederation. What is needed is to rouse the enthusiasm of the young people about the men who have made great names for themselves in Canada. There should be no prejudice, whether in favor or against Canadian art or literature, but it should be judged on its merits beside the works of other countries, said Mr. MacDonald.

President Charles Cook was the booster for the day, and the first prize, a copy of Mr. MacDonald's book, Canadian Portraits, went to H. J. McCannan. Other prizes were won by Mayor Turner and W. Kidd. It was announced that the meeting next week would be in the evening and "Ladies' Night" would be observed.

$120,150,627 GAIN IN TRADE BALANCE

OTTAWA, May 15.—In the fiscal year ending March 31 last, Canada's favorable trade balance was improved by $120,150,627, which sum was made up of a decrease in imports of $96,434,330, and an increase in exports of $23,716,297, over the same period previous. Canada's imports in the fiscal year closed March 31 last amounted to $796,932,537, and her exports $1,069,067,353.

The Dominion's imports from the United States totalled $510,003,256, a decrease of more than $91,000,000 from the previous fiscal year, and exports to the United States also declined $13,250,000. to a total of $417,457,171, so that the balance of the trade of United States against Canada is still near the $100,000,000 mark.

Imports from the United Kingdom declined more than $2,000,000, to a total of $151,100,822, and exports to the United Kingdom increased by more than $35,000,000, to $395,850,982, making the total improvement in Canada's balance of trade against the United Kingdom nearly $38,000,000. Imports from the entire British Empire remained almost without change, the total being $194,981,066, while exports to the Empire increased by about $30,000,000 to a total of $475,140,259.

ST. PAUL'S MEN READY TO WORK

HAPPY TIME.

The men of St. Paul's Church, to the number of about 150, met in the Sunday School Hall last night for the purposes of re-organization.

This body of men meets as a class on Sunday afternoon for study and for special work, when called upon, in connection with missions, etc. They give liberally of time and means for various branches of work; and since many have come from other churches in the past few weeks, it was thought good to have a get-together and set the machinery going. Two representatives each from Knox, St. Andrew's and St. Paul's continuing Presbyterians were appointed by the chairman, James Connal, and these will be called upon to name a general committee and officers.

Rev. William Allan was a guest, and gave much good advice to the men, advising them to work for the progress of the church and the reading of the Bible to get nearer to the Divine Creator. With stories, humorous and pithy, he kept the audience in good spirits.

Fred Colwell also had a song to sing, Martin Chenhall at the piano.

The Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's, who have the enviable reputation of service and quality with edibles, surpassed themselves last night. They put on the tables, prettily decorated, viands of the finest, and all enjoyed the fare, and showed their appreciation in marked fashion.

DRIVER HELD FOR INVESTIGATION

Drove the Wrecked Bus in Which Woman Was Killed.

SIGNAL BLEW.

WINDSOR, May 15.— Orval J. Beaudoin, driver of the bus in which one woman was killed and nineteen others hurt shortly after midnight this morning, was held for investigation after the scalp wounds which he sustained had been dressed.

He declares he did not see the engine when he approached the railway tracks. The party, comprising the drill and degree teams of the Daughters and Maids of England, a fraternal organization, and a branch of the Sons of England, was returning to the border cities from initiation proceedings in Kingsville. The women were attired in the regalia of their oldge. The motor bus had been chartered by the lodge for the night.

George Blackham, of Walkerville, engineer, told the authorities he blew the signal as usual when nearing the crossing and that he was travelling about five or six miles an hour. The motor bus was caught on the pilot of the engine, dragged fifty or sixty feet and practically demolished, while the occupants were scattered along the track or crushed in the wreckage. Hundreds of persons soon swarmed to the scene and as fast as the injured could be extricated they were rushed to the hospitals in private cars and police ambulances. Staffs of doctors and nurses were aroused and as many as eight injured were taken into the operating room of the Hotel Dieu at one time. Mrs. Potter, 42 years of age, expired in a few minutes. Her daughter, May, is among those severely injured.

FEAR REMOVAL OF ALL RESTRICTION

Leader of Ontario Prohibition Union Called on the Attorney General.

TORONTO, May 15. — Rev. Ben Spence and Rev. John Bailey, secretary of the Ontario Prohibition Union, waited on the Hon. W. F. Nickle the Attorney General, to-day, in regard to the situation in Peel, Perth, Huron and Manitoulin counties, where the Canada Temperance Act was displaced by an order in council when 4.4 per cent. beer was authorized. They expressed the opinion that the new beer would do away with the Ontario Temperance Act, and these counties would have no restrictions.

The Attorney general held that "there was nothing in their viewpoint."

Rev. Mr. Spence commented that Mr. Nickle "had not the same opinion of the 4.4 beer as we have."

LIQUOR SMUGGGLING.

Millions of Dollars' Worth Entered United States During Last Year.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(Canadian Press).—When the Department of Commerce recently reported that forty million dollars worth of liquor was smuggled into the country last year, it was only making a conservative guess.

The true total may be greatly in excess of this figure, according to the coastguard officials.

FRENCH MINISTERS TO STUDY DEBTS

Caillaux and Briand Have Been Authorized By Cabinet to Find Solution.

PARIS, May 15. — (Canadian Press).—Finance Minister Caillaux and Foreign Minister Briand were authorized by the French Cabinet today to study the inter-allied debt question in an attempt to find an acceptable solution.

The decision of the Cabinet was given out officially after a long discussion of the problem this morning.

WARNS COMMUNISTS THEY MUST LEAVE

Home Secretary Says Britain Is Tired of Trouble Makers.

LONDON, May 15. — (Canadian Press).—The Home Secretary, Sir William Joynson-Hicks, uttered a warning to Communists during a speech at Queen's Hall this afternoon. Alluding to Bolshevik actions during the past, the Home Secretary said: "We are willing to let other countries of the world live, but we will not allow them to interfere with our constitution.

"We must see that the necessary steps are taken to deal with this menace from Russia. We are tired of the influx of men to this country who are coming here to embitter class hatred and destroy our constitution."

EXCUSES DIRECTORS.

W. N. Tilley Says General Manager Should Do the Work.

TORONTO, May 15. — (Canadian Press).—A bank director cannot "run around and be a private detective," W. N. Tilley, K.C., told the First Divisional Court this morning continuing his argument for a reversal of the conviction of R. P. Gough former vice-president of the Home Bank. A director, he argued, is entitled to trust in the honesty of the general manager who, according to the Bank Act, must be appointed by the board.

Mr. Tilley will conclude his case this afternoon.

Mr. Tilley saw hopeless confusion if the directors themselves were to attempt to manage the bank. They were rather to administer, he thought. Mr. Justice Ferguson believed it was the board, rather than the individual directors, which could do this management.

Weddings

The following notice, from The Cleveland Plain Dealer, will be of interest locally. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Toole of Otonabee, was a former member of the staff of the local Bank of Toronto:

"A pretty wedding of the spring season was solemnized last Thursday morning in St. Joseph's Church, when Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McCabe, became the bride of Mr. J. J. O'Toole of Cleveland, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Toole of Peterboro, Ontario. The bride, who looked lovely in white satin trimmed with pearls and brilliants, with wreath and veil, and carrying white roses and lily of the valley, was given away by her father. Miss Mary O'Toole, sister of the groom, wearing pink and carrying pink roses, was maid of honor, while Miss Mary Sullivan in green, carrying red roses, and Miss Kathleen Lenahan in peach, carrying yellow roses, were the bridesmaids. Mr. Vince McCabe, brother of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Jas. McCabe and Al. Dermot. Following the wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, the happy couple left for a trip through the Great Lakes and points West. On their return they will reside in Cleveland.

A STORY WITHOUT WORDS

DROWNED IN RAPIDS.

Cobalt Man Lost His Life Day After Celebrating Birthday.

COBALT, May 15. — (Canadian Press).—When his canoe tipped over while shooting a rapid on the Laflamme River in Barraute Township, Terr Lyon, who had celebrated his 33rd birthday the previous day, was drowned. His companion, Ralph Dipaolo, struggled ashore.

LID OF SECRECY.

Good, of Brantford, Takes Back Assertion in Committee.

OTTAWA, May 15. — (Canadian Press).—"It seems to me that the lid of secrecy is being put on here," said A. C. Good, M.P. for Brantford Ontario, in the course of the investigation of the Federal Income Tax Departments before the Public Accounts Committee to-day. Mr. Good said he desired to go into the question of the relationship between Tax Commissioner Breadner and his staff, but Chairman Logan said this was out of order, and Good withdrew his remark about the lid of secrecy. He said the committee should have power to examine in camera the income taxation of any individual or corporation.

Motion Lost.

After two hours' discussion the committee defeated the motion of W. C. Good for a wider open enquiry into the income tax returns. The committee held that these returns were confidential.

OBITUARY

ERNEST LAWRENCE.

The funeral took place this morning of the late Ernest Lawrence who for a great number of years has been connected with the livery business. The mass was held ot St. Peter's Cathedral, conducted by Father But- The mass was held at St. Peter's cemetery, where Father Costello read the prayers. He was a well known resident of Peterboro and throughout the surrounding district. He was well liked by all who knew him and will be greatly missed at Blewett's livery with which he has been connected for a number of years.

The pallbearers were Harold Lawrence, Alfred Huffman, Alfred Le Fave, Sr., Harry Le Fave, Alfred Le Fave, Jr., and Louis Anthony.

CHARLES NOYES

Charles Noyes, a well known resident of Peterborough, died very suddenly on Thursday afternoon between five and six o'clock. The deceased was eighty years of age and came to this country from England in 1873, being employed by the Grand Trunk Railway for all that time with the exception of four or five years. For a number of years he was stationed at the Charlotte Street crossing where he made a host of friends. He lived at 35 Armour Road.

He leaves to mourn his loss two sons, W. H. Noyes of Belleville, F. C. Noyes of Rochester, N.Y., and four daughters, Mrs. H. Trellope, 588 Division Street, Peterborough, Mrs. J. Cole, Rochester, N.Y., Mrs. Harry Orchard, Fairport, N.Y., and Mrs. Arthur Juby, Fairport, N.Y. Also three brothers, Mr. Henry Noyes, 346 Mark Street, Peterborough, and George and Immanuel in England, and one sister, Mrs. Cook, who is in England.

The late Mr. Noyes will be sadly missed as he had a great many relatives living in Peterborough.

The Oddfellows will be in charge of the funeral services, tomorrow, Saturday at 3 p.m. Interment will take place at Litte Lake Cemetery.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT ST. PAUL'S

Can We Communicate With the Dead Subject of Addrses.

The subject of Rev. William Allan's address last night was, "Can We Communicate With the Dead," based on 1 Samuel, 28th chapter, the story of Saul's dealings with the Witch of Endor. To the large audience, Mr. Allan said:

"This is a very remarkable chapter. Samuel after a long life has died. After his death, Saul goes from bad to worse. Envy and jealousy make of him a slave. Crowding God out of his life, it not long before he is found forsaking the paths of righteousness and peace. He was not content to seek the mind of God as revealed in His Word; he turns for help to those from whom no real help could come."

Departure from God and neglect of His Word brings disaster. The Philistines were combining to crush Saul and the problem was what could he do to avert impending doom?

As seen in 1 Samuel, 28:6, "And when Saul inquired of the Lord, the Lord answered him not, neither by dreams, nor by Urim, nor by prophets." If a man refuses to live up to the light God has given him, he need not be surprised if additional light is denied him. Sin and disobedience will cut us off from communication with God.

In the same chapter, verse 7, the speaker read, "Then said Saul unto his servants, seek me a woman that hath a familiar spirit, that I may go to her and inquire of her. And his servants said unto him, there is a woman that hath a familiar spirit at Endor. Saul disguishes himself and rode away in the darkness to solicit her help. A night of tragedy! The wind moaned as over a lost soul, the rain beat on his face as he covered the eight miles that lay between Gilboa and Endor.

At last he reached the abode of the witch of Endor, and made his request. She was suspicious. Assured that all would be well, she said, "Whom shall I bring up?" Saul replied, "Bring me up Samuel." The woman was startled. Samuel appeared and said, "Why hast thou disquieted me to bring me up?" Important is it to note he says nothing about the beyond more than to say, "Why hast thou disquieted me?" How different this is from much reported by spiritists as coming from the other side of the grave.

The Only Case.

There is not another case in Scriptures of God permitting the holy dead to come beak and hold conversation with the living. Where the word of God is silent it would be well to respect that silence and leave our dead at rest in the Lord. No good can come of dealing with the works of darkness. It is significant that all who deal in such matters seek darkness rather than light. "Men love darkness rather than light, because their deeds are evil. God has said, "And the soul that turneth after such as familiar spirits, and after wizards, to go a whoring after them, I will even set my face against that soul and will cut him off from among his people."

In Saul's case he lost his three sons on one day, and himself died the death of a suicide.

The man who would violate a grave is looked upon with loathing. So should it be with those who peer into the unseen world to communicate with the departed. It should be enough to know what is written.

The subject of the address tonight should be of great interest to many people—"Shall We Meet and Know Our Loved Ones After Death?" This is the last of the special services.

FRENCH BIRTH RATE IS ON INCREASE

Jumped From 191 to 194 Per Ten Thousand in Ten Years.

LONDON, May 15 (Canadian Press)—The statement often made that there were fewer babies born in France than in any other country is described by the Paris correspondent of The Manchester Guardian as a legend that is hard to kill. The correspondent declares that France alone among European counties has a birth rate that is tending towards increase.

Since the year 1915, the French birthrate has risen from 191 to 194 per ten thousand of population, The Guardian's correspondent points out, and while the birth rate in Germany is 209, in Great Britain 197, and in Norway 188 per ten thousand, none of these countries has as great an increase as France. France's increased birth rate is attributed to her recovery of Alsace and Lorraine as a result of the war and to the influx of Polish people and other foreigners.

BISHOP CHOSEN.

Rev. Walter R. Adams, of Croyden Elected First Bishop of Cariboo.

TORONTO, May 15 (Canadian Press)—Word was received in Toronto that the Rev. Walter R. Adams of Croydon, England, had been elected on the sixth ballot at Kamloops, B.C., as the first Bishop of Cariboo. Hitherto the district has been under the administration of the Bishop of New Westminster.

CANADA MAKES DUTCH TREATY

First Reading of Bill Approving Trade Treaty in the Commons.

OTTAWA, May 15. — The House yesterday passed a resolution, and gave the first reading to a bill approving the trade treaty between Canada and the Netherlands, and the Dutch possessions.

Hon. J. A. Robb, acting minister of finance, explained that Canada imported from the Netherlands and Dutch possessions cocoa, butter, gin, flax, nursery stock, tapioca, artificial silk and other commodities; while the exports from this country to these places included wheat, rye, automobiles and nickel. The imports, he stated, from the Netherlands proper for the year ending March 31st, 1924, totalled $5,359,980; and for the eleven months ending February 28, 1925, $4,630,000. On the other hand, Canada's exports to the Netherlands proper for the year ending March 31, 1924, were valued at $9,488,881, and for the eleven months ending February 28, 1925, $11,888,135. Imports from the Dutch possessions to Canada for 11 months ending February 28, 1925, reached the value of $2,541,000, while our exports to the Dutch possessions covering the same period, were valued at $1,350,000.

By Canadian Ports.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, and Col. Murray Maclaren (Conservative, St. John, Albert) raised the point as to whether or not goods coming to Canada from the Netherlands and Dutch possessions would have to come through Canadian ports in order to enjoy the concessions under the treaty. They advocated that these goods should come through Canadian ports.

Mr. Robb was personally of the opinion that such commodities covered by the treaty would have to enter Canada by Canadian ports.

He promised however that if after obtaining legal advice there was and doubt in the manner, a clause would be inserted in the bill to make it clear that the goods should so enter.

Something for Nothing.

After some desultory discussion pro and con on the treaty, Mr. Meighen took the floor. Canada's low tariff, he said, compelled this government to give concessions in the way of treaties to all sorts of countries under the threat of tariffs being raised against this country. It had been urged that the Netherlands might raise their tariffs to discriminate against Canada and even tax Canadian goods going through Dutch ports. He did not believe any country would take the latter action, but because of our low tariffs we have to protect ourselves with concessions against further penalties in the way of high tariff in other countries. We have got to give something for nothing to the Netherlands and other countries because of the policy of this government. These other countries know that we cannot retaliate against their high tariffs because this government is tied up to the gentlemen to my left (the Progressive group) and they can do as they like with us."

THREE KILLED IN CRASH.

TRENTON, Neb., May 15.—(Canadian Press).—Three persons were burned to death when an airplane piloted by Lloyd L. Hefling, of San Francisco, fell near here yesterday and burst into flames. The other victims were passengers.

GIGANTIC GROUND VALUES IN LONDON

Royal Family Not Enriched Though Land Belongs to Crown

HUGE REVENUE

New Leases Bring Ten Times as Much as Old

All the new leases have now been granted for the sites in Regent street, London.

In another 20 months or so this great reconstructed shopping thoroughfare, from the Queen's Hall to Piccadilly Circus, is likely to be completed.

Much of the ground is Crown property, and the ground rents are in many cases ten times as much as the old. It will mean an addition of hundreds of thousands a year to the Crown Land revenue.

But the Royal Family will not be a penny the richer. One of the best bargains this country ever made was when the land revenues of the Crown in the United Kingdom were surrendered by George III. in 1760 in return for a fixed annual payment of the Civil List.

The excellence of the deal was not apparent at the time because the revenue amounted to about $80,000, and the net return was no more than £11,000.

But in the past half-century these revenues have advanced by leaps and bounds.

For the year ended March 31, 1924, the total receipts amounted to £1,493,491. The expenditure was £525,083, and a sum of £920,000 was paid to the Exchequer.

It is estimated that the annual revenue to the Exchequer within the next few years will exceed a million and a half.

Against this there is to be set off the allowances to the Royal Family. By the Civil List Act of 1910 there was granted an annuity to the King of £470,000, but all but £110,000 of this which is credited to "Their Majesties' Privy Purse" goes in salaries and expenses of the Household and "works."

The Prince of Wales, who enjoys the revenue of the Duchy of Cornwall, receives no allowance from Parliament, but when he marries the Princess of Wales will be granted an annuity of £10,000.

The other sons of the King have been paid £10,000 a year since they came of age, and Princess Mary has £6,000 a year. When the Duke of York married his annuity was raised to £25,000. The same allowance will be made to Prince Henry and Prince George when they marry.

There are, of course, annuities still being paid to the surviving children of Queen Victoria and of King Edward, but in the aggregate all these sums, including the Civil List, do not equal the receipts from the Crown Lands, and in the future will fall far short of these revenues.

The monarchical system of government has often been opposed because it was "expensive." Great Britain, at any rate, is actually making a profit out of its Royal Family.

CHILD HOSTESSES SEEN IN MAYFAIR

Precocious Youngsters of Ten are Hosts at Lavish Parties

The child hostesses of Mayfair are a distinct feature today of life among the younger set.

Children no longer hold parties on juvenile and simple lines. They are permitted to give receptions and "at homes" on the lavish lines of the entertainments held by their mothers.

There is little difference, indeed, between the preparation made for the reception of a circle of boys and girls not yet in their 'teens and one held for their mothers and fathers. Flowers and refreshments for both are on much the same scale.

The child hostess, still under ten greets her guests with the air of a matron. Her hair is shingled; there is a touch of make-up on her face and of perfume on her person; she is dressed in an exquisite gown she has herself selected from a choice shown to her by a child mannequin. She walks and talks with superb lack of self-consciousness that denotes a mentality trained far beyond her years.

Last week an elderly peer met with a rebuff from a child hostess who looked like a beautiful Paris doll. They were fox-trotting together, when in the middle of a dance she stopped and said: "I am fed up with dancing with you. I would rather dance with someone whose step suits mine."

SUDDEN DEATH OF GODFREY ISAACS

Godfrey Isaacs, for fourteen years the managing director of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company and a younger brother of Lord Reading, the Viceroy of India, died at his country house, Lyne Grove, Virginia Water, after a brief illness. He was playing golf as recently as last week.

Mr. Isaacs only resigned his position at the head of Marconi's in November last under doctors' orders so that he might have—in his own words "sleep, peace, rest."

He had been working for fourteen years day with the tense energy that marked everything he did, and when he went out of harness he realised that he had worked for forty-two years with never a holiday.

He was born in 1856, and after a business and financial experience with his father's firm of fruit and shipbrokers he was invited to become managing director of Marconi's in 1910. From then until his retirement he was the moving spirit in the world-wide development of wireless.

Jazz Band In A Church Gets The Crowd In London

Many people had to be turned away at All Saints' Parish Church, Wandsworth, where Alfredo's Jazz Band accompanied the singing at the service. This is believed to be the first time a band of this description has taken part in a church service, and every available seat was occupied.

The band was invited to join in the service by the Rev. John Alban, the curate, who is taking charge of the church pending the appointment of a new vicar.

THE PRINCE AND SEAMEN OF DEVON

Affection for His Country Peculiarly English Trait

The Englishman's love of his country was alluded to by the Prince of Wales at the annual dinner of the London Devonian Association.

"The Englishman's affection for his country is a thing which I think is peculiar to us as a nation," he said. "It is very difficult for foreigners to explain why a small geographical division has such a hold on those born and bred within it; it certainly has a hold and a very strong one, and it is a good deal more than mere geography.

"There is all the difference, as I, having property in Devonshire, and Cornwall, know very well, between Devonshire and Cornish cream. (Laughter.) The true Devonshire man or the true Somerset man can tell with his eyes shut which side of the border cider is brewed."

The country spirit had been of great value to us as a nation. It animated all our country regiments in the war, and made possible the creation of the Territorial Army. In war, or in peace, in work or in play, that spirit spurred on many men to go one better than the others for the sake of the county. The part played by Devon sailors in making us a great sea power was inspired by a wonderful feeling that they were men of Devon.

"The nation would be all the poorer," said the Prince, "if the county spirit decayed in any way, although it is possible that local feeling can be carried too far, as in the old story of the man who said, 'Come on, Bill, here's a stranger; let's heave half a brick at his head.' (Laughter.) But in the main that spirit is a fine one."

Train Jumps Metal; Ploughs Up Field And Nobody is Hurt

Terror-stricken passengers in a train from Monmouth to the Severn Tunnel clung desperately to their seats when the engine of the train leaped from the rails, and, crashing through a fence, dragged the coaches jolting behind it across sixty yards of a field before coming to a stop.

The accident occurred between the stations of Bigsweir and Llandogo, on the Wye Valley Railway.

Cries for help from some of the coaches which had suffered most heavily appeared at first to indicate serious casualties, but it was found that no one had sustained anything but trivial injuries.

A passenger named Williams had a narrow escape, the buffers of the first coach crashing through the structure of the compartment in which he was seated.

Considerable material damage was done to the engine and coaches, the engine having plunged deeply into the field before coming to a standstill. The line was torn up and through services were suspended.

MAMMOTH BANQUET WORLD'S LARGEST

More than eight thousand guests will be present at a banquet—believed to be the largest ever held in the world—which will take place at Olympia on August 8.

The dinner will be given by the United Grand Lodge of England in connection with its Million Memorial Fund. The Duke of Connaught will preside.

Fifteen hundred waitresses will attend the guests, who will require more than 50,000 plates and dishes, 24,000 glasses, and 10,000 pieces of cutlery. Messrs. Lyons and Co. Ltd., the caterers for the banquet, will supply all this class and china from their ordinary stock.

The cooking will be done in seven kitchens, which will be under the control of a central office, electrically fitted like the conning-tower of a warship.

YACHT OWNER ROBBER OF JEWELS

A man born of working-class parents, who has lived since the war in expensive hotels and had a yacht on the Thames, was sentenced at Wakefield Sessions yesterday to four years' penal servitude for a remarkable series of motor raids on jewellers. Briefly his history since 1920 was:

Bath—Stole 58 rings by similar methods.

When demobilized the prisoner, John Bowers, was given a grant of £4 a week to study art, and went to Bristol Art School, where, it was stated, he first adopted expensive habits.

BRITISH LABOR HIT BY COURT RULING

Right of Worker to Quit Job Challenged in Lambeth Case

WENT TO POORHOUSE

Relief Authorities May Use Judgment Against Habitually Lazy

The right of a worker to throw up a job when he has no financial resources for the maintenance of his family has for the first time been challenged—successfully—by British poor relief authorities. Fortunately for the peace of Britain's industrial world the proceedings did not arise out of a strike or labor dispute, but the decision is liable to be quoted against the habitual refuser of employment who prefers the Government "dole."

Albert Fowle, a laborer, was summoned at Lambeth for neglecting to maintain himself, whereby he, his wife and three children became chargeable to the Borough Board of Guardians (local poor relief authorities). The "guardians" explained that Fowle threw up his job with a firm of road contractors in December, and the whole family went to the poorhouse. The man was of excellent character, and had since obtained other work, and the proceedings were not for the purpose of punishment, but for showing men they could not throw up their employment without reasonable cause, if the result necessitated their families becoming a burden on the taxpayers.

Fowle pleaded he gave up his job because he was suffering from lumbago, and heart trouble, and on this ground no penalty was imposed (he being merely "bound over to be of good behavior"), but the Magistrate contended he was not justified in throwing up his job. Similar judgment was given against William Whaley, a brother-in-law of Fowle's, who threw up his job in the same manner.

Some of the extremists of the Labor Party, who have been urging holders of ill-paid jobs to quit work and force the local authorities to support them, are considering whether the Lambeth judgment should not be challenged for tactical reasons.

BETTING INCOME NOT LIABLE TO TAX

Not Profit Within Scope of Income Tax Act

The appeal was allowed of Alexander Graham, Sen., of Amersham, Bucks, from an income-tax assessment on him in respect of his winnings from starting-price bets on horse races.

Mr. Justice Rowlatt, in his judgment, said Mr. Graham betted upon horses at starting prices on such a large and sustained scale and with such shrewdness that he made an income out of it.

"The contention of the Revenue, if sound, is one that has very startling results," continued Mr. Justice Rowlatt, "because the losses in a vocation or trade can be set off against profits. We are therefore face to face with the position that a person earning profits in some recognized form of industry, but having had the bad habit of betting systematically with bookmakers, might set off his losses against his profits for income tax purposes.

"There are allowances to a man for his family and his dependents, and we are now threatened with a further allowance in respect of the losses he makes by habitually betting. It certainly sounds very remarkable, and it entitles a person to make the State a partner in his gambling."

In his judgment the income which Mr. Graham succeeded in making was not profits or gains within the scope of the Income Tax Act.

He allowed the appeal with costs.

CLEVER ARMLESS YOUTH IN KENT

Sixteen-Year-Old Lad Performs Wonderful Feat With Toes

There is living at Stone, near Dartford, Kent, a boy of 16, Horace Lineham, who was born without arms.

He is singularly gifted and is able to use his feet as other people use their hands.

When seen at the home of his parents he was having tea. He picked up a slice of bread and butter with his toes, broke it in halves, and ate it.

He does everything for himself with the exception of washing and dressing. He can comb his hair.

Curiously enough, he uses his left foot as a rule, which in appearance more resembles a hand than a foot, the big and second toes being unusually long.

He picked up a box of matches, opened it, took out a match, and struck it, but more remarkable still was the manner in which he put a handle in a gramophone, wound it up, picked out a needle from a tiny box, inserted it in its place, put a record in position and set it going.

He also submitted a specimen of his writing, which was better than many written by boys who are not handicapped as this lad is.

Lineham was educated at the elementary schools and took his place with the rest of the boys. He succeeded in winning two certificates.

Recently officers and attendants at the Metropolitan Boards Asylum in the vicinity promoted a fund to assist the boy, and for this a studio has been built in his father's garden, and drawing and painting materials have been supplied, and the art master of Dartford Grammar School is giving him lessons.

It is hoped that later on he will be able to support himself by his artistic efforts.

The boy joins in the sports with other boys, and plays full-back in a local football team.

Shetland Pony Brings Home the Fuel

WATCH REVEALS MARINE DISASTER

Initials on a watch found on one of two bodies washed ashore in the Isle of Wight have led to the discovery that the collier Castlereagh, of Belfast, has been lost with the captain and nine members of the crew.

Inquiries were begun by the owners of the ship, when the watch was identified and it was established that the Castlereagh, which had been missing for a week, sank off the Needles.

The Castlereagh, which was on a voyage from Ayr to Shoreham, was last signalled near Plymouth.

The paysheet of the ship disclosed that a fireman, named Irwin, was engaged as a member of the crew, but when representatives called at his home in Belfast to acquaint his wife of the disaster Irwin himself answered the door. He left the ship at Ayr, where a deputy was secured by him. His substitute went down in the ship.

PIT RESCUE BY ROPE AT 500 FEET

To rescue a man named Brown, trapped in a mine shaft at Lingdale, Cumberland, Thomas Holliday was lowered 500 feet by means of a rope.

Clinging with one hand to the rope, he liberated Brown with the other, and placed him in the cage in which he was brought to the surface.

Brown had been leaning over a truck in a cage to remove a piece of stone which was causing an obstruction in the shaft, when the cage began to rise.

Jammed tightly between the shaft wall and the truck, he was hauled up 100 feet, receiving terrible injuries before the men on top heard his screams. Holliday at once volunteered to go to the rescue.

BLIND BEGGARS WHO ARE CHOOSERS

Blind persons who had refused to accept grants from the city, since they found begging more lucrative, were referred to at a meeting of Bath Health Committee.

One person who was said to receive three to four pounds a week had refused to give up a certain stand on payment of a fixed sum by the committee.

"As long as people will give money to these blind beggars in the lavish manner which they do, so long will the mendicants remain at the street corners," said Alderman W. Dawe.

Alderman F. N. Spear said there was no reason why any blind beggars should be sitting about begging in the streets. Provision was made for all by the City Council if they cared to receive it.

CROWN DEBTOR IS STILL IN PRISON

Fined £26,075 in the King's Bench Division last October for an alleged gun-running exploit from London to Russia, Captain C. H. Attfield, is still in Brixton Prison, S.W., as a Crown debtor.

His only hope of release lies in payment or a special Home Office order. Payment, apparently, is out of the question, and all efforts by his solicitor to secure release have been abortive.

WHEN WIFE MAY HAVE TO KEEP HUBBY

"When men and women are quite equal it will be the duty of a wife to keep her husband just as much as it is the duty of a husband to keep his wife."

This remark by the Marylebone magistrate (Mr. Wilberforce) was qualified with the addition, "We have not got to that state yet, but we are approaching it."

A man had been charged with stealing £2 10s. from his wife. The magistrate dismissed the case, saying he thought it was "inappropriate."

RITUAL REVOLT BY CHURCH CHOIR

A sensation was caused throughout Lancashire by the action of the Rev. R. Newman, rector of Church Kirk, Accrington, in disbanding the choir for refusing to obey his order to bow to the altar before entering the choir stalls.

RIDES 120 MILES SEEKING A JOB

Among the 100 candidates for the position of stoker at the Easthampstead, Wokingham, Berkshire, workhouse was a man who had cycled from a village 15 miles north of Birmingham—a distance of nearly 120 miles.

He cycled all night and made his application in the morning, when the union offices opened. He reached home again early next morning.

PRINCE EARNS 10D.

The Prince of Wales drove his train for half an hour in the cotton growing area of Nigeria. Senior railway officials thereupon presented him with a time sheet showing that the amount due to him was 10d. The Prince smilingly signed the sheet and accepted the money.

TEN PLAYERS ARE ORDERED OFF FIELD

P. W. Milroy, an Essex referee, had an unusual experience at Southend.

In the match to decide the championship of the Southend Borough Combination he had the courage to send all except the goalkeeper of one team off the field.

He then abandoned the game, which stood at one goal each up to the time of the incident.

FREE TUITION FOR BOY SCULPTOR

A boy who has worked in a colliery and has been found to possess great artistic abilities has been granted free admission to evening classes at the School of Art by Leeds Education Committee.

The boy, who is the son of a widow, has spent his spare time in carving figures in chalk and stone.

Employment has also been found for him with a firm of plastic cast makers.

THE CANNY SCOT IN OFFICIAL PLACE

A canny Scot who refused to allow his sense of justice to override his native economy figured in an amusing incident at Marylebone Police Court recently.

A Glasgow youth named Alfred Meikle, a cabin boy, was charged with sleeping in the streets.

Detective Quinlan said the Glasgow police had reported that Meikle was formerly in the Moss-bank Industrial School, and that he was suspected of being a youth wanted for stealing £11. The Procurator-Fiscal, however, did not intend to send for him.

Mr. Wilberforce (the magistrate) asked if it were not the practice in Scotland to prosecute for stealing.

Detective Quinlan said it was, but he thought the Glasgow authorities "wanted us to pay the fare. Perhaps you would like to see the letter," he added.

"Oh, no," replied the magistrate. "It is only a letter from a Scotsman, saying he doesn't want to pay money." (Laughter).

The magistrate ordered the boy to be sent to Glasgow.

COLOURS OF 19 UNITS ON ALTAR

Colors of 19 disbanded battalions of the Royal Fusiliers were laid up at St. George's Church, Hounslow Barracks, in the presence of a large military and civilian congregation.

A Color party of officers bore the emblems to the altar, on which they were laid by the Rev. F. T. Walker, Assistant Chaplain-General, Eastern Command.

The Royal Fusiliers Band played the accompaniments to the hymns, and an address on the services of the regiment in the Great War was given by Colonel M. P. Hancock, D.S.O.

TON OF STONE STRIKES WORKERS

A granolithic slab, a ton in weight, being raised by tackle to the first floor of a warehouse in Birmingham crashed down, when the rope broke, on a party of workmen below. It struck two men, breaking the leg of one and the ankle of another. Two other men escaped by inches.

HORNSEY PEOPLE SPOIL THE VOTE

In his district only 4½ per cent of the electorate voted at the recent triennial election, declared Alderman Dunmore, Hornsey, at the meeting of Edmonton Board of Guardians.

J. L. Sadler, of Southgate, the chairman, said that over 500 electors in his district threw away their papers in the polling booths.

The time was coming, he added, when the Government would have to take action to see that people who did not use their votes should have to give a reason or put up with the consequences.

DUBLIN NEWSVENDOR HAD £11,300 HOARD

An official of the Dublin Bankruptcy Court found £11,300 in Bank of Ireland notes bricked up in the wall of a tenement house in a poor locality in Dublin.

The search was made in consequence of a statement by Bridget Murphy, who formerly sold newspapers in the street, and her brother. The man and woman were recently sent to prison for giving unsatisfactory answers in the Bankruptcy Court. They changed their minds, and when they appeared in court today they disclosed where the money was.

Murphy led the official to the house and showed him the wall where the money was concealed. The amount was handed to the Official Assignee and the man and woman were released.

Girl at Highgate: My young man refuses to marry me. He says he has no money, but if I find that he has I shall sue him for breach of promise.

WILL OF MARIE CORELLI IN COURT

Judge Comments on Joy of Having No Relatives

£10,000 AT STAKE

Question as to Disposal of Royalties and Copyrights

Questions concerning the will of Miss Marie Corelli came before Mr. Justice Eve in the Chancery Division on a summons taken out by Mr. A. S. Watt, one of the executors.

The first question was whether Mr. Watt ought to admit or reject the claim of Miss Bertha Amelia Francesca Vyver, of Mason Croft, Stratford-upon-Avon, the other executor, to sums of £6,667 and £3,332.

The first sum had been deposited by Miss Corelli with the Bank of Scotland, Edinburgh. The second was withdrawn by Miss Corelli from her deposit at the bank.

Questions also arose as to how the royalties on her books and copyrights ought to be dealt with.

NO NEXT-OF-KIN.

Mr. Stamp, for Mr. Watt, said the ultimate residue after the death of Miss Vyver was for a purpose which had been considered to be charitable.

Assuming that the trust were not charitable, the Crown would come in because Miss Corelli was an adopted child, her origin was quite unknown, and there was no known next-of-kin or heir.

The Judge: What a convenient thing to sit down to write your will, and to find that nobody has any claim upon you whatever. (Laughter.)

Mr. Stamp said Miss Corelli certainly took that view, except that there were her servants, whom she treated very well.

"MY LIFE LONG FRIEND."

The will was drawn by herself, and she bequeathed everything she possessed to "My dear, life-long friend, Bertha Amelia Francesca Vyver unconditionally for her lifetime according to the terms mutually arrived at and agreed to by us.

In 1918 Miss Corelli signed a document certifying that money deposited by her in the Bank of Scotland was to be the property of Miss Vyver.

Mr. Gover, K.C., for Miss Vyver, said Miss Corelli informed her that she deposited for her sums of money amounting to £10,000.

Mr. Dighton Pollock, for the Attorney-General, contended that the declaration of trust applied only to the amount in the bank at the time of the deed.

The hearing was adjourned.

SEA BIRD ISLE FREED OF RATS

Sanctuary for Wild Feather Tribe Was in Bad Shape

A fierce fight between sea birds and rats for supremacy on Ailsa Craig, the great rocky islet that stands sentinel at the entrance to the Firth of Clyde, has ended, thanks to the intervention of human being, in the rout of the rodents.

The rock which is about two miles in circumference, rises to a height of 1,097 feet, and is nearly perpendicular on all sides.

The story of the fight for possession is told in the current issue of "Bird Notes and News."

For ages Ailsa Craig had been one of the two great British breeding-places of the gannet, or solan goose, while it was also a home for tens of thousands of guillemots, puffins, kittiwakes, gulls, and other sea birds.

There, undisturbed by man or beast, they found a safe sanctuary. But about 200 years ago the enemy made a breach in the stronghold.

A few rats, swimming ashore from a wreck in the vicinity, established themselves on the island, and multiplied at such a rate that soon they swarmed over the whole rock.

Last summer, says an eye-witness, "they were to be found everywhere, swarming round the quarry buildings and dwelling houses, and on the shore and cliffs."

As the rats prospered the sea birds disappeared.

"In 1924 (says "Bird Notes and News") very few could be seen. The puffin nests in a burrow on the slopes and lays its eggs at the end of the burrow. The result is that the puffins fall victims to the rats, who can get at them from various sides and eat the eggs and the young birds.

"Rats are also terribly destructive when the young guillemots and razorbills, unable to fly, are making their way down the slopes of the crag to the sea, and many are found half eaten."

In December last the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds contracted with a London firm to exterminate the rats, and poison was used so effectively that a few weeks ago a resident on the island was able to write:

It is impossible to estimate the number of rats destroyed, but it must amount to thousands and thousands. This is the quietest winter from rats we have had for at least 20 years.

More recent evidence from Ailsa Craig is in the following terms:—

On my first visit here I found the island swarming with rats, the vermin being so numerous that the inhabitants of the island would tread on them when going out at night. I investigated during my recent visit every nook and corner, and could find scant trace of living rats, and in some places there were signs that the grass was covering their tracks.

Everywhere I noticed skeltons and carcases of dead rats. It should be noted that the birds and animals, even though they may have eaten the bait, have not suffered.

The campaign has cost £160, and restored Ailsa Craig to its old position as a sanctuary for sea birds.

WOMAN OF 103 HURT IN STREET

Mother at Kingston: I sent him to Sunday school until he was fourteen, but after that age boys think they ought not to go there.

PUZZLE—FIND THE WORK IN THIS AD

"No washing, no cooking, no windows, no knives, no boots, no young children, own bedroom and own sitting-room, with wireless."

NO PLUSH SEATS IN HEAVEN, SAYS VICAR

Church Cushions Stir Up Storm at Council Meeting

Rev. A. E. Robins, Vicar of St. Edward's Romford, made a spirited retort when a member of the Church Council asked why the cushions had been removed from some of the seats in church.

Mr. Robins said that the churchwardens (who had removed the cushions because they were dilapidated) always retained authority over appropriated seats, and had a perfect right to remove cushions if they thought they were not in conformity with the dignity of the church.

"Personally," he added, "I should like to see all cushions in church done away with and then everyone would be on a level."

Mr. Huxton, another member, suggested that if people must have cushions they should be the full length of the seat in the interest of the unfortunate individual who had to sit on the edge of the cushion.

The Vicar agreed that this would show a more sociable spirit than providing a cushion just for oneself and family. "I hope, however, that as the cushions wear out they will not be replaced. There were be no plush seats in Heaven—some of us will be lucky if we get a seat at all."

Courtship by Mail During 13 Years Ends in Marriage

Boy and girl lovers who for 13 years carried on their courtship across the world by correspondence, have just been married at Gillingham, Kent, in the church where, as children, they attended Sunday School.

The bride was Nellie Robson, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Robson, of Fremantle, Western Australia, and the bridegroom Len. McDonald, son of Mrs. MacDonald, of Gillingham, who recently returned after nearly 10 years in Malta Dockyard.

The bride and bridegroom have been engaged almost since childhood, and would have been married before had the bride been able to return from Australia.

They are now on their honeymoon in Kent, and will then go to Plymouth, where Mr. McDonald is employed in the dockyard.

FIVE DROWNED IN RAGING TORRENT

Reservoir Bank Bursts at Skelmorlie—Houses Swept Away

A reservoir at Skelmorlie, a village on the riverside, four miles from Greenock, in which district there had been torrential rain, burst, and five people were drowned.

The water swept down with great force, taking all before it. According to one witness, the water rose ten feet and swept on for about half a mile.

A cottage occupied by a contractor, caught in the full force of the onrushing water, and was carried away. A garage and another house were partially destroyed.

Those who were drowned were Mrs. Adam, of Greenock, and a young woman friend and two children, and a nephew of Mr. Dallas. The last-named, a boy of seven, was on a visit from Glasgow.

The cottage of Mr. Dallas was in the direct line of the torrent, and not a vestige of it remains. Portions were found half a mile away. A large motorcar was swept out of the garage and carried a distance of about 400 yards.

The water found its way into the electric power station, and light will not be available in the district for three or four days.

The body of Mr. Dallas' son, aged nine, was discovered on the shore half a mile away from the cottage.

Great damage was done in the lower part of the village, which lies hundreds of feet below the level of the reservoir, and shops were flooded to a depth of several feet.

TRAMPS FARE WELL IN WARWICKSHIRE

Central Haeting and Spring Mattresses for Knights of Road

In the belief that a taste of real comfort will make tramps dissatisfied with the wandering life, the Poor Law authorities of Nuneaton have turned the local workhouse into a workmansion.

They have abolished the old casual ward—a whitewashed room furnished with wooden bunks, badly lighted, and situated over a stable—and have replaced it with a cheerful room which would encourage any casual to finish his allotted work quickly.

For the walls there is a bright color scheme in red and green. Electric light and central heating are provided, the floors are covered with linoleum, and the inmate is able to take his choice of comfortable chairs at a long, polished table.

For the evening's reading there is a supply of newspapers, and finally spring-mattressed beds waiting for tired heads. Comfort has been a primary consideration throughout.

The regular inmates have a piano and a wireless set and cheerful accommodation, and for the children there is a supply of toys.

Much as people in the district admire the spirit of humanity which has led to the extension of this comfort to casuals, they are wondering whether Nuneaton will become the summer resort of regular roadfarers—and if the rates will rise accordingly.

NEW RELIGION OF POSTCARDS APPEARS

To Be Soaked in Water and Used as Medicine

CURES EVERYTHING

Offshoot of Joanna Southcott Movement Started in England

Hot from the Oracle at some secret headquarters in the Midlands, the Panacea, the one true cure for all diseases, is about to be revealed to the world.

The Panaceanists, members of one of the most curious and mysterious societies in this country, are flocking to London for the broadcasting of the revelation at South Kensington Town Hall next Thursday.

A press representative who met two of them learned that the Panacea is a postcard. Already, it is claimed, it has cured people of—

Asthma, blood-poisoning, bronchitis, epilepsy, rheumatism, tuberculosis, nerves, depression, cancer, deafness, indigestion, blindness, hip disease, neuritis, bad temper, falling hair, financial difficulties, and other ill-humors of humanity.

BAD TEMPER CURES.

Some of the testimonials are:—

My financial outlook has improved.

I have had a legacy left me.

Never been able to make both ends meet before.

She is like a new woman . . . now most pleasant and happy . . . can hardly believe it.

He is much more easy to live with.

"We are an off-shoot of the Joanna Southcott movement," explained a Panaceanist. "The Panacea Society was formed just over a year ago, following the discovery of the great value of the healing power revealed to us. Today we are ready, having tested it on 5,000 patients, to pass it on to all people.

"Mrs. R. J. Fox, of Falmouth, one of the Southcott leaders, is president. There is no money-making behind it. A person need only buy a stamp to post a letter to us, explaining his or her complaint, and a postcard will be sent back explaining what must be done.

NO MONEY ASKED.

"All the letters are read every morning by members, and in the afternoon each is read before the Oracle, who, holding the New Testament, says what is to be done in each case.

"It is often near midnight before all the postcards are ready for the post, as everyone has to be done individually. The postcards have to be placed in water, which is either drunk or used as a lotion."

Mrs. F. L. Wright, of Cork, who has come to London for Thursday's meeting, said:—

"The healing has come to us in a miraculous way, and has come to no other people in the world."

"Where does the money come from to carry out the work?" asked press representative.

"I would rather not say," she replied. "It does not come from patients. We have refused as much as £50 as a thank-offering."

EYE-RAY-METER NOVEL APPLIANCE

Device to Measure Unknown Forces Invented by London Surgeon

Since his "eye-ray-meter," an appliance which is said to measure unknown forces in a man or woman, was demonstrated at Oxford in 1921, Charles Russ, surgeon, Wimpole street, W., has been working continuously to improve upon it.

The main feature of the old instrument was a delicately suspended solenoid—a wire in spiral form—which moved to one side or the other when a person gazed fixedly at it.

The new instrument is simpler in form and, it is claimed, is so sensitive that a fixed gaze is no longer necessary to set it in motion. Rings of celluloid or mica barred with tabs of metal foil have replaced the solenoid.

In the instrument shown at Oxford there was a latent period of about 15 seconds before the effects were noticeable.

The present apparatus is said to give almost instantaneous results. A new ray—the "human wireless ray"—is suggested as the actuating cause.

Repeated tests, it is claimed, have proved that when a person comes near the instrument the rings turn until the indicator points at him.

If he moves round the instrument at a short distance from it the indicator follows him. The indicator will even move slightly if the person sits with his back to the instrument.

LORD CURZON'S BEQUEST TO NATION

Two Historic Ruins in Lincolnshire and Sussex

It is stated in London that the late Marquis Curzon of Kedleston has left two historic ruins, Tattershall Castle, Lincolnshire, and Bodiam Castle, Sussex, to the nation.

Tattershall Castle, near Witham, is thought to have been erected about 1440. In September, 1911, it was feared that the famous fireplaces would be sent to the United States. They were taken to London, but Lord Curzon, who bought the castle a little later "to save it from being knocked to pieces," preserved them.

In June, 1912, they were returned to their home on decorated lorries which passed beneath triumphal arches. Lord Curzon was in the procession, and his carriage was drawn by ropes by the villagers.

Bodiam Castle, near Hastings, built in 1386, has been described as one of the most beautiful and interesting ruins in England.

It was bought by Lord Curzon in 1917.

The ruins consist of round towers at the angles with five square ones between them, and the great gateway is flanked by two square towers.

A woman complained at Blackburn that her husband washed the baby with a mechanical preparation when it began to cry.

ENGINEERING INSTTUTE ELECTS OFFICERS FOR 1925-26 SESSION

INTERESTING TALK.

Col. H. C. Boyden Presented an Address on Field Control of Concrete.

One of the most interesting addresses of the season marked the closing session of the Peterboro branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, held last night. This meeting was also featured by the presentation of reports and the election of officers.

The reports indicated that the meetings were very poorly attended, there having been an average attendance of thirty members, which was not fifty per cent. of those enrolled.

The report of the Papers Committee showed that a great diversity of subjects had been covered which all agreed should have resulted in a larger attendance than was shown.

Officers Chosen.

Hon. Chairman: E. R. Shirley.
Chairman: A. L. Killaly.
Vice-Chairman: B. L. Barns.
Secretary: Paul Manning.
Treasurer: A. B. Gates.
Executive: W. M. Cruthers, R. C. Hilton, A. H. Munroe, W. E. Ross, James McIntosh, D. L. McLaren.

Control of Concrete.

Following this business session, Col. H. C. Boyden presented a highly interesting address on the field control of concrete.

Mr. Boyden has had twenty-five years' active experience in concrete construction, and also been actively engaged in research work at the laboratory of the Portland Cement Co. which is operated by joint co-operation of the Lewis Institute, Chicago, and the Portland Cement Association.

Col. Boyden said that as a result of much experimental work, it was now possible to forecast the grade of concrete which would result when the elements entering into its construction were being mixed.

The steel plants can make steel, knowing beforehand what they are going to get by regulating the various factors incidental to its manufacture.

"When 145,700,000 barrels of cement are sold by the Portland Company to make 1,000,000 cubic yards of cement a year, costing $15 per cubic yard, or a total of $1,500,000,000, is it not time that some steps should be taken to ascertain what kind of product is going to result from the mixing of the cement, sand, stones and water?" he asked.

In order to give some definite direction to concrete construction, tests have been devised which will indicate accurately just what will be obtained. The more important tests are the flow table and the slump test, the latter being considered the better for most jobs.

For making a slump test the lower section of a cone is used and concrete is poured in it, which is representative of the batch. The cone is lifted and the amount of "slump" or falling down is measured. Colonel Boyden says that a 4-inch slump is sufficient for any construction job, but, he said, you would more often find a 16-inch slump, with a consistency like soup, which results in a loss of half the concrete.

Ratio is Wrong.

What is the matter with concrete as made to-day?

The water cement ratio is not maintained properly. The making of cement is a chemical process and the volume of cement used with the volume of water must be fixed and constant or the resultant concrete will not be the best that it is possible to obtain.

The least amount of water that can be used and yet get plasticity is the best rule to follow.

The fineness modulus of the aggregate is not kept constant—concrete in a construction job must be kept constant, so that there will not be a slump test of 4 inches in one batch and 16 inches in another.

Col. Boyden said that there were plants which furnish the aggregate especially graded and it but remained to counteract segregation of the particles to keep the concrete constant.

The duration of time of mixing was another important feature. Concrete must be mixed at least a minute after all materials are together in mixing drum. The consistency was also a great consideration. Col. Boyden said that 99 per cent. of all concrete does not need more than a 4 inch slump and the remaining 1 per cent. does not require more than 7 inches.

The cement must be cured 21 days after it has been made, as this doubt is meant curing by water and not strength, increased the elastic limit, and makes it more impervious to water.

Tests were actually made which prove that proper curing is essential to good concrete. By proper curing is meant curing by water and nit that the job be left to dry in the air.

In order to improve the quality of the concrete four things must be observed.

Put the slump test to effect, and thus standardize consistency: use more sand; the mixture calls for a certain quantity of dry rodded sand. Dry sand weighs more than wet sand so that many concrete jobs are deficient thirty per cent. in sand; this makes it necessary to add more water to get the proper consistency, and is very wasteful. The materials should be measured by weight and not volume and the inundating process hould be used wherein the sand is immersed in water instead of the water being added to the sand.

Contractors following these specifications could easily double the quality and strength of the concrete and accordingly build for themselves an insurance policy of future contracts. mong Mr. Boyden's parting words were:

"Use more sand."

Slides illustrating the various tests were projected on the screen.

INSTITUTE MEETING.

Good Attendance at Meeting of Women's Institute at Bonar Law.

BONAR LAW, May 14. — A large number attended the meeting of the women's institute last week at the home of Mrs. Brad Spry. A prize was given for the nicest and least expensive house dress and was won by Mrs. Elias Spry.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Burkitt and Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Burkitt of Sidney, spent Sunday at Mr. A. Burkitt's home.

Miss Lillian McKeown has returned to her home after spending a few weeks with relatives in Campbellford.

Thomas McKeown and family visit Fred McKeown on Sunday.

W. S. Stiles attended the cheese board at Belleville on Saturday. The price paid for cheese was 17 1-8c.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Brown spent Sunday at the home of their son, Roy Brown Stanwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wills visited Mr. Arthur Burkitt on Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Morgan spent Sunday at the home of Everett Heath.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Anderson visited Mr. Vernon Heath last week.

Mr. L. S. McComb and Mr. Wm. McInroy loaded a large quarry of elm timber at Bonar Law last week.

The stone job has started again at Bonar Law but owing to the busy time of the year not many are hauling stone as yet. Only two carloads have been shipped.

Joseph Doyle of Marmora visited Roy Brown on Sunday.

ELECT DEAN OWEN TO NIAGARA SEE

Spent Some of His Early Years in Peterboro—Big Gathering.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 15—Very Rev. Derwyn T. Owen, rector of Christ's Church Cathedral, was yesterday afternoon appointed Bishop of the Anglican Diocese of Niagara on the first ballot when clergy and la ydeleates convened to appoint a successor to the late Bishop Clark. The majority to the Bishop-elect was a substantial one and the result was not a surprise. The meeting was probably the largest ever held and there were few parishes which were not represented by both thec lergy and the lay delegates.

Bishop-elect Owen was born in Twickenham, England, and is 49 years of age. He was educated at Eastbourne, Toronto Church School, and in 1900 was ordained deacon, and a year later elevated to the priesthood. He was well known in Peterborough where he spent some time during his earlier years. For a short time he served as curate of St. John's Church, Toronto, and in 1901-02 was in England. In 1902 he was appointed to the curacy of St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, and he remained there until 1908, when he was made rector of Holy Trinity Church, Toronto. He first came to Niagara Diocese in 1914, to succeeded Very Rev. Dean Almon Abbott as rector of Christ's Church Cathedral. He has long been recognized as one of the most distinguished clerymen of the church in Canda. And is particular position. The new Bishop is marriage and has five children.

The Election

His Grace Most Rev. George Thornloe, D.D., Archbishop of Algoma, and Metropoljtan of Ontario, conducted the election. Yesterday morning Holy Communion was celebrated and the Synod was called to order at 1 o'clock. His Grace, after outlining the procedure, addressed the meeting briefly. He referred to the qualities which one expected to find in a Bishop.

It was 2 o'clock before the balloting commenced, and it was nearly 3 o'clock when the task was completed. The result was not made known by the scrutineers until a half-hour later, and when it was announced that Dean Owen had a majority over all on the first ballot, there was an outburst of applause, which continued for several minutes.

His Grace called Dean Owen to the platform and officially declared him elected Bishop of the Diocese. Dean Owen was much affected and spoke briefly, thanking the members for the confidence placed in him. "It is a mark of confidence and respect which I appreciate more than I can ever tell. Your electing me on the first ballot makes the honor the greatest it could be. I am in the hands of God, and I look to that Grace which has so often supported me, to help me in this high office in which you, through His spirit, have placed me. I humbly accept the office at your hands."

His grace again spoke and said that the unity of spirit with which the choice was made augured well for future success. He referred also to the presence of Adam Brown, Mr. Bourn and Rev. Canon Spencer, who attended the first Synod meeting. A vote of thanks was tendered Archbishop Thorneloe by Bishop-elect Owen, and seconded by Adam Brown. The Synod sang the doxoogy and the meeting was brought to a close with prayer. The consecration of Very Rev. Dean Owen as Bishop will take pace at an early date.

SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.

Regular Meeting of Central Home and School Association Last Night.

The regular monthly meeting of the Central Home and School Association, held last evening, also took the form of the annual meeting, when reports were presented and election of officers took place.

The reports of the secretary, Miss Armstrong, and the treasurer, Mrs. M. Morgan, were given, showing a very successful year just ended. In the neighborhood of $300 was raised by the society in various ways. The children's paper collection was particularly successful.

After donating the Book of Knowledge, a duplicator, curtains, lantern slides, and the milk for relief work, the society has a balance on hand at present of $65.

One hundred members are on the roll of the organization, with a total of forty new members added this year.

Owing to difficulty in the programme committee's work in getting talent on choir practice nights the night for holding the regular meeting was changed from Thursday to Friday evening.

An interesting report of the Easter convention of Home and School Associations in Toronto was read by Mrs. P. King, of the King George school.

Mrs. W. R. Morris was present at the meeting last night, and spoke encouragingly of the work of the association.

During the social hour which followed the business session, two vocal solos were rendered by Miss Helen Lytle.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President, Mrs. E. H. Howson; 1st vice-president, K. S. Wightman; 2nd vice-president, O. Steer; secretary, Mrs. E. H. Bartlett; treasurer, Mrs. M. Morgan. Convenors of committees: Social, Mesdames Steer, Spencer, Staunton; Programme, Mrs. A. A. Perrin; Telephone, Mrs. M. Bennett; Visiting and Relief, Mrs. Lush; Membership, Mrs. Cowan.

Ulster was the best recruiting ground for the British army last year. There were 241 recruits for evey 100,000 population as compared with 229 in London.

Early History of Douro

(In Which Warsaw appears)

By P. C. TOWNS.

The following article on the early history of Douro, and the adventure of the pioneers, is presented as interesting in view of the approaching Old Boys' and Girls' Reunion there, marking the hundredth anniversary of the settlement of the Township.

Clearing and burning the forests was a very difficult problem to the early settlers of Douro, and their trials and adventures were nothing more than a repetition of the experiences of the settlers in the neighboring townships. Very often their homes and all their belongings were devoured by the hungry flames, which spared nothing when they became uncontrollable. In burning around their shanties, great precaution had to be taken to see that the wind was blowing away from their homes. At those burnings, all the neighbors collected with pails, shovels, etc., in order to keep the fire subdued.

Many brave adventures were made by the first settlers to save their homes from destruction. In many cases settlers were forced to flee, leaving everything except the clothing they were wearing to the fast devastating flames. But we may say that those shanties, which were generally built 18 to 20 feet, were not much loss to the settler, as the timber was plentiful in those days. Their humble residences, with all their belongings, may not have been worth much money, but when one considers that this was all they had, and possessed no money nor friends with money, it entirely changes the circumstances. When one considers that in those days a working man received 2 shillings (40 cents) a day and had to take an order on the store for the same as money was almost impossible to get in those days, it is seen that the extent of his loss would be greatly increased.

The early settlers were innocent and believed a great deal in superstition, and at almost any gathering, many of the older people could relate ghost stories and fairy tales which they really believed to be true. They believed in the Bansiee. The Banshee was a spirit who gave warning of death, or anything unusual.

Difficult Cultivation.

After cutting down the trees and burning, and burning, came the task of ripping out the stumps and sowing the small crops between the scattered logs. In many instances, this ground was ploughed by hacking it with a hoe with a large eye, which was made by a blacksmith. The crop, after ripening, was cut with sickles and bound and, in many cases, carried in on the backs as many stellers were not lucky enough to possess an ox and jumper. The jumper was similar to a sleigh having flat runners, and was the predecessor of the ox cart. The first cart made had wheels which were made by sawing pine logs into blocks about 8 inches wide and 4 feet in diameter. The centre of these rude wheels were chiselled out, and in this was put a maple gridgen with a hole in it, this made the hub. A rude axle, with two shafts attached, connected two of these wheels, and in this was constructed a rough box. This constituted the first ox cart used by the early settlers in Douro.

The next step was the fencing and logging. When one looks at the old staggle rail fence and sees the number of stones that were piled in the corners by those men and women who cleared the land, also the many stone heaps that are still to be seen in the fields, it gives one a faint idea of the toils and labors of one's ancestors.

For clothing, the settlers had to raise sheep, which was done with great difficulty owing to the fact that wolves were always plentiful, and sometimes would break into the sheep folds and destroyed the flock. Deer were also plentiful, and it was a common occurrence to see a deer running past the shanty pursued by two or three wolves. When the deer became overheated and tired, he would be in luck if he came to a creek or spring, when he would dash into the cool waters, then dash out quite invigorated and refreshed and ready to stand the pursuit.

Overcame Difficulties.

Many difficulties confronted the first settlers which, to the present generation, would seem impossible, but truth is stranger than fiction and necessity is the best stimulant to revive endurance. It might be noted that, in the early forties, John Crowley, a boy of fifteen years, was sent to Peterborough for a reaping hook, as the crop was coming in fast. Arriving in Peterborough, he found that the stores did not have any, so he went to Port Hope, obtained one, and partly by running and partly by walking he arrived back in Douro with the hook at noon the next day and was ready to resume his work. Mrs. Daniel Speekan, an old-time settler, whose maiden name was Ellen Foley, carried a bag of flour from Peterborough over a trail through the woods, a distance of eight miles. David Zuimpe, a blind man, was acknowledged, in his day, to be one of the best men to use a threshing flail. He had also been known to walk in and out to Peterborough, finding his way alone, although having been totally blind from birth.

First of Warsaw.

In the year 1835, Zaccheus Burnham, of Port Hope, started to build a sawmill where Warsaw now stands. He engaged a man by the name of Hartwell, as overseer. After the dam was built, Mr. Hartwell died, and the superintendence was taken care of by Thomas Choate, a nephew of Mr. Burnham, who completed the job. Mr. Choate next built a grist mill, then a furniture shop and general store; and then installed a carding mill over the furniture store. This was the beginning of Warsaw. The Post Office of Warsaw was first opened in 1839; Thomas Choate, father of A. F. Choate, who now fills the position, was the first postmaster at Warsaw. The first mailman to bring the mail to Warsaw was Hamilton Douglas, who served a week's mail from Peterborough for a period of six months after the North Douro Post Office was opened. In 1856 he went from Peterborough up to Lakefield, then to Keene and back to Peterborough, carrying the mail on horseback and delivering it once a week.

A. F. Choate relates an anecdote that, in the year 1837, his father, Thomas Choate, blasted out some rock at Stoney Lake in order to let more water down the Indian River to the mills. Being the time of McKenzie'sm rebellion, he found great difficulty in procuring powder, and he was looked on with suspicion when he would ask for a barrel of powder.

The winter of 1837 was very cold, the thermometer registering from 18 to 27 degrees, while the summer was very warm, being 96 to 98 in the shade. A thunderstorm, which occurred on August 19, was one of the worst in history. November and December, 1838, was very mild, while January was very severe.

Thomas Alex. Stewart, whose grandson, Stewart Brown, still resides in Douro, was appointed a life member of the legislative council of Upper Canada, which position he filled from 1833 to 1847. Mr. Stewart and Robert Reid, with their families, were the first settlers who came to Douro in the year 1822.

For the years of 1842 and 1843, Douro was represented in the Colborne district council by Smithson D. Gibbs, he being the first representative Douro had. George Clarke represented Douro in the same council for the years 1844 to 1849. In 1849, Douro was organized into a township with a municipal council, the first reeve being George Clark. The population of Douro in the year 1842 was 856.

Smaller Enemies.

Besides having to contend with wild animals, which were forever prowling around, the settlers had still other enemies which, though smaller, were equally antagonistic and caused them no small share of annoyance, especially in the spring and summer months. The black fly was the enemy in daytime and the mosquito at night. The black flies were so bad that they often were the cause of the cattle dying. At night the good housewife would build a fire in front of the cabin door. This she would smother with dirt in order to make it smoke, which would always drive the mosquitos away.

Here, on the mossy bank, beneath the starry sky, with the frogs croaking in the marshes, and partridge drumming in the tree-tops, the good parents called their children around the fire to offer up their family prayers to the Almighty. Here they asked for the spiritual as well as the worldly success of themselves and their families, not forgetting the general welfare of their neighbors in the community. Also for their friends whom they had left at home across the seas. They then would take a dish filled with the smudge, which they called the smothered fire, and fumigate the shanty to drive out the little nightly visitors. Their last thoughts were always of dear old Ireland and the scenes of childhood days.

In the early forties some of the shanties were replaced by log houses, with peaked roof and gables shingled. Timber was plentiful, but originally sheeting was made by splitting cedar in strips about one inch thick. These being placed on the roof, it was shingled with hand-made shingles. These were made by the settlers with the aid of a draw knife. While this operation was slow, the shingles would last for fifty years.

The first sawmill was built in Douro, on the Indian River, by Henry Corveth in the year 1840, while another was built near Lakefield in the year 1842. This mill was built by Augustus Sawyers on a small creek which runs from Buckley's Lake into the Otonabee River, and has been known to the old settlers as Sawyer's Creek. These mills proved a great help to the setflers in manufacturing lumber, but for years they still used the hand-made shingles.

Some Adventures.

During the year 1847, when the bridge across the Otonabee had been swept away, Patrick Cuff, a young man, undertook to row a woman in a boat across the river. The roughness of the rapids made the woman nervous. In her excitement she caught him by the arms and pulled him out of the boat. They were both drowned.

A young lady, by the name of Fahey, was chased by a bear. She threw off her coat at the foot of the tree, and while she climbed, her faithful dog lay down on her coat. She shouted for help until assistance came, when they were able to drive off the bear.

One day, Mabia Crough's wife, who had been Margaret Lonergen, went out to look for the cows. Her path lay through the woods, which is now the west half of lot 11, concession 5. Night fell and she did not return. Search was made at once, but without results. It is supposed that she fell a prey to the bears. It was no uncommon occurrence to meet bruin in one's yard. Bears, like human beings, are very fond of music, and one evening Michael Sullivan (Big Mick, he was called) was entertaining his friends with his violin. On going to the door they found bruin standing on the door step. He disappeared at once and climbed a tree. The people pursued him, built a fire at the trunk to keep him from coming down, while they procured guns. After putting several shots into him he fell into the fire. Such was the early life in Douro.

The Colborne district was formed in 1841 and took in the townships of Belmont, Methven, Burleigh, Dummer, Asphodel, Otonabee, Douro, North Monaghan, Smith, Ennismore, Harvey, now forming Peterborough County, while Verulam, Emily, Ops, Fenelon, Mariposa, Eldon, Bexley, Somerville, now form Victoria County.

First Representatives.

Early in 1841, one or more district councillors were elected to represent each township. The following were members representing the different townships: Geo. A. Hill represented the Colborne district. Dummer, Alex. Kidd; Asphodel, Richard Birdsall; Otonabee, Thos. Carr and James Doris; Douro, Smithson M. Gibbs; North Monaghan, Thos. Harper; Smith, Stephen Nichols; Ennismore, Daniel Costello; Verulam and Harvey, Thos. Need; Emily, Josias L. Hughes and Wm. Cothingham; Ops, Francis Kelly; Mariposa, Samuel Davidson; Eldon, Alex. Campbell; Fenelon, John Congton. The district councillors met at the Court House on Tuesday, February 8, 1842.

Officers of the council were John Darcus, clerk; Dr. John Gilchrist, treasurer; James Hall and Robert Reid, auditors, and G. B. Hall, solicitor.

The trails at this time were very rough, so the settlers invented a vehicle which has long since faded from memory. This conveyance was made by felling a small tree with a crutched top. The trunk was dressed off and used as a pole through the yoke of the oxen, while the crutch trailed on the ground which formed a spring to save the shock, which was very apparent when driving over the logs. On this crutch they placed a rough box. This conveyance proved a great benefactor to the early settler. This was the first mode of travel by the Douro settlers; then came the jumper, the ox-cart, the wagon, the carriage, the buggy and now the automobile. In the year 1840, the Government of Upper Canada made a grant of 50 pounds sterling to improve the roads on the boundary between Douro and Otonabee.

At this time only a select few could afford to own a horse, and when a man and his wife would pass on horseback on their way to Peterborough, everyone would run to the door of the shanty to have a look at them. The man was usually dressed in a grey frieze suit, wearing a tall beaver hat, which was called a "plug," and his wife was usually dressed in a riding gown, with very long skirt and high black hat with white band. The wife rode behind her husband, sitting side-saddle.

Then Irish Helped.

On the Warsaw road, in the eighth concession of Douro, lived Mrs. John Sullivan, who was the chief doctor and druggist in the locality, making salve from the buds of different bushes and medicines from herbs, roots and barks of trees.

Some of the school teachers were Daniel Sheekon, Peter Fitzpatrick, Daniel Sullivan and Thomas White. Although their salaries were very small, and sometimes their paths were far from easy, their Irish wit and humor overcame their troubles.

Daniel Sheekon was born in the town of New Market, County of Cork, in 1781; was married in Ireland to Miss Mary Crimmines in the year 1812. After coming to this country in 1825, Mrsl Sheehon worked at her trade, that of dressmaking, while Mr. Sheehon worked on his farm before and after school hours. Mr. Sheehon taught in school section No. 2, which was built on the west half of lot 3, concession 5, also at what was called "The Burnt School," situated near McCliggott's Corners, and also in a log school in S.S. No. 7. These old landmarks have long since disappeared. Mr. Sheehon on starting to teach school was examined by Dr. Ryerson and Goldwin Smith, and received a second-class certificate from them. His salary was $160.00 per year, with two weeks off for midsummer and a few days at Christmas and Easter, and half of every second Saturday as holidays. He was first clerk for the township of Douro in the year 1851. Mrs. Sheehon was skilled in treating sick children as well as grown-ups, and was a very valuable person in the community. This venerable old couple lived together for 70 years. Mrs. Sheehon died in 1882, at the age of 94, while Mr. sheehan died in 1884 at the age of 103. They were buried in Douro cemetery.

Daniel Sullivan was a Kerry man, coming to Canada in 1850. He taught school in S.S. No. 4, at $11.00 per month for two years. He boarded with Daniel O'Brien (Daddy Dan), and married the eldest daughter, Mary. Mr. Sullivan was first postmaster of Douro, where he lived till 1872. He then moved to Peterborough, where he kept a grocery store. Mrs. Sullivan died in 1900; Mr. Sullivan in 1913.

Thomas White, also a school teacher, on coming to Canada, met a young lady on board ship, by the name of Crowe. He fell in love with her, and later they were married. Peter Fitzpatrick, with his Irish wit, remarked "It is seldom you see a crow turn white in the summer time."

Big Turnips.

The land being new, it produced wonderful crops. Turnips would weigh as much as 20 lbs. Wheat and pork were the only commodities that could be turned into cash, and in order to get the cash, the settlers drew the produce to Port Hope. During the fifties, taking out square timber, spars and masts became a great source of industry. A lot of this material was taken out by Gilchrist. A number of masts were taken off lot 12, concession 6, now owned by Daniel Deloney; also off lot 11, concession 3, now owned by Maurice Condon. These were drawn by horses and oxen across the country to the Otonabee River and were floated down to Lake Ontario, and thence to Quebec. The masts would run from 100 to 150 feet in length. One very large mast required to be drawn by 12 team of horses and 6 team of oxen. The wage for a man and team was one dollar per day. Laughlin Nolan, one of the first pioneers of Douro, was pilot on the drives of square timber from Ketchewana Lake down to the Little Lake at Peterborough. He related a story that in the early days, when coming through the rapids in front of the twelfth concession, near lock 2, he and thirteen others were in a boat following the drive. The boat capsized and he was forced to swim over a mile in the chilly waters in the month of April. Three of the others were saved, and the remaining eleven were drowned.

Times were still very hard in the Forties, and it was no uncommon thing for a woman to walk to Peterborough barefotted, her shoes hanging over her shoulders, a basket of butter in one hand and a basket of eggs in the other. Arriving at Peterborough, she would put on her shoes, and take them off again when returning to Douro. Moccasins were made out of pig skin. Denis Sullivan, a musician, who used to play the flute at many of the dances throughout the township, related a story that he was eighteen years of age before he had his first pair of boots, and he was so rejoiced that he played the flute and danced until the boots were worn out.

In May, 1849, James McCliggot, father of ex-Reeve James McCliggot, who still resides in Douro, came with his family from Port Hope and located in Douro. He settled on the Warsaw Road about eight miles from Peterborough, and built a log house at the 5th line. Being a taylor by trade, he opened up a tailor shop, which proved to be a great convenience. He converted many rolls of grey frieze into Sunday suits for the young as well as the old men. It is well to remark that many of those grey wedding suits which were made by Mr. McCliggott in 1850, were still in a good state of preservation at the time of his death, which occurred in 1874.

First School Built.

The first schoolhouse was built in school section No. 4 in the year 1849. John Sullivan, father of M. D. Sullivan still living in Douro, and James Logan, afterwards reeve of Douro, helped to carry the logs on their backs, which were used in building the school. Daniel Sullivan, from County Kerry, Ireland, was the first teacher. An incident which might not be overlooked in the list of trials, which the early settlers had to face, was the time when Mr. Sullivan was teaching in school section No. 4. Margaret Mahoney, daughter of William Mahoney, took suddenly sick and died in school, whereupon the teacher took her corpse in his arms and carried it home, a distance of over three miles. Before the school was built, the teaching was done in Mason's barn by Michael Torpery. The barn stood on the farm afterwards owned by the late H. P. Crowley, and at present occupied by John McMurray.

At this time there was not much work for people who were masons by trade. The first men to do work of this kind were John Breen and Tommy Haythe. It was they who built the stone fireplaces and chimneys in the first houses in Douro. Few of those chimneys remain to-day. These men received three shillings and sixpence a day. They worked 16 hours a day.

Families Were Big.

While the houses were small, the families of the early settlers were large; but, even so, there was always room for an aged father or mother. The settlers married young and took pride in their families. The story is told of one couple who were favored with triplets. Being short of clothing for the little ones, the father started for Peterborough to procure some clothing. He walked a distance of about two miles, and suddenly turned his steps towards home. His old mother met him at the door in an angry mood, but he warded her off her wrath with the words: "Yerrah Mother, Mavourneen, be easy, I just come back to see if there was any more."

Friendliness Prevailed.

Friendliness, in the early days, was a great help to the contentment and happiness of the pioneer settler of Douro Township. There were no fine houses, no automobiles, no pianos, no rivalry for style and fashion. Everyone was happy and on an equal with his neighbor. When a woman went visiting, she simply donned a clean apron over her house dress and placed a sunbonnet on her head. Visits were made freely, without any red tape or passport of invitation. Several dances were always held after the logging bees, but the young men did not go home to dress up for the occasion. Working and dancing was done in the one suit. A man, by the name of Shields, often furnished violin music for the dancing. He was assisted sometimes by Thomas Whibbs, who played the Irish bagpipes. This man was also a good step dancer, and sometimes would dance and play at the same time. He died in April, 1851.

Douro will this year celebrate the 100th anniversary of the settlement of the township, and the residents there are determined to make this celebration a decided success. It will commence on June 21 and will continue until June 27. This celebration is in honor of the men and women who settled in Douro in the year 1825.

HURL AN AUTO INTO WINDOW

Three Local Youths, in Borrowed Truck, Crash Into Store.

AND WALK AWAY.

While a truck was speeding along MacDonnel street at 8.30 last night, at a point near H. R. Robert's store, it departed from the beaten path, toppled over a hydrant and hurled itself against the store window facing Reid street, doing considerable damage, both to the exterior and certain goods piled within.

The three who manned the vehicle, after extricating themselves from the debris, walked nonchalantly away and apparently washed their hands of the whole business.

Frank McPherson, who owns the truck, allowed a young man to use it for the purpose of going over town on condition that the keys be returned later. He was astonished to learn of the subsequent adventure.

The car was very seriously damaged as it will take considerably over a hundred dollars to repair it. Damage to the store and contents is estimated at twenty-five dollars.

The police are investigating the case and say that the culprits will be apprehended.

Smelters Led Market But Fell Off a Point

TORONTO, May 15.—(Canadian Press).—Consolidated Smelters led the market again to-day with approximately 800 shares changing hands, but dropped after climbing as high as 75, and closed at 75 3-4, a net recession of one full point. Brazilian was also active with only 225 shares and eased off 1-8 to 50½. Burt F. N. and Twin City had a fair morning, with the former gaining 1-8 and the latter losing 1-8 at 49 7-8 and 64 respectively. Gilman closed at 101.

CALL AMERICAN FILMS RUBBISH

Lord Gainford Led Attack on Domination of British Film Market.

BRITISH TERRIBLE.

LONDON, May 15. — "Rubbish," was the adjective applied to American movie films by Lord Gainford, who led an attack on the American domination of the British film market in the House of Lords last night.

Lord Newton and Lord Burnham agreed with the speaker that something ought to be done about it, preferably a government inquiry, to find why American films, bad as they are, are better than their own films, which are terrible, he said. Ninety-five per cent of the films shown in their theatres, bear the "made in America" label, according to Lord Gainsford.

Convicts Jumped From Fast Moving Trains on the Way to Pen.

SASKATOON, Sask., May 15. — (Canadian Press).—Risking instant death sooner than face terms of 14 years and 12 years' imprisonment in Prince Albert Penitentiary, Jack Norris, 30, and Jack Nahonoff, 32, safe blowers, made a successful break for liberty Wednesday night by jumping from the Saskatoon-Prince Albert train through the lavatory window although they were shackled together, hands and feet, the Provincial Police announced yesterday.

The men had convictions against them in Alberta and Saskatchewan. It is believed that one of the escaped convicts was seriously hurt in the jump from the train, which was travelling about 30 miles an hour at the time. They are still at large.

WOMAN ACQUITTED OF MURDER CHARGE

Jury Decides That She Was Insane When She Killed Infant.

TORONTO, Mrs. Julia Currie, charged with the murder of her infant daughter two years ago, was acquitted by an assizes jury last evening on the ground that she was insane at the time that the deed was committed.

Mrs. Curie has been in an asylum for the past two years, but it is probable that she will be released shortly, alienists having reported that she was able to stand trial.

WEATHER

Last night the thermometer went down to 34 degrees, within two degrees of the freezing point. There was also a heavy white frost. Nearly all the great poets have gone into rapture about the month of blossom. Milton, who often wrote in a gloomy key, left us the immortal lines:

"Now the bright morning star, day's harbinger,
Comes dancing from the East, and leads with her
The flowery May, who from her green lap throws
The yellow cowslip, and the pale primrose.
Hail, bounteous May, that dost inspire
Mirth and youth and warm desire!"

Wordsworth, the poet of nature, sang:

"And all the earth is gay
Land and sea
Give themselves to jollity,
And with the heart of May
Doth every breast keep holiday!"

And an old poet, name unknown, tells us that—

"When May is in his prime,
Then may each heart rejoice;
When May bedecks each branch with green,
Each bird strains forth his voice!"

And Heber's son—

"Queen of fresh flowers,
Whom vernal stars obey,
Bring thy warm showers,
Bring thy genial ray.
In Nature's greenest livery drest,
Descend on earth's expectant breast,
To earth and heaven a welcome guest,
Thou merry month of May!"

In some countries it is the practice for young ladies who desire to add to their facial beauty to go out early on the first day of May and wash their faces with the dew that gathers on the grass. It is supposed to be a natural beautifier, and to accomplish more in that direction than the most modern beauty parlor can do.—W. P.

MAXWELL AND CHRYSLER SALES ARE REPORTED UP

First Six Months of 1925 Expected to Beat Whole Years 1924-1923.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 15.—Sales of Maxwell and Chrysler Six cars in Canada for the first six months of 1925 will more than equal those for the entire year of 1924-1923, John D. Mansfield, president and general manager of the Maxwell-Chrysler Motor Co. of Canada, Ltd., said yesterday. Growth in sales is now progressing even more rapidly than during the last half of 1924, he added, when the company registered a greater sales gain than any other manufacturer in the Dominion.

Shipments of cars from the factory in Windsor for the first three months of this year were 211 per cent. higher than for the similar period a year ago, and 168 per cent. higher than the first three months of 1923. March shipments were 66 per cent. higher than those for March, 1924, he reports.

"We are finding a record-breaking demand for our cars in Ontario and Quebec, with steady sales being reported in the Prairie Provinces," Mr. Mansfield said. Increased buying of motor cars in the Western agricultural sections evidently is being delayed until the size and prices of crops are determined more definitely.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

Mining Trading Light With Weaker Tendency

TORONTO, May 15.—(Canadian Press).—Trading was very light on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning, and the market continued to show a tendency to weaker prices. Silvers were strong spots, Lorrain advancing a point and Capitol 2½. Argonaut eased off a point at 2½, and Vipond was a point lower at 115. Hasaie Preferred, also active, lost 5c.

Speculative Activity Features Wall Street

NEW YORK, May 15.—(Canadian Press).—Revival of speculative activity in public utility merchandise and low-priced railroad issues, featured the morning Wall Street market, the main strength of which was upward. The inability of shorts to dislodge much long stock in some of their recent drives led to extensive short covering, particularly in Savage Arms, which was quickly run up four points on this buying. Further accumulation of wheeling and Lake Erie issues which broke through the new 1925 high levels, was generally attributed to reports that the road was being sought for inclusion in the new Loree system in the east. Good buying also took place in some of the high-priced eastern coalers, especially Delaware and Hudson, Chesapeake and Ohio, and Norfolk and Western.

Coppers failed to 'follow through' on the advance which started yesterday, although several companies are expected to benefit from an increase in the price of lead announced today. The combination of mid-month pay day demand for funds resulted in a stiffer rate for coal money which renewed at four per cent.

New Gains For May Wheat Carry Price Up To $1.71

CHICAGO, May 15. — (Canadian Press).—Decided new gains in price for May delivery of wheat gave an early upward trend to-day to the wheat market as a whole. Talk was current that supplies in Europe were becoming very light and that import requirements there would be heavy within the next few months. In this connection, notice was taken of an announcement that Great Britain had been the buyer of spring wheat in this country over night and that Brazil was paying four times the usual premium for wheat in Argentina. The opening, which ranged from ¼ decline to 1 3-4c advance, May 1.69 to 1.69¼, and July 1.52 to 1.52¼, was followed by a serious of irregular fluctuations, in which May rose to 1.71 and July to 1.53¾.

Warmer weather tended to ease down the corn market and oats as well. After opening unchanged to 5-8c lower, July 1.16 1-8 to 1.16¼, corn touched 1.15½ for July.

Oats started at a shade lower to a shade higher, July 45¼. All months showed a little decline later.

Provisions were firmer, despite weakness of hogs.

GERMANS TRY TO ATTRACT TOURISTS

Country Needs Foreign Money to Keep Exchange at Par.

BERLIN, May 14. — German hotelkeepers in the smaller resort centers would like to have it known among tourists that they have lowered their rates. The country needs foreign money to help keep exchange at par and to lessen the burden of reparation payments, and the gold left behind by foreign visitors helps to these ends. Hence rates at many hotels have been reduced, and published tariffs have been issued which make it possible for touring companies to resume business in Germany on much the same basis that they worked before the war.

Visa rates on American passports also are lower, and the tax on foreigners has been removed in practically all German cities. There have also been changes in police regulations which make it unnecessary for travelers to appear personally before police officials to register.

Railway rates are high in comparison with many European countries, but there has been a decided improvement of the service. Taxicabs and the hire of motor cars still are relatively expensive.

Generally speaking, however, the foreign traveler is now welcome in Germany, and has little difficulty in making his way around in comfort, even without knowledge of the language. Sight-seeing autos are operating in all important centers and travel bureaus have guides available and are ready to provide rooms and meals at whatever prices tourists want to pay.

Announcements in German newspapers that 135,000 Americans visited France last year and are supposed to have spent over $200,000,000 in that country, has attracted wide attention and provoked much comment about the desirability of getting more of these Americans to come to Germany.

TRACKLESS TRAIN TO CROSS CONTINENT

Carrying six berths, kitchenette, diner and observation platform, with a capacity of six persons, the first trackless train ever built in America will soon leave New York for the Pacific Coast. The train, built in Indianapolis, made its first stop en route to New York at Dayton, O. It develops 90 horse-power and chuggs along with less noise than a locomotive.

BUTTERFLIES MAKE LENGTHY MIGRATION

Painted Ladies Travel From African Desert as Far as Iceland.

LONDON, May 14.—The Painted Lady butterfly is as fond of travel over sea and land as she is of her gorgeous coloring. Her husband, too, likes migratory flights and, according to scientific researchers, these butterflies in great numbers have been known to make journeys from Turkey to England.

C. B. Williams, chief entomologist of the Egyptian ministry of agriculture, who has been studying the habits of the Painted Lady for several years, gave an account of his work in a recent issue of Nature. The butterfly of this species, he believes, originates somewhere in the south or southeast of the long line of desert stretching across North Africa and Asia Minor, 2000 to 3000 miles from England. They leave the desert early in the spring and arrive in the vicinity of the southern shores of the Mediterranean usually about April. From Palestine they appear to fly through Syria and Turkey to the Balkans states, and from Egypt, Tripoli and Algeria they cross to southern Europe. All during the flight stragglers and weaklings are dropped out of the swarms and left behind.

By the more hardy fliers England is reached late in May or early in June, Scotand a week or so later, and here many of them spend the summer. The Painted Lady, those which originate in the desert country, have been seen in Iceland in July, some 4,000 miles from their starting place.

Whether in crossing great stretches of water they continue flying all night or rest on floating masses in the water has not yet been determined. Neither it is known, so far, as Mr. Williams was able to ascertain, whether a return journey is made.

Weed Killers

Rather than hoeing out the weeds that insist on growing in the walks and roads, and only succeeding in disturbing the foundation, it is much better to spray with a weed killer. This consists of carefully worked out combinations of chemicals which burn the weeds, after which they disintegrate rapidly and disappear.

There are several brands on the market all worked out on the same principle, but using different chemicals. Some go by trade names such as "Herbicide" and "Bortox." If purchasing these liquids in quantity use one gallon of Herbicide to forty gallons water, or Bortox one gallon to twenty-five gallons water. If purchased in small quantities, full directions will be found on the package. Great care must be exercised in their use and only wooden receptacles used. If by accident the spray should strike the grass, burning will result and an ugly patch will show. If the burning has not been too severe the grass will recover, but it is better to take no chances. For this reason a calm day should be chosen, as even a light breeze will carry the spray. A light board, that could be carried and placed to block the spread of the spray to the grass, could be used and carried along with the progress of the spray nozzle.

For success in spraying it is necessary

(1) To use a fairly high pressure and force the spray well into the crown of the plant. This is especially true of dandelions and quack grass.

(2) To spray while the plants are young and before growth goes too far in the spring.

(3) A thorough spraying is essential and in stubborn cases it may be necessary to spray several times.

DANGERS IN HARD LIQUOR

BERLIN, May 14.—That the movement for prohibition in Germany is rapidly gaining ground among the working classes is indicated by an appeal recently issued by a number of ocialist party leaders, most of whom are members of the Reichstag.

The document declares that "the working class is the worst sufferer from the effects of alcoholism." It admonishes the workers to "keep alcohol away from your meetings, sessions, and demonstrations, and establish people's houses and hotels that sell no liquor. Reduce the possibility of obtaining liquor wherever you can do so, and conduct intensive educational work concerning the harm done by alcohol."

MODERN METHUSELAH.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, May 12. — The world's oldest man is believed to be a Kurd, named Noro, born in 1775, says the newspaper, La Bulgaria. A son of this 160-year-old man and his only descendant, died last year at the age of 97. In Jugoslivia is a man said to be 115 years old.

A Mining Opportunity

A group of prominent Ontario business men have acquired a high class gold property in the heart of the Kirkland Lake area, on which a complete mining plant has been installed, capable of mining operations to a depth of 1,000 feet, and underground development has been carried to the 400 foot level. This property is paid for in full and has been most favorably reported on by well known mining engineers.

The company has been organized on an exceptional basis and to proceed with further opening up of the property a limited amount of money is now being raised. The work is in charge of a most competent technical mining engineer, who has a thorough knowledge of mining conditions in this district.

To a number of business men who are desirous of speculating of from $500 to $1,000 where they can be assured that their money will be used in actually carrying out the work under scientific supervision and where there is a good opportunity of securing large returns through the practically assured success of the venture—on this basis we invite participation.

The principals are not brokers—they and a prominent engineer have invested many thousands of their own money in work done and in equipment installed, and the money now being raised will be spent on the further carrying out of the mine development. A request will give you full particulars with no obligations to purchase.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY BUDS OF PROMISE

Books of Class Show an Increase Over Last Year's Work.

WOOLER, ay 14. — The "Buds of Promise" Sunday school class held their annual business meeting on Monday evening in the Sunday school room. The books which were audited by Mrs. V. Teal and Mrs. L. Scott, showed an increase in the year's work.

The election of officers was as follows:

Teacher, Mrs. S. L. Terrill.

Associate teacher, Miss Margaret Teal.

President, Mrs. W. A. Mitchell.

Secretary, Miss Lillian Bell.

Treasurer, Mrs. Vera Teal.

On Sunday morning "Mothers' Day" was much in evidence by the pink and white carnations worn by the members of the Sunday school in honor of their mothers who are still in the midst of their self forgetting labors, and with added tenderness to the memory of those who have gone from the earthly homes to the heavenly home. The auditorium of the church was beautifully decorated with choice plants and flowers, where the "Mothers' Day" service was continued, and the baptismal service was held, five being baptised by the pastor, Rev. J. R. Bick.

The Misses Gunybns of Mount Zion were the guests of Mr. and Mrs Harold Steinburg over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Wrightman of Bethany attended the Sunday school, Mr. Wrightman giving a few encouraging remarks in honor of the Superintendent and school.

On Tuesday evening a number from here attended the community social held in Mount Zion church, helping in the programme.

Mrs. Clifford Dunn and son spent a fewdays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Richards, Murray Canal.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Terrill, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Clarke, Mrs. John Terrill, attended the funeral of the late Frank Valleau of Trenton on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Kathleen Ruttan, accompanied by Miss C. Hess of Trenton, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ruttan.

Mrs. Maynard Sharpe and daughter Lois, were in Belleville, visiting her sister, Helen Terrill, over the week end.

Sandy McColl of Havelock was visiting old acquaintances around the village for a few days.

Mrs. Ray of Timmins, Ont., was the guest of Mr and Mrs. C. R. Terrill this week.

The Quarterly Official Board of the Methodist church met on Thursday evening, to balance the books for the past year.

Mr. and Mrs. James Birchard of Lindsay, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Birchard of Oshawa, were the guests of Mrs. John Terrill over the week-end.

The postmaster, Leonard Scott, a war veteran, is in the Christie street hospital, Toronto, for tratment.

The play, "Miss Fearless and Co." put on by ten young ladies of Grace Church, Trenton, under the auspices of the "Buds of Promise" Sunday school class, played to a full and appreciative house in the town hall, on Friday evening.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elliott, accompanied by Mr and Mrs. Leland Bryant, motored to Kingston to visit Mr. Elliott's son, Earle, who has undergone a critical operation in the hospital there.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Scott spent Saturday afternoon in Belleville.

The Mission Circle met at the home of Miss Stella Nelson, on Saturday afternoon. A large number was present, and in addition to the programme a solo was beautifully rendered by Miss Frances Terrill and a reading by Miss Leona Sharpe.

Premier Mussolini of Italy was sent to prison five times from 1904 to 1911, for such offences as lecturing without permission against the Italian government.

"I shot her down cold—just like Uncle Frank shoots 'em," said Marvin Crutcher, 3, when in play he shot and killed, Mrs. Vivian Harlan of Kansas City. Marvin of Jefferson City, Mo., visiting at the Harlan home, picked up a revolver which Frank Harlan, a city detective, had left on a table. "I'm a policeman, watch out," he warned. Before Mrs. Harlan could reach him the lad pulled the trigger.

CHILD DROWNED.

Eight Year Old Boy Fell Off Dam Into Speed River.

GUELPH, May 15 (Canadian Press)—Ernest Wilson, aged eight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathon Wilson, this city, fell of a dam here into Speed River last night and was drowned.

MANY KILLED.

Six Thousand Five Hundred Lost Lives in Chinese Earthquake.

PEKING, May 15 (Canadian Press)—The famine relief commission here received an estimate today that six thousand five hundred persons were killed in an earthquake at Talifu in Yunnan province on March 18.

Broken War Veteran Drugged Through Eye

MONTREA, May 15. — Injection of narcotics through the tear duct of his one good eye, was the method used by James Nicholls to meet his cravings for drugs, was the evidence given against him in court here this morning. Nicholls had one false eye, and a plate over his skull as evidence of his service in the great war. The hospital doctors say they were compelled to give him drugs to keep him alive. He pleaded not guilty to being a drug addict and will be kept under observation.

PRESENTATION TO MISS RUBY CARR

Well Known Member of Knox Choir Will Marry Soon.

After the regular mid-week practice, the officers and members of Knox Church Choir held a social evening in honor of Miss Ruby Carr. Presentation was made of a beautiful cut glass fruit dish by Miss Dorothy Gillespie and the following address by the secretary, Mrs. A. Huffman, was read:

"We, the officers and members of Knox Church Choir, desire to express to you our appreciation of your work with us in the past, and we very much regret the necessity of severing that most pleasant companionship, although we trust it will be but a temporary severance.

"You have always been one of our most faithful and willing workers and as a choir, we shall miss your bright presence in our midst, though we feel that we must rejoice with you on the occasion of your marriage when you will be carrying your helpful qualities into yet another sphere.

"We ask you to accept this little remembrance, not for its intrinsic value, but as a token of our love and goodwill to you. May you soon rejoin us in the good work."

Miss Carr, greatly taken by surprise, spoke in very endearing terms of her associates of the choir, and acknowledged the gift in a most creditable manner. Rev. M. C. Mackinnon in a few brief sentences, expressed his gratitude to all the members of the choir for their faithful service rendered every Sunday. Short speeches were made by Mesdames Wood, Staples, Williamson and Scholey, Messrs. Charles Peaker, A. Pitchford and H. McCannon.

HOLD-UP MAN SENTENCED.

Ten Years For Robbery Given to Albert Sirois, of Montreal.

MONTREAL, May 15 (Canadian Press)—Declared sane by the medical authorities, Albert Sirois, alias Hebert, was sentenced yesterday to ten years in the penitentiary for the hold up and robbery of Henri Belanger, Ville LaSalle butcher, on the night of April 11.

Quick Relief for Rheumatism

If So Crippled You Can't Use Arms or Legs Rheuma Will Help You or Nothing to Pay.

If you suffer from torturing rheumatic pains, swollen, twisted joints and suffer intensely because your system is full of uric acid, that dangerous poison that makes thousands helpless and kills thousands years before their time, then you need Rheuma, and need it now.

Start taking it today; in 24 hours it will begin to act on kidneys, liver, stomach and blood, and you can sincerely exclaim: "Good riddance to bad rubbish."

Many people, the most skeptical of skeptics right in this city and in the country hereabouts, bless the day when McDermid and Jury and other good druggists offered Rheuma to the afflicted at a small price and guaranteed money refunded if not satisfied. If you have have rheumatism get a bottle of Rheuma today.

The Haunted House

TALES about it were as numerous as its dark, broken windows. Oaks shadowed it thickly; winds sucked through its halls. The shutters sagged and were ivy-eaten—the windows giving in to an emptiness at once foreboding, dreadful.

Excitement ran agog when the place was bought. School children huddled to watch the rooms renovated. A sign swung out: "Stop here for tea." Lights sprang up. It became a frequent pleasure to drop in of evenings. In time, the towns-people loved the place. The inviting sign, the cleanliness, the light banished fear.

THREW ACID IN HIS WIFE'S FACE

Toronto Man Disfigured His Wife While Mad From Jealousy.

BURNED HIMSELF.

TORONTO, May 15. — (Canadian Press.)— Charged with doing grievous bodily harm to his wife, Margaret, aged 18, by throwing a quantity of sulphuric acid in her eyes, Arthur Wilson, aged 23, of Toronto, was taken into custody last night. The injured woman was removed to the General Hospital. The right side of her face is badly disfigured and it is not yet known if the sight of her right eye can be saved. Her clothes also were burned. Wilson sustained burns about the neck when the liquid splashed.

He told Detective Clarke that he had been married since last September but that he and his wife had lived together only six weeks.

Inspired by jealousy, he told the police, he waited at the street corner till his wife came along on her way from work to her rooming house and attacked her.

WARKWORTH BOWLING.

First Games Wednesday—Pair of Bowls to Donor of Green.

WARKWORTH, May 15.—The schedule for the softball will be completed when two postponed games are played, Married vs. High School and High School vs. Bachelors. As it stands now, the married men look like the winners. High School will have to win both games to tie them Wednesday evening. Bachelors lost to High School, the score being 9-8. Friday evening an exciting game was played between Bachelors and Married Men, the score being 29-28 for the Married Men. On Monday night the High School was defeated by the Dons by a score of 30-7.

On Wednesday afternoon a number of local bowlers met at the green for the first time this season and presented Mr. G. H. Bensley with a fine pair of bowls. When the bowling club was first organized, Mr. Bensley kindly offered land for the green free of charge. The afternoon was spent in a number of games.

Games of tennis were played on Wednesday afternoon, the first of the season.

Mr. W. A. Kelly, lineman for the Percy Municipal Telephone System, has been busily engaged in extending lines in the vicinity of Hastings. Also two contracts have been signed by new subscribers.

The Ladies' Aid held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. W. S. Jackson on Thursday afternoon.

TRAFFIC PROBLEMS IN BUENOS AIRES

One-Way Streets Are So Crowded That Traffic Moves Slowly.

BUENOS AIRES, May 15.—The city authorities of Buenos Aires, whose population is approaching the 2,000,000 mark, are faced with a transportation and traffic problem that is ever growing more serious. The city possesses over 520 miles of surface and subway lines, the former carrying 600,000,000 passengers annually and the subway 60,000,000, but these are insufficient to handle the daily passenger movement without over-crowding, delay and congestion.

Additional subways, linking up distantly separated railways terminals with motorbus feeder lines are the necessary solution of the problem, transportation authorities say, but although the company operating the present subway presented a proposition to the city some three years ago to construct a new one, inability to agree on terms has so far prevented its being started.

Many motorbuses have been in operation during the last year, but have eased the transportation facilities of the city only to a slight extent. Indeed, traffic congestion is increased largely with their use, together with the increasing numbers of automobiles.

Streets in the business section of the city are restricted to one way traffic, but even so vehicles in them move at a snail's pace during the busy hours.

MANY MEN WHO ARE ON WATER CANNOT SWIM

Lumberjacks and Others of Like Occupation Are Often Non-Swimmers.

ANYONE CAN SWIM

Sex or Deformity is No Bar to Proficiency at Aquatic Sports.

It is a very strange fact that many who are daily exposed to danger do not know how to swim. This is true of lumbermen, of men in the navy, of many members of crews on ships and boats. It is not underestimating the facts to say that fully twenty-five per cent of all men and boys in Canada over 12 years of age do not know how to swim and the percentage is of course much larger when applied to both sexes and all ages.

There is no pastime or play that is more democratic in its nature than swimming. Where a number of persons are gathered together to enjoy this invigorating sport there is only one line to be drawn—the water level; and the aristocrats are those who can keep their heads above water.

No person has any right to be in a canoe who cannot swim and swim well. The word "educated" applies imperfectly to a college graduate who may be compelled to stand on a wharf and see and hear a helpless person struggling and calling for help and yet be unable to spring into the water and rescue him.

All Are Equal.

Swimming is not only the one sport in which women are at no disadvantage in competing with men but it is the only form of exercise in which one-legged men, the excessively fat and the deformed can engage and be on an equal footing as well.

No man can keep his mind on his business while enjoying a swim and thus does swimming help to preserve mental balance as well as muscular symetery.

Absurd Statements.

According to G. H. Corsan, who will instruct all comers at the Y.M.C.A. next week, the oft repeated assertion that water weakens one is absurd. "I have met a number of men," says Mr. Corsan, "who would not have their sons taught swimming, fearing that they would become too venturesome. The very opposite has been my experience for of many scores of persons helped out of the water not in a single case did I have to help an educated swimmer but always some non-swimmer or some self-taught who thought that he could do what he saw his companions do because he was as old or stronger than they."

FOREST FIRE RAGING

Six Miles North-west of Nipigon, Near C.P.R. Right-of-Way.

TORONTO, May 15.—(Canadian Press).—Word was received last night by W. H. Alderson, chairman of the Northern Ontario Fire Relief Committee, that a forest fire in the Thunder Bay District was six and a half miles north-west of Nipigon, and one and one-half miles back from the C.P.R. right-of-way. The message stated that three settlers had been burned out and that the fire covered an area of 5,000 acres. It is supposed to have been started by settlers burning underbrush and slashings.

MANY HURT IN CROSSING WRECK

One Woman Killed and Nineteen Others Hurt When Engine Struck Bus.

SERIOUS INJURIES.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 15.—(Canadian Press.)—Nineteen of a party of Windsor and Walkerville women, and two men, were injured, and one woman was killed early this morning, when the motor bus of which they were occupants was struck at the Howard street crossing in Windsor by an Essex terminal railway skitch engine. Several of the women are reported to be in a serious condition.

Mrs. H. C. Potter, 40 years old, 357 Hall Avenue, Windsor, died a few minutes after admittance to the Hotel Dieu. Her daughter, May, incurred severe injuries and was taken with many of her injured companions to the same institution. Several of the victims were taken to Grace Hospital.

Frantic husbands, sons, daughters and other relatives of the injured women besieged both hospitals soon after the news of the accident reached the border cities.

ARRANGE LESSONS IN SWIMMING ART

Board of Education Turns Down Offer of Free Tuition.

In many store windows and other public places today may be seen brightly lithographed cards representing a swimmer in action and headed by the caption "C'mon fellows—Learn to swim." This should be a very welcome invitation to many of Peterborough's men and boys, in view of the fact that G. H. Corsan, who will be in charge of all comers to the Y.M.C.A. pool next week, is recognized as the leading authority on all matters pertaining to swimming and life saving. His book "At Home in the Water" is the text book of countless other instructors throughout North America.

Harrington Emmerson, the personal efficiency scientist said, in one of his lessons, that we should find and take the best, easiest and quickest ways if we are to get the best results, using methods developed over a long period of practical work in the aquatic field. Mr. Corsan eliminates all non-essential features from his mass training methods and instils in the mind of his pupil a true confidence in the individual's ability.

The officials of the Y.M.C.A. in mapping out a schedule of classes for Mr. Corsan had hoped to give all non-swimmers in the city schools free tuition during school hours as part of their school work. Unfortunately the principals of schools and members of the Board of Education felt that with examination time close at hand it would be unfair to disrupt school classes for a week. It is with reluctance, therefore, that the plan has been dropped. Boys and men are being enrolled for a course of six lessons at a very modest fee and parents who are desirous of entering a boy are advised to phone the Y.M.C.A. for information.

DUNSFORD PERSONALS

DUNSFORD, May 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Vanstone and son Jack of Toronto were guests of the latters' grandmother, Mrs. E. Kennedy, over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Noman McCullen of Toronto visited Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Kennedy over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kennedy and Leanora of Lindsay visited friends in Dunsford on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cooke of Toronto, accompanied by Mrs. Webb and daughter, Dorothy, visited Dunsford friends on Sunday.

Miss Ruby Bell of Lindsay visited at the home of Mrs. W. J. Thurston over the week end.

Miss Mildred Robertson, who has spent the winter in Toronto, has returned home for the summer months.

Mrs. S. Arnold of Toronto was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Robertson over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burgess and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Burgess on Sunday.

Miss Margaret Middleton of Omemee visited at the home of Mrs. R. Graham last week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Haggard of Peterborough are visiting at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kennedy.

Mr. Ed. Burgess, who lives two miles from the village reports having planted a few potatoes in a new way last year, and they turned out alright. He just simply took them out and laid them on the ground on some rather rich land and spread a good thick coating of straw over them. They grew and Mr. Burgess claims they were very nice potatoes, very uniform in size and the skin was very clear.

He has quite a few planted in the same way already this year and he is patiently waiting to see what the results will be.

County Road Work.

Mr. E. Mitchell of Lindsay, road foreman, has taken the job of fixing the road down by the Star Cheese factory about three miles east of the village. He and his gang of men came down last week, and Mr. Will Myers went down with his engine Monday. He is going to operate the county stone crusher for a while.

BRIGHTON LODGE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Rebecca Lodge Celebrates Second Anniversary by Social Evening.

FINE BANQUET

BRIGHTON, May 15—Tuesday evening the Brightonia Rebecca Lodge held their second annual birthday banquet in the I.O.O.F. club rooms.

The bountifuly laid tables were done in green and pink decorations with pink roses. The birthday cake held two candles, green and pink. At nine o'clock the guests assembled in the dining hall where they did justice to the sumptuous dinner provided by the ladies.

The programme of the evening consisted of toasts, solos and readings. The toast to the King was proposed by the Noble Grand, Mrs. R. J. Taylor, and responded to with "God Save the King." B. C. H. Becker proposed the toast to the Rebeccas and Mrs Johnson, Past District Deputy President of Trenton ably responded. A toast to the ladies was proposed by G. S. Langdon who said his mind was full of the subject. This was replied to by Mrs. C. T. Lapp who presumably knew much more about the subject than the proposer. In her clever way she stated many facts which could not be denied, some being that at no age, from babyhood to boyhood, from boyhood to manhood and from bachelor to benedict, was man able to do without woman; another being that God made man and he took all that was good in man to make woman. Even though Kipling described woman as "a rag, a bone and a hank of hair" it is well known that he was a great admirer of the fair sex. In her closing remarks she said that woman was the inspiration of many of the most beautiful poems. The toast to the Oddfellows was proposed by Mrs. Vera Goodrich who believes that Rebecca Degree is just a higher degree in Oddfellowship. Dr Rundle in responding to this told how woman got her name. After man was made, God made something else and He looked at it and then looked at man. He felt sorry for man and said woe man. (Dr. Rundle said "It has been woe man ever since.") Man thought it was a new name for this object he had made and called it woman.

Walter Smith proposed the toast to the visitors and Messrs. Miller and Kellar and Mrs. Seabrooke, all of Trenton, responded.

They said that Trenton Lodge had a great interest in Brighton Lodge for they had instituted it two years ago.

Miss Colleen McCann gave an instrumental. Mrs. F. J. Bradley and Miss Gwyneth Frise both sang in their usual pleasing manner. Miss Ola Greenfield entertained her audience with one of her clever readings.

The tables and dishes magically disappeared and the guests spent the remaining hours in dancing and cards.

Mother's Day Service

A special service was held on Mother's Day in the Methodist Sunday School. One of the pleasing incidents of the programme was when Mrs. S. Davidson, representing all the mothers of the Sunday School, was presented with a bouquet of flowers by little Jean Macklam. Master Willie Tait read an appropriate address.

The children represented all the children of the Sunday School.

Mrs. Davidson made a suitable reply stating that every day should be made mother's day.

Personals

Mrs. M. Stoneburg of Toronto has been spending a couple of weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. U. Strong.

Arthur Allen has returned from a business trip in Niagara district.

Ernest Way of Toronto was at his home in Brighton for the week-end.

Miss Jean Roblin is slowly recovering from her serious illness.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Pettengill and Mrs. Jack Davern motored to Kingston today.

SUMMER HOLIDAY STILL IN DOUBT

No Definite Date Set by the Merchants for Half Day a Week.

There have been rumours heard regarding the half-holiday which has been observed throughout the summer months since July, 1913. It is alleged that for this year the custom will be suspended, but thorough investigation fails to reveal either the source or grounds for the statement.

Several suggestions have been received to the effect that the holiday be on Wednesday afternoon instead of Thursday, and that they run through June to August, instead of from July to September.

All agree that the holiday system is necessary, but abused by certain grocers who disregard it and insist on remaining open. They say that legislation should be made effective forcing all stores to remain closed on the specified half day, otherwise the summer half-holiday will never be a success.

NORTH DURHAM LEAGUE FORMED IN TWO GROUPS

H. Ryley, of Bethany, Elected President at Organization Meeting in Millbrook.

SINGLE SCHEDULE.

League Will Affiliate With O. A. B. A.—Replacing Old E.M.C. League.

MILLBROOK, May 1[illegible] — The anual meeting of those interested in baseball for this district was held at Bethany on Tuesday evening, notices having been sent to the following teams: Mount Pleasant, Omemee, Mount Horeb, Janetville, Black stock, Yelverton, Pontypool, Bethany, Nestleton and Millbrook. All of these had representatives present with the exception of Mount Horeb and Omemee.

Hon. President W. Hannah was asked to take the chair and plans for the formation of the new league were discussed.

Moved by R. J. Burn, seconded by G. W. Sayles: That we form a new league to be known as the North Durham League.

The election of officers was then held, the list being:

Hon. Presidents, A. J. Fallis, M. P.P., W. F. Bowen, M.P., and W. W. Hannah.

President, H. Ryley, Bethany.

1st Vice-President, Dr. McNeil, Pontypool.

2nd Vice-President, H. Porteous, Nestleton.

Secretary-Treasurer, P. Stinson, Millbrook.

Executive, R. J. Burn, Janetville; Dr. Hamilton, Bethany; G. W. Sayles Millbrook; P. Phelp, Nestleton; G. Crawford, Blackstock; G. Shield, Mt Pleasant; A. Stewart, Pontypool; G. Evans, Yelverton.

Stinson-Burns—That the executive transact all business of the league, secretary-treasurer having no vote, and the president only in case of a tie vote.

Magill-Sayles— That we have one umpire for each game, and that he be paid the sum of $3 for his work; also that he stand behind the pitcher.

Burns-Evans—That the executive arrange for umpires for the play-off games.

Two Sections.

Payne-Magill—That we play in two sections, the first to consist of Millbrook, Bethany, Mount Pleasant and Janetville; and the second of Pontypool, Yelverton, Nestleton and Black stock.

Burns-Jackson—That we play single schedules, and that first and second teams in each section play home and home games to declare winners of each section, and that the winners of each section play home and home games to declare winner of the league.

Sayles—Porteous—That this league affiliate with the O.B.A., winners of the league to pay half, and the league half the expense of the same.

Burns-Hannah—That we play under O.B.A. rules, except any changes made by our local by-laws.

Burns-Sisson—That we amend our time for protest rule to read 3 days instead of 24 hours.

Burns-White—That the membership fee be $3.24 for each team who has not already that amount to its credit in the league.

Sayles-White—That each team deposit $25 marked cheque with the secretary-treasurer before June 1st, to be used in case any scheduled game is defaulted.

Hannah-Burns—That we be governed by rules of former E.M.C. League with the exception of above amendments.

Draw Schedule May 24th.

It was arranged that schedule for District No. 1 be drawn up at Bethany May 24th, and that the schedule for Section No. 2 be arranged by said section at its earliest convenience and that it also appoint an umpire.

Sayles-Hannah—That J. Cathcart and J. C. Cummiskey be umpires for Section No. 1.

The attendance was most encouraging, about 50 being present.

Notice to O.B.A.

The following is a copy of a letter sent by P. Stinson, sec.-treas. of the new league to the Sec.-Treasurer of the O.B.A.

Millbrook, May 13, 1925

Mr. A. J. Walsh, Sec.-Treas., O.B.A. Toronto:

Dear Sir: In reply to your letter of the 8th inst., I beg to inform you that the old E.M.C. League has been disbanded.

At the annual meeting held in Bethany, May 12th, a new league was formed under the name of the North Durham League, comprising all the village and country teams in this locality.

The south section, comprising Elizabethville, Garden Hill, Kendal and Newtonville, have formed a league of their own in the southern part of the county.

I enclose herewith money order for sum of $10 membership fee. Kindly send me acknowledgment of same, and copies of rules and bylaws.

The suggestion is offered that an official pass be given the president and secretary of each league affliated with the O.B.A. that would admit these officials to any game under the Amateur Baseball Association, during the season. A great deal of work devolves on these officers, and if recognized by the O.B.A. in this manner greater interest would be created and amateur baseball generally would be benefited.

I would appreciate hearing from in this regard. Yours truly,

P. STINSON, Sec.-Treas.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

Add Earl Sande to the list of comebacks.

Badly injured in a spill about eight months ago it was predicted that America's premier jockey would never ride again.

It was feared that Sande's poor physical condition as a result of the accident would prove a serious handicap. It was also believed that he would lack some of the courage that always featured his work.

Apparently Sande is fit physically and has lost none of his old time nerve. In his first three starts he put over as many winners.

His best bit of work so far was winning the Dixie handicap on Sarazen, from a good field. Sarazen proved he could carry the weight.

Few jockey are the equal of Sande in rating pace. That is where he has the edge.

In all probability several prominent turfmen who had an option on Sande's services and passed it up are mighty sorry.

RIGHT DOPE.

The Boston Red Sox still have Outfielder Bob Veach on the pay roll, also a recruit outfielder by the name of Vache.

I am making this statement to set at rest the belief among many of the fans that the newspapers are constantly mispelling Veach's name.

During one week I had at least a score of inquiries on this point. While the fans saw the name of Vache daily in the Red Sox lineup, a majority of them believed it was Bob Veach and that the official scorer had merely jumbled the spelling.

The same letters are used in spelling Veach as Vache. Incidentally, it is not unusual for the printer setting up the box score to get a letter in the wrong place. Such a mistake sometimes slips by the proof reader.

Vache is a big husky right-hander, better than six feet and weighing about 190. He is very fast for his size and weight. He takes a healthy swing at a ball that would shame Babe Ruth's best.

In other words, he can hit.

Vache in appearance is a double for the late Frank Chance, except that he is built along larger lines. He's making good.

PINCH PITCHER.

"Vean Gregg should be a whale of a relief pitcher for us," remarked Manager Stanley Harris to me during the spring training trip.

"He still has plenty of stuff, and if given the proper rest and has his spots picked, should be a great help to my club."

Gregg has on three or four occasions already proved the wisdom of Harris' judgment.

His work as a pinch pitcher has been almost perfect. Recently, sent into a game against the Athletics with the bases filled and only one out, he fanned Welch and Simmons, two powerful right-handed hitters.

His relief pitching saved the game.

Twelve years ago, Gregg was the best southpaw in the American League. He ranked close to the great Rube Waddell at his best.

UNIQUE THEORY.

During the winter in Florida, and this spring, he has been doing his best work in the first 18 holes, invariably slumping in the last 18 of every 36 hole match. He explains it by saying his clubs get to feel heavy.

Jock expressed the opinion that he intended having a heavier set of clubs made for morning play than afternoon. It is not unusual for players to claim the clubs get heavy to swing in the final holes of a 36-hole match.

Possibly Jock was only kidding but for years ball players have adopted such a theory. That is why Ty Cobb always swings three bats as he walks to the plate. Throwing away two of them as he steps into the batter's box makes his regular bat feel extremely light.

It would be interesting if Jock would make a golf experiment of a theory that has always worked out in baseball.

HAMMOND OUT TO GET NINTH LETTER

Jack Hammond, Harvard baseball captain, is well on his way toward equaling the record hung up by George Owen, all-round Crimson athlete, a few years ago. Hammond hopes to annex his ninth varsity letter this season.

WHITE SOX SHOW SPEED ON BASES

The Chicago White Sox evidently refuse to believe that base stealing has become a lost art. In the first 10 days of play the team chalked up 16 stolen sacks, or almost twice as many as any other club in either major circuit. Speed, and plenty of it, seems to be the Hose by-word.

CHICKS LIVE A LIFE OF LUXURY

Beautiful Little House and Plenty of Food is Provided For Them.

GROW RAPIDLY.

Twenty-five little Plymouth Rocks, destined for a life of intensive usefulness as providers of the family egg, or for a quick exit via the broiler or roasting pan, are having a good time in the window of Frank Dawson's feed store on Water street. Under a tin pagoda-like arrangement, they are supposed to have a night refuge. During the day, they spend most of the time picking Blatchford's Chick Scratch out of a dainty little feeding trough, also of galvanized tin.

This is the food that makes them grow and keeps them in good condition. They increase day by day in weight and circumference and appear to be in excellent condition. The man who provided them had a batch of three hundred hatched out recently and didn' lose one, a record when the tender qualities of little chicks are considered. He gives the credit to this particular type of food, the Blatchford Chick Scratch.

PARIS, May 13.—Three members of the Battalion d'Afrique, the members of which are ex-convicts, were arrested at a train wreck and charged with stealing money and jewels from the injured.

FRENCH LASSIE IS HAILED AS STAR VAMPIRE

Jetta Gondall, Too Realistic in Reel Roles, Signs Agreement.

IN STARDOM

"Cocktail of Emotions," Says de Mille, the Picture Producer.

By LINCOLN QUARBERG
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, May 15 (United Press).—Jetta Goudal, famous French actress, who was "too realistic" in her screen-acting to play in the same picture with Rudolph Valentina, has signed a long-term agreement to appear in vampire roles for Cecil DeMille, independent producer, director.

Miss Goudal was picked as DeMille's latest candidate for stardom after she had been dropped from the cast of "The Sainted Devil," in which Valentino was starring. She has sued Famous Players-Lasky for breach of contract, claiming she was dismissed on complaint of Valentino's wife, who thought her acting in vamp role opposite "the sheik" was "too realistic."

DeMille, who bolted the "movie trust" to head the independent movement among film producers, likes Miss Goudal's "realism," and predicts she will become the premier vampire of the screen. He plans to star her in a series of colorful productions, allowing wide play to her high-powered emotionalism.

"Jetta Goudal is a cocktail of emotions," declared De Mille. "She has color and a wide range of interpretative power.

"I am planning to use her in a series of parts that will exploit to the limit her splendid Gallic vivacity. It is my judgment that it will be only a short time until public demand will create her a star."

Miss Goudal was born in Versailles, France, 20 years ago. She ran away from strict parents at the age of 15 and joined a French barn-storming company, playing "Sappho" and other traditional roles until she decided to sail for America.

She is the latest member of the "foreign legion" to achieve success in American films, following the trail of Ernst Lubitsch, Pola Negri and Eric Von Stroheim, who comprised the vanguard of foreign celebrities who invaded Hollywood and won almost instantaneous success.

The French actress, however, had never appeared in a motion picture before coming to America. She won sudden recognition by her work in "The Spaniard," recently released, and was to have co-starred next with Valentino in a Paramount picture. Then came her "break" with Players-Lasky and her first opportunity with DeMille in featured roles.

Bruce Castellani, former wrestling champion of Italy, has quit the mat to become a screen actor.

Castellani has already appeared in one picture in the rols of a bull-fighter, and he has signed for other productions to be made during the year.

In "Quo Vadis" the giant wrestler played the part of "Ursus," devoted slave of the beautiful Christian girl, Lygia, who breaks the neck of a bull to rescue his mistress.

Catellani proved his fitness for the part by seizing a bull by the horns and actually throwing the animal.

The Italian's stature and picturesque personality combined with his strength have put him in popular demand with directors, and he is playing "strong man" parts in a variety of embryo productions. He declares he is making too much money to return to the wrestling profession.

Rudolph Valentino's next screen offering will be "The Bronze Collar," a romantic story of California in the days of Spanish rule. The picture is to be produced on a lavish scale by United Artists, to whom Valentino was signed after leaving the employment of Famous Players-Lasky. In it he plays the part of a devil-may-care fellow who "fights, rides and loves," and the producers promise the sheik's admirers there will be plenty of "action, thrill and romance."

THEATRES

TOM MIX SCORES SUCCESS IN "RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE."

Playing the part of Lassiter, Tom Mix is attracting great crowds at the Regent Theatre, where this William Fox screen adaptation of Zane Grey's famous novel, "Riders of the Purple Sage," is playing for 3 days.

In this virile drama of pioneer days, Mr. Mix portrays the part of a Western hero who, like a devastating angel, swept through the countryside of the early settlement and made his name a terror to right a great wrong. He plays it so convincingly and with such a wealth of dramatic force that the role is destined to stand as one of his greatest.

The closing scene of this throbbing drama of the great Western desert is staged in the mountains, in a snot of great natural grandeur. To save a girl and her sweetheart from a force of pursuing rustlers, a huge rock is dropped down a sheer cliff, crushing to death many of the horsemen.

Running through the entire picture is a powerful, absorbing love story that breaths the ruggedness and the wholesomeness of the great West. One of the biggest surprises is the discovery of the identity of the mysterious masked rider.

AT THE REGENT

"FIGHTING THE FLAMES" REAL THRILLER WITH WONDERFUL BOY ACTOR.

"Fighting the Flames" is well worth seeing. A good story with a morale — lots of thrills and fire scenes, but in our mind the outstanding feature is the marvellous work of little Frankie Darrow. We cannot think of a better child actor on the screen to-day. Frankie has only appeared in three pictures, and already has earned the title, Baby Barrymore of the screen. He plays the part of a ragged street urchin, who becomes the "pal" of the heroic young fireman.

There is something thrilling about the life of a fireman with the engines rushing madly on. Even when we were kids we used to hang around the firehouse and follow the trucks.

The children will "eat it up," and it's one picture for the whole family —as clean as a hound's tooth.—Fan-Fan.

SUCCESSFUL AMATEUR NIGHT AT ROYAL.

Last night at the Royal another list of local talent pleased the large audience, who were liberal in their applause. The hit of the evening, or it would be fairer to say, the act we most enjoyed was a Spanish Dance number by the two Miss Bradleys and Miss Waudby. In the order of their presentation last night:

Nellie Babbs—Sally.
Billy Gaskin—Violin solo.
Miss Logan—Dutch Dance.
Wm. McIntyre—Step-dancing.
Rachael Walker—Recitation.
The Misses Bradley and Waudby—Spanish Dance.

Mr. Harris was his usual funny self, and introduced two new songs, "Oh Katherina," and "Rock-a-bye Baby Days."

AT THE CAPITOL

"CHARLEY'S AUNT.

A filled house at the Capitol Theatre last night literally rocked with laughter over "Charley's Aunt," the screaming farce that movie directors have made out of the well-known stage play.

"The play was good, but it was nothing like this," remarked one man who watched the unfolding of the hilarious adventures of the celebrated aunt, "from Brazil, where the nuts come from." For sheer foolishness that makes irresistible chuckles ripple almost unceasingly through the house, "Charley's Aunt" stands alone. The spectacles of Syd Chaplin, with prim side curls and old-fashioned bonnet, pausing in his delineation of the aged lady to smoke a cigar and refresh himself with a little drink, is ludicrous in the extreme.

The acting by Chaplin carries off the honors of the piece. It is so refreshingly ridiculous. Shoved by fate and his two chums into the role of a visiting aunt without a moment's notice, he proceeds to conduct himself admirably for a time, then lets loose and creates a 'circus,' as he calls it, with his "chicken hawk" admirer striving to retain a semblance of respect for an elderly lady who persists in such harmless little antics as lying on the top of a stone wall and knocking off the silk toppers of the pedestrians below. As the "aunt" expresses it to her two confederates, "he keeps calling me names of pet worms and flowers."

The Lady's conversation is remarkably frank. She answers, when interrogated as to her supply of children: "Only a few. None to speak of." The consternation which envelops the assemblage over some of her antics is shared by an amused audience, watching with glee the efforts of a strapping young man to enact the role of an elderly female of the mid-Victorian period.

"Charley's Aunt," Donna Lucia d'Alvadorez, is a rich widow from Brazil. Her arrival causes a ripple of excitement between an elderly guardian of the two young ladies, who are enamored of the aunt's nephew and his chum, and Sir Francis Chesney, a baronet with pecuniary difficulties. Their race for "her" favor and the manner in which the "lady" eggs them on make some side-splitting incidents.

The "aunt" does very well in her mindful moments. When she forgets her role, she makes some remarkable trips in her speech and actions. What adds materially to the interest of the comedy is the fantastic nature of the sub-titles. They alone make some of the real laughs with which the whole farcical picture abounds. Another noticeable element is in the orchestral music. This is descriptive and interesting, and includes the odd tic-a-tac music that marked the appearance of the three old gossips in "Way Down East." Anyone who saw that picture will remember the additional interest given it by this peculiar selection, which is used in 'Charley's Aunt' to herald the advent of the old, disliked guardian.

Anyone who likes to laugh, until he or she forgets any possible worry or trouble of the day, to laugh until one's sides ache, should not take the 'risk of missing "Charley's Aunt." The spectacle of the "little passing flower" of the staid gentleman emerging from behind a friendly curtain to appear in bonnet and curls above, and grey trousers topped by pink suspenders below, is one of the most eccentric moments of a farce packed with fun and mirth.

See the respectable-looking old "lady" shed her black skirts behind a screen where two frantic young men try to reinstate "her" in proper clothing, see her get mixed up with her admirer in a broken garter incident see her enact the role of "the life of the party" in the luncheon scene, and flirt with her two elderly admirers while trying to conceal the presence of a large black cigar in her pocket, see her try to follow out the admonition to "keep your voice up and your skirts down," and you will laugh yourself sick. You can't do anything else.—Jeannette.

CHICAGO BLANKED YANKEES AGAIN PENNOCK LOSING DUEL TO LYONS; MACKMEN WIN SEVENTH IN ROW

Four Leading American League Teams Turned in Victories Thursday.

SPEAKER INJURED

Twisted Knee Forces Cleveland Manager to Visit Rochester Bone-setter.

CHICAGO, May 14.—Chicago shut-out the New York Yankees two days in a row by blanking them today, 1 to 0. The game was a pitching duel between Lyons and Pennock, the former being touched for seven hits while the latter allowed only four. Two of the local hits were bunched in the sixth with a stolen base sandwiched in between, which resulted in the only run of the game.

CHAIR CROWNED CATCHER SMITH OF PITTSBURGH

Struck Boston Spectator in Argument and Crowd Swarmed Onto Field.

GIANTS BEAT BIRDS

Tied Up Game in Ninth and Won in Twelfth on Kelly's Double.

BOSTON, May 14. — Pittsburgh defeated Boston today, 7 to 1, in a game punctuated in the eight inning by a near riot which took several policemen to quell.

The trouble started when Earl Smith, Pittsburgh catcher, ran toward the grand stand for a foul fly which he failed to catch. He became embroiled in an argument with W. J. Lewis, of Boston, a spectator. They were preparing to "mix" when, onlookers said, Smith struck a spectator a glancing blow. Police and others intervened and Smith was ordered from the game as the crowd swarmed on to the field. As he passed down the steps to visiting team's quarters beneath the grandstand, a chair thrown by an unidentified spectator landed on top of him. Although the game was one-sided and the feeling was not strong, the police had difficulty for a time in handling the crowd. The score:

Pittsburgh ....02210000 2— 7 11 1
Boston..... ....100000000— 1 5 0
Morrison and Smith, Gooch; Barnes, Kamp, Batchelder and Gibson.

New York, 5; Cincinnati, 4.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Waging an uphill fight against Cincinnati, the Giants tied the score in the ninth inning and won in the twelfth by a score of 5 to 4 today. Southworth's home run with Walker on base forced the game into extra innings and a double by Kelly drove in the winning run.

It was Golden Jubilee Day at the Polo Grounds, and many baseball notables were in the crowd of 15,000 that saw the game. Score:

Chicago, 4; Phillies, 2.

PHILADELPHIA, May 14—Alexander held Philadelphia to seven hits to-day and gave Chicago a 4 to 2 victory. Errors played a large part in the scoring of Philadelphia's two runs in the sixth inning, but an error by Fonseca evened things in the seventh and paved the way for the Cubs' winning tallies. Score:

BROOKLYN, N.Y., May 14 — The St. Louis Cardinals evened the series with Brooklyn to-day by taking the second game, 8 to 4. Grimes started for the Robins, but lacked control, giving way to a pinch hitter in the eighth, and Oeschger finished the contest. Score.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

What the ordinary golfer most needs for 25 to 50 yards more from the tee is the golf-old knack of wrist action in the forward swing. This is easy to acquire and the best way I know of to get it is to visit the professional. There isn't a professional anywhere who doesn't know how to sling his wrists into the hitting blow and to impart the knack to the player is one of the easiest tasks he has. There are a number of things that prevent correct wrist, or hand, action in the forward swing, and while I can tell you how to get this action, the professional can see at a glance what may be preventing you from getting it. Wrist and forearm rigidity in the back swing, taking the club back too fast, loosening the grip at the top, trying to hit with the body instead of with the clubhead are a few of the things that interfere with correct wrist action.

TORONTO POUND PESTS' HEAVERS; SCORE 18 RUNS

Stewart Held Jersey City to Three Hits, While Leafs Get 25.

ORIOLES STOPPED

Reinhart of Syracuse Held Champions to One Run, Whiffing Ten.

TORONTO, May 14.—Toronto Leafs pounded four Jersey City pitchers for twenty-five hits and a total of eighteen runs here today, while Wally Stewart held the Skeeters to three hits, one a homer by Freitag in the third inning which saved the Skeeters from a shut-out, the score was 18 to 1. The score:

Syracuse, 5; Baltimore, 1.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., May 14.—Art Reinhart, lanky Syracuse southpaw, turned in the finest pitching performance witnessed here this season, when he turned the Baltimore Orioles back with four hits today while the Stars won 5 to 1.

Reinhart fanned eight batters and struck out two others, but McKee dropped the third strike both times. Two of the Baltimore hits were of the scratch variety. Reinhart issued three bases on balls, two of them in the eight, when he filled the bases and then promptly fanned the next two batters for the second and third outs. The score:

..... Buffalo, 11; Reading 1. .....

BUFFALO, May 14—The Bisons made a clean sweep of the Reading series, winning to-day's fourth game, by increasing their score to 11 runs while the Keystones stuck to their one tally, that coming from Camp's home run, his second in two days. Webb and Anderson also drove the ball over the fence. Fisher was hit on the knee by Camp's fast grounder in the second, and turned the pitching over to Auer, who held Reading to six hits. The score:

Reading.... ....000010000— 1 6 1

Rochester, 4; Newark, 3.

ROCHESTER, May 14.—Rochester made it three out of four by winning over the Newark Bears here today by 4 to 3. Horne pitched fine ball and also featured at bat with two hits and two runs in two times up. "Heinie" Batch played third base for the Tribe in the absence of Harry Lunte, who was spiked in yesterday's game. It was the first time Lunte has been out of a game since 1922. The score:

YOUNG COPS WORKOUT.

Squad of 25 at King Edward School.

The The Young Cops, a midget and bantam league team, held their second workout on Thursday evening in King Edward School grounds. The manager, J. H. Deannard, and about twenty-five players were on hand and a snappy practice was held. The team is showing very good form and some fine baseball is expected of them when they get going. "Dimp" Trebilcock, "Bill" Cripps and Ted Sturgeon are trying for the box while Herb Payne, Bernard Ashmore and Talbert Battle are the ones behind the bat. The first sackers are Joe Collins and Murry Hartly. The other players will be picked at their next practice which is to be held tonight.

C. G. E. Juniors

The Canadian General Junior City League Team held a practice at the Exhibition grounds last evening. About twenty players showed up and a fast workout was held. Any ball player is welcome to try out with this team in the Exhibition grounds on Tuesday or Thursday evenings or on Saturday afternoons. The next practice will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1.15.

SPORT GOSSIP AND COMMENT.

Peterboro's policy in developing young ball players in the younger series is bearing fruit, judging by the roster of the Central Ontario League team this season. And there are plenty more coming on to step into faster company in other compaigns.

* * * * * * * * *

With the opening of the Central Ontario League season at hand, the absence of the rotund figure of Jake Solomon from the coaching lines will be missed around the circuit. The Petes' old leader, who, incidentally was the founder of the Central League, provided hostile fans with plenty of amusement and with a target for their verbal attacks.

* * * * * * * * *

Looking at the manner in which George Sisler is hitting, many a big league manager must be wishing there was something the matter with the eyes of some of their players.

* * * * * * * * *

They say youth must be served. But Walter Johnson, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker and Zack Wheat merely smile and go on monopolizing the limelight.

* * * * * * * * *

It looks as if the Central loop is going to be a left-handed affair this season. Gallagher and Cairns, with the Ponies; Jeffrey, with Belleville; Dainty and Lennox, with Oshawa, and Whitehouse, with Peterboro, all serve them up from the port side. Looks like as if Chuck Allen, the left-handed umpire, should have been made a first-string official.

* * * * * * * * *

Cairns, the new Kingston southpaw, is said to have a nice delivery. But the real question, as Hap Harrison puts it, is whether or not he has anything to deliver.

* * * * * * * * *

The O.B.A.A. is to decide whether Jack Ouellet is a resident of Belleville or of Fenelon Falls. The answer means a lot to the railroaders, who will not be going anywhere if the big right-hander is shelved by the Ontario body.

Central Ontario League Notes

The Peterborough Central Leaguers are slated to play a practice game at Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon, two teams to be selected for the occasion. All players are asked to be out at 2.15 o'clock in uniform.

The Petes will motor to Kingston on Wednesday for the League opener. It is a long trip but the team will break their journey by dining at Belleville.

The local Central Ontario League season opens a week from tomorrow when the Petes old rivals, Belleville, will be the attraction. The following week the Petes play at Belleville on Victoria Day and in Oshawa on Saturday.

Infield practice was very successful, the players showing up in better form than ever. Halbert shapes up more and more like a dandy shortstop, and by the time the Petes are here for the opening game, Hap Harrison and his band of sluggers will need a seige gun to get a ball through the infield.

One of the brightest features of the practice was the work of Art Quinn behind the bat. He caught and threw in great style throughout the practice.—Kingston Standard.

Lefty Cairns showed good form, and it would not be surprising if he gets the pitching assignment for the first game, though Gallagher is going good, and may be trotted to the mound for the first game against the Petes—Kingston Standard.

FIRST CRICKET GAME.

Peterboro Club at T. C. S. Port Hope, Saturday.

The Peterboro Cricket Club holds its practices on Tuesday and Friday evenings on their own field in the west end of the Exhibition grounds. On Saturday afternoon they play a match in Port Hope with the Trinity College School. This club has two teams that are busy getting in shape for the good season which the club is looking forward to. The opening home game will be played on May the twenty-fifth, the opponents to be announced later. The team expects to go over good under Chas. Thorpe, captain, and G. Coutts vice captain. The Exhibition Board is co-operating with the club and giving valuable assistance.

The Royal Oak Cricket Club held a practice in the Exhibition grounds on Thursday evening under the able direction of F. Dyer, captain, and W. D. Mann, vice captain, the team is looking forward to a series of victories.

BASEBALL SIMPLIFIED

When is the batsman automatically out on a third strike even though the catcher does not retain possession of the ball?

The batsman is always out on a third strike regardless of whether the ball is caught, when there is a runner on first base and there are less than two out.

Before this rule was put into the playing code, the baserunner was at the mercy of a smart catcher. He would drop the ball forcing the runner to advance and usualy make a double play.

The present rule, with a runner on first and less than two out, gives the baserunner proper protection, since the batsman is automatically out and no other play is possible unless the runner or runners seek to advance at their peril on the dropped third strike.

When two are out it is compulsory that the third strike be caught to retire the batsman.

BREWERY EMPLOYEE KILLED.

BELLEVILLE, May 15.—(Canadian Press).—Harry Bonisteel, 40 and married, an employee of the Roy Wolf Brewery here, was fatally hurt at five o'clock yesterday afternoon when a vat which was being moved tilted and fell on him crushing in his chest. He died while being moved to the general hospital.

SOCCER ON SATURDAY

Senior, Junior and Juvenile Football League Games.

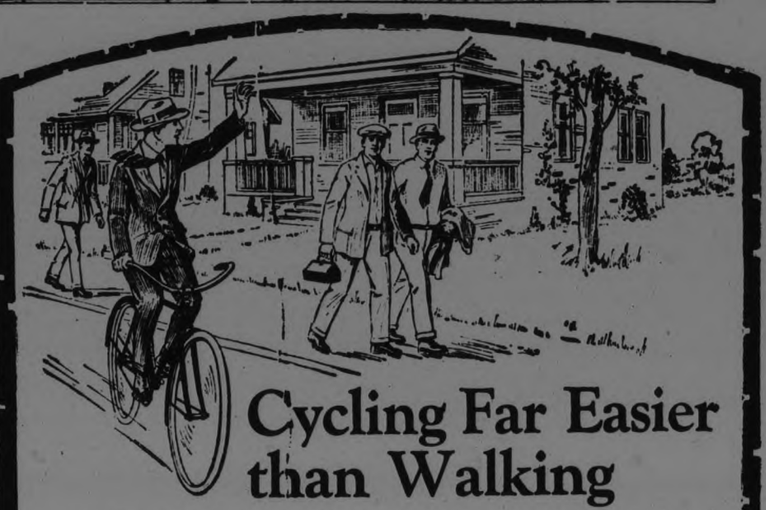
Saturday's soccer bill includes three games in different leagues.

At Nicholls Oval, the Quaker Oats entertain the Canadian Woollens in a return game. Referee J. C. Russell. Kick off at 3 o'clock.

At King Edward Park, the Masseys will meet the De Laval in a junior league game at 3 o'clock.

On the same field the juvenile league will open with the Canadian Woollens versus the De Laval. Kick off at 2 o'clock. Referee W. Downer.

Out at North Dummer, the fast C. P. C. juniors will play the Township men in a league game.



Cycling Far Easier than Walking

FRANK Jones used to complain about his feet getting so hot and achey from his long walks to and from work on the hard roads and pavements.

One day when he felt more tired, and his feet hurt him worse than usual, he happened to see a man go gliding by on a bicycle.

"Cycling is far easier than walking," said Frank to himself. And all day long while he was working that thought kept running through his mind.

That night, on the way home, he dropped into a C.C.M. dealer's and looked over the different C.C.M. models, choosing one that suited him in every way.

Since then Frank's feet have had a much easier time and he's quit complaining. In fact, he's boasting now about how fine and fresh he feels since he started Cycling.

He also tells how quickly and easily he Cycles to work and home again—how he saves the shoe leather he used to wear out on the hard cement walks—how he saves valuable time by Cycling instead of walking.

If you gave Frank a chance he would tell you all about the C.C.M. Triplex Crank Hanger—the wonderful power plant that responds to the slightest pressure on the pedals and makes the C.C.M. run so smoothly, quietly and easily.

He would show you the strong, powerful frames of English Seamless Tubing—the bright silvery nickeling that won't rust because it is done over copper—the sparkling enamel that is baked on over a coat of anti-rust so it will stand rain, snow and all kinds of weather—the new Gibson Pedal with its rust-proof aluminum frame—and the C.C.M. Hercules Coaster Brake that coasts so easily, has such braking power, and is ounces lighter than the old-style side-arm type.

The C.C.M. dealer will, also, be glad to tell you all about the C.C.M. and to show you the new models—the Standard, the Special, the Sport model, the C.C.M. Flyer, the Curved Bar model.

Prices have again been reduced. They're now $20 to $25 less than "peak" prices. Biggest values since pre-war days.

Soccer Conquering the World

Spain is the Latest Country to Succumb. Football Dates Back to Ancient Greece. Soccer is an Offshoot of Rugby.

Soccer has made another conquest. This time Spain, homeland of the bull fight, has succumbed. Matadors, toreadors, picadors, and all the picturesque entourage that marks the sanded ring where men match their skill against animal strength, are in danger. They are no longer undisputed national heroes. Soccer players are sharing that distinction and in some of the larger cities have displaced them in the popular favor. There is growing patronage for the game by all classes, and a rapidly increasing number of players. Sunday afternoon is the usual time for formally scheduled matches. Wherever a soccer game and a bull-fight clash, the latter is the sufferer in attendance. British soccer coaches are in demand as elsewhere in Europe. The newspapers are giving columns of space to the game and its players, and Spanish teams are asking British clubs to send teams to play a series of exhibition games.

Austria succumbed to Soccer years ago. On a recent Sunday fifteen matches were played in Vienna alone, with attendances that would have been creditable to many English and Scottish League games.

Soccer, or to give it the full and proper name, Association Football, is played everywhere by men of every color and race. Wherever it gets a fair start it stays. Yet it is a modern game, though its progenitor, Rugby football, is an old one. Diggers and delvers into history tell us there is no doubt that a game much resembling that of Rugby was played in the days when Greeks and Romans were world leaders. The Romans took it to Britain with them. Throughout its history and until quite recent years, the game was marked by brutality and ferocity that crippled many who took part. It was played at some of the schools on stone paved courts or yards, but began approximation to the Rugby of today when, at the famous English school of that name, it was persistently played on a grassy field.

It was from the dribbling in Rugby, as played in Britain, that Association (Soccer) football sprang. Cambridge University is often given the credit for the development of it to the point where it began to assume its present shape, if that simile may be permitted. At a meeting held in London in October of 1863, laws for Association football took practical form and from that time on there has been nothing but a steady expansion of the game in every part of the Empire, and in all corners of the world. The London meeting also laid the foundation for the Football Association, the organization which controls the Soccer game in England, and, with organizations in other countries, keeps in touch with world-wide Soccer.

In November, 1872, the first officially recognized international game between England and Scotland was played. The first between England and Wales and England and Ireland took place in 1879 and 1882 respectively. The growth of the game, once it had been placed on an organized footing, was extraordinary alike in the territory it covered and the popularity it attained. International games in these days include matches with teams from France and other European countries.

Is Popular in Canada

It was inevitable that Soccer should find a home in what are now the self-governing Dominions, the colonies and the dependencies. The emigrant from the Old Land took it with him. He played it under many trying conditions in some countries; but he played it. Presently the native-born took it up. There are native teams in India, and other lands that are clever enough exponents of the game to give most white men's teams a tussle. In Canada it is played from coast to coast and gains in approval with the passing years. Generally speaking it is played in this country in the Spring and the Fall; Summer being too hot a period for a game with so much action.

Occasional visits from old country teams have provided an acceptable stimulus at times, if they have not always been profitable. These teams from the home of Soccer are, however, finding that they need to be good if they would make a showing against the home teams, and attract big crowds. Not only are Canadian players, including native-born as well as the large number who come from Great Britain and Ireland, playing remarkably well, but the growing hosts of followers of the game are keen critics. They want good Soccer. The tour of Canada made last year by a team representing the famous English Amateur Club, the Corinthians, was not the success that had been hoped for. That was due largely to the fact that the team was well beaten in its first and a number of other matches. Canadian Soccer fans will have a chance to see another English team this summer, composed of men selected from the League Clubs, who will play a number of games on their way home from an Australian tour. Twenty men will make the trip. It will be remembered that a selected Canadian team visited Australia last year and made an exceedingly fine showing.

In Britain the playing season runs through the winter. There is no ice hockey there, at least none worth considering, and weather conditions are such that scheduled football games have seldom to be cancelled on that score. Rain, snow or mud which would make a baseball or outdoor hockey game impossible, would not halt a Soccer match. Rain or shine the game is played unless the field is flooded, which has sometimes happened. There are a number of countries where Soccer has climatic conditions somewhat like those of Britain, and no hockey or very little of it. Still other lands, where Soccer flourishes, are tropical or semi-tropical, and there hockey is not thought of except perhaps by some exiled Canadian.

Mention has been made of the hold that Soccer is taking in Spain. That country is a late entrant from Europe. As far back as May, 1904, the International Federation of Association Football was organized at a meeting held in Paris. The federated countries included Austria, Belgium, Britain, Finland, France, Germany, Hungary, Italy, the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden and Switzerland. A few years later Japan became an adherent and Soccer took a hold there. A significant tribute to the sportsmanship that the game engenders is furnished in the fact that football matches have lately taken place between French and German teams. Many of the other countries that were involved in the Great War, are finding on the Soccer field that sport is a better way to mutual understanding than armed conflict.

South America Too

In the last Olympic meet many European Soccer football teams entered the competition in that section. Britain was not represented for various reasons and it was generally thought that the United States, which sent a very strong team, would capture the honors. But Uruguay, a South American republic with a population of less than a million and a half, furnished the football surprise of the meet, and its team carried off premier honors. Soccer football has a great hold in South America.

One reason for the universal favor of Soccer is found in the fact that there is general uniformity in the method of playing. Teams visiting other countries do not have to change their methods of play or spend long hours in study of differing rules, in order to fit themselves to meet the home clubs. That is where it differs from Rugby and the various modifications of that game from which has come Canadian and American football. These last two are so wide apart that international matches between its exponents are merely exhibitions of different styles, and British Rugbyists would not know either of them. A Soccer player is at home in any land as soon as he finds a Soccer club. Soccer, while full of action when properly played, does not call for the long hours of drilling in signals, formation, tackling and trick plays of Canadian or American football. It requires, of course, skill of feet and body, control of the hands, because except the goalkeeper, the players must not handle the ball, and quick thinking on the part of the individual. The latter has much responsibility; he must know what to do and how to do it without signals spoken or indicated, except such as might be improvised in a second.

Action in mid-field

The English Cup

Of all the Soccer contests that for the English Cup, played in April of each year, arouse universal interest. Unlike the World's Series in baseball, with its several home and home games, the English Cup like the Scottish and other national Soccer titles, is a sudden death issue. It is played regardless of any weather conditions less than a flood or total darkness, on neutral grounds. So are the semi-finals. The final game has the distinction, like all Soccer games, that the teams must play throughout as they take the field; losses in man power are not made good. In other words, substitutes are not allowed, either to replace a man who shows weakness in play, or who is a victim of sickness or injuries. If a man leaves the field for either of the latter causes, his team plays a man short. The same thing applies in the case of a man sent off by the referee for rough play or any other cause. There are cases in which the rules covering these points, mean real hardship to a good team. But generally speaking they have been for the benefit of the game and they help to keep it free from faking and trickery.

Since the Wembley Stadium has been available in 1923, the finals have been played there. It is the largest sports arena in the world. At the first Cup final decided there, the crowds got beyond all control and rushed the place until troops had to aid the police to clear the playing area proper. It is estimated that 200,000 people saw that match of whom only 125,000 paid for admission, the rest surging in without attempting to buy tickets. From 100,000 to 120,000 is the expected attendance for the coming decisive contest.

The Cup and the Leagues

The Cup was inaugurated in the season of 1871-72, when it was first contested for by amateur teams. Since 1883-84, when it was won by Blackburn Rovers, it has been continuously carried off by professional teams. Only twice has a team succeeded in heading the League and winning the Cup in the same season. They were Preston North End, which won the double crown in the 1888-89 season, and Aston Villa which duplicated the feat in the 1896-97 season. This year the P.N.E. team has played so poorly that its relegation from the first to the second division of the League can hardly be prevented. Both amateur and professional teams play for the Cup. But the amateurs do not get very far as a rule in these days.

Full of Surprises

Cup games often bring the greatest surprises and upsets of the Soccer seasons; just as hockey games do in Canada. Quite often the final is not nearly so good a game as many in the early stages. That is frequently due to cautiousness; the players being overly anxious that it shall be no fault of theirs if penalties or mistakes result in their side losing. Each one knows that there will not be another chance before next season, to retrieve his mistakes or to show that he was not up to form in the first game; the first in Cup games always being the last with each opposing team except in the event of a tie.

Around The City.

They were an elderly couple. They examined the menu with careful precision. Intent on lunch, they debated long and painfully over the inner merits of tomato soup, the toothsomeness of a nut and olive sandwich repast, or the likelihood of engaging in the consumption of a real meal, with Swiss trifle as the wind-up. She read the list and prices in a loud voice from cover to cover. He nodded with approval after each item. Then they ordered tea for two, with bread and butter and a piece of cheese.

At 12.00 o'clock to-day an alarm was sent in to the fire department from 589 Harvey street. The pipes of the house had become overheated but no serious domage was done.

PRINCE VISITS MOST ENGLISH TOWN IN AFRICA

Shook Hands With 525 Ex-Service Men at Grahamstown.

VISITED COLLEGES.

Students of Rhodes University Gave Him a Rousing Welcome.

GRAHAMSTOWN, Union of S. A., May 15. — This most English town of all South Africa, gave the Prince of Wales a rousing welcome to-day, and the British heir received it in happy mood. He shook hands with 525 ex-service men, and does not seem to mind the fatigue of this exercise although he can still use only his left hand because of a recent injury to his right.

A FEMININE MYSTERY TO BE SOLVED

It Is Connected With the Made in Peterborough Fair—Read All About It.

There are three young ladies in Peterboro who are going to be made happy next month. This does not refer to June brides, but to an entirely different matter, connected with the Made-in-Peterboro Fair. Many thousands of people are going to be made happy and are going to have a good time attending the Fair, from June the first to the sixth, but there are three young ladies who are going to be especialy happy because they are going to win the first, second and third prizes in the popularity ticket selling campaign. The demand for admission tickets is going to be so great that it would be well nigh impossible for them to be sold at the door and to add to the convenience of the public, tickets will be sold in blocks of seven for one dollar by a number of popular young ladies. Each seven tickets will count as a certain number of votes and the young lady selling the most tickets or receiving the most votes will receive a first prize of $100.00, the second price is $50.00 and the third prize $25.00. To these cash prizes will also be added other prizes donated by Merchants and Manufacturers, which will be of equal if not great value. A special committee, well versed in feminine attractiveness and popularity, has been formed, consisting of Mr. H. Dickin as chairman, assisted by Mr. John I. Allen, Mr. J. Seals, Mr. R. A. Carmen, Mr Charles Lascheur and Mr. F. L. Roy. Mr. J. I. Allen's office will be used as the business office for the committee and blocks of tickets will be supplied from there to the young ladies who are engaged in the contest. Just how many and who these popular young ladies are still remains a mystery, but if you will watch this space closely for the next few days the mystery will be solved.

OBTAINED DIVORCE.

Decree Was Granted Londoner For Misconduct of Wife With Film Star.

LONDON, May 15. — (Canadian Press).—Alfred Haxton, a business man, to-day was awarded a decree nisi from his wife, Leah, on the ground of misconduct with Carlyle Blackwell, a film star from the United States.

Mrs. Haxton is the only daughter of the late Barnett Barnato, the South African diamond magnate, who was credited with being one of the richest men in the world.

A decree nisi in British law is one of divorce which is not made absolute until the court so decrees.

In memory of Margaret A. Dobbin, who left us, May 15, 1922.

Another year has come again,
And still the vacant chair;
And in our hearts we long for her,
The one who once sat there.

In the month of May, she went away,
Away to that city of gold
Where flowers are blooming all the time
And millions of children play.
Could we but read the veil in twain
And see them run to meet,
Our dear Mother freed from pain
And weary tired feet.

And hear their angel voices sing
And loud their trumpets sound:
Hosannas to our God and King.
In triumph march around.

But our love for you, dear Mother,
Will follow you where you roam;
Over the hills of God,
The beautiful hills of home.

PETERSON OFFERED TO PURCHASE GOVERNMENT FLEET ON SUBSIDY BASIS PAYING ONE-FOURTH CASH

Proposed to Use Them in the Canadian Trade as Projected in Agreement.

NO REPLY GIVEN.

Was Willing That Price Be Determined By Four Independent Valuators.

OTTAWA, May 16. — (Canadian Press).—Expressing his willingness to buy the whole Canadian Government Merchant Marine fleet at a valuation to be set by a joint board of experts, subject to ratification of the ship subsidy agreement, which he made last year with the Canadian Government, Sir William Peterson cabled the Minister of Trade and Commerce, T. A. Low, on February 7 last. This fact was revealed for the first time Friday when a file of correspondence dealing with all the offers made to the Canadian Government within the last three years to purchase Government-owned ships, was tabled in the House of Commons in response to an order of the House.

Mr. Low answered: "Will bring matter to attention of the Cabinet and cable you again."

No further correspondence is contained in the file tabled yesterday.

Pay Fourth in Cash.

Sir William was willing to accept the valuation of the four experts named by both sides, to pay one-fourth cash on the transaction and the balance, redeemable in twenty years in sinking fund notes at an interest to be decided upon, and to look after re-conditioning and renewal of Lloyd's classifications if the Canadian Government allows £300,000 out of first cash payments towards this expense.

Sir William would reserve the right to sell any of the steamers which proved unsuitable "for the purpose of the associated lines" and also to utilize any of the vessels adaptable to the Atlantic trade in conjunction with the projected subsidized steamship lines. "If I do not utilize them, the amount of subsidy required should be two-thirds based on deadweight capacity in proportion to what has been agreed already," he adds.

Offer For Fleet.

Sir William's cable reads as follows:

"Subject to ratification of agreement dated December 11, 1924, I submit to Government firm offer for their entire fleet cargo steamers owned by Canadian Government Merchant Marine on following terms and conditions:

"First: Price ascertained from two independent valuers chosen by each party;

"Second: I will agree to pay on prompt delivery according to valuation one-fourth cash payment, balance redeemable in twenty years. Annual sinking fund instalments interest at —— per cent. per annum, payable on all outstanding balances;

"Third: I having the right to sell subject to payment of valuation cost credited to the Government any of the steamers proved to be quite unsuitable for the purpose of associated lines;

"Fourth: That I shall be allowed by Canadian Government to have right to utilize Merchant Marine vessels such as may perhaps be adaptable to Atlantic trade in conjunction with projected subsidized steamship line;

"Fifth: If I do utilize them, amount of subsidy required should be two-thirds based on deadweight capacity in proportion to what has been agreed already;

"Sixth: Large sum required for reconditioning, alteration and renewing Lloyd's classifications;

"Seventh: Government to allow me £300,000 to meet contingencies in the paragraph to be deduced from first cash payments.

"Please telegraph promptly if you consider my proposal likely to be favorably considered in order that I may arrange accordingly.

"Signed Petersen."

TEA WITH YOUR GAS.

Motorists stopping for a supply of gasoline at any of several filling stations in England may also fill up on a serving of tea. Quick lunch tea rooms have been established in connection with these stations.

The Members of St. Peter's Study Class will hold a TEA at St. Alphonsus Lyceum, Monday, May 18th, from 4.30 to 7.30.

Greek Stowaway Jailed And Will Be Deported

MONTREAL, May 16.—(Canadian Press).—Grimy with coal dust and nearly dead from starvation, a Greek stowaway named Evangelos Bonnanos, was discovered in the hold of the Collier Aspesia Stavroudi during the vessel's voyage from Hamburg to Montreal. Friday he appeared before Judge Enright and admitted that he was a non-paying passenger. The judge sentenced him to a month in jail, or until the ship returns to Montreal, when he will be taken back to Europe.

DOG CATCHER IS APPOINTED

Alderman Nagle Phelan Has Discharged Duty of Choosing Man.

Rules of Game.

Alderman Phelan announced this morning that the official dog catcher for the season will be Bert Ferguson, of 304 Park Street, an agile youth, fully equipped physically for the strenuous pastime of apprehending all errant canines.

Any dog, whether licensed or not, is liable to capture if found peregrinating at large.

A fee of one dollar is payable by the owner to the dog catcher for the return of the animal. If the dog is unclaimed it is disposed of in a kindly manner by the marksmen of the police force.

SAYS BOYCOTT IS BREACH LIBERTY

J. H. Burnham Criticizes the Step of Campbellford Women on New Beer.

To the Examiner, Mr. J. H. Burnham said to-day, regarding the present crisis in prohibition in Ontario that he had been astonished to see that some of those prohibitionists who a few weeks ago were asking antis to be sports and obey the law, even if they did not like it, now propose to boycott those who did respect the law, because there had been a change in it that did not suit the prohibitionists. It has remained for the W.C.T.U. of Campbellford to introduce the boycott that is to bruise the serpent's head. Let me warn those who propose to punish people for observing the law, as well as to deprive them of their private rights as decent citizens, that this may be the move that will produce greater mutual hatred in Ontario than exists at present, which seems to be quite unnecessary.

I knew a woman whom I could have helped in a state of much suffering by a very simple remedy but she invaded my personal right and liberty, which I regard as more than life itself. How could I be expected to help her to continue her ravening course as a ruler of mankind of the true Bosche type? I was compelled to refuse. Returning good for evil is no doubt the proper course but when it becomes a matter of self defence most of us will defend ourselves.

I know the spirit amongst antis that is now rapidly developing and I wish to warn all such people as this W.C.T.U., that they are doing vastly more serious harm, and more dangerous harm, than anything else."

LONDON, May 16 (Canadian Press).—Reuters' agency declares that it learns that British officials dismiss as without foundation the rumor of the approaching resignation of Foreign Secretary Chamberlain.

Truck Driver Didn't Know He Killed a Pedestrian

HAMILTON, May 16 (Canadian Press)—James McDonald, who resided on the highway near Aldershot, was instantly killed this morning at the corner of York and Davenport Streets when a truck driven by W. H. Gorman of Hespeler ran over his head. He was riding a bicycle to the city and had wheeled ahead of the truck. The truck driver did not see McDonald and was not aware of the accident until told of it.

LINDSAY TO ASK PROVINCIAL AID

If Charley Hodges is Not Found During Week End.

NOT UNDER LOGS.

LINDSAY, May 16 (Special to The Examiner).—The big crib of logs in the Scugog River above the Carew Mill was broken up Friday by the police and the timbers allowed to float down stream in order that this stretch of the river might be dragged for the body of Charley Hodges, who is now missing twelve days. The searchers were disappointed as a result of their labors as they were quite convinced that the boy would be found once the logs were set in motion.

Chief Umphrey said last night that the boys' disappearance was a greater mystery than ever. The officer had held strictly to the belief that the boy wandered to the river the night of his disappearance and went to his death, but after patrolling the river for a week, he admits that he does not know what conclusion to arrive at.

Dragging operations, however, will continue on Saturday, and if the boy's body is not recovered, the Attorney-General's Department will be asked to step in and try and solve the mystery of the boy's disappearance.

DR. G. M. FRASER TAKES UP DUTY

Succeeds Dr. A. Y. McNair in Local Branch of Provincial Laboratory.

IS EXPERIENCED.

Dr. G. M. Fraser, successor to Dr. A. Y. McNair, has arrived in Peterboro to take up his duties in the Branch Laboratory connected with the Provincial Health Department.

Dr. Fraser has previously been connected with the Owen Sound branch and has had four years' experience in this type of work.

Although Dr. Fraser says that he has not been in the city long enough to form any definite opinions regarding it, he believes that he will like Peterboro equally as well as his former location, especially as the line of work in which he is engaged is identical.

Dr. Fraser, while in Owen Sound, was interested in Boy Scout work, but has not yet decided whether or not time will permit him to engage in similar activities here.

179 GRADUATES.

Receive Degrees at Alberta University Convocation.

EDMONTON, Alta., May 16. — One hundred and seventy-nine new holders of degrees were sent out into the workaday world Friday, when the 1925 classes in arts, science, medicine, law and agriculture were graduated from the University of Alberta. The convocation address was delivered by Hon. Sir W. Hault-ain, who was himself on the list as the recipient of an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

President Tory's annual report disclosed a good year's work, with the largest student attendance in the history of the institution; he enrollment reached the figure of 1,354.

STEAMER ON FIRE.

Italian Steamer Adige is Burning at Anchorage Near Norfolk.

NORFOLK, Va., May 16.—(Canadian Press).—A radio call for assistance has reached here from the Italian steamship Adige, anchored in Hampton Roads, saying an explosion had occurred aboard the vessel, followed by a fire. A coastguard cutter was sent to render assistance. Meantime a pilot boat near the Adige when the explosion occurred brought a member of the Adige crew to the naval hospital. He was severely burned and had his leg broken.

BOUNTY FOR IRON INDUSTRY URGED ON GOVERNMENT

Dr. Manion Refers To Success of Steel Industry Aided by Fielding.

CRERAR OPPOSED.

Declared Bounty System "the Most Vicious Form of Protection."

OTTAWA, May 16. — (Canadian Press).—The iron industry in Canada and peat production were urged in the House yesterday. A vote of $245,400 for the mines branch was under consideration.

Hon. R. J. Manion (Conservative, Fort William and Rainy River) pointed out the importance of developing the iron industry. The question was a live one, and Northern Ontario, British Columbia, the Maritime Provinces and Manitoba were interested. The Dominion Government had helped other industries, and Mr. Manion suggested that it might well consider co-operating with the Province of Ontario in granting a bounty on iron ore. The success of the steel industry, he stated had been largely due, according to statements made by Hon. W. S. Fielding, to bounties given by the Liberal Government, and he sincerely hoped that the Minister of Interior would give earnest consideration to the question of granting a bounty on iron ore.

Hon. T. A. Crerar (Progressive, Marquette) interjected that the bounty system was "the most vicious form of protection."

Dr. Manion disagreed with this statement, saying that he did not think there was anything vicious in protection.

Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, informed the committee that the Mines Department was devoting all its energies to finding a process which would make it profitable to mine low grade iron ore in Canada. At present the Department was working on an electrical device. He thought that sooner or later a satisfactory process would be discovered.

Production of Peat.

In answer to H. A. Stewart (Conservative, Leeds), the Minister said that experiments in the production of peat had been carried to a point where it was proved to be a commercial proposition. Now the Provincial and Dominion Governments were agreed that it should be left to private interests to develop. A Montreal company had been formed and the machinery used by the Government in its experiments at Alfred, Ontario, had been turned over to this company.

W. A. Boys (Conservative, Simcoe South) made some further enquiries about peat production. He understood that in Ireland, they dug peat with a long handled spade.

"I've dug it myself," interjected Robert Forke, Progressive leader.

Hon. Charles Stewart stated that the great difficulty in peat manufacture was to develop a process for removing the water from the peat. Up to date the most satisfactory process developed was to dry it in the sun. It burnt well, made a hot fire, but must be regarded as a low-grade fuel.

E. J. Garland (Progressive, Dow River) urged the Government to cease further experiments in the peat

MAINE DEMANDS PART OF POWER AS STATE RIGHT

Claims Share of Production From New Brunswick Hydro Electric Scheme.

MONTREAL HEARING.

Province Contends Only Private Property Rights in Maine Are Involved.

MONTREAL, May 16—(Canadian Press).—Whether or not power developed at Grand Falls on the St. John River in New Brunswick should be available in part to the State of Maine, and statements by Eugene Lafleur, K.C., chief counsel for the New Brunswick Government, that only proprietary interests were affected in Maine by the proposed Hydro development, and by G. H. Hackworth, counsel for the United States Government, that Sovereign State rights were concerned, were the opposing contentions presented to the International Joint Waterways Commission at Friday afternoon's session of the hearing on the New Brunswick Government's application for permission to develop Grand Falls. The Commission adjourned until eleven o'clock to-day.

Mr. Lafleur contended that satisfaction of the claims of the Riparian property owners, ninety per cent. of which had alreadp been agreed upon and the other ten per cent. of which, he thought, could be agreed upon within two weeks, was all that was necessary for the commission to give assent to the undertaking.

Maine Claims Power.

Mr. Hackworth contended that Maine as a State was concerned with the flooding of any part of its territory; that if the project included the flooding of half the State, its Sovereign rights to prevent such would be plain, and that the same principle applied in the case of the smaller area affected. Therefore, he said, Maine claimed that a proportion of the power developed should be available to it before it could assent to the project.

Mr. Lafleur, delineating the powers of the Waterways Commission under the treaty between the two countries, thought that in the matters with which they were appointed to deal their decison was supreme, and that the two countries had resigned their sovereignity to the extent of the powers given the Commission in the treaty.

Mr. Lafleur, in opening his argument, addressed himself to the contentions submitted at the morning session by the Governments of the United States and the State of Maine, and especially to their claim to a proportion of the power.

The only interests, he said, which the Commission could deal with under the treaty, were proprietary interests. The Commission had nothing to do with alleged Sovereign rights. Such, if violated, were not subject to monetary compensation but to international negotiation.

Satisfy Riparian Owners.

"If we acquire," he said, "as we intend to acquire, all Riparian rights, surely we shall have satisfied all rights of Riparian owners. It is not contended that the United States or Maine have any proprietary rights. We have already acquired rights with ninety per cent. of the Riparian owners. It seems incon-

FIVE BEARS CROSS PATH OF PETERBORO COUNTY FARMER THRILLED BY INVADERS

Three Cubs Climb Birch Tree While "Papa and Mama" Bears Ambled On Into the Woods on Charles Sopha's Farm.

MARMORA, May 16 — Here's a story from the great open spaces along the Peterboro-Hastings boundary that should whet the interest of Roger Peckinpauh, short stop and captain of the world champion Washington baseball team, and his friends who hunt and fish every autumn in the Crowe Lake district at the close of the major leagues' season.

Telling as it does of the invasion of a farm by five bears it may sound like a bedtime fable to those who have seen bears only in menageries and it may seem to be playing rather loosely with the natural probabilities of Marmora district, but it is vouched for as an actual occurrence.

Last Monday, Charles Sopha, a farmer of Methuen township in Peterboro county set out for the farther limits of his farm to assure himself that his cattle were safe. Some years ago he lost several head that had accidentally become imprisoned in an old stable.

Before he had gone far the astonishing sight of the five bears gave Mr. Sopha the thrill of a life time. An old male with its mate and three last year's cubs rambled through the brush of the pasture land, the parents in the lead and the cubs trailing behind as they do in the best told tales of the nursery. By way of diversion and perhaps to display their independence in the predominant spirit of the youth of 1925 the cubs, one after another, scrambled twenty feet up a birch tree, and finding no excitement there, climbed down again and disappeared into the woods after their unheeding parents. The whole family had offered an easy mark for a rifle, but Mr. Sopha was unarmed, but the rare sight of the five of them was an experience that more than satisfied Mr. Sopha.

One Time Rebel Chief Starts Mexican Revolt

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, May 16 —Word has just been received from Jalapa that Cruz Arenas, former rebel general, who some time ago surrendered to the Federal Government, and who has been living in Puebla since his surrender, has just revolted, taking with him a small number of men, and gone to Perote and other points. Arenas says he will increase his force and operate between Orizaba and Jalapa.

EVIDENCE DESTROYED.

Judge Refused to Accept Broken Bottles.

OTTAWA, May 16. — (Canadian Press).—When Frank Corr, of Carleton Place, dashed half a dozen bottles to the roadway or threw them against a post and spilled their contents while a Provincial traffic officer stood by, he destroyed the "evidence," which might have convicted him in the County Police Court Friday of a charge of having liquor in a place other than his private dwelling-house. The broken bottles were produced, but these were not sufficiently convincing to warrant Magistrate Joynt assuming they had contained intoxicating liquor, and he dismissed the case.

TANK EXPLODED CAR DESTROYED

Thos. J. Spratt, of Lindsay, Sprayed With Flaming Gasoline.

ROLLED IN GRASS.

LINDSAY, May 16. Special.) Thomas J. Spratt, of this town, had a narrow escape from serious, if not fatal, injuries in East Ops, when the gas tank in his Overland car, exploded.

Mr. Spratt was motoring north of Jackson's cheese factory Thursday night, when the engine back fired, and a flame shot over the dash.

He jumped out and endeavored to loosen a new horn which he had placed on his car during the week, but had some difficulty in doing so.

He stepped back to get a wrench when the tank exploded, the flames shooting into the air to a height of forty or fifty feet. A section of the horn shot through the air with considerable force, while the burning oil burned Mr. Spratt severely, and also ignited his clothes. He was obliged to roll in the grass in order to extinguish the flames. The car was completely destroyed

POSED AS INSPECTOR.

Obtained $150 From Hotel Keeper By Fraud.

MONTREAL, May 16—(Canadian Press).—Posing as an inspector of the Quebec Liquor Commission, Albert St. Pierre, a former employee of the Commission, secured $150 from a St. Lawrence boulevard hotel-keeper named George Simon, for whom he promised to secure a liquor license. A jury in the court of the King's Bench found him guilty Friday of obtaining the sum under false pretenses.

He will be sentenced at the end of the term.

WEATHER

Although this is the 16th day of May, there was some frost again last night, the temperature going a little below the freezing point, and the roofs of many buildings receiving a coating of white frost. May 20th is usually considered the earliest by the local florists that we may with any feeling of assurance say good-bye to Jack Frost. His stay may be prolonged this spring, as he seems loath to depart.—W. P.

ANNEXATION TO UNITED STATES SEEN AS TREND

Writer in London Spectator Fears Effect on Canadians of Neighbor's Prosperity.

SUGGESTS A REMEDY.

Make the Dominion Solidly British by Sending 250,000 Emigrants For 50 Years.

LONDON, May 16. — The London Spectator publish a very interesting article on the future of Canada, but the editor points out that while the paper welcomes the expression of the views contained it disclaims any agreement with them or responsibility for them.

The writer, who seemingly has recently studied political conditions in Canada while on a visit to the country and states that not a few Canadians believe that if the country has not yet arrived at the parting of the ways it will do so soon, finds that there are three courses before the Dominion: independence, annexation to the United States and secession of the Western Provinces.

The advocates of independence, says the writer, form an unknown quantity and so far possess no organized party. But annexation makes a material appeal when Canadians see their neighbors in the United States abounding in prosperity, and though the Right Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, Premier of Canada, declares that this sentiment is too feeble and scattered to be of any moment, many Canadian patriots are disturbed at the prospect that the sentiment may grow rapidly in the next twenty five years.

Secession by the Western Provinces he believes would be fatal. The United States would absorb Canada piecemeal and if the Western Provinces hoisted the flag of rebellion like Louis Riel and his supporters the same result would follow as befell the cause of the noted Canadian agitator, when he and his followers surrendered to the British forces exactly forty years ago today.

The threatened secession of the West may be bluff but it will be folly if carried too far.

Pan-American Propaganda.

The contributor to the Spectator is evidently impressed most with the possibility of Canada uniting with the United States.

"Powerful forces are at work and Pan-Americanism is busy," he declares. "Its elaborate organization at Washington seldom sleeps. It has no direct connection with the American government, yet the American politicians wink at the operation of the Pan-America Bureau within a stone-throw of the Capital."

To remedy this condition the contributor believes that 250,000 British emigrants to Canada yearly for the next 50 years would make the Dominion so solidly British that the annexation sentiment would have little chance to develop; to which might be added, and more direct British industrial and financial interest in Canada.

GEORGE STREET CHURCH BOARD REGRETS LOSING REV. W. H. YOUNG

Annual Meeting Held Last Night—Reports Are Very Encouraging.

SURPLUS IN HAND.

Resolution Tells Appreciation of Pastor Who Leaves in June.

The annual meeting of the official board of George Street Church was held last night in the church parlor. The personnel of the board includes members of the trustee board, stewards, and representatives of the congregation and officials of the Sunday School. The fiscal and denominational year closes at the end of April of each year.

The meeting held unusual interest in that the pastorate for the last five years had been in the able hands of Rev. W. Harold Young, M.A., B.D., who was leaving the charge to take up clerical work in Toronto, beginning July next.

Much business was transacted. Reports from all the services within the church were presented and read, and several of the reports dealing with matters of importance may be mentioned The financial report showed a credit balance of between three and four thousand dollars, after clearing off all encumbrances, wiping out claims left over (a part of the moderate church debt), providing for running expenses and other things. A review of the Jubilee Celebration effort of last October showed that while something like eight thousand dollars had been asked for, nearly twelve thousand had been realized.

With a substantial surplus in hand the way was open for certain betterment that had been in prospect for the last two years. The committee, which had been considering two things, one to make change in the entire seating of the main floor, by putting in seats of a modern design, or to have the pews on the floor re-furnished with cushions. The first proposition would have involved considerable expense, reaching a substantial sum, in these days of advanced costs for neat woodwork and fittings. The committee was continued, and is to bring in a report as to the cost of the cushions and it is highly probable that the improvement will be effected during the summer months.

The pulpit platform will be enlarged to afford more room for special occasions, though the matter of having the entire platform rebuilt was not determined.

Refit Parsonage.

During the interval of summer holidays, and before the incoming pastor (Rev. Mr. Todd, now in charge at Guelph), takes possession,

THREE DROWNED IN ST LAWRENCE RIVER

Scow Turned Turtle Where Current is Swift, Drowning Men and Animals.

CORNWALL, May 16. — Three lives were lost by drowning in the St. Lawrence River at Barnhart's Island yesterday afternoon when a scow engaged in ferrying livestock from the Canadian side to Barnhart's Island on the United States side, turned turtle at a very swift point in the river.

Several sheep and young cattle were also lost.

The victims of the accident comprised the crew of the scow.

They were Donald McMillan, Abel Vice and Clarence Cowell.

None of the bodies has so far been recovered.

Three years ago Lorne McMillan, a brother of one of the victims, was drowned in almost the same spot.

CAMPBELLFORD ORDERS SEWERS AND SIDEWALKS

Programme Outlined By the Council for the Improvement of Streets.

STREET CROSSINGS.

Details of Work and the Councillors Who Proposed the Items.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 14. — The Town Council has adopted the following programme for improving the streets, the sponsors of the motion being given in each case:

By Cole and Abernethy— That a sewer be constructed on a portion of Kent street, as petitioned for by Henry Redden and four others, when the necessary preliminary steps have been taken.

By Wiggins and Palliser—That the Road and Bridge committee have 25 loads of gravel placed on the Ogilvie property to fit it up as a public play ground.

By Wiggins and Cole — That Naseby street be graded and gravelled, the limit of gravel used to be 25 loads, and that a cinder or gravel crossing be put in and that a cinder crossing be put in on Major street, opposite John Perry's property.

By Kingston and Cole—That a concrete walk be extended on Ranney street, past the High school to the intersection of Ranney and Front streets.

By Abernethy and Wiggins—That George Hawthorne be authorized to prepare a plan showing the street right of way through the High school property as proposed by the Board of Education an dtaht Town Solicitor Lynch be instructed to draw up the deed transferring the property from the Board to the town.

By Abernethy and Cole—That a concrete sidewalk be built on the north side of Alma street and on the west side of Palliser to Balaclava.

By Southworth and Cole —That the weigh houses at the depot be painted.

By Abernethy and Cole —That a concrete sidewalk be built on the Hastings Road from the end of the present walk to the town limits.

By Palliser and Wiggins—That the wooden sidewalk on Garry street be replaced with a new one of wood.

By Palliser and Abernethy—That a crossing be built on Kent street to Christ church.

By Cole and Abernethy— That a guard rail be placed at the corner of Queen and Church street to make that turning safe for autoists.

By Palliser and Wiggins—That the clay tile used on the Second street sewer be subject to the approval of the engineer.

By Palliser and Wiggins — That the Road and Bridge committee inspect Raglan street from Sebastopol to Inkerman streets, and report at the next regular meeting of the Council.

LAND TRANSFERS.

Farm and House Near Campbellford Have Changed Hands.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 16.—T. L. Diamond reports the following real estate transactions:

Arthur Brown, of Brighton Township, has purchased the farm of Wallace Brown, near Chisholm's Rapids, and will take possession early in September.

John L. Hay has bought the house on Queen Street, recently built by Mrs. Sarah Redden, and will hold it for rent or sale.

DOES EVERY MEAL CAUSE YOU DISTRESS?

If It Does You Should Take Burdock Blood Bitters

Mr. M. P. Eldrige, Beaver Harbor, N.B., writes:—"I was troubled with my stomach for some time, and everything I ate seemed to distress me I tried many different medicines, but without any results. Finally I was advised to try B.B.B., and after having taken several bottles I was completely relieved of my trouble. I can now eat anything I wish, thanks to B.B.B."

Burdock Blood Bitters puts the stomach into perfect shape by promoting proper digestion; and during the past 46 years it has been on the market has made a reputation, second to none, for relieving all stomach troubles.

CAMPBELLFORD COUNCIL

Samuel J. Moore came to Campbellford from the Province of Quebec twenty years ago to work in what was then the Front Valley Mill, but which is now known as the Campbellford Cloth Company, and two years later he was appointed manager, holding that position until he was obliged by ill health to resign two years ago. He had the confidence of his employers and the esteem of all those who worked under him and he helped to make that institution what it is today, the industrial bulwark of the town and one of the leading manufactories of its class in the Dominion.

During the war the mill held large contracts from the Government and ran steadily night and day. Mr. Moore's health broke under the strain and when peace was declared he took a rest by order of his physician. He was elected a member of the Town Council in 1923, but was unable on account of his health to finish out his term.

In 1923 he was appointed a member of the Board of Education by the Counties Council but never attended a meeting of that body and resigned his position early in the year.

Since retiring from active work Mr. Moore, who was elected a councillor at the beginning of the year, has built for himself one of the finest residences in Campbellford and devotes all his time to gardening in which he is an expert. His long and active business career makes him a valuable member of the Council, and his present outdoor life is rapidly restoring the health which he lost by a too close application to his strenuous duties.

MAINE DEMANDS PART OF POWER

ceivable that if we have received rights from these to dam up waters on their property, that there can be any objection."

He dealt specifically with the main contentions of the United States representatives as follows:

Demand for export of power: "Any power derived is from backing up of water on private lands and not lands of the United States or Maine."

Compensation to all property owners: "That we are ready to do."

Request for international board of two engineers to supervise erection of dam and provide against undue fluctuations of the stream: "That is a matter for the Commission's consideration."

That the Commission's approval of the project should be subject to modification or revocation by either Government should it be shown that the benefits were not commensurate with the damage resulting: "I don't think it is practical that the matter should be left indefinitely open."

Power Exportation.

With regard to the request that provision be made against an export tax, Mr. Lafleur did not think it necessary to discuss that because it was disposed of in his contention that there was no Sovereign right involved giving Maine right to a proportion of the power.

Mr. Lafleur pointed out that the question of power exportation in the Grand Falls case was far-reaching because it might be used as a precedent, and this was undesirable in view of the general Provincial policies at present against exportation.

Commissioner Senator Clark: "Other provinces are exporting now."

Commissioner Sir William Hearst explained that in the case of Ontario present exportation was under long term contracts which had been made some time ago. He thought the present Ontario policy and that of Quebec was against exportation.

Attorney-General J. C. Rand, of New Brunswick: "We don't admit any right on the part of the State of Maine to participate in the use of the power. If we come to any concession it would be a matter of policy, and not as a matter of principle."

Maine Wants Share.

Mr. Hackworth, replying to Mr. Lafleur on behalf of the United States Government, said:

"It is not a question of indemnity we are contending for, but it is a matter of equal division or use of these boundary waters. This is not an academic question." The State of Maine, he said, was entitled to a portion of the power developed which would bear the relation to the total power developed which the one-half interest of the United States in water head in the international section bore to the total head at the point of development.

If acquirement of property rights gave permission to flood land, under the same principle it would be permissive to flood the whole State of Maine if such were physically possible. It was unsafe, he said, to give the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission (the body through which the Government is carrying out the development) unlimited power, because it was impossible to forsee the future. The time might come when greater use might be found for the international river. It was impolitic to tie the hands of the Waterways Commission or the two Governments. He didn't know of any like case where a decision was irrevocable.

"With respect to taxation," he continued, "we are not dealing with Provincial or State questions, but international questions. If you admit the right of the Provincial Government to tax power export you admit their right to prevent exportation."

Power of Taxation.

Senator Clark: "On what authority can this Commission limit the extent of a Sovereign State as to its power of taxation?"

Mr. Hackworth: "Article eight of the treaty under which the Waterways Commission operates gives authority to the Commission to make their approval provisonal upon the carrying out of provisions approved by the Commission for the protection and indemnity of all interests. If you are going to protect interests you must make the protection effective. You can tax a thing out of existence. If you admit the right of the United States to the power you must make provision that it receive the power."

Senator Clark: "Can the Commission do that?"

Mr. Hackworth: "They can make it one of the conditions of approval and if the New Brunswick Electric Commission cannot comply, they can't operate."

Concluding, Mr. Hackworth said: "If the State of Maine wished to use part of the land submerged and could not, it would be deprived of one of the prineipal rights of Sovereignty, the right to take over and use property. The State may never want the use of this property, but the principle is the same."

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY HELD CONVENTION YESTERDAY

Campbellford District Women Gathered at Mt. Pleasant Church, Seymour.

GOOD REPORTS.

Officers Retained For Another Year—Mrs. B. F. Doxsee is Superintendent.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 16—The annual convention of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church for the Campbellford district was held on Friday at Mount Pleasant Church (commonly known as Hubble Hill).

The weather was ideal, and one of the largest crowds ever assembled at W.M.S. conventions in this district was in attendance.

Delegates were present from Warkworth, Dartford, Norwood, Westwood, Hastings, Keene, Campbellfod, Stirling and Welman's corners.

The morning session opened at 10.30, the devotional exercises being conducted by the Branch President, Mrs. W H Ashton, Campbellford. Press representatives were appointed as follows: Campbellford, Mrs G A Kingston; Stirling, Mrs Martin; Warkworth, Mrs J. Richards; Hastings, Mrs (Rev) M L Hinton; Norwodd, Mrs R G Lawlor; Havelock, Mrs Fennell. Very encouraging reports were presented by the W.M.S. delegates from each of the branches of the district, also from the mission circles and mission bands. The total raised for missions in the district this year was much in excess of last. Several new bands were organized during the year, and in all the departments increased membership and enthusiasm was reported. Mrs (Rev) C W Barrett of Stirling rendered a solo which was much appreciated, following which Miss S A Moise of Dartford gave an excellent paper on "Intercessory Prayer." The speaker opened her remarks by a quotation fom Tennyson "more things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of, etc." and asserted that expressions of praise be followed by intercessions in our prayers.

It was unanimously decided that the present officers be retained in office for the coming year, these being as follows: District Supt., Mrs B F Doxsee, Hastings; Asst. Supt., Mrs A C Demke, Havelock; District Secretary, Mrs A M Smale, Warkworth.

Afternoon Session.

The consecration service was ably conducted by Mrs. G. Hammond, Campbellford. Mrs. J. M. Baker, of Hastings, rendered most acceptably a solo. Miss Mae Hinton, Hastings, gave an excellent paper on "The Mission Circle, the Vital Link." The speaker declared the Circle to be the link between Band and Auxiliary and most of the most enthusiastic Auxiliary workers had received their training in the Mission Circle.

Miss Rorke, a missionary from the Bay of Quinte Branch, who is home on furlough from Japan, carried her hearers in rapt attention as she described her work in Japan. Miss Rorke, who is a forceful speaker, divided the work of a missionary in Japan under the following heads — 1, Education; 2, Social service; 3, Kindergarten; 4, Evangelistic, dealing more particularly with last two divisions. The Kindergarten has a marked effect upon the child himself, his conduct at home, etc., and through the children the missionary gains access to the home and mothers' meetings are held. The native Kindergarten teachers are much sought after as wives and thus Christian homes are founded.

The Evangelistic work is accomplished by means of Sunday schools, children's meetings, etc. In the High school, where English is taught, the pupils are reached through their eagerness to learn English. The Buddist leaders try to imitate the missionaries' methods, and difficulty is often experienced by the missionary in obtain rooms to hold services in.

The speaker said that the work of the W.M.S. and the missionary must converge in prayer. Oftimes missionaries become discouraged by the indifference and active opposition to their work, yet Christ's words, "Be still and know that I am God, I will be exalted among the heather," inspire them to go forward in His work.

Miss Rorke, who returns to Japan in the autumn, assured her hearers she would be encouraged in her work by the prayers, interest and enthusiasm shown by the members of the W.M.S. at home.

Mrs. G. A. Kingston, Campbellford, then gave a most helpful paper on "The Missionary Spirit. Its cultivation and stimulation a vital factor in Christian growth. The speaker asserted that we must feel the whole obligation of our duties, both at home and abroad. Apathy or opposition to missionary efforts is due to lack of knowledge. A life with no inlet is empty; with no outlet stagnation. There must be an overflow. There must be prayer, money and personality.

Mrs. R. G. Lawlor then sang in a pleasing manner, "I heard the voice of Jesus say."

Mrs. L. Richards gave a most inspiring address on "Advance, mark time or retreat. Which in missions?"

Short papers were also read on "China" by Mrs. James Freeman, Havelock, "Japan," Mrs. E. C. Squire, Norwood, and "The Home Field," Mrs. Kindred, Keene.

A musical missionary exercise by six girls of Mount Pleasant Mission Band, dressed in Japanese costumes was enjoyed.

It was decided to hold the next district annual meeting in Stirling.

The ladies of Mount Pleasant who entertained most royally the delegates, who numbered over three hundred, were accorded a hearty vote of thanks.

Some of those who attended from Campbellford were: Mesdames George Oliver, E. J. Bonney, A. J. Bonney, A. S. Free, W. J. Abernethy, P. Sherwin, A. J. Beavis, J. Archer, C. W. Turner, L. O. Pearse, C. Davidson, E. E. Plummer, T. L. Diamond, W. Bland, W. Phillips, John Mitchell, John Fairman, H. Sperry, H. Blakes, Geo. Couch, Robt. Moore, C. Palliser, L. A. Denike, James Saunders, Harry Denike, Jos. Hore, Geo. Smith, Robt. Fry, Jas. Dorie, A. L. Malcolm, W. Bateson, Geo. Hammond, W. Elliott, William Stephens, G. A. Kingston, A. Haig, P. B. Nelson, R. H. McKelvie, Henry Free, J. A. Stewart, Misses Laura Duck, Ina Boyd, Reta Palliser, A. M. Arnold, Stella Keir.

STRIKES MATCH TO LOOK AT GAS

Duncan McFarlane, Road Superintendent, Has Narrow Esacpe From Injury.

TANK WAS FULL.

KEENE, May 16.—While Duncan McFarlane, road superintendent, was having his gas tank filled on his car he struck a match to see how much was in the tank The result was that the gas ignited and the flame shot up out of the tank which fortunately was full. Had there been just a little gasoline in the tank, in all probability the vapor would have exploded causing serious damage; but luckily no damage resulted.

BOWLING STARTED.

Campbellford Green in Use Again—Reindeau Wins Opener.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 16. — There was one game at the bowling green yesterday, the opening of the season, when A. L. Reindeau's rink defeated Dr. O. C. Watson by 12 shots to 9. Mr. Reindeau's rink was composed of W. S. Wiggins, Thomas Varcoe and J. R. Wilkinson, while L. B. Glover, the new president of the club, Dr. A. Haig, and J. P. Archer played with Dr. Watson. The green was in excellent shape, the best it has been on the opening day in any previous year.

There were no evening games on account of the cool weather.

..... Personal. ....

Miss Dorothy Millen spent the past week in Toronto, visiting her brother, W. J. Millen and other friends. Returning, she stopped off at Whitby to visit her friend, Miss Davey, who gave a shower, arranged by Miss C. Mikel, in Miss Millen's honor.

FIRE DESTROYS SEYMOUR HOUSE

William Cook Loses His Splendid Farm House Representing $4,000.

WILL REBUILD.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 16.—The fine farm residence of William Cock, in East Seymour, about a mile from the town, was totally destroyed by fire about 4.30 Friday afternoon. The fire, which started from some unknown cause, was first discovered by Charles Potts, who was driving posts at the time, and who tied his horse to the fence by the roadside, and with his young son gave the alarm.

The family, aided by their neighbors, attempted to quench the fire with buckets of water, but fought a losing fight, and finally a 'phone message for help was sent in to Campbellford. The fire brigade responded, and used three tanks of chemicals on the burning house, holding the flames partially in check, and covering the work of the volunteers who were taking out the furniture. Nearly all the valuable contents were saved.

The house, a substantial brick residence, was completely gutted. The loss is estimated at between $4,000 and $5,000. The owner will rebuild as soon as the necessary material is secured.

This is the second time within a few weeks that the town fire brigade has responded to an alarm outside the corporation and rendered effective aid with their chemical equipment. Had they been called in time yesterday the house could have been saved with comparatively slight damage.

STOPING THE RACING.

Without any wish to get people into trouble, the Examiner feels constrained to suggest to the Police Department that it might be very much in the public interest to detail an officer for special duty in the vicinity of the Hunter Street Bridge until the mania for speeding over this structure has been checked.

Fortunately, there has been no one killed at this point yet—but there will be if the racing of cars over the bridge is not stopped.

There seems to be an irresistible temptation for drivers to "step on the gas" when nearing the half-million-dollar monument, and although there is a bad curve at the east end, the spectacle of two east-bound cars engaged in a speed contest is constantly seen.

The result is a number of very narrow escapes—and it is too much to hope that the good luck will always prevail.

There are a number of speedways in the city, Charlotte street west, Water street north, and the extremities of George street, but none of these streets is marked by such frequent and such furious bursts of speed as are to be noted on the Hunter Street Bridge.

Much better a few Police Court fines than a coroner's inquest and a couple of funerals.

EXTENDING THE SEASON.

The Examiner understands that one of the objects to be aimed at by the newly formed Ontario Tourists' Association is the extending of the season by at least another month.

The association proposes to sell September to thousands of people who have yet to learn that the first month of autumn is usually the best season of all to holiday on lake or river.

Our summer resorts put up the shutters too early.

Just because many people with families have to return to their homes for the opening of school, the season is brought to a close at the end of August.

Yet there are thousands who could spend September at the resorts, and would do so if they were told something of the charm of the lakes during that month, with the mosquitoes and flys gone, fishing at its best, the days gloriously warm and the nights cool for sleeping; a beautiful season going to waste because no real effort has been made to advertise these facts.

If the new association does nothing else than add another month to the summer resort season it will have many times over vindicated the judgment of those who urged that such an organization was necessary if Ontario was to obtain its fair share of the tourist traffic, which has of late years developed into one of Canada's major industries.

THE ROUND OF TAXATION.

It used to be a favourite ground for criticizing the Drury administration—and a legitimate one, too, for that matter—that the U. F. O. Government had distinguished itself by saddling the people of Ontario with new forms of taxation.

The present administration, however, has not only kept in force all the Drury levels—except the tax on pool tables—but has, in addition, shown itself most skilful in devising new methods of prying money from the pockets of the taxpayers.

The gasoline tax went into operation on Monday—nothing wrong with the logic of making those who use the roads most pay the most for their upkeep, but nevertheless it is a fresh tax levied by those who most bitterly attacked the taxation schemes of its predecessors in office.

The beverage tax, which not only covers the sale of 4.4 beer but takes its toll from the users of the innocuous soda water and pop, is another new raid upon the pocket-book of the public.

The citizen who on a Saturday afternoon drives his car to a ball game pays a tax on the gasoline that takes him there, a beverage tax on the 4.4 beer if he may stop to drink en route, an amusement tax as he passes through the gate and the beverage tax on the bottle of pop he consumes in the grandstand. And if he smokes a cigarette or two during the game he is paying an excise tax both on the cigarettes and the matches with which he lights them.

Life is just one tax after another.

INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS.

Strong emphasis was placed at the safety convention this week upon the fact that nearly $46,000,000 was paid in ten years in Ontario to cover the cost of compensation to injured workmen and the widows and children of the victims of fatal industrial accidents.

It is saddening to think that there has been an average of over 44,000 accidents every year in this Province—and the thought will not down that it should be possible to make a much better showing than this.

It will be necessary to rigidly insist that so far as possible all dangerous machinery shall be adequately provided with safeguards, and to make the inspection of industries even more careful than it has been.

In addition, the campaign of education that has been carried on among the workers must be continued and amplified.

All the safeguards in the world will not prevent accidents where men are careless, and a most important step toward fewer industrial mishaps lies along the way of causing employees to think in terms of "safety first."

It is not an easy task—familiarity breeds contempt and operators get careless but it is vitally necessary if the appalling total of accidents is to be materially lessened.

A MYSTERIOUS DISEASE.

Recent cable reports state that the medical fraternity are at a loss to explain the sudden appearance of what is known as the sleeping sickness in Great Britain, says the Ottawa Journal. The disease thus far has attacked several hundred people, including Lord Milner, who died of it yesterday, and the Lord Provost of Edinburgh University.

Sleeping sickness is one of the most mysterious of all diseases and up to date no reliable therapeutic means to combat it have been discovered. It was originally confined to certain districts of the West coat of Africa and exclusively attacked the negro population. Intensive investigation by British and German scientists resulted in proving that it was transmitted by the African tsetse fly. A campaign to destroy the breeding places of this malignant insect brought about a lessening of the disease, but it is still fairly prevalent in Africa and in some other tropical countries.

The first appearance in Europe of a milder form of the mysterious ailment was reported in Vienna in 1917. The following year several cases came to light both in France and England and from that time on it became prevalent in Europe, and also in the United States and Canada. It was thought at one time that the disease was first brought to Europe during the Great War by colored troops from the tropics, but later investigation has tended to discredit this theory.

As a rule the symptoms developed gradually, starting with unaccountable drowsiness, combined with a tendency to fall asleep while reading or working. In fatal cases the invalid sleeps more and more until he sinks into a state of coma, from which he cannot be roused and at last dies of exhaustion, the only physical signs being those of malnutrition. The death rate is about seven in every fifty cases and the duration of the disease from one to seven weeks.

While the disease has undoubtedly increased in the last few years in temperate climates, it is now being made the subject of special study by some of the greatest scientists in the world who confidently expect to find a cure.

THE NEW HINDENBURG LINE.

Is Paul von Hindenburg, President-elect of Germany, riding through the thronged multitudes of a militant, impenitent Berlin, a portent of the future?

A world sick of war, with the wounds of 1914-18 still festered and bleeding, may answer a doubtful "no," but the contrary truth appears overwhelming. Not once since that day of world exaltation when our own Canadian soldiers entered Mons has there been revelation of German repentance. German statesmen yielded at Versailles, but because of Allied bayonets. German Governments since the Armistice have sought to win by bad faith and trickery what they failed to win with guns. Whining when that seemed necessary, bluffing when that seemed prosperous, never deserting deceit, they managed to fool much of the world, and while Britain paid in billions, while France, with her own hands, slowly rebuilded her ruins, Germany, violating her solemn obligations, treating the Treaty of Versailles as another "scrap of paper," evaded reparations and treasured up revenge.

Germany today, thanks largely to those who doubted and vilified France, is capable of mobilizing an army of 800,000 men. She has (on the testimony of a British Commission) secretly hoarded guns and aeroplanes and ammunition. She has built gigantic internal canals; strengthened her railways; replaced her flag on the seven seas; and re-invaded the markets of the world. While British industry has been depressed, while France has been groaning under economic burdens, an untaxed German people have been driving a colossal industrial machine with military precision; and today German goods are underselling British goods, French goods, Canadian goods, in the world's markets. The Kaiser that was to have been hanged, watches complacently at Doorn; the War Lords that were to have been punished, are cheered and rule at Berlin; the Germany that was to have paid for the war, sees France and England pay; the British soldiers that were to have "homes fit for heroes," eke out an existence on the dole. Such have been the "glittering prizes" for the "sharp swords" that broke the Hindenburg line.

And now, like the distant rumble of the thunder that presages the storm, comes an acclaimed Hindenburg in Berlin. This man, in Germany, is a symbol. In the war he became a legend, when his wooden effigy had nails driven into it at a sixpence a head to buttress war charities. Hardly a city in Germany today but proudly boasts one of these wooden, nail-covered figures, emblem of that "blood and iron" policy to which Bismarck gave birth, which the Kaiser sought to impose on the world, and of which Hindenburg is still the exponent. It is the creed of Prussia, the code of the "shining armor," the doctrine of "Deutschland uber Alles" which Versailles did not strangle.

For five years Germany has fooled most of the world—except France. France knew German history, understood the German temper, read the German heart. But when French statesmen sought to pull the scales from the eyes of the rest of us, when they pleaded for security, when they sought by the only power that Germany understands to make Germany pay, they were vilified by our Gardiners and our Wells' and Massinghams, who were applauded by too many of the rest of us. The historic policy of German treachery, of German bad faith and deception, achieved stupendously in its work.

Hindenburg acclaimed in Berlin; the surging German crowds with pre1914 fever; the insolent tone of the German Nationalist press; the old Berlin bands and marchings and war-cries—these now vindicate France. With a note, clear sinister and unmistakable, they tell of an unrepentant Germany, of a revengeful Germany, of a Germany that still clings to the mailed fist and but still awaits "der tag."

They are signs the world must heed. Germany may be impotent today, but she is reviving mightily. And when one remembers that forty years after Sedan France avenged her defeat, it is easy to see a Germany within a generation once more in battalioned might and menacing the peace of the world. What steps the world should take, what steps the British Empire should take, to avert such a peril, it is for statesmen to decide; but the plain lesson surely is that those who talk disarmament without security but invite catastrophe. While Germany rearms, while the Hindenburgs once more strut in shining armor, while the men who produced the catastrophe of 1914 are still hailed as gods, and, last but not least, while a great, mighty, half-civilized Russia stands outside the pale of the human brotherhood, it is but maddest folly to sit idle and chant of peace.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

A THOUGHT.

It is interesting to observe how the really big men who are holding down big jobs ask for suggestions. They go about with open minds. They are not hampered by precedents; they are willing to change their minds if better ideas are found. This is the true test of the really great man—his willingness to take advice from others, even though that advice may be opposed to his own ideas and views. Train your men to cooperate with others. Teach them to have open minds. Give them the benefit of frequent consultations, of meetings, of helpful books and other literature. Expansion goes with cooperation. No man is smart enough to work out his problems alone.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, May 15.—There was a firmer tone to the market this week for butcher cattle. In the export section there was little, if any, change. Prices at the opening for export steers were quoted steady at from $7.50 to $8, with one or two special loads at $8.25. For the rest of the week the heavy steers were cleaned up at $7 to $8. Good export store cattle were firm at $7 to $7.25, and export bulls from $4.50 to $5.

Butcher cattle opened firm in Monday's market at $7 to $7.50. During the week butcher prices held firm to a little higher for the choicest offerings, best beef steers going up to $7.60 and $7.75. Lower grades of butcher cattle were well cleaned up at from $5.50 to $6.50.

Fat butcher cows have held their strong position, prices being steadily quoted at from $5.50 to $6.50.

There has been a good enquiry for stockers and feeders, but the firm prices for anything of killing quality has limited the supply of good stockers, and put prices a little too high to be attractive to stocker buyers.

Calves have been in a little better market this week, tops going up to $11 in the closing market for choice veals.

Sheep and lambs hold firm with light runs, choice wool lambs going firm at $14 to $15, and wool sheep at $9 to $10.

The hog market staged a strong come-back from the recent temporary declines, and following the higher Buffalo and Chicago markets got back to the $12 f.o.b. level in Thursday's market.

Prospects for next week are that there will be a heavier run of butcher cattle for Monday's market. Export requirements will be about the same for the week as were required for this week. For the following few weeks after next week there is likely to be a pretty active export market, with more boat space available, and plenty of competition between local export buyers.

EGG PRICES

OTTAWA, May 15. — Advices from Great Britain state that a number of Irish packers are this year putting eggs into storage and this will mean that more eggs will be held in Ireland and less in England. These advices state that there will be an opportunity for Canadian, American and Argentine eggs if they can be delivered into England at a price a little below at which it is expected Irish and pickled Danish will come out of storage, possibly around sixteen shillings per ten dozen. Polish and Russian eggs are now commencing to arrive and supplies from these countries are expected to be heavy during ths month. These cheaper grade eggs retail from 2 to 3 cents each from May until about October.

The Canadian situation continues very firm with very little change in prices. Sales are reported from Western Ontario in part car lots: extas 32 1-2, firsts 30 1-2. Western offerings show no change in prices. Eastern buyers are not doing very much business in these eggs, though it is reported that Montreal dealers are taking more than Toronto.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton

Probably she was, Gloria decided.

A tiny pin-prick of suspicion stabbed her. And then it was gone, almost before she felt it.

For Dick was a one-woman man, Gloria knew. And she was, for him, the One Woman!

Why worry about Miss Briggs, when Gloria was sure that Dick wouldn't have looked at a prize-beauty when she, herself, was in sight?

Sometimes Gloria wished that he would look more often at other women. It would give her more freedom. . . .

The minute Dick saw her his face changed. His eyes lighted up and he grinned.

"Hello, old lady," he said.

Gloria did not so much as glance at Miss Briggs. She walked coolly past her into Dick's waiting arms. As he bent his lips down to hers, Gloria heard the secretary closing the door behind her.

Secretly, she smiled.

She would show Miss Briggs how little any woman meant in Dick's life except herself, Gloria!

Some women might have to worry about their husband's stenographers, but not she! That was for unattractive women, middle-aged women . . . not for Gloria Gregory, with her face that was like a pansy!

And yet . . . Dick had called Miss Briggs "Susy" . . . intimately, almost as if she had been his wife! The memory was most disquieting to Gloria. While she was not actually jealous of Dick, she didn't want him to care the least little bit for anybody else . . . and especially for Miss Briggs, who, perhaps, loved him!

"Let's stay downtown for dinner," Gloria proposed suddenly. "It's so dull at home. And you and Miss Briggs have been working late. Why don't we ask her to have a bite with us?"

"Gosh, I'm pretty tired. I'd rather go home," Dick answered. "But . . . ask her if you want to."

Gloria danced out to Miss Briggs.

"We want you to come out to dinner with us. We're going to stay downtown," she said with the petulant sweetness of a spoiled child that will have its own way or know the reason why!

"Oh, I can't go—not in this old dress!" Miss Briggs replied, flushing. "And my face is dirty, too."

"Oh, fudge! You look lovely," Gloria insisted. She took Miss Briggs' coat and hat down from the hooks on the wall.

"You and I ought to have a chance to get acquainted," she went on with gay spitefulness. "We hardly know each other, and we really should be great friends. After all, we're both interested in the same man, aren't we?"

Miss Briggs didn't answer. She drew in her breath and gave Gloria a sharp, searching look. Her lips tightened as with pain.

Gloria returned her look with innocent eyes. But she had found out what she wanted to know in that second . . . that Miss Briggs was in love with Dick Gregory!

Dick came out of his office carrying his hat and overcoat.

"Ready?" he asked.

Gloria did not notice how sick he looked.

"I think so," she answered.

Miss Briggs lowered her eyes. With one hand she braced herself against her desk.

"It—it's just lovely of you and Mrs. Gregory to ask me to go to dinner with you," she said, "but I can't. I'm not dressed for one thing. And I promised mother we'd go to the movies to-night . . . and besides, you're too sick to go anywhere but home, Mr. Gregory."

She turned to Gloria with distress in her voice.

"Really, he's been sick all day," she said.

Dick looked at her gravely.

"I'm sorry you can't go," he said. "We both are. Perhaps you'll come with us some other time."

Miss Briggs gave him a wistful smile. Her blue eyes were troubled above the sudden flush in her cheeks.

It was then that Gloria saw that Miss Briggs had a certain beauty of her own. Not the beauty of coloring and features, but of inner warmth and radiance! . . . The beauty that, for lack of a better word, we call 'charm.'

* * *

After she had gone, Gloria turned furiously to Dick.

"You know, of course, why she wouldn't go to supper with us, don't you," she asked. Her voice was accusing.

"She thinks I'm sick . . . that I ought to be home in bed," Dick answered simply.

"Oh, piffle!" Gloria sneered. "The woman's in love with you. And you know it! She wouldn't go because she can't bear to see us together . . . It pretty nearly killed her a minute ago when you kissed me! I know! I saw her face! . . . She's jealous of me!"

"Cut out the movie stuff, Glory," Dick said gruffly. "Miss Briggs has worked for me for years and years. She's all wrapped up in her job. It's her lover and her child . . . her whole life. She never gives me or any other man a thought!"

"Is zat so," Gloria said babyishly. "I'm glad you think so. . . Come on, let's go."

Late that night she lay in bed watching the tossing branches of the trees outside her window.

She was thinking of love . . . that maze where all of us wander and get lost, searching everywhere for the one person who was meant for us. . . .

She thought of Dick, who loved her. And of Miss Briggs, who loved Dick.

She wondered if Dick knew that his secretary cared for him. Gloria was sure he must know it. Why, anyone could see it, from the very way that Miss Briggs looked at him, the tones of her voice when she spoke to him! . . .

Gloria raised herself on one elbow, and spoke into the darkness of the bedroom.

"Dick," she said, "why do you call Miss Briggs 'Susy' when you're alone with her, and 'Miss Briggs' when I'm around? . . . Dick, why do you?"

There was no answer. Dick was asleep.

* * *

The next aftern on, while Gloria was dressing to meet Wayburn and go riding with him, the telephone buzzed.

It was Stan himself.

"Our drive's called off," he said.

Gloria's heart, that had soared like a lark, sank.

"Why?" she asked. Was he going somewhere with Myra Gail?

"Because you're coming here instead," Stan answered. "To my li'l ol' family hotel. Suite 208. And hurry along!"

"Well, I like that!" Gloria said to herself indignantly, after she had hung up the receiver.

"Calls me up and tells me what I'm to do! What I'm not to do! Who does he think he is . . . the kaiser?"

The little family hotel where Wayburn lived was old and shabby.

There was a musty smell in the halls as Gloria walked through them to Stan's suite . . . a smell of dusty carpet, boiled cabbage and cheap perfume.

She tapped on the painted panels of his door . . .

He opened it with a flourish.

* * *

"Will you walk into my parlor, said the spider to the fly'," he quoted. His voice was curiously thick.

"Stan, have you been drinking?" Gloria asked.

"You should ask! You who only last night presented me with the most wunnerful bottle o' brandy ever drunk?" he said cheerfully.

Her eyes searched the room. There were several bottles and a plate of dry, hard sandwiches on a table in the centre of it.

"Been drowning all my troubles," Stan explained weakly.

"If you drank all that, you must have a million troubles," she answered.

Stan shook his head.

"Only one," he said. "Only one trouble in the whole wide world!"

Gloria was sure that he meant her . . . that she was the one thing that troubled him.

"And what is that?" she asked demurely. "What is your trouble, Stanley?"

She gave him her hands and sat down beside the table with its bottles and glasses.

"Money!" Wayburn said unexpectedly. "Money!"

Gloria was silent.

"Here I am, out of a job," the actor went on, dejectedly. "No prospect of getting another one very soon! Fur overcoat in pawn! Watch in pawn! Landlady raising old Harry about not getting her rent. . . I sure am in one tight place!"

He took his silver cigaret case from his pocket and held it out to her.

"Smoke?" he asked.

"No, thanks," Gloria shook her head. "But look here, Stan, let me lend you some money on this cigaret case! We're old friends, you and I."

Wayburn did not look at her while she took two $10 bills . . . all the money she happened to have . . . from her bag and laid them under the sandwich plate on the table.

Then he put his cigaret case back into his coat pocket.

"Gloria," he said finally, "you shame me with your kindness."

Wayburn filled two glasses and gave one to Gloria.

"Here's how!" he said.

She did not look at him. Her eyes travelled slowly around the garish walls of Wayburn's sitting-room.

There were dozens of women's photographs on them . . . women who looked like actresses. Women who did not look like actresses. Pretty women. Women who smiled. Women who pouted adorably . . . All of them hateful to her, because they cared for Wayburn!

And she, herself? Was she just one more pretty girl for Wayburn's collection?

Suddenly Gloria felt as if she were not in the room alone with Wayburn. She felt as if all of these women were there, too, looking at her . . . as Bluebeard's dead wives looked down at the living one who came to the Chamber of Horrors!

And she felt ashamed . . . ashamed of visiting Wayburn in his rooms! Secretly!

Love shouldn't be like this! Hidden, furtive and ashamed!

Why, love should be like the sunrise!

She stood up.

"I'm going," she cried. And before the befuddled Wayburn knew what she was doing, she had slammed the door behind her and was gone.

She began to sob as she drove home through the early spring twilight.

She made up her mind never to see Stanley Wayburn again, so long as she lived! She would forget him! . . . Let some other woman have him . . . some one of the women whose faces plastered the walls of his room! How she hated and loathed those women!

Ranghild met her at the door of the house with a frightened face.

"Mr. Gregory came home, sick, about an hour ago. His secretary brought him in a cab," she whispered.

Gloria ran upstairs.

Dick was stretched out on his bed, fully dressed.

His wife touched his closed eyelids and his forehead with her hand. They were burning hot.

His breath came in short, quick gasps.

"Dick!" Gloria cried. She was filled with a sudden fear.

Sickness had always terrified her. She had never forgotten one night in her early childhood, when her only brother had died a few hours after his birth. She could still remember her mother's terrible cries, heard through the thin walls of the little house. . . .

"Dick!" she called again. This time he moved, but he did not open his eyes.

In a panic she ran downstairs to the hall. Ranghild stood there wringing her hands in her apron.

"Now, don't get excited," Gloria said with a shaking voice. She was so excited herself that she could hardly take the telephone receiver from its hook.

She called Dr. John and asked him to come to Dick at once.

Then she turned to Ranghild with narrowed eyes.

"You said Miss Briggs brought Mr. Gregory home," she asked. "Did she help you get him upstairs, or did she leave right away?"

WESTWOOD PERSONALS

WESTWOOD, May 16—The programme for Mother's Day at the Methodist Church was arranged by the Religious Educational Council. Mr. B. Cardwell, superintendent of the Sunday School, conducted the service while the pastor, Rev. Benjamin Tucker, B.A., B.D., gave an interesting and appropriate address, with special reference to the mothers.

In the Presbyterian Church on Sunday afternoon, Rev. J. Archibald preached, as usual, a very inspiring and helpful sermon, regarding Mother's Day. A duet sung by two of the junior girls, Misses Mary Breckenridge and Jessie Graham was much appreciated.

Mr. Archie Shearer has purchased a new car.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson and Mr. and Mrs. Colby visited Mr. Thomas Cardwell, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Warr on Sunday.

Mr. Lorne Archer has taken a position with the Fuller Brush Company and is working in Sudbury.

Dr. Cameron of Peterborough passed through the village on Monday.

Master Willis Douglas was well enough to return from Nicholls Hospital to his home in Westwood on Saturday.

Mrs. Col. R. E. Birdsall, who has been very ill, is improving.

Mr. Bert Davidson has purchased a new car.

Messrs. Hilliard Neilson and Peter Rogers, local contractors, are repairing the Misses Weir's house at Villiers.

THE MARKETS.

that a good deal of wheat is likely to come here from Minneapolis and Omaha eased down the Chicago wheat market today after the price of May delivery here had risen as high as $1.71 a bushel, the top level in many weeks. Chicago closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ranging from 1 cent net decline to 3-4 cent advance; May $1,68 1-2 and July $1.51 3-4 to $1.52. Corn closed at 3-4 to 1 7-8 cents off; oats 1-4 to 5-8 cents down, and provisions unchanged to 37 cent higher.

Scarcity of wheat available for filling May contracts here gave such a sharp new upturn to Chicago prices early, that buying of wheat to be forwarded to this city was soon reported from Omaha and later from Minneapolis. The advance here had been accompanied by talk that supplies in Europe were also becoming very light, and that import requirements there would be heavy within the next few months.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, May 15.—Owing to the strength that has prevailed in the Canadian grain market of late and the higher prices ruling, there was somewhat of a lull in the foreign demand for Canadian grain here today, as cables received stated that buyers in most cases were not disposed to follow the advance, and in consequence the volume of business was smaller, there being only a few loads of oats worked for May shipment. The trade in cash grain on spot was also quieter, but the tone of the market was firm.

There was no further change in the condition of the market for millfeed, but the undertone was strong at the recent advances noted, owing to the continued good demand and the small offerings. The enquiry from United States buyers was good and sales were made at an advance of $1 per ton, $37 per ton being realized for bran, and at $38 per ton for shorts for shipment to New England points. Spot prices were unchanged. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats continued quiet and prices were unchanged.

Butter and Cheese.

The receipts of butter were 1,809 packages, as compared with 1,281 for the same day last week, and 2,419 for the corresponding day a year ago. There was no actual change in the condition of the market, prices being about steady under a fair demand for supplies to meet actual wants, and in consequence there is no accumulation of stocks on spot up to the present owing to the fact that receipts have been light for the season of the year.

The receipts of cheese were 4,556 boxs, as against 3,123 for the same day last week, and 1,973 for the corresponding day a year ago. The export trade in cheese continues quiet owing to the fact that English importers show little disposition to operate at present and exporters state according to the tone of cables coming forward the indications are that lower prices will have to be accepted here in order to make sales. The demand for supplies on spot was also slow and the market on the whole was dull, with Western No. 1 white and colored nominally quoted at 17 3-4 to 17 7-8 cents per lb., and Eastern No. 1 white and colored at 17 1-2 to 17 5-8 cents per lb.

ONTARIO CHEESE AUCTION

MONTREAL, May 15.—At the United Dairymen Co-operative auction sale of Western Ontario cheese, held here today, there were 1,084 boxes offered, of which 220 boxes No. 1 white sold at 17 3-4 cents per lb., 427 boxes of No. 1a colored at 17 11-16 cents per lb., and 437 boxes No. 1b colored at 17 11-16 cents per lb. The price paid for the white cheese was the same as last week, but the colored was 1-16 cents per lb. higher.

OMEMEE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE MEETS

Mrs. A. Sloan Elected President—Year's Work Reviewed.

OMEMEE, May 16.—The regular monthly meeting of the Omemee branch of the East Victoria Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Isaac H. Fee. There were fourteen members present, out of a membership of thirty-three. The president, Mrs. T. E. MacPherson, presided in her usual efficient manner. As this was the annual meeting, the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. R. J. Cornwall, gave a splendid report of the year's work and amount of money raised. During the year two quilts had been pieced and quilted and donated to fire sufferers, and a third quilt is ready to be quilted; a box of fruit and clothing had also been donated to the needy by members of the society. Many members had been remembered during illness, with fruit or flowers, and a small balance remains in the treasury.

A letter of appreciation from Mrs. F. Hart for flowers was read by the secretary, and Mrs. Overholt also expessed her gratitude for the plant received during illness.

Miss L. Parsons contributed a splendid reading which received much applause, short readings were given by Mrs. Cornwall and Mrs. J. Palmer, the latter suggesting many ways whereby other societies had prospered, after acquiring the art of making money. Many suggestions were offered by the members, as to the work the Institute could accomplish in the village, if there is an object in view, such as providing amusements on the school grounds for the smaller children; a war memorial, etc.

A motion was passed that donations to sick should be confined to the members only.

A vote of thanks was extended and heartily endorsed to the retiring president, Mrs. T. E. MacPherson. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Mrs. A. Sloan; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. J. Widdis; 2nd Vice-President, Miss L. Parsons; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. R. J. Cornwall; Directors, Mrs. McGuines, Mrs. P. Parsons, Mrs. Overholt; District Director, Mrs. T. E. MacPherson; District Representatives, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. J. J. Nichols, Mrs. I. H. Fee; Auditors, Mrs. J. Palmer, Mrs. L. Mahood; Flower Committee for 3 months, Mrs. Overholt, Mrs. P. Parsons; Programme Committee for 3 months, Mrs. S. Wilson, Mrs. J. Widdis, Miss Parsons.

The June meeting, at which the delegate from the department, Toronto, Miss Ethel P. Martin, of St. Williams, will address the meeting, will be held in picnic form on Miss L. Parsons' lawn, on Monday, June 15, the subject to be chosen later; Mrs. J. J. Nichols kindly offered to entertain the delegate during her stay.

Mr. B. MacLean of Lindsay was a visitor in town on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Shaw and son of Oshawa visited friends in town, over Sunday.

Mrs. Otto Bannan has returned home after a successful operation in the Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, performed by Dr. Carmichael of Omemee.

A number from Omemee motored to Lifford on Friday evening and attended the shower given to Mr. and Mrs. C. Staples (nee Beatrice Shea).

Mrs. E. H. Mitchell and Mrs. S. J. Mackey attended a Women's Missionary meeting in St. Andrew's Church, Lindsay, on Friday afternoon.

PEACE IN IRELAND.

Police Are Unarmed, Owen O'Duffy Tells Chiefs' Convention.

NEW YORK, May 16.—(Canadian Press).—"There is absolute peace in Ireland to-day. I know that disappoints a number of people who would like disruption and constant warfare in the Free State, but it can't be helped." General Owen O'Duffy, Chief of the Irish Guard of the Irish Free State, at present here attending the International Police Conference, painted a picture yesterday of an Ireland where the wicked had ceased from troubling, and where, despite the fact that it is only recently that the country was in a turmoil, not one of his 7,000 men carries a pistol. He has headed the Free State's constabulary for two years.

Old Man Burned to Death Near Charlottetown.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., May 16. — (Canadian Press). — Roland Steel, 94, was burned to death in a fire that destroyed his home on the Afton Road yesterday. The victim was a successful and prominent farmer who lived with his grandson. The latter was attending his lobster traps when the fire occurred, and when the blaze was discovered by neighbors the house was totally destroyed. The charred remains of the aged man were found in the ruins.

EXPORTS INCREASE.

Canada's Trade in April Records Improvement.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 16.—Canada's trade was ten millions dollars greater in April than in April last year and the increase was chiefly in exports. A recapitulation of exports and imports for last month shows that Canada exported goods to the value of $59,909,377, and imported $59,104,651. In April, 1924, exports were $48,880,914, and imports $60,173,141.

Exports of agricultural and vegetable products were up six millions and of animal and animal products increased about two millions. There was also a big increase in exports of metals as compared with April, 1923.

IRON OUTPUT LESS.

OTTAWA, May 16.—For the month of April the production of pig iron in Canada amounted to 60,065 long tons and marked a slight decline from the March output of 63,932 tons. In March the whole output consisted of basic iron, and in April this grade dropped 17 per cent., to 52,851 tons; 2,899 tons of foundry iron and 4,315 tons of malleable iron were also produced.

KITCHENER WAS KILLED BY REDS

Letter From Ludendorff Interpreted to Mean Bolsheviks Sank Hampshire.

CRYPTIC LETTER.

LONDON, May 16. — (United Press.) — General Ludendorff is brought into the seemingly endless controversy over the death of Lord Kitchener in a new book by V. W. Germaine, entitled, "The Truth About Ktichener."

The author quotes a cryptic letter from the former German Quartermaster-General, saying that the hero of Khartoum died "because of his ability, not through a German mine or torpedo, but through "a power which would not permit the Russian army to recover."

Germaine interprets this as meaning that Bolshevik spies working in connection with the German military intelligence, caused the sinking of H. M. S. Hampshire, in which Kitchener was drowned.

Why pay an extra Gasoline Tax?

Your gasoline bills continue to mount. Have you ever stopped to figure what proportion of them is directly chargeable to the type of road surface you drive over?

Conclusive tests have proved that a gallon of gasoline will carry you twice as far on a concrete road as on a dirt road. This means a gasoline tax of 30 cents per gallon on the dirt road, taking the price of gasoline at 30 cents a gallon.

Besides, every mile of unpaved road increases the wear and tear on tires and helps run up general repair bills.

These losses can be stopped.

Let your local highway officials know you are in favor of permanent, fuel-saving concrete roads. The more of them you get the lower your motoring costs will be, and smaller and smaller will grow the amounts spent on road repairs and upkeep.

GREGORY COMMISSION REPORT HAS BEEN SUBJECTED TO MANY DENUNCIATIONS BY THE HYDRO

Statement Issued Entitled "Errors and Misrepresentations of Commission."

MANY INNACURACIES

Says Injurious Statements From Report Are Being Disseminated.

TORONTO, May 15.—(By The Canadian Press).— Vigorous denunciations of the report of the recent Hydro-Electric Inquiry Commission—popularly known as the "Gregory Commission"—appointed under the Drury administration of the Province of Ontario to investigate the operation of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario, was issued today by the latter body in the form of a printed statement entitled "Errors and Misrepresentations made by the Hydro-Electric Inquiry Commission known as the Gregory Commission—respecting the Publicly Owned and Operated Hydro-Electric Power Undertaking of Municipalities in the Province of Ontario."

In this statement the assertion is uncompromisingly made that the Gregory Report is "permeated by incorrect and misleading statements" particularly concerning the relation that certain conclusions reached the comments made by Gregory Commission bear to the evidence submitted at its hearings.

"It is these inaccuracies and misrepresentations," says the statement, "which have caused the Gregory Commision Report to be so injurious." And Sir Adam Beck, Chairman of the commission says that statements from the Gregory Commission Report are, in an injurious manner, being disseminated throughout the United States.

The present statement consists of a foreword by Sir Adam Beck, Chairman of the Hydro Commission which is followed by a detailed discussion of various errors and misrepresentations" the Gregory Report is said to embody. The Commission's Statement throughout is supported by extensive citations and references to Governmental and other accredited documents.

In his foreword Sir Adam says:

"I am aware of the fact that the great majority of the citizens of Ontario have long since lost interest in both the operations and findings of the Gregory Commission. Nevertheless, in view of the widespread publicity given to these findings, and the efforts that are constantly being made on the part of those antagonistic to public ownership to rejuvenate the Gregory Commission Report and force its inaccuracies upon public attention, I have considered it necessary to present in permanent form the position which the Hydro-Electric Power Commission takes with respect to this whole matter. If such criticism as has been made against the Hydro-Electric Power Commission is allowed to go unrefuted, many persons, especially those more or less acquainted with the work of the Commission, will remain unfavoraby influenced, and this, in turn, will continue to injure the municipalities—their financial credit and general status."

Statement Is Absurd.

Respecting the suggestion that the Hydro-Electric Power Commission has sought to evade legal responsibility for certain estimates by failing to make the estimates a part of the by-law or publishing them with it, the Hydro Commission says it is absurd to make such an accusation in view of the fact that the statute of the province of Ontario provide that there could be such contingency. The portion of the Power Commision Act cited by Sir Adam in refutation of the charge reads: "Neither the Province nor the Commission nor any member thereof shall incur any liability by reason of any error or omission in any estimates, plans or specifications prepared by the Commission."

With reference to the Gregory Commission's criticism of the choice of the Nipigon River development in preference to the Dog Lake site on the Kaministikwia river the Hydro Commission challenges the accuracy of the statement that "The Commission was under no obligation to go to Nipigon." The inadequacy of the power available at Dog Lake to meet the probable demands, the engineering and constructional disadvantages of that site, the desirability of making such a power development in the Thunder Bay District as would encourage development of the natural resources and stabilize the industries and communities which would become dependent upon power as a prime industrial necessity, and a lower cost per hosepower for the ultimate development at Nipigon, are the main reasons given by the Hydro Commission when demonstrating that it was imperative to develop the Nipigon River power. These reasons had, previously, been fully explained to the Gregory Commission.

"Inasmuch", state Sir Adam Beck, "as the Gregory Commission turned aside from the main programme outline for it to issue and broadcast a Report in severe criticsm of the Nipigon Power Development of the Thunder Bay system, this Thunder Bay-Nipigon Report will serve to illustrate the kind of results which the Gregory Commission has been content to submit to the Governmen and the people," and he cites examples from the Gregory Commission's Thunder Bay-Nipigon Reports which, he says, are characteristic of "inaccuracies and misrepresentations" of the report.

Surplus on Plant.

It is asserted that had the Commission made its development at the Dog Lake site, it would not have been able to supply the demands of Port Arthur alone. The last fiscal year—1924—resulted in a surplus on the Thunder Bay system, which includes the Nipigon plant and transmission lines, of over $60,000, after paying all operating maintenance, administrative and interest charges on the entire operating capital. The first two months of the current fiscal year yielded a net surplus after providing for renewal and contingency reserves also, amounting to over $13,000. Sir Adam's statement avers:

"The most complete vindication of the foresight and enterprise of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission is going to Nipigon in preference to Dog Lake is found in the events that have taken place in the relatively short space of time that has passed since the Nipigon development was paraded as the outstanding example of failure in public ownership."

Asserting that "historical circumstances absolutely essential to an understanding of matters discussed have not been resented" by the Gregory Commission, the situation regarding the supply of power to the Great Lakes Paper Company, formerly known as the "Catrick interests", is discussed in detail. Issue is taken with the construction placed by the Gregory Commission upon evidence given by Sir William Hearst and by Sir Adam Beck and by the Chief Engineer Gaby, at the Gregory Commission's hearings. It is charged that although such witnesses were in accord, the Gregory Commission commented upon the statements made in such a manner as to distort their significance, and asserted that contradictions existed where there were none.

Facts Not Brought Out.

That the demand for power in the Thunder Bay district did not materailize so rapidly as had been estimated, is attributed by the Hydro Commission to the Government failure to make a proper contract with the Carrick interests, lack of co-operation on the part of Fort William, and the occurrence of a period of depression in the pulp and paper industry. Had it not been for these circumstances, the Hydro Commission asserts, the demand for power would have greatly exceeded that estimated. "The Gregory Commission", says the statement, "failed to bring out these facts and misrepresented the evidence."

The Gregory Commission is censured for having contrasted the $3,000,000 estimate for the Dog Lake development, with the later $13,000,000 estimate for the full development of the Caneron Falls site without emphasizing the fact that the latter estimate was for a plant of three times greater capacity, and that prices had substantially increased since the $3,000,000 was made in 1916. The Nipigon plant and transmission system at $13,000,000 would cost $175 per horsepower, whereas the Dog Lake plant, if it had been built in 1918 would have cost $195 per horsepower.

As an example of alleged "high-colored statements," the Hydro Commission says that the Gregory Commission's charge with reference to efforts made by the cities of Port Arthur and Fort William to implement any negotiations going on for the sale of power, that, as expressed by the Gregory Report, "Month after month and year after year, deputation after deputation has come down at great expense ....on fruitless errands." The Hydro Commission avers that only four deputations consisting of eight persons had geen sent by Port Arthur since the Nipigon plant started, and quotes official communications passed by the City Council of Port Arthur, to the effect that other civic business was also conducted by the deputations while in Toronto, and "in no instance", declares the Port Arthur City Council, "have we considered our visits to Toronto as fruitless errands."

Load Is Large.

Concerning the outlook for the future, the Hydro Commission reports that the load on the Nipigon plant is now about 39,000 horsepower, and 70,000 horsepower has been contracted for to be used in the near future. Other applications being the immediate possible future loads to the neighborhood of 90,000 horsepower. Four units are now installed, and by the first of October, the entire six units constituting the designed ultimate capacity of the plant of 75,000 horsepower will be installed, in operation and under load. It is remarked that the Dog Lake development could only have had a continuous capacity of 18,600 horsepower, and would, consequently, through its inadequacy to meet the demands, have caused a loss of millions of dollars to the Thunder Bay district.

The Hydro Commission, concluding its statement, says:

"The statements in the foregoing discussion, although presented with full assurance, are not advanced in a controversial or dogmatic spirit. They are presented for the calm and candid consideration of those interested in the work entrusted to the administration of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario and, moreover, are submitted under the strong persuasion of their truthfulness. The report of the Gregory Commission does not bear evidence of an earnest desire to present the whole truth of the matters under review. In a word, the Report is not as was to be expected of it, a judicial document; it falls far short of this essential status. With the careful analysis that has now been made of the methods and certain of the important statements of the Gregory Commission, the public may itself judge of the extent to which the findings of the Gregory Commission are entitled to confidence."

At the conclusion of the Foreword, Sir Adam Beck states:

"So long as the municipalities continue to maintain their confidence in each other in the Commission, no weapon formed for the destruction of the hydro-electrical undertaking of the municipalities of Ontario can prevail against it.—and in this respect the operation of the Gregory Commission is no exception.

CUBAN LIBERAL ASSASSINATED

Joseph Cano Attacked By Several Men While Leaving Game Building.

ASSAILANT ESCAPED.

HAVANA, May 15. — (United Press.) — Representative Josephs ("Pepe") Cano, leader of the Liberal party, was assassinated shortly before midnight by one of the men who attacked him as he leaving the Jay Alai game building.

Two years ago Cano killed Congressman Manuel Alonzo after a political quarrel. He claimed Congressional immunity immediately and went to Europe. After an amnesty bill was signed he returned and was re-elected.

HEART WAS WEAK NERVES ALL GONE

Mrs. J. H. Hallenbeck, 117½ Welland Avenue, St. Catharines, Ont., writes:—"I was in a gas explosion; it left me with a weak heart, and my nerves were all gone. I suffered everything; couldn't sleep, or endure any excitement, and when left alone I felt as if I could scream. I took dizzy spells, often falling and bruising myself. My mother read about your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and bought me a box, but having taken so many different kinds of medicine it just seemed that I did not have any confidence in any of them. I took one box of H. & N. Pills, and felt so much better I continued with them until I had used five boxes, and after I had taken them I did not need any more. I cannot praise, or recommend, Milburns Heart and Nerve Pills too highly after all they have done for me."

YOUR VACATION.

By HUGH S. CUMMING

(Copyright, 1925, by United Press)

In a week or two, the vacation will be here. A vacation is easily one of the most important of social institutions.

In a world that is so arranged that most of us are compelled to work during the greater portion of the year, a change, a rest, a vacation, goes far to make that work possible. Every man and woman employed is entitled to a vacation.

Get away from home and business if you possibly can afford it. A change of surrounding is helpful to restore health and strength. It is not necessary to go long distances but it is necessary to get out in the open—if you work indoors.

Forget your business, forget your job, forget your cares, forget your scramble for property, the world's goods and the world's wealth.

A vacation should mean very different things to different classes. A clerk for instance, should do something that would make him use his muscles (though not in excess) and an iron mill worker something that would enable him to rest his.

A girl who has been typewriting or packing cigarettes should use her vacation in outdoor sports, such as playing tennis or something like that. A tired wife or mother should rest by getting away from husband and children and having a few moments of genuine privacy. A "society" girl would do well to attend a summer normal school, where she would at least get a brand new outlook on life.

The usual prescription for a vacation is exercise in the open air. This is right, of course, in regard to many persons, but it is not right in regard to many others—farmers, street cleaners, and chauffeurs, for instance. A truck driver might well spend his vacation indoors.

Millions of persons, women in particular perhaps, need a "change" rather than a "rest" Exercise in the open air is valuable and indeed essential to good health. Exercise, however, looks chiefly to physical and ignores mental health; and mental health is now considered to be about as important as physical health.

The point is to get new ideas for the brain to mull over. All persons, after being tied to one set of ideas for months, will find themselves a lot healthier and happier if they can pick up a totally different set during their vacation.

Wherever you go, you should make careful inquiries about the sanitary conditions of the place. Sanitary conditions are more important than golf links, tennis courts, ball rooms and beautiful scenery. You should check up to learn if the water supply is safe, if the sewage system is adequate, if the kitchen, pantry and dining room are clean and protected from flies, if the milk is pure, and whether there are swamps, ponds or other mosquito breeding places nearby.

After you have found a suitable place, make sure that you spend your time sensibly. Keep good hours. Don't waste them. Keep happy. Worry is the foe of health.

PILGRIM IN PSALMS.

New Translation Shows the Story of Pilgrim's Return in Four Psalms.

SEATTLE May 16.—An Old Testament Pilgrim's Progress has been found in four of the psalms by Dr. Herbert H. Gowen, professor of Oriental languages and literature at the University of Washington.

Dr. Gowen's translation differs from the standard one. He says he has preserved as nearly as possible the original meter of the Old Testament songs and has diligently connected the four chants into a continuous story of the pilgrim's return to the Promised Land.

"The conception behind the four psalms, which begin with the 120th, was the return of the Jewish exiles from Babylonian captivity," Dr. Gowan said. "The joy of the returning captives as they noticed the hills of their native land and the towers of Jerusalem is reflected in the songs."

YOUR BIRTHDAY

SATURDAY, MAY 16—If to-day is your birthday, one of your greatest faults is your harsh, blustering and "hard-boiled" disposition. This is characteristic of both men and women born to-day. It doesn't get you anywhere, and it makes you a lot of enemies. In addition, it holds back your advancement, because you really do have ability. In the case of a woman, it often causes trouble in the home.

Your zodiacal sign is that of Taurus, the bull. Possibly that's where you get your disposition.

SUNDAY, MAY 17—If you are born to-day, you will be a poor sport. You won't be able to take a financial loss or a disappointment gamely or with good grace. As soon as you receive a setback of any kind, you immediately become sort of peevish and disgruntled. If it were not for this, you would have an almost ideal disposition. You have much ability and probably will marry young. Try to correct your fault as soon as possible. Learn to take the bitter with the sweet.

You are born under the zodiacal sign of Taurus, the bull. You will make a brilliant and witty public speaker.

LIGHTS BY RADIO.

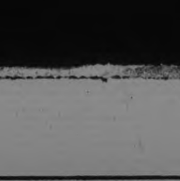
Priest at Westminster Has Been Able to Light Lamp By Wireless.

LONDON, May 16. — Father Maurice Beckett, of Westminster Cathedral whose hobby is experimenting with high frequency currents or wireless electricity for lighting purposes announced recently that he had progressed to such an extent that he had been able to light a 50 candle-power lamp with his system of wireless.

"And what's more," he said telling of his work "at my last public performance I sent the waves through a peer of the realm and two of my brother priests as a part of my programe of entertainment."

How the Allcast Moisture System saves money

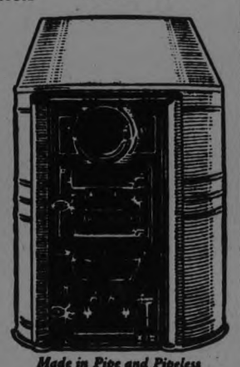
Tests have proved important savings in fuel where the warm air from the furnace is properly moistened—the saving has reached upwards of 20 per cent.



Hygienic Vapor Pan

The Hygienic Vapor Pan in the Allcast is designed to supply the correct amount of natural moisture required for health and comfort — atmosphere that protects the family from winter ills.

Other exclusive, fuel saving features of the Allcast are the free-draught Shell-bar Grates which insure perfect combustion, and the fuel-saving air-blast which burns the smoke and gases.



Made in Pipe and Pipeless

The All-cast is easily operated. It burns soft coal and all other fuels equally well. It is reasonably priced. Come in and let us show you its many important features or write for complete details.

BEST MEDICINE SHE EVER USED

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Highly Praised by a Nova Scotia Lady.

Among the well known and esteemed residents of Hemford, N.S., is Mrs. Amanda Woodworth. Some four years ago Mrs. Woodworth had the misfortune to lose her husband, and as a result of caring for him during his illness, and attending to farm duties, she became terribly run-down. Mrs. Woodworth says she felt as though her blood had turned to water. The least exertion would leave her tired and breathless. She was often attacked by spells of weakness that left her almost speechless, and frequently suffered from severe headaches. The medicines she took did not help her, and she almost despaired of gaining her health. In this condition she one day read in a newspaper of a case very similar to her own, in which health was restored through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This made her decide to give these pills a trial. After using a few boxes she found the pills were helping her, and she continued their use until her old-time health and vitality were restored. Now Mrs. Woodworth looks after a small farm of fifteen acres, besides doing all her housework, and she says she never felt better or more energetic in her life. She gives credit for her present splendid health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which she says are the best medicine she ever used, and strongly recommends the pulls to all run-down people.

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PARENTS NOW TAUGHT TO UNDERSTAND THEIR CHILDREN

Papa and Mamma Are Told to Go to School in This Era When Reaching for Slipper is Not Enough—Must Have Knowledge of Causes and Psychology — Some Examples of What Parents Can Do to Help Their Children.

FOR thirty years or more there has been an increasingly intensive study of the child, which has shown that he is not merely a little man but something more, distinct unto himself. As a result, papa and mamma are now told to go to school.

Suppose little Johnny gets up before all the family and steals jam—but steals it only at six in the morning. Suppose little Agatha, who seems such a bright child, is rated by the teacher among the dullards of her class, though Aggie is the youngest in the room. What if Edward suddenly starts to act up like a bad man, and when pinned down explains that they do that way in the movies

Once it was thought sufficient for papa to reach for the slipper, or at the most to knit his brow as he looked at Agatha's home work. But now, according to the standard of parental responsibility which some tens of thousands of homes are adopting, papa and mamma must have knowledge enough to give them some insight into causes, or at least possible causes, which indicate that a specialist could be of use. There is, in fact, a psychological reason for this particular little Johnny's stealing only at 6 a.m. (he is real) and the hour is the key to the cure. Agatha is perfectly all right and even better, for she is ahead of her age even if her teacher contrasts her with older children. As for Edward, his case is but another example of what the child students maintain—that such things as movies and speed mania are not causes of offence but merely detectors, stimulating the offender till he calls attention to his own inherent defects and thus paving the way for remedy or treatment.

To make it possible for parents to understand such points as these—to make comprehensible to them the findings of science where it touches the child's life—is the object of the Children's Foundation.

The Children's Foundation made its plans but did not announce them till the first step was accomplished. Then it published a 500-page report, "The Child: His Nature and His Needs," in which some of the foremost authorities on education, child psychology and allied subjects gave, in lay language, a summary of the present accepted thought in their various fields.

Attracts Wide Interest.

This book is the first of several projected steps toward the education of the parent who wants to be educated. Another study is being prepared on the child and his relations to his home. Meanwhile the first volume is being read at lamplight time all over the country. According to the spokesmen of the Children's Foundation a definite public of parents has already shown an interest in parenthood as a job requiring study.

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers is building a programme of study based on the book. The Child Welfare Committee of the General Federation of Women's clubs is putting it to similar use. Papa is showing his interest also; the International Kiwanis and the International Rotary organizations are calling the work to the attention of their members. The Catholic Welfare Council and the national headquarters of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist Churches are taking a like interest. Professors at Columbia and New York University have urged it on their students; it has been used as a text-book at summer schools for teachers, including Columbia University. It wasn't written for teachers but a hundred normal schools are using it, besides individual teachers who want to know where education stands to-day but can't go to summer courses.

The work started because one business man found that other business men, though they might dote on their children, didn't know much about youngsters and their problems. He is Lewis E. Myers, the foundation's President. He is a manufacturer, one phase of whose activities kept him in touch with educational developments. He found that never before was the child being studied as to-day, and that never before was the ordinary parent less aware of it. He saw an increasingly complex civilization making new problems and intensifying old ones, and the business acquaintance who told him fond papa anecdotes was blissfully unaware of what they meant when they chanced to have significance.

Parents as Troublemakers.

He thought that parental good intentions were not enough, so he brought about the foundation and its first report, in which one of the sixteen contributors (authorities all of them) points out that the parental instinct can not only make trouble for latter-day individuals but is so unreliable that whole peoples make a custom of killing off their children just to get rid of them.

The experimental and field work was being done by the specialists, but Mr. Myers felt that it was not getting across where it was most needed—to the layman. So he laid aside $50,000 and the foundation came into being as a sort of clearing-house, an endowment of an idea instead of a building.

For the work itself the foundation went to the experts. It had nothing to prove; it merely wanted to enlarge the public for the things the specialists had found out.

Here is a child of 2 years which has a vocabulary of twenty words. Here is another, the same age, with 1,200 words. What does that mean to the respective parents?

Why does an average boy prefer most to collect cigar bands between the ages of 10 and 12 and birds' eggs from 11 to 15? How can that be used to guide him?

Why is property one thing to a child under certain conditions and another under other circumstances? What is, to him, the difference between the food on the pantry shelf and the same food when it has been put on his plate? What does he regard as community property and what as personal?

How does he advance from a member of a gang to a citizen of his country??

A girl of 4 runs into the house screaming to be given something she wants. She never did it before. Give it to her? Or remember the little boy next door, who does that habitually, and tell her, "I know what you're up to"?

A little boy gets nervous when his father speaks. Does the father know that he has a rasping voice which would make even grown-ups fidget?

The Child's Vocabulary.

His older brother can't spell, and it seems to his father that the schools don't teach spelling the way they used to when he was a boy. Father is uneasy about it, or critical. But why don't they? What has research work shown as to the number of words a child should have, or the number he is likely to need in life? Is it the 15,000 papa studied? Or the 3,000 that are of use, as measured by tests extending over the last quarter of a century?

Or take the pilferer of 6 a.m. If such a boy rises early to steal jam or his father's loose change, there is the beginning of a chain that may have a bad end. What makes him do it? Well, his chum does, too; it's a secret between them. This thief of 9 years steals because he has day dreams—desires to share in his chum's secret, desires to show that he has power—is a man. The fantasies lead him to steal, and they come only in the morning when he lies awake in the still house. If he went to bed later maybe he wouldn't wake up so early and then they wouldn't come. And they don't. In such a case, all the spanking in the world, say the specialists, would not take the place of understanding.

"It is possible to safeguard the young individual by preventing the occurrence of such times and seasons when delinquent thoughts develop, much more easily than it is possible to prevent opportunity for the delinquent acts themselves to follow."

Such is the opinion of William Healy, Director of the Judge Baker Foundation of Boston. He is one of the contributors to the Children's Foundation's first report, of which the editor is Professor M. V. O'Shea of the University of Wisconsin. Others are Henry Neumann of the Brooklyn Society for Ethical Culture, Professors Mary T. Whitley and Leta S. Hollingsworth of Teachers' College, Columbia University, and C.-E. A. Winslow, Curator of Public Health, American Museum of Natural History.

The contributors cover broadly the field of the child—his instincts and impulses, why and how he plays, his active needs, his intellect and moral development, nutrition, the inferior and the superior child, adolescence and its problems.

Some Examples Cited.

Through all this runs the need of the parents' understanding their task, when the child is normal as when it is neurotic or unhealthy. "Parents," says one chapter, "should take to themselves this lesson, and when their child shows signs of nervousness 'not look exclusively for the explanation in the child and try to correct it by changing diet, the school, etc., but look first to themselves."

Abstract advice, but pointed, in the same chapter with an object lesson drawn from the literature of case reports. It is the case of a child not diagnosed until she grew to middle age. As a very little child she was pigeon-toed and clumsy. A slight matter, but it shaped half a lifetime. Her parents laughed at her efforts to walk and run. They thought it a joke when she tumbled. So her shyness, ample enough, increased; she did not walk or run if she could avoid it. By the time she was 12 she was too heavy for her age. It smarted when other children called her "Fatty," but all the comfort she got at home was her mother's caution that big girls should not run around like tomboys.

The girl, too painfully conscious of her ineptitude, developed a lack of confidence that extended to all she did. There was compensation in an overdevelopment on the intellectual side, but even here she had no confidence. So the pigeon-toes of the little girl produced a grown woman, hampered and cramped and afraid in all that life might bring her. "Middle age," says the report, "finds this girl just beginning, through analysis of her own behaviour, to get a legitimate self-confidence, intellectually and socially, as well as the free use of her body."

The slight defect of to-day may seem trivial. There is another case, seen through the wrong end of the telescope, which points a lesson for parents. It begins when the youth discussed is of voting age. He has lied for years, stolen, forged, yet always knowing the moral judgment on his conduct and always maintaining that he alone, and not his companions, was to blame. What failure to understand, far back in the past, was the beginning of this? A physician runs it down. It was a day when the youth, then a child, lied so that his parents would not know he had had companions in the house when he was left alone.

Find the Motive Early.

He knows it was the cause. "I learned to lie and steal right there," he says. "I remember the bag of candles I bought with the first money I took from my mother's purse." He remembered more: "his discomfiture and shame and feeling of inferiority at so breaking with family confidences and standards of honesty, however indefinite his appreciation of such things may have been at that early age."

The time to dig deep for the motive is when the first offence is discovered—and the experience of the research workers in this field is that the parental slipper is a poor tool for such an inquiry. The ability for such inquiry, whether the child is a "case" or merely a child, is urged, along with more education of the right sort, as the antidote for chewing gum, rouge, jazz, movies, tobacco, baseball and confections. To which the authorities add the note that as much is spent now on candy and gum as on educational work.

In laying the plans for the forthcoming second report, to be issued probably next year, the Foundation is preparing to consult every important person in the country who has ideas on the child and the home, according to Lorne W. Barclay, Vice-President.

"In these reports," he said, "we want to mobilize the best specialists and put their knowledge at the disposal of parents in non-technical language. We want to reach the people whose concern in the child is serious."

That, he says, is why the Foundation sells its first report, charging $1 a copy, although the book costs five times as much to produce, and the postage on it, from the headquarters at Valparaiso, Ind., to distant States is as much as 31 cents.

"The next five years," says Mr. Barclay, "is the period of the child and his emancipation. The Foundation aims to be a connecting link between the science of child study and the home."

Miss Mary Ramsey, a sophomore in high school and one of the prettiest girls in Hardy, Ark., believes in the Bible.

And to defend herself against the "old-fashioned" taunts of her chums she quotes the second chapter of the First Corinthians, verses 14 and 15: "Doth not nature itself teach you, that if a man have long hair it is a shame unto him? But if a woman have long hair it is a glory to her; for her hair were given her for a covering."

Her friends have prevailed upon her to have her hair bobbed, "but I can not go against the wishes of my parents and the teachings of the Bible," she says.

ENGLISH WOMEN ARE MAKING INROADS IN ALL PROFESSIONS BUT ARE BARRED FROM MARRYING IF CIVIL SERVANTS

Helena Normanton Describes Entry Into Law — Their Status in Church and School Still Inferior, and No Promised Land is Seen.

SIX RELATIONS CHANGE SINCE WAR

Public Controlled Health Bodies Also Demand Celibacy—Declared To Be Dangerous Exacerbation of Personality—Women Excel in Law.

By HELENA NORMANTON
The First English Woman to be Admitted to the Bar Under Her Maiden Name.

IT is said that one of Mr. Lloyd George's choicest perorations was ruined by a heckler who, when the orator fervently demanded what the gray waves of chaos and war revealed as they suddenly rolled back from the shore, joyously shouted: "The same old limpets sticking to the same old rocks!"

That is certainly true in large measure concerning post-war Great Britain. She is in general pretty much what she was in pre-war days. But the inter-sex struggle has changed and shifted ground considerably. This has been a matter of deliberate volition on the part of the woman more than of dictation or even suggestion by the men. A realization has come that the emancipation of womanhood (however important) is not the sole problem of the universe; nor even a problem that can be for any useful purpose isolated from all others or discussed as if it existed alone in some vacuum.

The political gates have swung back and disclosed nothing in the nature of a promised land, but simply a rocky and boggy terrain to be crossed. The triumphal procession which was to have gone along with banners has undergone permutations into a pilgrimage. A million male lives abruptly vanished in the years 1914 to 1918 and half a generation of young Englishwomen are left mateless. They must work or starve. And if they work, the young men competing with them will dub them heartless job-snatchers with no appreciation of the sacrifices of their men-folk.

Hence, relations between the sexes in Great Britain tend to be discussed in terms of economics, and the strife which once raged around the vote is now being waged around what women can and may do in the labor market, what they shall be paid, and what restrictions as to opportunity and marriage shall be placed upon them. But the precise problems are peculiar to each profession. Take teaching first, because education is so fundamental in the life of a nation.

If sex war there be, it is certainly between the men and women teachers. Unequal pay for equal work in a five to four ratio is the prevalent rule. The women bitterly resent this as a stigma and a wrong; the men retort that the proportion is much too high for the lesser family responsibilities of the women. The latter point to masses of statistics to the effect that all aged family dependents in practice become the women's dependents. Promotion to principalships also go heavily against the women even where in theory they should be equal. The men say that this is due to merit; the women allege to favor. Nothing I ever read is so bitter as the women teachers' paper. They cannot sing the song of peace in Zion.

Forbidden to Marry.

Celibacy is also demanded of them under nearly every local authority—a most unnatural state of affairs, and one likely to rear a class of artificially disgruntled workers. It seems never to occur to the governing mind (perhaps I should say the governing body) that to expect women to perform the maternal function of teaching and be sex-starved and themselves deprived of motherhood is a dangerous exacerbation of personality. Scores, hundreds of children in daily contact, yet never a kiss from a child of one's own.

This war upon marriage extends also to women in the civil service and to such part of the medical profession as is controlled by public bodies. The metropolitan borough in which I live covered itself with pioneering glory by requiring the resignation of the woman medical officer for maternity and child welfare work because of her marriage, although the step was detested by the local mothers whom she had ably served and who would prefer to consult a married woman. The example was widely followed by other communities, and its inevitable result must be that women doctors with any sense of human dignity and liberty will tend to confine themselves to private practice and abstain from public service. Then, in a few years, we shall hear that the woman doctor who is a public officer is "not of the best type." Marriage also operates automatically as a dismissal from the civil service of Great Britain.

A test case on this subject of restraint of marriage in the public service was brought and lost in the courts recently. The case dragged on through some eight days' hearing, in the course of which every weak ground was made to bear the gravamen of the argument and the strong rock of public policy was ignored. The case degenerated into a vapid and infructuous discussion of pensionable service and became such a mass and mess of confusion that the adverse result surprised no one. An appeal might have produced a favorable result, but was not made. It is of some interest, however, to note that the women who brought and so disastrously mismanaged this case chose to entrust its handling entirely to masculine lawyers.

Women as Lawyers.

In so ignoring their legal sisters these women were following in the footsteps of all other English feminists whom I have heard of as litigants. So far as I have any general information upon the matter, the great bulk of the clients of women lawyers in Britain is masculine. England's most prominent woman doctor has had two recent lawsuits; a lady of great scientific attainments, who is our leading advocate of birth control, has had prolonged litigation; a woman member of Parliament has fought a libel case; a woman peer has sought to enter the Lords; each and all have exclusively employed men lawyers. At least, women could have got them no worse results, for general defeat has been the result for these litigants of feminism.

As to the women in the law, they have been allowed to enter the profession at the most difficult moment possible. The post-war commercial depression has hit the legal profession more rapidly and thoroughly than it has any other, and there is a scarcity of work for the men. Considering how arduously male lawyers resisted the opening of the legal profession to women—an opening which had to be effected by an act of Parliament passed over their heads—the reception of women as co-members has been much better than could have been expected. Eminent men have opened their chambers to take women barristers during their period of pupilage (or "reading," as it is called); there has been no differentiation or separation as to lectures or examinations. Only one Inn of Courts has separated men and women students when dining in hall, and it is rumored that this rule is now regretted, so that it may be changed. The eminent and established men have been more than just—they have even been generous.

But there is a reverse side to the coin, and it would be well within my power, if I chose, to narrate some very queer doings on the part of the hungry young wolves of the Common Law toward their women colleagues. There is a most strict canon of English legal etiquette against all self-advertisement at the bar. Yet, it has not been found beneath the tactics of a few—but very unimportant—new barristers to circulate to the press "copy" about women colleagues and then follow this up by accusing the women victims of themselves being the publicity hounds; and in bringing up the matter in their absence upon such occasions as the candidature of the victim for election to one of the many bar messes, etc., which are the practical preliminary to obtaining work upon circuits and sessions. I know of one such instance where the woman concerned was not even allowed to put in a defence, but was permanently debarred from work in a legitimate sphere upon hearsay evidence which none of the gentlemen (let us call them that!) voting would have been allowed to tender in an open court of law. However, this is a phase which will no doubt pass away, a product of pettiness which, ashamed as it is to come into the open, will naturally wither. The better and larger part of the profession has no liking or countenance for such tactics, and the General Council of the Bar has done what it could to remedy such situations in a kindly and tactful way.

The legal profession has been open to women effectively only some three years; hence it is natural that none has yet anything really first-class to her credit. But their rate of progress toward good second-class work has been surprisingly rapid, and the general opinion seems to be that their work is good. Promotion to the judicial bench in England is primarily by merit, and only remotely by political aid. There are also some requirements as to the number of years since being called to the bar; hence there can be no woman Judges in England for long years yet. Election plays absolutely no part whatever in the making of an English or Scottish Judge, so that there is no mode of quick abridgment of juniority.

Some but not an overwhelming amount of interest has been displayed in the attempt to open this ministry of the Church to women. Most nonconformist bodies have no theoretical bar against them, and it is mainly a matter of obtaining particular appointments. Omitting the Hebrew and Roman Catholic faiths, the main objective in England must be the Established (or Anglican) Church. There the theological dogma of the apostolic succession is the main obstacle. Women can be ordained to the lower degree of the ministry—the deaconate—but not to the full priesthood. Propaganda work upon the subject is done by a society.

Women in journalism have, perhaps, achieved most in England. Theirs is by far the highest minimum salary, and at the minimum they have equal pay with men. Their difficulties all centre around promotions and opportunities. It is difficult for them to break into the more serious columns of the newspapers, and only one woman so far has been appointed a lobby correspondent in the House of Parliament.

OLD HOME WEEK COMMITTEE MET

Committees Were Appointed to Look After Various Phases of Celebration.

STARTS JUNE 21.

DOURO, May 14.—A meeting of the Old Home Week committee was held on Monday evening. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Wallace Anderson was appointed to the committee in place of Mr. Garbutt, who was unable to act.

Tuesday, June 21, is to be "Old Boys" Day. The celebration will be officially opened at 10 a.m. with an address of welcome by the president.

Moved by M. Coughlin, seconded by R. Heffernan, that Mr. Galvin reply to the address in behalf of the Old Boys.

Moved by M. Coughlin, seconded by John Leahy, that A. Carveth, John Sheehan and Edward Leahy be a committee to choose singers from the Township to sing a song suitable to the occasion.

Moved by Michael Walsh, seconded by W. Anderson, that M. Coughlin, B. Dench, Mr. Galvin and P. G. Towns be appointed a financial committee.

Moved by M. Coughlin, seconded by R. Heffernan, that John Leahy, M. D. Sullivan, T. E. Whibbs and P. G. Towns be a reception committee.

Moved by M. Walsh, seconded by E. Dench, that Frank Devlin, James Sweeney, Thos. Whibbs and P. G. Towns be a refreshment committee.

Moved by M. Coughlin, seconded by A. Carveth, that W. Anderson, Robert Heffernan and P. G. Towns be an amusement committee.

It was also arranged that Messrs M. Coughlin, B. Dench, Galvin and the president arrange a programme of sports for the next meeting.

The committee adjourned to meet Monday, May 18.

Notes on the Centenary.

The first schoolhouse in Douro was built near Peterborough in 1826.

In the summer of 1826 a piano was sent from Ireland, but did not arrive till the next winter. When it was being brought to Douro the team broke through the ice on Rice Lake but the piano slid onto solid ice and was saved.

A male child was born on the ship "Fortitude" coming from Ireland in 1825, and was named Fortitude Carey.

First white child born in Douro was Wm. Stewart, born July 31, 1825.

The first wheat was sowed in Douro in spring of 1823, two years before the Robinson immigration.

The winter of 1826-27 was a cold but pleasant winter. The thermometer often went to 18 to 30 below zero.

Fast Ball Game.

Personals.

Richard Carveth, of Peterborough, was a Sunday visitor with Mr. and Mrs. A. Carveth.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Staples and son, Clarence, spent Sunday with friends in Bethany.

Miss Margaret Herr, of Norwood, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Michael McManus.

James Sweeney is erecting a fine verandah.

Miss Margaret Allen spent Sunday evening at her home in Lakefield.

MARMORA PEOPLE BUSY IN GARDENS

Horticultural Society Has Caused Greater Interest in Flowers.

MARMORA, May 14.—With the continued dry weather, residents are paying attention to their gardens. Those who have ploughs are in constant demand. The recent formation of the Horticultural Society is stimulating interest in the flower gardens, so that, when fair time arrives, exhibits choicer than ever should be seen.

Dr. D. Thomson returned on Monday from his visit to Woodbridge and Toronto.

Mrs. D. R. Clare returned home from Toronto on Monday.

Mrs. H. R. Haacke and young son concluded a few days holiday in Toronto on Monday.

Mrs. Frank Osborne is spending a couple of weeks in Belleville.

Mrs. Urban Shaw and two children, accompanied by Mr. Percy Gray and Mr. and Mrs. William Gray, left for Trenton on Tuesday.

MARMORA LEAGUE.

Young People Had Last Missionary Programme of Season.

MARMORA, May 16.— The missionary department of the Young Peoples' League put on its last programme for the season at the Methodist church on Wednesday. After devotional exercises had been taken by W. J. Cottrell, the president, Miss Nellie Williams gave a well prepared talk on "Early Missionary Labors among the Indians."

This was followed by an exquisite violin solo by Miss M. Hart.

A spelling match of Bible words conducted by Miss M. Sapper proved both instructive and enjoyable. A collection was taken for the missionary work of the church.

Miss M. A. Lord of Toronto is conducting sewing classes in Deloro Hall under the auspices of the Deloro Junior Women's Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace of Campbellford are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Wallace.

FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 7

The Advent of Tea to England

Tea was not used to any extent in England till about the middle of the seventeenth century, although knowledge of the wonderful qualities of the beverage had reached Europe as early as 1517. During the seventeenth century, all tea was imported from China and cost from $25.00 to $50.00 per pound. Not until 1836 did any tea reach England from India. In that year the first shipment was made from the now famous tea growing district of Assam. India today supplies fully half the world's tea requirements and provides some of the finest teas grown. The rich body of "SALADA" is due to the select India teas used in the blend.

FUNERAL OF AGED OSHKIGMONG LADY

Many Friends From Different Reserves Came to Attend Last Rites.

OSHKIGMONG, May 15. — The funeral services for Mrs. Joseph Whetung, which took place Tuesday afternoon, was conducted by the Rev Mr. Reddick of Lakefield, assisted by Mr. H. E. Hawley of Peterboro, from hte words "The Master is Come ond calleth for thee." Deep sympathy is felt by the numerous friends of this and other reserves who came to attend the funeral.

The Mothers' Day and Go-to-Sunday-School Day were well observed last Sunday, both at the morning service and the Sunday school in the afternoon. The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion. The Mississauga Band rendered some sacred selections in the afternoon in front of the hall. The young and old were eager to do honor to mothers who are still in the midst of their self-forgetting labors, and with added tenderness to the memory of those who have gone from their earthly homes.

John Sunday, Sr., and John Sunday, Jr., and wife of Christian Island are here with Thomas Taylor, who is seriously ill. Mr. Taylor has been ailing for some weeks but hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Mrs. George Goose and her son, Austin, of Scugog Island, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. D. Taylor, Sr.

Mrs. Jones of Hall's Bridge, made her week end visit to her daughter, Mrs. D. E. Whetung.

D. Whetung motored to Oshawa last Sunday and made a short visit to his friends, Mr. and Mrs. R. Begley.

APPOINTED REGISTRAR.

Frederick H. Thompson, K. C., of Stratford, Takes on Several Duties.

TORONTO, May 16. — (Canadian Press.)—Frederick H. Thompson, K.C., of Stratford, was appointed local registrar of the Supreme court, county court clerk and registrar of the Surrogate court for the County of Perth, by the Provincial Government.

CLERGYMEN MET IN MILLBROOK

Ministerial Association Heard Eloquent Address on the Nature of Prayer.

INSTITUTE MEETING

MILLBROOK, May 15.—The May meeting of the Ministerial Association was held on Monday at 9.30 a.m., the President, Rev. M. G. B. Williams, being in the chair.

Rev. S. G. Rorke of Peterboro was the speaker for the occasion, his address on "The Nature, Purpose and Function of Prayer, What It Means and What It May Be Possible To Do With It" being considered one of the finest the local ministerial body has ever been privileged to listen to.

Prayer, the speaker said, was an essential element of Jesus' personal spiritual being, just as food was an essential element of his physical nature.

The prayer of Christ, as recorded in the seventeenth chapter of John's gospel, is not a suitable prayer for us to offer, and the so-called "Lord Prayer" was not suitable for the Saviour to use.

Dr. Fosdick was quoted as saying: "The church has not yet waked up to the meaning and purpose of prayer. The real danger to society is now, and always has been, the people who do not pray."

The Decalogue gives the law of the perfect life, and the Lord's Prayer breathes the spirit of that perfect life. The law, however, is objective, while prayer is subjective.

The highest form of government is religious, as all successful government must be from within, hence what men need most of all is to learn how to pray, since it is through prayer that they come into vital fellowship with the spiritual forces, and with God.

By this method of prayer all the great problems of life will be solved—if they ever are solved. This thought was developed under five heads—international problems; national or internal problems; racial problems, which include the situation, for instance, of the American nation in relation to its negro population; social problems, with reference to drink, gambling, vice, etc.; problems of capital and labor, which, the speaker said, "will only be settled by capital and labor going on their knees, if they ever are settled."

Women's Institute Met.

The annual public meeting, under the auspices of the Women's Institute, will be held in the Town Hall on Tuesday, May 19, at 8 p.m. Mrs. Bowes of Lefroy, Ont., will be the speaker, her choice of subjects including: "The Work of the District Institute and How to Make It Most Effective"; Sweet Sixteen, What of Her Future?"; "The Farm Home, Its Possibilities"; "Our New Neighbors."

Mrs. Bowes was brought up on a farm and was a successful public school teacher before entering Women's Institute work as a speaker; she is now District Secretary for South Simcoe.

The dates of her addresses in this district include: Mt. Pleasant, Monday, May 18; Bailieboro, Tuesday, May 19, at 3 p.m.; Millbrook, Tuesday, May 19, 8 p.m.; Cavan, Mrs. J. D. Hunter's, Thursday, May 20, at 3 p.m.; Bethany, Town Hall, Thursday, May 20, at 8 p.m.; Garden Hill, W. I. Hall (Campbellcroft), Thursday, May 21; Elizabethville, Friday, May 22; and Charlecote, Tuesday, May 26.

The local branch of the Women's Institute has received an appeal from the Neighborhood Workers' Association of Toronto asking if a number of children, ranging in age from seven to twelve years, could be taken in homes in this village or neighborhood, for two weeks during the summer months and thus given a much needed holiday. Either boys or girls may be had according to preference, but the children are sent in pairs to avoid loneliness. Some homes were promised at the last meeting of the institute, but volunteers are asked for to assist in this very worthy form of home mission work. These children are from poor homes and without interested friends offering [illegible] two weeks' vacation will have no real holiday away from the city streets during the hot months.

Miss Luella Rorke of Peterboro, who addressed a public meeting in the Methodist Church on Wednesday evening in the interests of missions, was the guest of Mrs. (Rev.) F. H. Howard during her stay in town.

Mrs. (Rev.) M. G. B. Williams went to Toronto on Monday morning, and will represent the Women's Missionary Auxiliary of St. Thomas Church at the annual Diocesan W. M. S. convention now in session in St. Anne's Parish Church in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Byles, who were here for the funeral of her brother, the late ex-Warden T. A. Kelly, left by motor for their home in Windsor on Tuesday morning, Mrs. M. E. Milligan accompanying them as far as Toronto for a brief stay.

VETERAN MANAGES BRIGHTON'S TEAM

Dr. McKee, Who Has Played on Team Six Years, Will be Manager.

BRIGHTON, May 15.— At last night's meeting of the Brighton Baseball Club, Dr. E. C. McKee was elected manager of the team for 1925. Choice of the manager had aroused considerable interest among players and fans and no less than seven were nominated for the position. These were B. B. Scripture, Gordon Lapp, O. L. Archer, F. P. Spring, F. R. Whittan, Dr. H. C. Rundle and Dr. McKee. Messrs. Scripture and Lapp withdrew, leaving five candidates. Voting was by ballot, the candidate receiving the least number of votes being dropped each time. Dr. McKee was thus elected on the fourth ballot.

The new manager has been a member of the Brighton team for the past six years, ranking next to the veteran outfielder, Mike Walt, in length of continuous service. He was manager in 1919, the year Charlie Allen was pitching for Brighton. The team won 12 games that year, lost 2 and tied 1. Even the Brighton fans should be satisfied if Mr. McKee duplicates that record. He was captain of the team last year and in 1922, and both these years was the team's leading batter. He has played all the infield positions for the team and has taken numerous turns behind the bat. If any man connected with baseball in Brighton deserves the honour of being manager, it is Dr. McKee.

The proposed schedule was not entirely satisfactory to the meeting. The big celebration in Belleville always draws a crowd away from Brighton on June 3 and it would be very unfortunate to have Colborne playing in Brighton on that day. Some of the players object quite strenuously to going to Roseneath before that club comes to Brighton, and so the league secretary will be asked to give the locals a road game for June 3 and have Roseneath or some other team come here on June 10.

Team Practising.

The Brighton team has been practising faithfully and prospects certainly look much brighter than they did at the beginning of last season. Infield candidates are: Solomon, Thorne, Cameron, Samis, Frise, McKee and McCulloch. Scriver is regarded as the likely choice for catcher, although he can play any infield position acceptably. Brown, the High school catcher, has come along fast and Frise, who is slated for first, did most of the catching last year and could, if necessary, assume the job again. McKee can work behind the plate, and also Archer, so there is no shortage there. Prominent among the outfield candidates are Bill Brown, Walt, Archer and Griffith. Walter Shannon, who pitched last year, has left town and Keith Roblin has not yet turned out. If he retires, the burden will fall on McCulloch, Frise, Samis or young Marshall, who shows considerable promise.

"Be kind to your Stomach"

DOSING the stomach with digestive tablets and fluids can never do more than afford temporary relief from indigestion.

The cause of chronic indigestion is found in the torpid condition of the liver and the consequent constipation of the bowels.

Get rid of this condition and the indigestion disappears.

The most effective corrective treatment is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. There is proof of this in the great majority of homes.

If this medicine is not known to you ask your friends about it, or get a box from your druggist and put it to the test.

MORE HEAT from LESS FUEL!

GILSON'S of Guelph have astounded the furnace trade by their amazing nation-wide success.

A new broom sweeps clean—

Flinging tradition and old-time methods to the winds they developed a totally different type of furnace. Instead of cast iron, they used Tungsten Copper Alloy Steel Plate. Instead of building a furnace of many sections, they designed a furnace of ONE PIECE construction. Instead of riveted and cemented joints, they used the modern ELECTRIC ARC WELDING PROCESS. Inventive genius was applied at every point of the furnace, producing TWENTY-TWO new features, such as Air-Breathing Fire-pot, a circular grate of an entirely new type, etc.

The result—a furnace so efficient, so economical, so superior as to make comparison and description futile!

Be among the first to see this marvelous furnace that sets such new standards of heating efficiency that it is actually by far the most effective furnace ever produced for burning cheap SOFT COAL.

Write, telephone or call TODAY!

Let me show you this astounding invention that brings to you a real saving in price and installation cost.

A small sum puts a GILSON "MAGIC" in your Home—Balance in twelve monthly amounts.

PETERBORO' RESERVE INDIAN FACES A CHARGE AT OTTAWA

William Noga Accused of Offence Against Paleface Law.

DRANK FIREWATER.

Will Be Asked to Tell Where He Got the Liquor—Remanded.

OTTAWA, May 16.—(Special to The Examiner). — The time, two hundred years ago: the place, somewhere in the North American wilds; the scene, a paleface facing a stalwart Iroquois chief to explain his infringement of the red man's law.

The time yesterday; the place Hull Police Court, near Ottawa; the scene, a red man facing a paleface judge to explain his infringement of the paleface law.

Sose Na-o-Ga, known to paleface civilization as "William Noga," of a Peterboro reservation, brought the breath of the wilds and the scene of signal fires into the dull little courtroom beside the Ottawa.

His immobile features were partly obscured by truant locks of snow-white hair which crowned his head. His shoulders were bowed with age and his hands trembled before the uncertainty of modern justice. His judge—not the blanket—shrouded the figure of the past, but a paleface in the products of a thousand busy paleface looms. His guardian's weapons—not bloody hunting knife or hatchet but stubby pencil and voluminous notebook.

A stranger in a strange world, accused of a crime strange to his ancestors, Na-o-Ga answered a charge of being under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He gave the traditional red man's grunt to the charge, but added to it broken words to signify his willingness to stand branded as the one guilty. A weak stomach had impelled him to imbibe sundry "firewaters" he told the paleface judge. Drunk? No, merely happy with that strange happiness which settlers and pioneers brought with them in strange vessels when first they pitched their wigwams by the banks of the great rivers. Only one link with the past was there in that alien gathering, for Na-o-Ga.

The representative of the century-old enemy of his race was Sergeant Cox of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who was his accuser. He wore no crimson jacket, nor stetson, but Sose knew him just the same. They led him away to a paleface cell to await paleface justice for his "crime." On May 18, when he again faces the judge, he will be asked to tell from whom he obtained the deadly "firewater." Then he will learn whether the great open spaces where his forebears roamed, or the narrow confines of a white man's cell, are to be his lot. The paleface Judge Millar promises justice within the bounds of the "law of the savages."

BOUNTY FOR IRON

industry. If it had been a success, private industries should carry it on, and the money previously voted should be devoted to experiments in the transportation of coal.

The Minister assured Mr. Garland that only a very small sum in the general vote for experiments was devoted to peat.

Survey of Oil Fields.

R. V. Lesueur (Conservative, West Lambton) raised the question of Government bounties to the oil industries in Kent and Lambton Counties. He told of a report made by Dr. Hume of the Department of Mines respecting the oil industry in those counties. He had asked for a return containing the report of Dr. Hume, but had been informed that no such report had been arranged. Dr. Hume, upon completing his survey, had shown a report to men interested in the oil fields.

Mr. Stewart explained that Dr. Hume had been sent to the field to make an investigation for the Deputy Minister only, and not for publication. The report was only upon oil and not upon the question of bounties of a confidential nature.

Mr. Lesueur replied that the return had stated that no report had been made, and now the Minister admitted that there had been a report, but that it was of a confidential nature. If this were the case, why had not the return stated so, instead of declaring that no report had been made. "Here is a return brought down to the House, which, on the Minister's own statement, is not accurate."

Mr. Stewart replied that a number of reports were received by the Department, some of which were not intended for the use of Parliament. He was prepared to bring down the report in question, and lay it on the table of the House.

Mr. Meighen's Objection.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, considered that the situation disclosed revealed what was becoming a "too common practice in Departments of the Government." Reports which the Government did not want to be made known were often branded as confidential. Assuming that the Government had the right to consider the report in question as confidential, the return made to the House was "absolutely false." He contended, however, that this report was not confidential, as it was a report on a public question by an officer of the Department, paid by the country. "This is not the first time that something like this has occurred," stated Mr. Meighen.

Mr. Stewart said he did not want the impression to be given that the Department was trying to suppress anything of a public nature. Speaking for himself, if any member of the House had any complaint on any return brought down by him he would be glad to learn about it.

Mr. Meighen disputed the right of the Minister or an officer of the Department to instruct another officer to conduct an investigation on a public question and consider the report as private, unless, possibly, it were injurious to Canada to reveal it at the time. He disagreed with the stand taken by Mr. Stewart.

MISSIONARY GAVE INTERESTING TALK

Miss Rorke is on Furlough From Japanese Mission Field.

MILLBROOK, May 16.—"I am sure we will all want to rise to greet Miss Rorke; we consider our missionaries as real princesses in the work of the Kingdom."

With these words Mrs. (Rev.) F. H. Howard introduced the speaker of the evening at a largely attended gathering in the Methodist Church on Wednesday night, when Miss Luella Rorke, missionary on furlough from Japan, gave a most interesting address on some phases of the work in the island empire.

Miss Rorke wore a costume such as a well-to-do Japanese lady would have for afternoon wear. The silk was of very fine texture, the outer kimona being quiet in tone, while the two worn underneath were of equal quality but more gaudy in hue. The long "obi," which the Western world would designate a sash, was beautiful in design, particularly on the under side. Evidently first-hand knowledge of native ways is needed to wind the obi correctly about the waist and understand the mystery of fastening it correctly.

A story, especially for the boys and girls which included a "book that fell overboard, a boy, a kernel of rice, a geography primer, an attack of measles and a shipwreck," was full of interest for the grown-ups also, as it traced the manner in which God used many "keys" to open the Empire of Japan and let in the story of Jesus Christ.

Kindergarten Work.

Kindergarten work and its benefits was the theme dwelt upon by Miss Rorke, whose furlough expires in July of this year. Not only are the children wonderfully benefited by the two years' course in the kindergarten schools, but a decided influence for good reacts upon the parents themselves. Even non-Christian parents readily consent to their children attending these primary schools because of their anxiety to have their children educated.

A Sunday School in connection with each kindergarten means that the pupils stay on under its influence until the 'teen years are reached. The Bible knowledge repeated at home, and such customs as saying grace before eating, taught at the lunch period in the kindergarten, leads to curious questioning on the parents' part, and gives an opening to bring them into the church also.

There is almost a perpetual shortage of teachers as the Japanese young women, who have received two years of special training for their position, are eagerly sought as wives by the young Japanese pastors. However, the establishment of Christian homes is of the utmost importance and bears fruit for the Kingdom.

Miss Rorke spent her last year in Japan in evangelistic work at Nagano, Dr. Norman being one of the workers of this centre. One way of reaching the children is by street Sunday schools, which require great versatility on the part of the teacher as her pupil srange all the way from babies, strapped on the backs of older brothers and sisters, to boys and girls of fourteen and fifteen years. An amazing change is noted in the conduct of the children who attend these schools after only a short period instruction, both parents and teachers being surprised and pleased with the improvement.

Priests Opposed.

Lively opposition from the Buddhist priests is frequently experienced, the latter being not slow to imitate the Christian kindergarten, Sunday school, Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A., and even the Salvation Army. Added inducement in the way of cakes and other sweet meats and the promise of prizes for regular attendance is offered to lure the children away from the Christian meetings.

Teaching English for fifteen minutes before the Bible lesson is a good way to win the high school girls in Japan, who are keen on having a knowledge of the foreign tongue. Singing, sewing, cooking, knitting, etc., are other means used to gain an entrance for the Word of Life.

"Japanese men have learned, in many instances, to like foreign food, such as a juicy beefsteak, doughnuts and cream puffs, in the hotels where they sometimes take a meal, so if we promise their wives to teach them how to cook these delicacies they will come to our classes. But we always make the proviso that there is to be a Bible talk following for which they must remain. This is not only a 'bait,' but supplies a real need in their lives.

"Our work is not without let, hindrance or discouragement, both from within and without. The active opposition encountered from the Buddhist leaders is not as hard to bear as the polite, cultured indifferences to our religion, or any other, which is the attitude we find most trying to overcome.

Support Fails.

"Then, again, sometimes one of our Christian workers on whom we have spent much time and prayer and on whom we have counted most, fails us. Some temptation or combination of circumstances, proves too much and they fall. 'Who is sufficient for these things?' is a question we often find coming to our lips, and our hearts are gladdened when we remember: 'Be still, and know that I am God; I will be exalted among the heathen; I will be exalted in the world.'

"We beseech you for continual remembrance in your prayers — this is our greatest need."

Miss Rorke has a fine collection of curios, which combine education with interest, and these she explained to the audience as they gathered about the tables at the close of the meeting.

A quartette, "Far, Far Away," by Rev. G. S. and Mrs. Gervan, Mrs. H. W. Johnston and Mr. J. L. Byam, with prayer by Rev. J. Wilks, brought an enjoyable gathering to its conclusion.

CAVAN NEEDS RAIN.

Seeding Completed, Except on Some Low Land.

CAVAN, May 16. — Seeding is practically finished, except for an odd low field intended for one of the later crops.

Farmers are busy preparing the ground for their root crop.

The grass is quite short yet, and pasture is badly needed.

A warm rain would be welcome.

STIRLING FARMERS SHIP MANY CALVES

Six Cents a Pound is Paid For Them—Other News.

STIRLING, May 16.—Monday was shipping day for pigs and calves. The latter were brought to market in great numbers, the price paid being 6 cents per pound. Pigs were $11.75 per cwt.

The High school cadets are being inspected today by Capt. Heron and the boys will be entertained at a banquet in the evening.

A Chinese Tea

The Mission Band of St. Andrew's Presbyterian had a Chinese tea at the home of Mrs. Bissonnette on Monday afternoon, with a large number present. Ruth Gibson read the scripture lesson. Two choruses were rendered by several girls; an instrumental, "A Chinese Waltz," by Lorne Anderson.

Two verses of "Jesus Loves Me" were sweetly sung by little Margaret Green, who is only four years old.

Mrs. M. W. Sine gave a talk on India and exhibited a collection of articles received from her sister, Mrs. J. S. McKay, who is a missionary there, which proved very interesting to the young people present. Refreshments were served which the young folks had to eat in Oriental fashion.

Before parting, the members of the band were photographed.

W.M.S. Meeting

The regular meeting of the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's church was held on Tuesday, May 12, at the home of Mrs. Anderson, 29 being present.

The topic was taken by Miss Cosby, Mrs. Rollins and Mrs. Nolan. The matter of the bale for the north west was taken up. It was decided to do quilting the second week in June and solicit contributions of goods and money in the meantime, for this object.

The district convention of the W.M.S. of the Methodist church will be held on Friday, May 15, at Mount Pleasant. Several delegates are to attend from Stirling.

Several members of Stirling Encampment No. 80 I.O.O.F. accompanied the degree team on a visit to Moira Encampment No. 59, of Belleville on Tuesday evening last, where they exemplified the teachings of the Golden Rule Degree. The Belleville Patriarchs maintained treir record for sociability and the entertaining of visitors.

Two men from near Rice Lake are engaged in making rustic verandah chairs and stands at Robt. Christie's tag alder swamp at the south of the village on Belleville road.

Work has been commenced on the new house which Wm. Whitby is building near Morden Bird's.

Obituary.

On Monday morning a telegram was received by W. S. Martin, announcing the sudden death of his eldest son, Herbert, in Saskatoon. He had gone to the hospital the Wednesday previous for an operation and was doing nicely, but the end came suddenly and unexpectedly on Sunday evening.

He was in his 42nd year, and leaves a wife—who was formerly Miss Katie Anderson of this village—and two young sons, also his aged father and two brothers, Geo. of Vancouver, B.C. and Harold of Stirling, and a sister, Mrs. Ralph Scott of Los Angeles, Calif. The sympathy of the community goes to the sorrowing relatives.

Mr. Robert Vance, who has been seriousy ill, is somewhat better today.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. Jetty. Thompson were in Peterborough attending the funeral of the late Chas. Searight, who was Mrs. Thompson's father.

Harry Cosby of B.C. is visiting his mother, Mrs. Ruth Cosby.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hough and Douglas of Madoc spent the week-end at the home of their parents here.

Mesrs. H. Hulin, E. Carlisle, J. B. Thompson, Mason Clarke and W. T. Sine attended the I.O.O.F district meeting at Campbellford on Wednesday.

At St. Andrew's Guild on Monday night, Miss Myrtle Spencer, second vice-president, had planned the program. Miss Agnes Morton was leader. Miss Chrissie Simpson read the scripture lesson and made a few well chosen remarks on keeping the Sabbath day.

The topic was "Where and how we should keep the Sabbath day", and was ably handled by Mrs. Harper Rollins. Miss Ruth Gibson and Arthur Monroe contributed solos, which were enjoyed by all.

Allan Donnell gave a short address on the responsibilities of citizenship, that is, a knowledge of the resources and inhabitants of one's country. To illustrate his talk he showed lantern slides of the work the church is doing in Northern Ontario.

Mr. Simpson brought the meeting to a close with a few remarks.

About twenty officer and members of Stirling Lodge A.F. & A.M. paid a fraternal visit to Tweed Lodge last Friday night. Tweed brethern are to make a return visit soon.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

Y.W.C.A. COMING OF AGE PARTY MARKED BY BURNING MORTGAGE

Annual Reports Showed Progress and Programme Was Excellent.

BIG ATTENDANCE.

Former Secretaries Returned For Occasion—Miss Brownscombe Complimented.

The twenty-first anniversary of the establishment of the Young Women's Christian Association in their present buildings was observed last evening in a "Coming of Age" party, attended by about two hundred people, who enjoyed a pleasant evening in the gymnasium, where the swimming pool mortgage was burned, brief reports were given and addresses made by a trio of former secretaries, in the city for the anniversary, followed by service of refreshments in the green room. The programme made a pleasant deviation from the usual procedure, when lengthy reports are read and much time spent in receiving detailed information.

The platform in the gymnasium, where the business session took place, was decorated effectively with palms, ferns and a large basket of pink tulips and wild plum blossoms. The same spring-like blooms were in a large brass bowl on the piano.

Mrs. T. Cruikshank, president of the Association, was in the chair, and gave a brief little opening speech, referring to the development and advancement of "Y" work, since the early days in the city, when membership was small, up to present times. Mrs Cruikshank spoke of the equipment of the gymnasium by the late Mrs. Cox and the furnishing of the green room by Mrs. A. L. Davis, and extended hearty thanks to all who had contributed in any fashion to the support of the institution.

The good work of the staff of the "Y" was commented upon, and Mrs. Cruikshank said that in 1904, the local contribution to the Dominion Council was $10, this having increased in recent years to $200, while the amount donated to foreign work then was $18. Now it was $150 annually.

Minutes of the last annual meeting were read by Mrs. G. E. Porter, who also read the report of the secretary, Miss Annie Wood. Membership of the year totalled 627, with club memberships of 202. Ten magazines and newspapers were taken in the library, which had 675 volumes. The employment department answered 269 calls, the various educational and social classes were well attended, and the residents in the house during the year numbered 165. The Association had proved itself ninety-four per cent. self-supporting. Meals served during the year totalled 69,000 and 1,700 quarts of fruit were preserved. Parties for the house girls were held on different holiday occasions, the gymnasium had, as usual, been extremely successful and the gymnasium pageant particularly so, under direction of Miss C. Littlefield. 280 names were registered in the swimming pool and 800 lessons given there.

The gymnasium had 515 members and 1,500 monthly attendants during the season.

Financial Report.

The financial report was given by Mrs. A. W. Cressman, showing receipts for the year in the House Department amounting to $14,076.49, and expenditures of $14,072.48, leaving a balance on hand of $4.01. In the Public Department, the receipts were $8,207.98, and expenditures $8,202.41, leaving a balance of $5.57. A summary of the various departments showed receipts as follows: House Department, $14,076.49; Public Department, $4,653.23; Gymnasium, $2,527.53; Swimming Pool, $874.05; Relief work, $152.66; Educational, $199.56. Expenditures: House, $14,072.48; Public, $4,416.62; Gymnasium, $2,061.05; Swimming pool, $1,379.94; Relief work, $190.62; Education, $154.18.

A pianoforte solo by Miss Isabel Donnelly and a vocal solo by Miss Florence Scott, with accompaniment by Mrs. W. H. Young, made an enjoyable musical programme.

A portion of the evening's entertainment that was much enjoyed were the brief addresses by former secretaries. Miss Mary McCalla, now of the Guleph Y.W.C.A., Miss Winifred Parker, of the Hamilton Y, and Miss Charlotte Layton, of the Kitchener institution, all of whom spoke, recording their pleasure at visiting the Peterborough Y once more. Miss Layton pleased her audience with a timely little story about Anton, the clock maker, who lived in his own life the saying "Where there is no vision the people perish."

Two former Board presidents, Mrs. W. D. Scott and Miss Martha Dickson, also spoke briefly. Mrs. Scott, who was president of three occasions, covering ten years, recalled her first tenure of office, held in 1893, and Miss Dickson went back still further, to thirty-seven years ago, when the Y.W.C.A. first originated in Peterborough, through the efforts of Mr. Caldwell, then secretary of the Y.M.C.A.

An appreciation of the work of the past presidents and secretaries from the members of the Y was presented, in the form of a beautiful basket of pink carnations and gypsophila.

Greetings from absent secretaries and directresses were read by Mrs. Porter, including expressions of regret at not being present, received from Mrs. C. H. Moore, (formerly Jessie C. Potter), of Dundas, Mrs. Douglas, (formerly Miss Agnes Peacock) of London, Ontario, and Miss Edith W. Pryce, also of London, Miss Hazel Jessimane, of Toronto, Miss Jean V. Thomson, of Sault Ste. Marie, and Miss Annie R. Gray, of Ottawa.

Mrs. W. Roger, of Elora, a pioneer member of the Board, and Mrs. Elizabeth Kendry, also sent messages, and a telegram of birthday congratulations was read from the Dominion Council of the Y.W.C.A.

Further Addresses.

Miss Leta Brownscombe, the general secretary, was called upon for a few words, and received two bouquets of pink roses. A bouquet of deep pink roses was also presented to Mrs. E. Morrison, the last speaker of the evening, the presentations being made by little Maudie and Sandy Heron, who made a hit with their appearance on the platform and were rewarded by warm salutes from the ladies.

Miss Brownscombe and Mrs. Morrison both accorded hearty thanks to all who had given their co-operation and support in carrying on the work of the Y.

Miss E. Morrow, acclaimed by Mrs. Cruikshank as one who had given much help in the building of the pool, was then called upon to touch the match to the swimming pool mortgage, whose decimation was accompanied by a recital of humorous verses by Mrs. Cruikshank.

The assemblage then adjourned to the green room, where refreshments were served. The guests were received by Mrs. R. W. Cormack, convenor of the social committee, and Mrs. T. Cruikshank, president of the Board of Directors.

A huge birthday cake, glistening with colored icing and adorned with twenty-one tiny yellow candles, adorned the centre of the pretty table, where ices were cut by Mrs. A. W. Cressman and Mrs. W. D. Scott. Yellow candles in silver holders and yellow daffodils also carried out the pretty arrangement of the table. During the social hour, which followed, soft music was played by the Misses Alma Blanchard, Musa Cox, Laura Mackey and C. Layton.

HOME TOWN RECIPE.

A salad that is just a little different is the one composed of shrimps and Lima beans, used by Madame Masson, of 87 Lock street:

For four people, a cup of Lima beans are required and a tin of shrimps. They are arranged in layers on a bed of lettuce, with shrimps on top to give a colorful touch, and a garniture of French dressing or mayonnaise.

CHOIR CONCERT G.W.V.A. HALL

Female Voice Choir Had Splendid Attendance in Aid of Association.

GOOD PROGRAMME.

The Female Voice Choir held a concert and dance in the G.W.V.A. hall last evening, in aid of the Veterans' Association. There was a fairly good attendance at the concert, with splendid attendance at the dance which followed. Captain Winterbottom occupied the chair, and Rev P. Costello was present on the platform and spoke very encouragingly of the good work accomplished by the Female Vice Choir. Mrs. J. Mills also praised the work of the organization, whose programme, under the capable leadership of Mrs. R. Bugg, received hearty encores in every instance.

The soloists who rendered special vocal numbers, were as follows: The Misses M. Allen, Barbara Grey, Mrs Jackson, Phyllis Pink, in song and dance, and Miss A. Guerin, in song and dance; the Misses E. Harrison, Madeline Fletcher, Jean Grey, Mrs. Brealey, Miss A. Nicholls, who recited, Miss Kitchen, Miss Jessie Paterson, Madeline Fletcher and children, Annie Fletcher. The Two-Faced Bunch, as usual, brought down the house. A duet was given by Miss Allen and Mrs. Cairns, and a pianoforte solo by Miss Lucy Fisher. The choir gave opening and closing numbers in an excellent entertainment.

Much appreciated music for the dance was provided by the Bluebird Orchestra.

FEMININE MYSTERY IN PETERBOROUGH

List of Young Ladies in "Made in Peterborough Fair" Popularity Contest.

Some of Peterboro's most popular young ladies have already been nominated to represent the different activities of the city and there are others still to come. If you have someone whom you wish to nominate, please call at the office of John I. Allen, superintendent of the Prudential Insurance Company, Royal Bank Building, where the Contest Committee have their headquarters, and of which Mr. Allen is a member. If the young ladies already nominated will call there any time Monday next, after 10.00 a.m., they can secure their bonds, tickets and instructions. The cash prizes of $100.00, $50.00 and $25.00, to which will be added other donations, will certainly be worth working for. Mr. McKone, Principal of the Peterboro Business College, has been very generous and has promised to give the winning young lady a $100.00 business course at the Business College. This makes the first prize now worth $200.00. This course is transferable, and the young lady winning it can dispose of it if she does not wish to take it herself. The ticket sale should start with a rush Monday morning. Mr. George A. Macdonald, manager of the Quaker Oats Company, has offered a prize of an Eversharp Pencil, suitably engraved, to the young lady who heads the list next Wednesday morning at ten o'clock. Here is a chance for some quick action and some one of the following young ladies who have already entered the contest, and who have each a thousand votes to their credit, are going to receive it:

Name.	Votes.
Miss Peggy Malloy	1,000
Miss Marjorie Evans	1,000
Miss Ethel Reynolds	1,000
Miss Wilhemina Kemp	1,000
Miss Gertrude Gimblett	1,000
Miss Trucie Pearson	1,000
Miss Rose Noonan	1,000
Miss Helen Fowler	1,000
Miss Sophia Haggis	1,000
Miss Lily Neish	1,000
Miss Hazel Jackson	1,000
Miss Martha Baumer	1,000
Miss Reita Collins	1,000
Miss Isabel Hopkins	1,000
Miss Hazel Henry	1,000
Miss Jessie Martin	1,000
Miss Elma Coon	1,000
Miss Jane MacDuffie	1,000
Miss Bell, Y.W.C.A.	1,000
Miss Bernice Billington	1,000
Miss Mary Dunlop	1,000
Miss Marjorie Gladman	1,000
Miss Mildred Archer	1,000
Miss Ethel Bossence	1,000
Miss Maido Connor	1,000
Miss Arlugh McKone	1,000

The standing of the several contestants will be published daily, so that all may know just what position their favorite holds.

The winner of the Eversharp Pencil will be announced in Wednesday night's paper. Please watch this space closely for items of interest, because this is going to be the most exciting feature of the Fair before it is over.

"All's Fair in Love and War," No Slogan For Real Happiness

"All's fair in love and war." A fine sounding old phrase, that . . . but does it mean anything? Does it tell the truth?

The late war taught us that such things as dumdum bullets and the wilful murder of women and children is "no fair" in war. .

And there are just as many things that are "no fair" in the all-absorbing business of love.

For instance, there are girls who will deliberately pretend to be interested in a man's hobbies, simply because they think that it is a good way to interest the man, himself.

The strongest instinct that a young woman has is her desire to please the mating male. It is part of her sex appeal—just as the peacock's plumage is part of his!

And she uses that appeal, of course. I have seen girls (and you probably have, too) who would drag themselves long weary miles on an all-day hike to please some athletic man . . . pretending to have a good time when they were bored to tears!

And they are just as ready to read Rupert Brooke or Bernard Shaw with some "bookish" fellow when he comes a-courting. Or to dance till dawn with the "sheik" type of wooer.

A girl will do almost anything—pretend almost anything—to gain the admiration of the particular man she happens to have set her heart upon.

But it's one thing for her to make herself charming and agreeable to everyone of her men friends . . . and quite another when marrying times comes 'round.

For a happy marriage cannot be founded on camouflage. If a girl has pretended to be interested in books because she was in love with a literary man, marriage is sure to 'size her up.' For it has a way of stripping all of us of our poses and pretences. You cannot pretend to be something you are not 365 days in the year.

The cleverest thing a girl can do is not to try to make herself over to suit some man or other. What she wants to do is to look him over to see if he measures up to what she desires in a husband.

If two people have a single taste in common, even if it's only a liking for cards or movies—they have a chance of happiness together.

But if the husband is a comfortable "low brow" sort of person with a hankering for loud ties and Sunday golf, while his spouse harbors a passion for Friday musicales and Ibsen drama clubs, what chance have they of ever being pals? . . . They don't even talk the same language.

The only fair thing for a woman in love to do is to be perfectly honest about herself.

She would be dreadfully upset if her fiance falsely told her he had a million dollars and a country place on the Hudson. She would think him deceitful, to say the least.

And it's just as deceitful for her to give a man the impression that she's not only a beauty, but a wit, a prize housekeeper and a wonderful cook, unless she is. But how many girls do it!

Then, after marriage, they rest on their oars, and their wedded career goes on the rocks.

Hubby finds out that not his Blushing Bride, but her capable Mother prepared the Sunday night suppers, to which he was so often invited in the Old Home. He discovers that she cannot cook at all!

He finds out that his wife's culture is no deeper than the color on her cheeks, and rubs off quite as readily!

Then comes Disillusion. And it's not a little thing. It sends more couples to the divorce courts every year than any other one thing in the world!

All is NOT fair in love—if it were, we would have less disillusion and more happy marriages.

AT THE MARKET.

Dairy Supplies Plentiful—Butter 38 Cents—Eggs 27 and 28.

The farmers' market had a good patronage this morning. The blossoming season of the year brings fresh green things in odoriferous green onions and red rhubarb. Raspberry canes and plants for summer gardens have plenty of buyers in the housewives who seek for a touch of color for door yards in hot days.

Dairy supplies were fairly plentiful this morning. Butter was priced generally at 38c a lb., and eggs were selling at 27 and 28c a dozen. Chickens were 28 and 30c a pound.

Potatoes were 65c a bag. The dealer who specializes in fine Spy apples at a late date had a good looking barrel at a dollar a peck, with lesser quality at 80c.

Cabbage plants were 20c a box.

Canterbury bells and iris roots were selling quickly.

Little pigs were $14 a pair.

Mr. Jack Lane is home from Toronto, where he has been quite ill for some time past.

Mrs. George Fluke, of St. Catharines, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. White, Bolivar Street.

Miss Mary McCalla, general secretary of the Guelph Y.W.C.A., and former secretary of the local Y, from 1908 to 1912, is the week-end guest of Mrs. H. W. Morphet.

MUSICAL RECITAL.

There was a good attendance of about two hundred people in Reid Street Hall last evening, at the third recital by pupils of Mr. George H. King, which took the form last night of a junior piano recital. The small pupils acquitted themselves very creditably, each number, with one exception, being played from memory.

Assistants in a vocal programme which added much to the interest of the entertainment, and was received with enthusiasm, were four senior pupils of Mr. King, who appeared in fancy dress appropriate to the groups of songs they gave. Mrs. Ross Williamson, soprano, was in Dolly Varden attire; Mrs. H. F. Doig, soprano, in Elizabethan costume; Mrs. E. Kitney, contralto, wore an Indian dress, and Miss Grace Northcott, contralto, a Japanese outfit. The programme was as follows:

Piano solo: "Nodding Daisies" (J. S. Fearis), Miss Helen Donaldson.

Piano solo: "Come Away" (Hartmann), Miss Lillian Collins.

Piano solo: "King of the Village" (Heins), Miss Tuna Hart.

Soprano solo: "Song Pictures" (May H. Brahe): (a) Heart of the night, (b) To a Miniature, (c) Dawn Song, (d) The Little People, Mrs. H. F. Doig.

Piano solo: "Flower Song" (Gustav Lange), Miss Doris Cooper.

Piano solo: "Swaying Trees" (Spaulding), Miss Marion Downing.

Piano solo: "Drifting on the Lawe" (Hans Schick), Miss Margaret Warne.

Contralto solo: (a) "A Japanese Fantasy" (Robert H. Terry), (b) "A Japanese Love Song" (May Brahe), (c) "The Japanese Maiden" (The Toy Shop) (Gaynor), Miss Grace Northcott.

Piano solo: "Pride of the Regiment" (C. C. Crammond), Miss Mazie Collins.

Piano solo: "Peach Blooms" (Paul Lawson) Miss Eleanor Brown.

Piano solo: "By the Brook" (Story), Master Clairemont S. Morgan.

Contralto solo: (a) "Pale Moon" (F. Knight Logan), (b) "Indian Dawn" (J. S. Zamecnik), (c) "By the Waters of Minnetonka" (Thurlow Lieurance), Mrs. E. Kitney.

Piano solo: "Singing Sands" (Helen Cramm), Miss Isabelle Lillico.

Piano solo: "Sweetheart Waltz" (Kern), Miss Isabel Cragg.

Piano solo: "Blue Jay" (Geo. L. Spaulding), Master Louis Chesley.

Soprano solo: (a) "My Hero, The Chocolate Soldier" (Oscar Straus), (b) "Love Will Find a Way" (The Maid of the Mountain) (Simson), (c) "Sympathy" (The Firefly) (Rudolf Frimi), Mrs. R. Williamson.

Piano solo: "L'Avalanche" (Stephen Heller), Miss Meta Hart.

Piano solo: "March" (Carl Roger), Melville Robinson.

Piano solo: "The Pixies' Drill" (Arthur Brown), Miss Helen Veitch.

Piano solo: "Spanish Dance" (H. G. Rathbun), Catherine Hodgens.

Quartette: "Happy is the Skylark" (Lloyd Stafford), Mrs. Doig, Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. Kitney and Miss Northcott.

BODY DISCOVERED.

James Melville Logan, Missing For Month, Found in River.

BROCKVILLE, May 16. — The body of James Melville Logan, aged 35, a farmer of Rock Spring, was found floating in the St. Lawrence River last evening. Logan had been missing since Saturday evening, April 11th, when he was last seen alive in Brockville after spending the day in town.

ARE YOU PROUD TO BE MARRIED?

Cynthia Grey Denounces Woman Who Refuses Her Husband's Name.

GLORY TO WIFEHOOD

Are you proud to be married—or do you belong to the Lucy Stone League?

In case you don't happen to know all about the Lucy Stone League, its members advocate that married women should not take their husband's names.

Irene Castle, the dancer, belongs to it . . . and Neysa McMein, the artist. So does Nina Wilcox Putnam, and Helen Bullit Lowry. These are some of the more famous members. There are many more of whom none of us has ever heard—or ever will hear.

Take the case of Ruby Black, for instance. Ruby Black is a journalist. Her husband's name is Herbert Little. So it was under the name of Ruby Black Little that the United States government wished to issue a passport to Ruby, when she desired to go abroad lately.

But would Ruby take her passport as Mrs. Little? Not on your married name, she wouldn't! Not she.

She wanted it given to Ruby Black . . and as Ruby Black she finally got that passport, even though she had to appeal to Secretary Kellogg as a last resort!

For my part, these Lucy Stone League members are beyond my comprehension. Why any woman who has been clever enough to catch a husband, won't admit it to the world at large is a black mystery to me.

And that a woman like Ruth Hale, who is married to Heywood Broun should refuse to wear a name so famous as his, seems to me sheer stupidity. Thousands of people who never heard of Ruth Hale know that Heywood Broun's "Sun Field" is one of the most entertaining American novels ever written.

One pauses to wonder what Heywood Broun himself thinks of his wife's membership in the Lucy Stone League! What he really thinks!

There are so many women . . . so many really famous women . . . who have got along wonderfully well as unashamed wives. There are Mary Roberts Rinehart, and Kathleen Norris, and Edith Wharton. All of them have taken their husband's names.

And Elizabeth Barrett Browning's fame has gone along undiminished beside the name of her husband, Robert Browning.

It seems to me a proud thing for a wife to wear the name that her husband has given her as a protection and a seal of his love for her.

I am sure that one of the most satisfying moments that come to any bride is when the grocer says to her: "And what will you have today, Mrs. Smith? The strawberries are extra fine."

Before her marriage Mrs. Smith was plain Dorothy Brown, who occasionally dropped into the store while her mother did the Saturday shopping. She had no importance of her own in the tradespeople's eyes.

Now she is Mrs. Smith . . . a person to be reckoned with! A wife.

And these Lucy Stone Leaguers will never know the sheer joy that comes to a woman when she sees her husband's name on her visiting cards with the prefix, "Mrs." There is a certain joy that most women know in belonging to the man they love. They want to belong. They don't want to be separate human beings any more . . . but part of a family, with the man of their choice as the head of that family!

Home Crumbling

This may be an inferior, feminine feeling. True enough, it may have come down to us from the days of caves and warriors with stone clubs. But it's a beautiful thing, anyway. Love itself has come to us from those ancient days. So has the feeling of protection that a man feels for the woman under his care. He invented the idea of a home . . . the cornerstone of our polite civilization, today!

But the idea of a home itself seems to be crumbling away today.

There is a class of women even more advanced than these Lucy Stone League women . . . a class of married women who want not only their own names, but their own homes!

There is a whole colony of women like this in New York City today . . . women whose husbands come to call upon them once or twice a week.

No real wife has any patience with such wives as they!

These women may think they are married . . . but they are not.

Marriage means building a home, giving a man the children to whom marriage entitles him, and giving him the comfort and spiritual food that every wage-earner needs.

And the woman to whom marriage means this, won't hesitate to take her husband's name. She will be as proud of it as she is of him, and of the fact that she is the one woman in the world for him.

And she won't have any more use for her maiden name that she has for her spinsterhood. She will glory in her wifehood.

Promise Made Demands That Wife Share Equally With Husband.

BETTER OR—

To have and to hold for better or for worse.

The two—man and woman—promise that to each other at marriage.

In the words is implied a sacred partnership. It is a division of woe and weal, both material and mental.

Other words are also spoken. But the above are most important.

What he has shall be hers. And what belongs to her shall be his.

But the old order of things has not been entirely lived down. The male still considers that what is his of worldly goods shall be his to dispense as he sees fit.

Wifey wants a new coat. She must cajole for it as her sisters down through the ages have cajoled for favor of the male.

That is the source for womanly wiles, trickery and such like accredited to her.

But the time is at hand for a change. In partnership the partners share the profits, too, as well as the losses. Why shouldn't women have entry to the checking accounts and a mutual control on the family purse.

That would strengthen responsibility. And it is only fair, according to the promise made.

Knox Church Banquets Mothers and Daughters

A very jolly Mother and Daughter banquet was held last evening at Knox Church Parlors, given by the C.G.I.T. groups of the church. Girls and their mothers, who were escorted to their places by their daughters, attended, numbering about eighty, and a very enjoyable programme presented, opened by the singing of C.G.I.T. songs. The tables were prettily decorated with the C.G.I.T. colors of blue and white. A short period of worship followed the banquet service.

Mrs. M. C. Mackinnon acted as toastmistress, and the following toasts were given: To the King; proposed by Mrs. Mackinnon and responded to in the usual manner. To Our Mothers, by May Pollock, and responded to by Mrs. R. Morrison. To Our Church School, by Beatrice Wallace, and responded by to Mrs. Mackinnon. To Girls in Training in Canada, by Margaret McCulloch, and responded to by a member of the Girls' Work Board, Mrs. Mackinnon; and a toast to Girls of Other Lands, by Eunice Bearne, responded to by A. Wallace.

A piano solo was given by Macie Armstrong; a vocal solo, "Mothers' Hymn," by Violet Goddard; piano solos by May Pollock and Margaret McCulloch, and a reading by Margaret Gollop.

The singing of Old King Cole in unison aroused a great deal of interest; also a unique contest, the naming of old photographs of several present at the banquet, the prize for this contest going to Mrs. Stinson.

A vote of thanks was moved by Miss Tomkins.

WOMEN'S VANITY GOOD QUALITY

Without Pride in Family and Self World Would Be Dreary.

TURNS WHEELS

All is vanity remarked the prophet. And good it is that women possess the quality.

Without her vanity man would be as putty. His flights to greatness and achievement are due to the vanity inspired by women.

In practical application it works like this.

Mrs. B. in new coat meets Mrs. K. in last year's coat.

Amenities and hurrying home goes Mrs. G.

"Get it," she finally bursts out either deftly or bluntly, according to her nature.

And the male invariably finds the way or means to obey. Result, another step forward for him. The family is being shoved ahead a notch.

Empires, too, so history tells, have changed hands much after the same fashion with a woman's vanity acting as the driving force.

Without vanity in women there would be little social life. No clubs would congregate their members and vie for prestige.

It is the feminine hand at the cradle that may rock and likewise rule the world, but to feminine vanity must be ascribed the power that makes the wheels turn round.

Cynthia Grey Says

QUESTIONS-ANSWERS.

Dear Miss Grey: My husband walked out of the house in a huff the other day because I tried to induce him to cut down on his smoking. I don't object to him smoking some, but he seems to me to be endangering his health. After he left the house angry, he didn't come back until late that night. What should I do with him—Mrs. Palmer.

I don't believe it will help the situation to keep after him about it. Nothing gets on a man's nerves more than a nagging wife. Possibly in your anxiety to protect his health you have been nagging him too much. That won't make him quit smoking. The chances are he will realize before very long that he is smoking too much, but don't change his evening smoke from a joy into misery every time he comes home.

Dear Miss Grey: My young man friend has brought me a beautiful scarf and hat from one of his business trips. Ought I to keep them? We are not engaged.—Sally Ann.

Certainly not. No young woman "who knows" accepts wearing apparel from a man friend, even when she is engaged to him.

WEDDING REPORT AS IT MIGHT BE

Folks Complain That Writings Are Stereotyped—Here is Variation.

Reports of weddings are apt to be written in a stereotyped fashion at least that is a complaint often made to newspapers. The brides are all described as lovely or charming or attractive—something of that sort, and the claim is that there should be a change in the matter of descriptive effort.

A reporter on the Chronicle of Charlottesville, Kentucky, has gone and done it. Here is the proof:

"The bride is a woman of wondrous fascination and remarkable attractiveness, for with manner as enchanting as the wand of a siren and a disposition as sweet as the odor of flowers, and spirits as joyous as the caroling of birds, and mind as brilliant as those glittering tresses, with heart as pure as dewdrops trembling in a coronet of violets, she will make the home of her husband a paradise of enchantment like the lovely home of her girlhood, where the heaven-toned harp of marriage with its chords of love and devotion and fond endearments sent forth the sweetest strains of felicity that ever thrilled the senses with the rythmic pulsings of ecstatic rapture.

CHAMBERLAIN MAY RESIGN HIS POST

Disagrees With Cabinet Colleagues in His Attitude Toward France.

LONDON, May 16 (Canadian Press).—There are persistent rumors, the Daily Chronicle says, that Austen Chamberlain is likely to resign the foreign secretaryship in consequence of a divergence with his colleagues regarding his attitude towards France.

Mr. Chamberlain, according to the newspaper, is so much more pro-French than most of the other British cabinet members that they had to restrain him from making a military pact guaranteeing France's eastern frontier. Such a pact would have been aimed at Germany and the cabinet decided against it.

When Secretary Chamberlain went to France two months ago he was charged to tell the foreign representatives that this pact was outside the limits of British policy, according to the Chronicle, which adds that his resignation was then expected. The paper declares that Mr. Chamberlain's complaisance to the French in the foregoing and in other matters is regarded as endangering British and European interests and causing much anxiety in ministerial circles but that as he is such an important member of the Government everything possible will be done to prevent his resignation.

Nothing regarding the question appears in other papers. The Daily Chronicle in its editorial policy opposes the Conservative government.

RETURN TO CLASSICS.

German Boys Must Once More Put in Nine Years at Latin.

BERLIN, May 16.—Nine years of Latin and six years of Greek are to be required of all boys who complete the course in German gymnasiums. The amount of classics taught in these schools was reduced after the conclusion of the war, but now the pre-war amount of Greek and Latin has been re-established.

There have also been many changes in the schools that prepare girls for the universities; special emphasis is laid upon German history and culture.

In the opinion of German educators other European countries have one more to create a national feeling in their schools than has Germany, and the Germans are endeavoring to make good this shortcoming in their education by lessening the amount of foreign language study and introducing courses in German literature, art and history.

OGRE OF FEAR AND CHILDHOOD

Parents Teach Children to be Afraid of Dark and Bumps.

EVEN OF DADDY

Fear is a terrible thing.

A child never knows fear until it is taught to be afraid.

And one of the most cruel and senseless things that well-intentioned parents do is to teach their offsprings to be afraid.

"Take care, you'll fall!" a mother will say to her young son who is running around after the fashion of a sure-footed mountain goat.

It would be better for the child to have a bump or two than to acquire the habit of mind that makes him constantly on the look-out for some hurt or other.

Then there is the fear of the dark. Almost all children have it. The ogre in the fairy-tale book is hidden in the corner of the room, they imagine.....or perhaps Bluebeard himself!..... Children shouldn't know about such dreadful figments of the Grimm Brothers' immagination.

The mother who sits down in the dark sleeping room and quiets her child's mind by a cheerful lullaby or a happy sort of story is giving him strong nerves for his grown up years later on. And there will be no nightmares to fill his baby dreams with horror!

Then there is the "daddy" bugbear.

"I'll tell your daddy when he comes home, and he can punish you!" How often we've heard mothers say this!

I wonder if they realize what an effect this has on a child's mind.... to keep it in fear of daddy's homecoming all day long. I'm sure if they stoped to think they'd never do it.

They'd try to keep their children's mind free from fear ..... which when you look at it clearly, is a kind of moral desease.

MOTHERS PRAISE BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. L. M. Brown, Walton, N.S., says:—"I cannot recommend Baby's Own Tablets too highly. I have found them invaluable for the ailments of little ones." Mrs. Brown's testimony is the same as that of thousands of other mothers who have used the Tablets. To use them once is a sure guarantee that they will always be kept in the home as long as there are babies or young children to be cared for. The Tablets are a laxative—mild but thorough in action—which never fail to regulate the stomach and bowels; relieve constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and make the dreaded teething period easy. In fact they banish all the minor ills from which little ones suffer. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GUNPOWDER NOT WAR MATERIAL

International Conference on Control of Traffic in Arms Acts.

LICENSE SYSTEM.

GENEVA, May 16 (Canadian Press).—The International conference for the control of traffic in arms and munitions at a draft convention constructed for supervising traffic in arms and war materials yesterday decided that gunpowder and explosives should be placed in the category of arms which are supposed to have no military value and therefore are not subject to any control whatsoever.

Up to the present gunpowder and explosives had been listed in category two, which under the draft convention is subject to supervision provided it is demonstrated that the material in this category is intended for war purposes.

Yesterday, however, the conference voted that the sale of material listed in category two should fall under the system of license and publicity, whether or not it was designed for war.

Million In Hut, But Died From Starvation

SMYRNA, May 16.—The body of a millionaire who died of starvation recently was found in the beggar's quarter of Smyrna. The man, about 80 years of age was known to most of the inhabitants of the city. When he had not been seen for several days the police were informed and forced an entrance to his squalid habitation.

Among his filthy possessions were found large stacks of gold and silver coins, bank notes and jewelry, the value of which was estimated at $1,-64,000. There was no food in the place except a pile of rotten oranges.

It was said the miser had inherited his fortune from his wealthy family when he was a young man and his love for money made of him an enemy of mankind.

Glove Maker Shook Hands With the King

LONDON, May 16 (United Press).—The Daily Mail and the Evening News, of Lord Rothermere's group of newspapers to-day deprecated the initiative of John Connie, glove manufacturer of Des Moines, Iowa, who walked up to King George at the Wembley Exposition and shook hands.

Heretofore, explain these newspapers, the public had kept aloof when their Majesties were in public, but if the practice of shaking hands were to increase unduly, "it may be necessary to have strong police cordons which neither the King nor any one else desires."

BANK OF ENGLAND BUYS IN BAR GOLD

Announcement Has Effect of Raising Value of Pound Sterling.

LONDON, May 16 (Canadian Press).—Great interest and curiosity have been aroused by announcement made after the close of business on the money market last evening that the bank of England has bought bar gold to the amount of 1,610,000 pounds, thus reducing the net efflux of metal since the embargo on gold exports was removed to 551,000 pounds sterling.

Where the gold was obtained has not been learned and the market is thoroughly puzzled. Whatever the source there is a general gratification that the bank's recent loss of gold has been reduced to comparatively trifling proportions and ...rs of an early rise in the bank rate are allayed.

One effect the announcement was to increase the value of the pound sterling to $4.85½.

TORONTO HYDRO RATE IS NOT SUFFICIENT

Do Not Provide Suciffient Revenue to Cover Fixed Charges.

TORONTO, May 16 (Canadian Press).—In view of the failure of general business to show a satisfactory increase, the Toronto Hydro Electric Commission finds that the rates, according to the present schedule, will not provide a sufficient revenue to meet the operating and fixed charges. But at the same time, according to the 1924 report, which was issued yesterday, the commission will do its utmost to avoid an increase in schedule; so it is proposed to carry on with the old rates and meet whatever deficit there may be out of the system's reserve for the stabilization of rates.

SHE WAS HARDLY ABLE TO WALK

So Says Ontario Lady Before She Used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Madame Damasse Charron suffered with Kidney Trouble and found relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Timmins, Ont., May 15.— (Special.)—"For my part I can tell you I had very bad kidney trouble. I was hardly able to walk, but I have been completely relieved of my trouble by Dodd's Kidney Pills. I recommend them to all who suffer with their kidneys. Kindly send me one of your almanacs."

This statement comes from Damasse Charron, well-known resident of this place.

Kidney trouble is very common amongst all classes of people, and usually a lot of valuable time is lost by using unsuitable remedies. A good plan is to watch the kidneys and keep them healthy. Dodd's Kidney Pills stimulate and strengthen weak kidneys. They are used and recommended all over the civilized world.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have restored sound health to thousands of troubled women and men.

BELMONT CLUB ANNUAL MEET HAPPY FESTIVAL

Carl Browne Heads Club For Coming Year—Other Officers Installed.

FINE PROGRAMME.

Musical Numbers and Address on Irish Humor Were Much Enjoyed.

One of the happiest parties that has occupied the grill room of the Empress Hotel in some time was the Belmont Club which held its annual banquet last night. A meal worthy of the company had been prepared and full justice was done to it by the members. After the toast to the King had been drunk and the smokes were burning nicely the retiring president, Walter Fitzgerald called on the Honoray Vice-President, Robert Hall to install the new officers.

Mr. Hall opened his remarks with references to the loss the club had sustained in the death of the Honorary President, J. T. C. Lang and asked those present to stand for a moment in silent tribute to him. He mentioned the calibre of the young men who had formed the membership of the club since its formation in 1908, many of whom had gone out to take a great place in the world. The success of the club was due, said Mr. Hall to the officers who had been charged with the guidance of its affairs and the new officers whom he had to instal were worthy successors.

The officers of the club for the ensuing year are: President, Carl S. Browne; first vice-president, Frank Jobbitt; second vice-president, F. Bowness; secretary-treasurer, S. Haskill; Honorary president, Robert Hall; honorary vice-president, Dr. A. W. McPherson; auditors, Messrs. Staples and Moore. After the new officers had been called on to stand up and let the members look at them, Mr. Fitzgerald turned the chair over to Mr. Browne for the rest of the programme. Mr. Browne thanked the members for the honor they had done him and then called for the musical part of the programme.

A reading by Mrs. McClelland was the first number on the programme and it was well received and an encore demanded. A vocal solo by Mr. Staples followed and it also was encored. A short business interlude came then, when the auditors' report, which showed the club to have made many improvements to its property, and to have a substantial balance in the bank, was read by Frank Jobbitt and adopted.

After the business item, two songs by Miss Greta LeBarr were very much enjoyed, as was a saxaphone solo by George Logan. When Mr. Logan was pressed for an encore he provided a great deal of fun by choosing a quartette, Messrs. Gordon, Sills, Batten, Snelgrove and Byers, whom he taught to sing a somewhat monotonous melody, "Oh! Katherina" to the great enjoyment of the audience.

The feature of the evening was a lecture on Irish humor by Mr. J. F. H. Wallace. Mr. Wallace pointed out the characteristics of Irish wit, which he said was never biting or unkind, despite the hard conditions of poverty under which the people lived so long, but is always enjoyed as much by the subject of the joke as by anyone else. He told a great many stories, with the well known Pat and Mike as the heroes and kept his hearers convulsed with laughter all through his address. After he had concluded his remarks a hearty vote of thanks to all who had contributed to the entertainment was moved by Fred Sedgwick and Stan Lowe and heartily endorsed.

Certain much enjoyed parts of the programme were the impromptu quartettes who contributed musical selections during the banquet.

GROVE AND HIGH SCHOOL CADETS ARE INSPECTED

Both Lakefield Corps Are Complimented on Smart Appearance and Efficiency.

LOYALTY STRESSED.

St. John's A.Y.P.A. Entertained By Rector and Mrs. Cox.

LAKEFIELD, May 15—The annual inspection of the High School Cadet Corps was held on Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock with Captain Trudeau of Kingston, Military District No 3, as the inspector. The cadets in their trim uniforms presented a neat and very smart appearance for which they were complimented by Captain Trudeau. The drill was excellent and up to the standard set by previous years. Cadet W. C. Harvey was first in command with Cadet Harry Hill second and Cadets Donald Kidd and Clarence McIlmoyl as section commanders. Cadet Solon Nixon was the drummer.

After the inspection Captain Trudeau congratulated the principal, Mr. J. M. Simpson, the members of the School Board, the Cadet officers and the Cadets themselves on the efficiency of the corps and their fine appearance. He assured them of the value of the training which is worth while for every boy and which teaches him to defend his home, he learns the value of discipline and of team work. We have all had enough of war but our great Empire, which is often beset by jealous foes, has need of her sons and the cadet training has a great value. The captain won all hearts by asking for a half holiday for the whole school, which request was granted by Mr. Simpson.

Mr. Simpson briefly addressed the cadets on the creditabe showing they made on this, the great annual occasion. Rev. W. Cox spoke to the cadets also on the purpose for which the cadet corps were organized and gave a motto "Be loyal" to the boys. Mr. Cox urged loyalty to their little village, to the great country to which we belong and to the mighty Empire of which Canada forms a part.

Mrs. W. M. Graham spoke briefly complimenting cadets on their appearance and pointing out the high standard a cadet has to live up to and the value of the training in their lives.

Mr. J. F. Lillecrap, chairman of the Library Board, spoke very briefly also reefrring to the importance of the training in their lives and urging them to study to become good citizens.

Besides the staff of both schools there was a fair attendance of parents and interested adults.

After the formalities were over the cadets marched briskly away to the sound of the drum to the village where they were regaled with ice cream at Mr. Simpson's expense.

Hearty cheers were given for the King, Capt. Trudeau, Mrs. Graham, Mr. Cox, Mr. Simpson and Mr. Lillecrap.

"The Grove" Cadet Inspection

The annual inspection of "The Grove" cadets was held on Wednesday afternoon with Captain Trudeau of Kingston as the inspecting officer. The boys made a good showing and presented a trim, natty appearance which reflected credit on the corps and on the instructor. The physical drill exhibiton was especially good and included some games. Captain Trudeau praised the boys and complimented them on their efficiency in every branch of their training and concluded by asking for a holiday for them; which request was granted. Rev. A. W. Mackenzie said a few words emphasizing the importance of cadet training both as a physical benefit but also in that it encourages and stimulates patriotism and pride of country We have a great heritage which we should value highly and treasure as gem above price. The parade closed with cheers for the King, Capt. Trudeau and Mr. Mackenzie.

The cadet officers are Charles James, first in command, George R. Pedlar, second in command, and Eric Fawcett and Glen Griffiths section commanders.

Methodist Resolution

The following resolution passed at last meeting of the Official Board of the Lakefield Methodist Church:

Whereas, the Methodist Church has rendered service to the Kingdom of God in this community for about seventy years; and

Whereas, this is the last regular meeting of the Official Board of this congregation as a Methodist Church owing to the Union of the Presbyterian, Congregational and Methodist Churches of Canada to be consummated June 10th next.

Therefore be it resolved that we, the members of the said Official Board, severally and collectively, record our gratitude to God for what Methodism has meant to us, to our families, and to this communiy; for the larger outlook of usefulness which, we believe as a church we will have in the United Church of Canada; and for the fellowship, to which we look forward, with the congregations of the sister churches which, with us, are about to enter the said United Church of Canada.

Dated Lakefield, May 11th, 1925.

Entertained A.Y.P.A

Monday night was Rector's night in St. John's A.Y.P.A. and Rev. and Mrs. Cox entertained the members and their friends at a very jolly progressive euchre in the Sunday School room. The winners of the first prizes were Miss Ida Webster and Mr. Ernest Waldon and the winners of the second prizes were Miss Grace Watson and Mr. Fred Moon and the winners of the consolation prizes were Mrs. A. Wannamaker and Miss A. Watson The prizes were presented by Mrs. Cox after which a dainty supper was served. Just after the refreshments had been partaken of the gathering was broken up by the ringing of the firebell. In spite of the interruption the evening was very pleasant and thoroughly enjoyed by one and all.

YOUR GARDEN

THE USE OF MANURE AND COMMERCIAL FERTILIZERS

The increasing difficulty of obtaining satisfactory stable manure, especially well-rotted, is a very real problem to the small gardener. Thus he is obliged to resort to the so-called commercial fertilizers, and these, being new to him, he looks askance. When properly understood, these fertilizers are less troublesome and less bulky to apply than the manure. They are also readily obtainable and easily stored. Unless humus is supplied in some other way they should not entirely take the place of manure, but should only supplement its use.

Fertilizers are supplied in units of the three chief plant food constituents which are necessary to keep up the fertility of the soil. These are nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash. Commercial fertilizers are, therefore, expressed as a 2-8-6 or a 7-8-5, etc., meaning with the first that it contains 4 per cent nitrogen, 8 per cent phosphoric acid and 6 per cent potash, or, in other words, 2 pounds nitrogen, 8 pounds phosphoric acid and 6 pounds potash per 100 pounds of the material. The remainder is composed of other elements in small quantity and filler. This filler may be sand, screened earth or some other ingredient.

The following materials and formulae are suggested with special notes where necessary.

Lawns.—Possibly the best all-round mixture is a 5½-3-2. The acid phosphate and nitrate of soda must be applied during a rain or with considerable watering by the hose, or they will burn the grass. Apply the mixture at the rate of 1¾-2 ounces per square yard for the nitrate of soda (or 1-1½ sulphate of ammonia); 2½-3 ounces per square yard for acid of phosphate and 3-2½ ounces per square yard for muriate of sulphate of potash. Sheep manure is excellent applied according to directions on the bag.

Shade Trees—Young trees should have an area cultivated about them to a distance of at least three feet. In the early stages this should be kept mulched with manure, straw or leaves, provided the latter are rotted down somewhat and will not blow away. They will also benefit, however, by systematic feeding with fertilizers, say ½ pound per tree of nitrate of soda. This applies especially to street trees.

Old hardwood trees of value may often be saved and their life prolonged by the application of 6 to 30 pounds of nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia. Put these on when the leaf buds are showing green in the spring and scatter the fertilizer evenly over the area covered by the branches and a few feet further to reach the feeding roots. Apply as for lawns or the grass will be burned. If the trees are not thus treated, they will succumb more readily to the artificial restrictions of their position, especially on the confined city lot.

Shrubs.—An excellent complete fertilizer for shrubs is a 4-8-6 applied at the rate of ¼ pound per shrub, depending on its size. As most shrubs are better grown in beds, the fertilizer may be applied at any time without waiting for rain or watering. Care should be taken, however, to avoid scattering the fertilizer too close to the stems and care should also be taken to distribute the fertilizer well out to the feeding roots. Should this take in any grass area, due caution must be exercised.

Perennials and Annuals.— Whether growing in borders by themselves will be greatly benefited by applications of commercial fertilizers. Try a 2-8-4 mixture for general use at time of planting or as a dressing. Care should of course be taken to avoid scattering fertilizer on the crown of the plant or having the roots come in contact with too concentrated an amount of the fertilizer in the soil. Poultry and sheep manure are excellent applied at the rate of 3¼-4½ ounces per square yard for hen manure and 4¼-3½ ounces per square yard for sheep manure. Cottonseed meal is possibly one of the very best fertilizers and easily handled. Apply at the rate of 4-6 ounces per square yard. Sulphate of ammonia may very well be combined with it at the rate of 3-3½ ounces per square yard. Bonemeal may be used alone at the rate of 4-4 pounds per square yard and will benefit both shrubs and perennials.

All these fertilizers should be evenly distributed over the grounds and applied early in the season. Stimulation of plant growth should not take place any later than June or shrubs and trees are liable to go into the winter with a lot of immature wood which in northern sections is sure to winter kill.

Manure.—If possible to obtain it, rotted manure is best for general garden use as mulching on lawns and for digging in the borders. It can seldom be applied too heavily, provided it is well worked into the soil; 15-20 tons per acre (8-10 pounds per square yard) is none too much. If fresh manure only is available and you wish to have it rot, proceed as follows: Pile manure for composting in a compact heap, with straight sides and while piling water it and tramp it down thoroughly. It will then be ready for use in a year's time.

NOTES ABOUT BOOKS

The first book to be brought to the notice of the reader this week is one that should appeal to him as a Canadian. It is a very attractive and very readable description of the growth of our ships and shipping. The title of the volume is "Wooden Ships and Iron Men." It deals more particularly with the sailors and ships of Nova Scotia and is replete with interest. It gives a history of the dawn of shipping in Canada. Proud as we are of our country, there is one phase of her greatness which we are in danger of overlooking and that is the immensity of our marine and lake shipping. We hold the fourth place amongst the ship-owning nations of the world, and our sailors in capability and resourcefulness are and always have been the peers of those belonging to any other nationality. It is well that we should realize this fact and remember with gratitude and thankfulness those who have had such a splendid part in the raising of our country to nationhood. The book is full of incident and abounds in fine illustrations.

"Punch and Judy and other Essays" is a book which deserves more attention from the public than it receives. The papers comprising the volume deal with many well-known personalities and they are made more interesting on account of the many personal reminiscences that the author has incorporated in its pages. He talks of Punch and Judy, the delight of boys and girls of an older generation than the present, of Sarah Bernhardt, of Gilbert and Sullivan and many other notables in the world of art, music and literature, and he writes with ease and charm. The author was for years in the diplomatic service, and at one time was personal secretary to General Sir Hugh Trenchard. When there is so much catering to the baser elements of human nature in the literary output of the day it is refreshing to turn to something that lifts one to a higher plane and shows delights that the devourer of present-day fiction can have no conception of.

The Life of Charles P. Steinmetz, the famous electrician, who died in 1923, is well worthy of perusal. It is the story of a German lad, ill-equipped in many ways to battle with the world. He was deformed in figure, and when he arrived in New York in 1889, was almost entirely ignorant of the English language, and absolutely penniless. If it had not been for the kindness of a friend named Asmussen, who stood sponsor for him with the immigration authorities, he would have been refused admittance to the country. In a very few years he was acclaimed as one of the greatest electrical geniuses of the world.

The life of such a man cannot but be an incentive to anyone handicapped by fate in such a way as was Dr. Steinmetz. He was a very great man, great in intellect, great in soul. It will prove rather a poser to those who look upon mystery stories or tales of hair-raising adventure as so much drivel to learn that Steinmetz revelled in such works and enjoyed nothing better than reading the Tarzan tales of Edgar Rice Burroughes.

The book is entertaining and instructive, and should be welcomed by all for whom the name of Steinmetz spells a gigantic stride forward in the knowledge of electricity.

GENEVA, May 16 (Canadian Press).—The International Conference for the control of traffic in arms and munition yesterday decided in favor of control of all armaments of potential military value.

A proposed provision for the search of vessels suspected of carrying illegal shipments of arms was discussed.

The general sentiment was in favor of the abandonment of this proposal.

CHILDHOOD PROBLEMS

Teach Boys and Girls to Face Minor Difficulties Bravely.

Do you teach your boys and girls to face bravely the minor difficulties of which childhood is full?

It is one of the most important functions of a parent, and one of the most neglected.

The average "mother complex" grows out of the protective instinct of the mother. It is the mother instinct to protect the child from all the bumps of the world, to take the child's part under all circumstances and to keep it away from the realities of life.

As science penetrated human reactions it is made plain that the modern mother must teach her children to face the trying moments of life and to tell them they can be wrong as well as right.

How much development of future character lies in these moments between mother and child can never be estimated, but it is now a scientific fact that if a child can be placed squarely against the petty difficulties of his young life and see them through, he will be much better prepared to face the major difficulties.

Parents should think this over and act accordingly!

Radio Flashes

Slip a piece of paper under each connection when soldering. If a bit of solder paste falls, the paper will catch it and prevent smearing up the baseboard. A wet rag around a binding post will keep it from melting when you are soldering near it.

Jab screws in a cake of soap before you start them, if you would prevent splitting the baseboard. Also, do not put screws near each other in line with the same grain of wood; stagger them.

If there is a possibility of the rheostats shorting on the shield on the panel, cut a piece of mica and place it between the rheostat and the metal shield.

If you have troublesome oscillations in your radio-frequency set, try varying the angle of the coils with relation to each other.

To square up the edge of a panel or any other piece of bakelite, use a common wood plane that has been set finely.

LAKEFIELD TENNIS DANCE A SUCCESS

First Annual Social Attended by Sixty Couples.

LAKEFIELD, May 16—The first annual dance of the Lakefield Tennis Clube was held in the Lakefield House on Thursday night and was attended by about sixty couples which included a number of Peterboro and Young's Point people who motored out for the occasion. The Grove orchestra was in attendance and furnished an excellent programme. Mr. G. G. Connell kindly relieved the orchestra for several numbers. The rotunda of the hotel was decorated for the occasion with flags, Chinese lanterns and tennis nets, balls and racquets, the latter suggesting the auspices under which the dance was given. The writing room was used as a sitting-out room and card room. Refreshments were served about midnight, after which dancing was resumed.

The dance was very successful and the young people spent a most enjoyable evening. Among those present were the president of the club, C. S. Tanner and Mrs. Tanner, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. TURN TABLES ON UNITED STATES Arms Convention Approves Search For Arms on Vessels in Ports.

U. S. LOOKS FOR RUM.

GENEVA, May 16. — (Canadian Press).—Accepting the theory that what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander, the Arms Convention yesterday turned the tables on the United States delegation by going on record as favoring in principle "the right of detention and search of vessels stopping at their ports for the illicit shipment of war materials in transit."

Congressman Burton opposed this vigorously, seeking to justify the United States search and seizure of rum ships, foreign liners and freighters because of special treaties.

Just a Little Dog Out Without a Tag

KINGSVILLE, May 16.—Hereafter, the Kingsville Boy Scouts will have to go on their hikes without a companion, and the Shetland pony that belongs to little Alfred Pearce will miss a "pal." For this unofficial member of the Scout Troop and pal to the pony is dead.

He was a little dog, and he fell a victim to the majesty of the law. Two bullets from the gun of Chief of Police Brown ended his life before the eyes of his little master a few days ago.

The dog did not really belong to Alfred. In fact, he did not really belong to anyone. He was deserted by his former owners when they left Kingsville last fall, and he simply attached himself to the Pearce household, and particularly to Alfred and his pony. His home was in the field where the pony was pastured, and he rarely left the place except when Alfred was going out on a hike with the Scouts. Then the pony had to get along without him until the hike was over, for Doggie proudly marched with the troop, and had become something of a mascot.

A few days ago, the troop went out to the country for a tramp. The puppie went along, and barked at squirrels and raced about the countryside, and generally had a wonderful doggy day. He accompanied his young friends back to town.

On Division street, Chief Brown put in an appearance. Fixing his official eye on the dog, and noting the absence of a tag, he told Alfred that he was going to conduct a legal execution or words to that effect. At first, the little lad thought he was joking. But when a gun appeared, he realized that danger threatened his pet.

Alfred says he pleaded with the Chief to give him time to get the money for a tag. Chief Brown denies this. He says Alfred merely said he did not own the dog, and that all the other Scouts denied ownership. So, to his mind, there was nothing left to do but put an end to the little animal.

Before the whole Scout troop and several people on the street, the doggie died an ignominious death. His little body was pulled to one side of the road, where it lay until darkness fell, and then the Chief took it away for burial.

Alfred is heart-broken. But what can he do? The doggie had no tag. The law says he must have one. The law also says that a policeman has a right to destroy any dog which has not the proper appendage. So Alfred cries for his pet and the law is satisfied.

MILITARY TOYS BACK.

Tin Knights in Armour Replace Farmer Boys of Ante-Bellum Days.

LONDON, May 16 — Medieval knights in shining armor have taken the place of the little tin soldiers which were so popular here prior to 1914. After the war, toy soldiers all but disappeared from the shops, not only in England, but in many countries on the continent, particularly Germany and Austria, and in their stead came little farmer boys and other leaded figures of agriculture.

Models of cows and horses, ducks and chickens and farm houses to scale have been displayed quite generally. Hunting scenes, with the huntsmen in bright colors on horses, foxes, hedges, ditches and other suggestions of the country have also been on display this spring on a larger scale than heretofore, but the demand of the public for the knights suggestive of the troublesome days of the twelfth century indicates, say the toy dealers, that war playthings are again coming into favor.

DENY STATEMENT OF LUDENDORFF

Kitchener's Secretary Says Russia Betrayed News of Voyage to Germany.

LONDON, May 16 — (Canadian Press).—With regard to the letter of General Ludendorf to V. W. Germains, author of the book entitled "The Truth About Kitchener," in which the German general says Lord Kitchener's death was not due neither to a German mine nor a German torpedo, "but to a power which would not permit the Russian army to recover with the help of Lord Kitchener, because the direction of Czarist Russia had been determined on" Sir George Arthur, who was Lord Kitchener's private secretary, and wrote the life of the distinguished British soldier, has made a statement in denial of Ludendorf's assertion.

Sir George Arthur says: "There is no question about it. The secret of Lord Kitchener's proposed visit to Russia was betrayed by Russia to Germany, and as a result Germany made special preparations. We know the name of the officer who laid the mine. Whether the secret was given away by Russia to prevent the Russian army from recovering with Kitchener's help I cannot say, but of the betrayal there can be no question."

TOWNSHIP CLERKS ARE SHORT IN FUNDS

Irregularities of Many Kinds Exposed When Books Were Audited.

COBALT, May 16. — (Canadian Press). — Irregularities of different kinds, including a shortage in the township funds of over $2,100, for which two former clerks are held responsible, are alleged in the report of the Provincial auditors appointed to review the finances of Bucke Township and whose report was presented to the Township Council on Thursday night. H. L. Gridley has not accounted for more than $1,500, and C. E. Dakins, his predecessor in office, is declared to be short over $200, according to the reports. Proceedings are under way to recover the money from the company which bonded Gridley, the Reeve told the Council, although he would not reveal the details.

Through the Gates of Fairyland

By C. S. and A. G. HAMMOCK

Jack the Giant Killer

In the reign of King Arthur of England there lived in Cornwall a farmer who had an only son named Jack. He was very strong and brave and when he started to do a thing that he thought was right, he never thought of any possible danger.

At that time a huge giant lived in a gloomy cave on St. Michael's Mount, which rises out of the sea off the shore of Cornwall. The Cornish people had suffered greatly from his thefts, for he often waded through the sea to the mainland and carried off their horses and oxen in great numbers.

As this mischief had been going on for years and as no man had been able to fight the giant and stop his thefts, the giant had become bolder and bolder. If he failed to find fat oxen when he wanted them, he would destroy barns and other buildings, scattering them about or carrying them off for firewood.

The Justices of Cornwall had tried ever so many ways to defeat the giant but always without success. Even the great reward offered failed to tempt any one to do anything against the giant.

Finally Jack decided that he must kill this monster. He took a horn, a shovel, a pickax and a dark lantern and one evening swam over the sea to the mount. Then he set to work and before morning had dug a great pit, which he covered over carefully with sticks and leaves. After spreading earth over it so that it looked like solid ground, Jack blew his horn so loudly that the giant awoke and came roaring out of his cave in a great rage.

"You impudent villain," growled the giant, "you shall pay dearly for disturbing my rest. Just for that I will broil you for my breakfast!" But as he finished speaking he tumbled headlong into the pit.

"How now, Mr. Giant?" said Jack. "How is your appetite by this time?" Then he killed the giant with a blow on his head, and swam back to the shore, eager to get home to his breakfast.

When the Justices of Cornwall heard of his brave exploit, they sent for Jack and declared that he should always be called Jack the Giant Killer. Besides the reward they gave him a sword, and a belt upon which was written in letters of gold:

"This is the valiant
Cornishman
Who slew the Giant
Cormoran."

The story of Jack's brave deed soon spread over the countryside. Quite naturally, all the other giants in England, of whom there were a great many, heard the news and were on the lookout for Jack. They felt sure that they would not be taken in by any of his tricks.

One giant in particular, named Blunderbore, started out to find Jack, vowing to take vengeance on him for killing the other giant. One day as Jack was passing through a wood on a lonely journey, he fell asleep beside the road. The giant found him there, and seeing by the writing on the belt that it was the Giant Killer, lifted Jack to his shoulder and carried him off to his castle.

Blunderbore carried him into an upper room and in the front part of the castle and locked him up while he went to fetch another giant who lived near by to help him eat Jack for dinner. The giant had not been gone long when Jack looked out of the window, which was just over the gate of the castle, and saw two giants coming along arm in arm. They were langhing and talking and having a jolly time.

"Now," thought he, "unless I think and act quickly, I will soon be on the giant's dinner table." Glancing about the room he spied two strong ropes and made a large slip-noose in each of them. Then, just as the giants were coming through the gate, he threw the ropes over their heads and, fastening the other ends to a beam, pulled on the ropes with all his might until he had nearly strangled the giants. Then he drew his sword, slipped down the ropes and slew them both.

Then he took the keys from the great Blunderbore and searched through the castle. In one room he found three ladies, who told him that their husbands had been killed by the giant and that they had been left in this room to starve.

Jack gave them the castle and all the riches it contained, to make some amends for their dreadful suffering, and then went on his way.

After some wandering he met King Arthur's only son, who was traveling into Wales to deliver a beautiful lady from the power of a wicked magician. Jack joined the Prince and they traveled on together.

The Prince was so very generous that he soon gave away all the money he had with him. As he parted with his last penny to an old beggar woman, he became very uneasy as to where they were to pass the night.

"Sir," said Jack, "two miles farther on there lives a giant with three heads, who can fight five hundred men at a time. I will go on and call upon him if you will await here until I return."

Jack rode on to the gate of the castle and gave a loud knock. The giant in a mighty voice roared out, "Who is there?" "No one but you little friend Jack," was the answer.

"Well, well, friend Jack, what news do you bring?"

"I'm very sorry, sir, but I have bad news for you. The King's son is coming with two thousand men to kill you."

"This is bad news, indeed! But I have a large cellar underground, where I shall hide myself and you shall lock me in until the King's son is gone."

So Jack locked the giant securely in the cellar as he was told and then went back after the Prince. They feasted and made merry and spent a very comfortable night in the castle.

In the morning Jack gave the Prince gold and silver from the giant's treasury. After the Prince was well on his journey, Jack let the giant out of the cellar.

The giant thanked him very much for saving his life and asked what he should like as a reward.

"I desire nothing," said Jack, "but the coat and cap, with the rusty sword and slippers which hang beside the bed."

"Take them with my compliments," said the giant, "and keep them. They may be very useful to you. The coat will make you invisible; the cap will give you knowledge; the sword will cut through anything, no matter what it may be, and the shoes will enable you to travel very swiftly."

Jack took the gifts, thanked the giant and then, putting on the shoes, swiftly caught up with the Prince.

After traveling for a few more days they came to the dwelling of the beautiful lady whom the Prince had come to rescue.

She received the Prince very graciously and spread a feast in his honor. When it was over she arose and taking her handkerchief, said: "My lord, tomorrow morning I command you to tell me on whom I have bestowed this handkerchief—or you will lose your head."

The Prince was very greatly worried; but Jack put on the cap of knowledge, which told him that the lady was forced by the power of enchantment to meet a wicked magician every night in the forest.

Knowing this, he put on his invisible coat and his shoes of swiftness and was there before her. When the lady came, she gave the handkerchief to the magician. Jack drew his sword of sharpness and slew the magician with one stroke, and the enchantment was ended in a flash. The next day the lady was married to the Prince, and soon after went with her husband to the Court of King Arthur.

Once again, Jack set out in search of adventures, continuing until he came to a little lonely house at the foot of a mountain. He knocked at the door, which was opened by a little old man with a long white beard.

He welcomed Jack and said: "I know your are the famous conqueror of giants. Now, at the top of this mountain is an enchanted castle kept by a giant named Galligantes, who, by the help of a magician, gets many knights into his power whom he changes into beasts.

"There is also a duke's daughter who has been changed into a deer. Many have tried to destroy the enchantment, yet none has been able to do so, because of two fiery griffins who guard the castle gates."

This just suited Jack, so he arose early and was on his way. He passed the fiery griffins without the least danger; for they could not see him because of his invisible coat.

On the castle gate there hung a golden trumpet, under which were written these words:

"Whoever can this trumpet blow Shall cause the giant's overthrow."

Jack seized the trumpet and blew a mighty blast. The gates flew open and the castle shook to its foundations. The giant and the magician stood shaking with terror; but Jack with his magic sword slew the giant and the magician was carried off in a whirlwind. The castle vanished away like smoke, and the duke's daughter and all the knights and ladies who had been turned into birds and beasts returned to their proper forms.

Jack became famous throughout the country, and the king not only gave him a large estate but made him a Knight of the Round Table. And just as you may have suspected, Jack married the duke's daughter and they lived happily ever after.

NON-CONCURRING PRESBYTERIANS IN CONFERENCE IN PETERBORO'

Pre-Assembly Gathering Showed Enthusiasm of Non-Concurrents in District.

PLEASED WITH VOTE.

Presbytery Will Be Fully Represented at General Assembly Next Month.

A pre-assembly Presbyterial Conference, representing the continuing Presbyterian congregations in the Peterborough Presbytery, was held yesterday in the Guild Room of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. Something of the enthusiasm felt by the continuing Presbyterians over the results of the recent votes on Church Union, especially as recorded in the Peterborough Presbytery, was shown by the large attendance at the meeting. Although the number of delegates permitted to attend from any one congregation was limited, the Guild Room was filled to overflowing and extra chairs had to be brought in. Almost all the congregations in the Presbytery were represented, including a number of congregations where the majority had voted in favour of Union. Beyond the loss of only two or three congregations, it might have been assumed from yesterday's conference that the Peterborough Presbytery will be continued virtually as strong as before and with but little change from the conditions which existed before the vote, it was said. Rev. G. I. Craw acted as Moderator, and Rev. Mr. Thompson, of Hastings, as Clerk.

The delegates present reported by congregations on the conditions in their congregations. These reports were most encouraging. The fact that such Presbyterian congregations as St. Paul's of Peterboro and the congregations of Norwood, Havelock, Campbellford, Warsaw, Omemee, Warkworth, Millbrook, Centreville, Port Hope, Cobourg, and others have all voted to continue Presbyterian proved a matter of great encouragement to those present. It was reported that the congregations at Havelock and Cobourg have already secured new pastors who have been inducted, and that two other congregations have called their ministers.

The delegates from the minority of the Westwood congregation, which voted in favour of Union, reported that they had sent in a protest to the central organization in Toronto over the manner in which the vote was taken in that congregation. The grounds for the complaint were that the vote was open for only four hours instead of for an hour a day for two weeks, as required by the law. Since the vote was taken a petition has been signed by enough elders and menbers of the congregation to indicate that there is a majority in the congregation against Church Union. Some twenty more have signed the petition than voted against Church Union. The petition asked for another vote. It was intimated that the Commission appointed by the Ontario Legislature to deal with such matters, will be asked to give a ruling in this case and also in the case of the sister congregation at Keene.

Unite Minorities

Delegates were present from non-concurrents of Lakefield congregation and from the Warsaw congregation. A conference was held between them and committees appointed to meet shortly in Warsaw with the object of seeing if these two congregations cannot be united as one charge, as it is proposed to do in the case of the Millbrook and Centreville congregations.

The representatives of the Warkworth congregation reported that in spite of the fact that a large number of former members had asked for their certificates, the continuing Presbyterians were carrying on successfully, and only required a strong minister to insure their complete success. When it was reported that the givings on the open collections of this congregations have shown a large increase since the vote was announced there was a general laugh which revealed that this has been the case with all the other continuing Presbyterian Churches which were represented at the meeting.

Assembly Plans

Considerable discussion took place over the arrangements for the approaching General Assembly and the Presbyterian Congress which will precede it. Some misunderstandings as to how this conference will be constituted were cleared up. Two notices have been sent out from the central office in Toronto. The last changed some of the arrangements announced in the first notice. This is what had caused the confusion. Each congregation now is asked to appoint its minister, one elder and a woman representative to the pre-Assembly Congress, the number of delegates having been reduced from five to three. Where congregations are without ministers they are entitled to appoint two elders. The appointments are made by the individual congregations, including the minorities in congregations where the majorities voted in favour of Union. The keen interest shown in the proceedings yesterday indicated that the Peterborough Presbytery will be fully represented at the pre-Assembly Congress and the first General Assembly of the continuing Presbyterian Church in Toronto next month.

COMMUNIST RUSSIA RESENTS EXECUTION

Eight Men Sentenced to Death For Cathedral Outrage Killing 160.

MOSCOW, May 16 (Canadian Press). — Communist Russia is ablame with indignation against the projected execution at Sofia, Bulgaria, of the men recently sentenced to death as responsible for the bombing of Sveti Kral Cathedral, in which 160 persons were killed.

On May 11 at Sofia, eight men were sentenced to death for this crime, but five were sentenced by default and only three are in custody. The executions were scheduled for the latter part of this week, but the sentence has not been approved by King Boris and it has been indicated that the death penalty may be commuted to life imprisonment.

Great public demonstrations of protest against the executions are being held in Moscow.

Delegations of peasants and workers today called at the British, French and Italian missions, and urged them to protest against the proposed public hangings.

Dairy Supplies Plentiful—Butter 38 Cents—Eggs 27 and 28.

The Ontario Provincial Society of the Women's Missionary Society, with a membership of over 60,000 women, at its annual meeting in London, passed the following resolution by a standing vote:

"Whereas the Women's Missionary Society of the Province of Ontario embodied in the policy of the social service department, the temperance issue which came before the people in the form of a plebiscite in October, 1924, for the continuance of the O.T.A.; and whereas this plebiscite was carried by the majority of the people, and whereas the Government of Ontario promised that such a vote would determine their policy, and now that promise has been broken and 4.4 beer legalized by the present Government, be it therefore resolved that we, the members of the W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church in Canada in the Province of Ontario now meeting in the city of London, do place ourselves on record that we will give the preference to those who do not sell such beer in grocery stores and restaurants in the cities, towns and villages where we respectively dwell. We further resolve that we as Christian missionary women seeking to guard our youth from all pitfalls and endeavoring to make Canada a safe country for our children, will place moral issues before party politics in the use of our ballot in future elections.

NEW YORK, May 16 (United Press)—The American Association of holders of German marks securities, formed in the hope of forcing the German Government to change its attitude toward the redemption of the now worthless securities will meet next week to consider ways and means. The members intend to injure German credit as long as their claims are unrecognized.

SPECIAL SERVICES ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Rev. W. Allan Will Continue Next Week—Great Interest is Shown.

The subject of last night's address at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church by Rev. William Allan—"Shall We Meet and Know Our Loved Ones After Death?"—drew a large and expectant audience, showing that much interest has been aroused by Mr. Allan's discourses from the Bible.

At the outset he said he would not choose any special text, but references would be culled from several chapters in the Old and New Testaments.

The speaker said this was a question which troubled many earnest people, whether they shall see their loved ones after death in the land beyond, and what impression will be created, if we should meet those who have been loved and gone before. There is an eagerness with most of us, to ask ourselves if we will be known by those we have known. The answer is proved in the affirmative by the Word of God, and this proof cannot be denied or shaken. The question can be answered in three ways—First, the yearnings of the human heart are answerable in that it can be made so, that we will one day meet those we have loved and lost awhile. We have gazed on the dear face of some loved one, and wondered and hoped we should meet them face to face, and enjoy their fellowship once more. We shall meet them again, if we turn our face upward and follow the road laid down by our Heavenly Father.

It shall be so. This is the second point. Nature in the general course of events requires that it shall be so. Nature requires there will be life beyond the grave. This should give us hope of meeting our loved ones. God creates that desire in the human breast, and He fails not in fulfilling what He promises. The proof is most conclusive. We shall know loved ones after death.

The third point in God's word gives us examples where we can expect this to be brought about. Whatever the Word says is believable and true. There are many pictures from Genesis to Revelations. In the 37th chapter of Genesis the story of Joseph and his brother's jealousy is told, when they would try to get rid of him by throwing him into the pit, and having his coat of many colors dipped in the blood of a kid of the goats, thereby to make it appear that Joseph had been torn to pieces by wild animals. This Joseph's father believed, and went about mourning for many days. Later Joseph appeared unto his brethren, as it were, from the dead. And his father found him and rejoiced. Nothing is stronger than this implication that Joseph came back as if from the dead, and saw his brethren.

In II. Samuel, 12th chapter, David committed sin. He suffered for his transgression, and we all suffer for our sin. A child was born, it fell sick, and died. He fasted and prayed to God for help. When it died, his behavior changed, and this was noticed by the servants. David overheard their whisperings, and their criticisms of his actions. But said, "I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me." The implication of union is recognised of the fatherhood, which is close where loved ones are concerned, close and tender.

The New Testament also cites a large number of cases, as in Matthew and other books, and in St. Luke, 16th chapter, where Lazarus was in the bosom of Abraham, while the rich man was in the throes of agony and torment, and called on Abraham to quench his agony here was seen after death those he had neglected while he had the opportunity. His sin had found him in the place of torment, while Abraham and Lazarus were at peace. We are responsible for the deeds done in the body. The man goes to eternity. In life he has been selfish, and there also he had this trait and demands everything, but asks that his five brothers be turned from their evil ways, and saying that if one rose from the dead they would heed. But they would not heed even this if they listened not to Moses and the prophets.

Paul, in I. Thessalonians, 2-19, was taken away from these people for a time, but was desirous to return to them, "for are not even ye in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his coming?" We are all in Christ Jesus, and we shall see our departed ones while we follow on the road with Christ as our guide.

In conclusion, Mr. Allan told his audience that we should all appear in heaven, without distinction as to race, color, tongue, and nation, as set forth in Revelations, 5, 9, which says we will all be redeemed by the blood, and we shall reign in the earth. Unless we believe, we shall not have the opportunity of meeting our loved ones again. The opportunity is now ours to accept Jesus as our Saviour.

The Session of St. Paul's Church, owing to the increasing interest being shown in Mr. Allan's campaign, have asked him to continue these special services. Next week, commencing on Monday, for five evenings, the meetings will be held, and a list of interesting subjects has been prepared.

Mr. Allan will conduct the services on the Sabbath. Morning subject, "An Old Picture in a Modern Frame"; evening subject, "Standing at Last Within the Gates of Heaven."

ONE CANADIAN IN BRITISH TOURNEY

Mrs. C[illegible]len, of Winnipeg, Seeks British Ladies' Golf Championship.

TROON, Scotland, May 16 (Canadian Press).—Mrs. C. K. Allen of St. Charles Club, Winnipeg, Canada, only representative in the British Ladies' Gold Championship tournament, to be played here next week, will meet Miss Harriette Ellison of Boston, in her first match. Both drew a bye in their brackets in the lower half of the draw and will, therefore, not begin play until the second round of the tourney Tuesday morning.

Most of the 94 golfers entered for the championship have already arrived and are busily engaged in practice.

Yesterday Miss Joyce Wethered, holder of the British Women's golf open championship, defeated Miss O. Montgomery, Scottish champion, 7 and 6.

Miss Cecil Leitch, former British champion, defeated Miss Audrey Kyle, 8 and 7.

Miss M. Cox, Welsh champion, defeated Miss Janet Jackson, of Ireland, 3 and 2.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

Wrist action in the forward swing is best promoted by keeping wrist action that is too early out of the back swing.

By this I mean do not break the clubhead backward from the ball with the wrists—instead move back arms and hands with the clubhead following along even with or slightly behind the hands. You can readily see that the total wrist movement in the back swing is not a very great movement of the hand at all. If this movement of the hand takes place, through the wrist, at the start of the back swing, the wrists, I have observed, have a tendency to stiffen at the top. When the wrist action is delayed and the wrists allowed to turn with the clubhead at the top, the clubhead merely takes up the slack in them, so to speak, and tightens them without rigidity. They are then springy and ready to throw the clubhead in the down swing.

TERSE TIPS ON SPORT

There is an old adage in golf that champions seldom repeat. It has held true in the national open event, especially. And in most of the other big tournaments for that matter.

In the open classic no champion has been able to duplicate his feat of the previous season since J. J. McDermott did it back in 1912. McDermott blazed through the field to victory in 1911, winning a play-off with Mike Brady and George Simpson. He came back the following year to win again.

* * *

Down through the years golfdom has boasted some stellar title-holders in the open affair but none has been able to cling to the old laurels for more than one season in succession—not since the days of McDermott.

PHILLIES KEEP UP EARLY SEASON GAIT

Disputes Delayed St. Louis Game in Brooklyn—Hornsby Plays Fine.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Virgil Barnes held Cincinnati to eight hits to-day, four of which came in the first inning, and the Giants took their third straight game, 7 to 2. A homer by Snyder with the score tied and Jackson on base in the second accounted for the winning runs. Score:

Cincinnati ....20000000— 2 8 4
New York ....04100002x— 7 7 0

Brooklyn, 8; St. Louis, 7.

BROOKLYN, May 15.—Brooklyn made it two out of three with St. Louis to-day after a long-drawn-out game, due to arguments and protests. The score was 8 to 7. A long delay was caused in the fifth, when the Dodgers objected to four St. Louis players standing behind the backstop swinging their bats. Umpire Sweeney, after consulting with O'Day, ordered two of them to the bench, Hornsby, besides fielding brilliantly, made his second home run of the series. The score:

Phillies, 8; Cubs, 4.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—Philadelphia got the edge on the series with the Chicago Cubs today by finishing on the long end of an 8 to 4 count. Blake and Jacobs were both found for hits at opportune times. Relief hurler Knight stopped the Cubs, when they found Betts weakening. Jimmy Wilson had a home run and a perfect day at bat. Grimm also hit each time up. The score:

BASEBALL SIMPLIFIED

When does the infield rule, which automatically retires the batsman whether the ball is caught or not, apply?

For the infield fly rule to be operative there must be runners on first and second or first, second and third and none or one out at the time.

If only first base is occupied the infield fly rule is not effective. Neither can it be effective in any situation where there are two out.

The infield fly rule was made to protect the baserunner. Prior to incorporating it into the playing code much trickery was indulged in by smart infielders.

By dropping the ball purposely a double or triple play often resulted, since the runner or runners, for fear of being retired, had to stick close to their base and when the ball was dropped were forced to advance.

With the infield fly rule in vogue the runner, or runners, under certain conditions stated above realizes the batsman is automatically out and they can retain their base in safety.

YANKEES LACKING FIGHTING SPIRIT

Shake-up Expected From Ed. Barrow's Trip to Chicago.

NEW YORK, May 16—Rumors, circulated for some time, that a big shake-up on the New York Yankee ball club is impending, were strengthened Friday when it was learned that Ed Barrow, business manager of the club and the former field manager of the Boston Red Sox, was on his way to Chicago to join the team.

There is nothing to indicate, however, that the job of Miller Huggins, manager of the team that has run up a winning streak of two games this season, is in peril. To the contrary, an official of the club said today, "Huggins can have that job as long as he wants it."

Barrow, when he was handling the Red Sox, was known as an iron leader and a disciplinarian of the McGraw school, but he is not expected to use any heavy hand with the club. It is thought that the club has some deal in the making in the west and that he has taken the cheque book of Col. Ruppert to use the influence of cash.

Are Behaving

Reports from the training camp that the Yankees were not behaving were denied emphatically by the officials of the club and by many visitors who dropped in on them while they were getting ready for the pennant race.

The most interesting question in baseball today is "What has happened to the Yankees?" A club that had won three successive pennants, and that lost a fourth by two steps, seems to have gone to pieces completely almost over night. "They're not hitting," it was said before the team left New York, but they started hitting like demons in St. Louis and then the pitching went bad.

Team Too Old

Many competent critics have expressed the opinion that the team is too old and that it lacks the college boy spirit of the Philadelphia Athletics and the Washington Senators. The Senators are almost as old as the Yankees, but they have twice the drive and enthusiasm of the former champions.

The benching of Deacon Scott, veteran shortstop, who had played in 1,307 consecutive games, was an indication that the management deemed it necessary to get some young blood in the club, but the rookie Wanninger needs experience and the club hasn't done much better with him in the game.

Inner Strife

The pitchers complained about the inefficiency of the defense and the players are moaning about the poor pitching.

It was thought that the team would pick up when it went on the road, as it always has been a good travelling club, and it is none too generously supported by the home town fans, who also take a delight in rooting for the other teams against the Giants.

"When Babe gets back," is a dangerous hope for the club, as it is probable that he will not be back in the game for another month, and it is doubtful that he could pull the team out of its slump if he could get back into a uniform today.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

TYRUS COBB.

In his 21st year as a big leaguer, Ty Cobb continues to be the marvel of baseball.

Forced back into the game at a time when he was not physically fit, in an effort to break the losing streak of the Detroit Club, Cobb uncorked tricks at the bat n ot expected of him in his prime.

Always a remarkable batsman, Cobb has never been noted for long distance hitting, particularly home runs. Yet, it was in that feature of the game that he recently startled the baseball fans of the country.

During his career of twenty years as a big leaguer, Cobb's best effort as a home run hitter was in 1923 when he made twelve circuit drives.

In a recent game at St. Louis that broke the Tygers losing streak, Cobb made six hits, three home runs, a double and two singles. He was at bat six times, hitting safely on every trip to the plate.

In the following game he made three hits in six times up, a single and two home runs.

Five home runs in two consecutive games comes close to being a record for long distance hitting.

Babe, Beware!

Last season George Kelly made seven home runs in six consecutive games. The feat was much commented upon and accepted as a world record. That makes Cobb's five homers in two games something to brag about.

Another unusual feature in connection with Cobb's long distance batting spree is the fact that each of his five home runs was made off a different pitcher.

I called balls and strikes in the game in which Cobb made his six hits in as many times at bat. It was a most remarkable performance on the part of the veteran.

He missed a fourth home run in that game by a matter of inches. His two-base hit just failed to clear the right field barrier in St. Louis.

Right-fielder Bennett backed up against the wall but was unable to reach the drive, that in turn failed to clear the bleachers; a matter of inches.

In making six hits in one game Cobb called upon strategy to lend assistance in the record breaking performance.

A strong wind was blowing the ball in the direction of the short right field bleachers at St. Louis. Cobb picked balls that he could pull to right field. All six hits went into that territory. He's a wonder.

Batting Spree

During his batting spree at St. Louis, Cobb came close to equalling Tris Speaker's record of eleven consecutive hits.

After making nine hits in a row, he fell a victim to a nice play by Outfielder Jacobson, of the Browns. He followed this up with a home run.

Had his drive to center field avoided Jacobson, it would have meant eleven instead of nine successive hits for the Georgia Peach.

It was a bit of a coincidence that Cobb's feat of making six hits in one game caused him to break several records of long standing.

Prior to that game, Hans Wagner held the record for extra base hits with 1448. Cobb has now surpassed that mark which has stood since Wagner's retirement.

Cobb's three home runs tied a modern big league record. However had he hit another homer in the game in which he made six hits he would have broken a long standing record for total bases in one game.

Cobb now has more than a score of sensational records to his credit. If he continues his great play, he bids fair to considerably increase the mark by the close of the season.

QUEEN MARY WON FAST GAME AT OVAL

Defeated Queen Alexandra 11-0—Good Material Shown.

On Friday afternoon Queen Mary School met Queen Alexandra School in a fast game of baseball at the Oval. Some very good material was witnessed on both sides but apparently Queen Mary was the stronger, for the resulting score was 11-0 for Queen Mary. The line-ups were:

Queen Alexandra—Catcher, Kingdon; pitcher, Sturgeon; 1st base, Clarke; 2nd base, Pullybank; short stop, Dorrington; 3rd base, Outram; left field, Perver; right field, Lee; centre field, Northey.

Queen Mary—Catcher, Hall; Pitcher, Sowden; 1st base, Macdonald; 2nd base, White; short stop, Crary; 3rd base, Dormer; left field, Merrit; center field, Smith; right field, Jones.

FAST TEAM LINED UP IN JUVENILE

Manager Prindible Expects His K.C. Team to Go a Long Way.

The Knights of Columbus Juveniles of the Juvenile City League held a practice last evening on the grounds east of the Sacred Heart Church. The manager, Bill Prindible expects to see his team go over the top in grand style when the league opens. The following is the probable line-up of the team: Catcher, Chas. Kennealey; pitcher, Leo Masterson; 1st base, Melville Starr; 2nd base, Leo Rishea; short stop, Reg. Walton; 3rd base, Arnold Smith or Vic. Grady. The following are trying out for the outfield: Leslie Calladine, H. Archambault, O. Bannon, Bill Austin, Mark Swanger, J. McDonough. The team holds practices every Tuesday and Friday evenings, and every player is asked to be regular in attendance. Vincent O'Connel will be in charge of the team during the next two weeks.

SHIP MANIFESTS REACH SASKATOON

Should Have Gone to Sarkartoon, Honowar, an Indian Port.

SASKATOON, May 16 (Canadian Press)—The cargo manifests of the ship Irawadi which sailed from Bombay, March 12, for Honawar, India, have been received by the Saskatoon Hardware Co. here, and it is quite probable Capt. Esmile of the Irawadi, is burning up the wires trying to trace them while his ship lies at Honawar Pier.

A none too legible address reading "to Sarkarkoon, Honawar," has been deciphered by postal clerks as "Saskatoon Hardware."

EXPECT A CROWD.

Kentucky Derby Run Today—May Be 100,000 Spectators.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16 (Canadian Press).—It is expected a record breaking crowd this afternoon will witness the fifty-first running of the $50,000 Kentucky Derby.

As soon as the Gates of Churchill Downs course were thrown open, the turnstiles started clicking like the second hands on a watch, giving indications that a record breaking attendance of 80,000 to 100,000 spectators would witness the struggle of speed, stamina, breeding and fitness of the continent's best thoroughbreds.

RAIN FALLING

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—Rain began falling steadily at 8.30 this morning. The wet condition of the track will it is expected result in the scratching of quite a number of the 25 horses entered to start in the Kentucky Derby this afternoon.

GEORGE STREET CHURCH ROAD

the Ladies' Aid of the Church will have the parsonage thoroughly refitted and much needed work done, both inside and outside the building. Additional hardwood floors and new decorations will add to the comfort of the residence.

It was quite satisfactory to find that the Music Committee had closed an engagement with Miss Daisy Murray, as soloist, the committee being of mind that her services would be pleasing to the congregation and a source of much interest in the services during the term.

Many suggestions were offered, considered and note made for further action, all indicating the optimistic influence that a favorable expending balance has when appreciated. Not that things have ever been neglected, but to be well up-to-date, changes and betterments seem in order. Thoughful reference was made to the anticipated incoming of those who will, after June 10 next, join up with the United Church and for whose accommodation and association provision will be made.

Last, but not least, an agreeable duty of the official board was discharged. It was unanimously agreed, in fact agreed for in recent years, that on the departure of the pastor-in-charge, some official recognition of his service should be entered on the books. So S. R. Armstrong, of the official board, read and moved the adoption of the following resolution, which was most promptly seconded and adopted:

"That the official boards of the George Street Methodist Church see with deep regret the day approaching when, by effluxion of time and the rules of our church, the happy relations that have existed for five years between the Rev. Harold Young, M.A., B.D., and the congregation of this church as pastor and people will come to an end. Mr. Young's rare ability as a preacher, his equable happy disposition, his conscientious discharge of the duties of a pastor, and the interest he has always taken in the organizations and work of the church have made his pastorate very successful and have endeared him to the people. His zealous and successful work in organizing and supervising the campaign in which funds were raised to pay the debt on the church will long be remembered with gratitude. It is noteworthy, and more than a coincidence, that the Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., D.D., father of our present pastor, was the first minister of this church who held that position for a period of four years, and that his son is the first who has filled the pastorate of the church for a five years' term. We also regret that Mrs. Young will be leaving us, and to Mrs. Young and Mr. Young we give the assurance of our best wishes and prayers for their continued success in their work for the Master and for their personal happiness and prosperity."

Rev. Mr. Young was most deeply moved, when he came to express his thanks and appreciation. He spoke of the past five years as of the happiest of his life, certainly of his clerical life. He and his wife had found themselves taken in not only by a community within a church, but by a congregation of real friends, bringing and offering a delightful fellowship that will ever be remembered and esteemed. Church rules and procedure often intervened to insist on a departure, and such rules must be met, but in this instance it would be a severance not only from a most heartening scene of work, but from association within and without the congregation that were hard to break.

He and Mrs. Young would leave with regret that longer stay was not permissible, but carry with them a most agreeable and heartening memory of a people and a church that would be an inspiring thing for all their lives.

FRENCH PAPERS ARE BITTER ON DEBT QUESTION

American Demands Are Characterized by Editors as Crude.

FORGET SENTIMENT.

Take Facts As They Are and Reduce to a Business Basis.

PARIS, May 16. — (Canadian Press).—Bitter editorial expressions appear in the Paris newspapers today in referring to the inter-allied debt problem.

L'Ere Nouvelle, representing the Governmental majority, remarks that the question now has been reduced to a basis of business discussion from which all sentimental considerations are to be excluded.

"French opinion," it continued, "has been stirred by the crudeness of the American demands. We do not conceal the fact that this crudeness jars on our sensibilities, but we must take the facts as they are and try to forget all that might have been done to make them otherwise."

This paper thinks it would be better to cease opposing the United States to Great Britain in the debt question and let Britain solve the problem by herself.

Le Journal comments along the same lines, giving figures calculated to contrast the immense prosperity of the United States and the immense poverty of France growing out of the war.

L'Ouevre, another organ of the Left, says France now is paying for having made the mistake of thinking that Woodrow Wilson represented the United States.

KING EDWARD BOYS WON SCHOOL GAME

Defeated the King George School 12-2 in Hot Struggle Last Night.

Yesterday afternoon the baseball team of King George School journeyed to King Edward School grounds, where a hot battle took place. The East City fellows put up a hard struggle, but were finally defeated by the score of 12-2. The line-ups were as follows;

King George: Catcher, Ellis; pitcher, Joyce; 1st base, Milligan; 2nd base, Hunter; short stop, Willshaw; 3rd base, Marks; centre field, Burton; right field, Necks; left field, Yelland.

King Edward: Catcher, Battle; pitcher, Cripps; 1st base, Pugh; 2nd base, Austin; short stop, Kearns; 3rd base, Miller; centre field, Steers; left field, O'Connel; right field, Moffat.

Norman Jolliffe Scores at Hartford in "Faust."

(Soloists: Sundelius, Marsh, O'More, Gustafson, Jolliffe).

Hartford Daily Times, May 5th, 1925:

"Honors for the evening went to Norman Jolliffe. He sang with an intelligence, earnestness and with a conviction that stamped him as one of the best singers on the American concert stage to-day. His voice is of ample range delightful quality, well placed and always in excellent control. His singing left an impression which will linger as one of the most interesting contributions to the musical achievement of the year in this city. His final aria was a model of musical artistry."

Hartford Courant, May 6th, 1925:

"Norman Jolliffe easily carried away the honors. His baritone voice is of good volume and excellently used. He has admirable sense of dramatic values and his singing of "Valentine's Death Song" was finely effective."

THIRTY MEMBERS JOIN THE CHURCH

Omemee Mothers' Day Services Featured By Special Music and Addresses.

OMEMEE, May 14.—Mothers' Day was fittingly observed in the village churches on Sunday when special tributes of love and loyalty were given to the mothers of our land in sermon and song. Mrs. E. H. Mitchell rendered a beautiful solo suitable for the occasion at the morning service in the Presbyterian Church, and the sermon by the pastor was very appropriate to the day. At the Methodist Church the morning service was marked by the reception service in which over thirty new members were received into the church. The pastor delivered an inspiring sermon on the mothers of the Bible. Special Mothers' Day carols were rendered by the choir and at the evening service. Mr. Roy Marshall rendered a solo, entitled, "My Mother's Old Bible is True." A quartette entitled, "Home is Not Home Without Mother," was also rendered by the Misses M. Lowe and L. Parsons and Messrs. F. Lowe and H. Cunningham. The floral decorations consisted of roses, carnations, variegated foliage, flowering balsams and a profusion of wild flowers, which added much to the beauty of the service.

KIWANIANS VISIT BELLEVILLE CLUB

Inter-City Meeting Attended By Contingent From Peterboro Last Night.

An inter-city meeting was held by the Kiwanis Club of Belleville last evening, at which Governor Blake Halliday gave a most interesting address.

Visiting Kiwanians from Kingston, Toronto and Peterborough were also present.

The contingent from Peterborough numbered sixteen, composed of Deputy Lieut. Governor Jack Marshall, C D Cook, President of the local Club, Dr Craig, Vice-President, J A McKone, District President and Messrs. W Welbourne, Herb McCannan, J John, W Fraser, A J Rennels, H Huffman, Alex Dick, J A McNabb, Jack Dewart and Walter Oke.

During the visit President Cook took opportunity of the occasion to say a few words for the Made in Peterborough Fair, which is being held in the interests of the Peterborough Health Asosciation, and was assured of the co-operation of the Bellevile Kiwanians in this worthy object.

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL

DO WIVES GET A SQUARE DEAL?

By Agnes Ayres.

Note—Miss Ayres comes to the Royal Theatre on Monday in the Famous Forty-Paramount production, "To-morrow's Love," a fine matrimonial comedy-drama.

Do wives get a square deal?

First the "only man in the world" comes along and frankly admits to the "one girl" that he is just about perfection personified. But, on the other hand, where is the girl who does not assume the role of shrinking violet and let her husband-to-be believe that he is getting the prize of prizes when he weds her?

In my latest picture, "To-morrow's Love," the girl in the story is "sold" on the idea that she is getting the world's champion husband—only to learn, after marriage, that he is only human. "Over-selling" before marriage is one of the big causes of so many divorces.

Because it points out some of the stumbling blocks of wedded happiness, I hope that prospective brides and grooms, and everyone for that matter, will carry home some thoughts that may prove useful in their daily lives.

I read not long ago an article by someone who had an idea that a woman could get along nicely with pots and pans and wear very fetching attire and keep her hands and face looking as if she had just come out of a beauty parlor.

Who ever wrote that doesn't know what he's talking about. I say "he", because I am sure only a man could have written such an article.

Friend husband comes home from a busy day at the office expecting his wife to look like a chorus girl after cooking a square meal and mending a lot of clothes. He grumbles that he didn't marry the "other woman" and she retaliates with she wishes he had. Then the fun begins!

Tell me, now—do wives get a square deal?

Note: The answer's in To-morrow's Love."

BICYCLE CONTEST AT ROYAL DRAWING TO A CLOSE FINISH

The two bicycles—boy's and girl's—supplied by White Cycle and Sports, will be given away to the winners at the matinee on Monday, May 25th.

The contest closes at 10—p.m. on Saturday, May 23rd.

Yesterday (Friday) when this was written, both boys and girls are practically tied. It looks like a close finish.

A prize will also be given to the boy and girl who come second in the contest. The names and standing of the four leaders will be published daily next week, also will be on the screen at the Royal.

AT THE CAPITOL

TWO SHOWS CAPITOL TO-NIGHT; CHARLEY'S AUNT LEAVING TO-DAY

"Charley's Aunt," with Syd Chaplin in the title role, closes its run at the Capitol Theatre to-night.

This is the picturization of the great farce comedy by Brandon Thomas, which, as a play, has been running for thirty-three years and has grossed three million dollars. It deals with the humorous and embarrassing situations which occur when one of the boys at Oxford impersonates another fellow's "Aunt from Brazil, where the nuts come from."

Last night the Capitol was packed to the doors, and all those who came after 8.10 were unable to get in. The management, knowing that to-night's crowd will be bigger, has arranged for two shows, the first starting at 7 o'clock. It is advisable for as many as possible to take advantage of attending the first performance.

NEW SATURDAY EVENING POST STORY FILMED

Frank Lloyd Selects May Edginton Fiction For Latest Picture.

May Edginton's latest short story "Judgment" has been picturized by Frank Lloyd and, featuring Antonio Moreno, Patsy Ruth Miller, Ruth Clifford and David Torrence will be shown at the Capitol theatre starting Monday, under the screen title "Her Husband's Secret."

Miss Edginton is the authoress of "Triumph" and "Secrets" and is well known for her sympathetitc understanding of the finer details of domestic life.

"Judgment," recently published in the Saturday Evening Post, has provided Lloyd, the producer of "The Sea Hawk" and other colorful spectacles, with opportunity to display his ability at handling of finer, more delicate, yet equally powerful and compelling drama. Dealing with a double romance of 1900 and of the present day, the picture unfolds a story of the comparison of parental love and sweetheart days and complications which develop when experience is pitted against youth and romance.

The supporting cast includes Walter McGrail, Phyllis Haver, Frankie Darro, Joseph Girard, Robert Bolder, Harry Lonsdale, Pauline Neff, Margaret Fielding, Frances Teague, E. A. Warren, Anne M. Wilson and Frank Coffyn.

An addition to the orchestral programme at the Capitol Theatre last night, which was much enjoyed by the audience, was the rendition of Mr. Harold Gilbert's new composition, "Jazz up the Band," rendered in snappy, interesting fashion.

Mr. Harold Gilbert's composition "Jazz up the Band" is being repeated by request this afternoon and evening.

Developing the Fullest Possibilities of the Four

If you will follow the new good Maxwell step by step through the great plants where it is built, you will quickly understand its extraordinary quality.

The new good Maxwell is manufactured almost to the smallest detail in Maxwell's own factories by an organization that has all the resources in mechanical equipment, scientific precision instruments, and trained man power to create superior qualities in any product it sponsors.

The new good Maxwell starts from the engineering department with a definite advantage—a design that is the result of a determined effort to develop as never before all the fullest possibilities of the four.

It is a design that is so far in advance of other fours that only in the new good Maxwell can you get a combination of 58 miles an hour, 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds, gasoline economy of 30 miles to the gallon and riding qualities finer than any other four ever possessed.

Only with such superiority of design, and only with complete Maxwell manufacturing, can so much better four-cylinder motoring be sold at the new good Maxwell price. We are eager to demonstrate these values to you, so that you, too, will be numbered among the ever-growing army of contented Maxwell owners.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time payments. Ask about Maxwell's attractive plan. Maxwell dealers and superior Maxwell service everywhere.

PINAL REHEARSAL.
Symphony Orchestra will have their final rehearsal on Monday evening in the Opera House, the evening previous to the big concert. Consistent hard work has brought the efficency of the organization up to a high standard, and after Tuesday evening, Peterboro citizens are going to be proud to know that such a polished, well balanced and effective orchestra is a genuine "made in Peterboro" product.

CLEAN UP WEEK
Citizens of Peterborough:
It has become a custom, and a good one, to set apart one week each Spring as "Clean Up Week," and this year it has been decided to observe this custom next week, beginning Monday, May 18.
All citizens are requested to join in a united effort to make Peterborough a clean city throughout, by cleaning cellars, lawns, yards and lanes, by using paint where needed and planting flowers and gardens, and the result of this combination for the one purpose will be enhanced beauty and cleanliness in our city, already known for its clean and neat appearance.
Everyone is asked to observe "Clean Up Week," so that no unkempt spots will be left to mar the beauty of the whole.
J. J. TURNER,
Mayor

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.
When the gospel of the kingdom to come is preached those who are bound by erroneous creed, cry out, that such preaching is horrible doctrine, calling it second chance, etc. Methinks it is the preaching of Satan's lie, with its addenda, that is horrible doctrine. In the age to come, those who hearken to the voice of the Son of God shall live, and those who refuse to do so shall be utterly cut off. In that glad day of judgment (trial), the Spirit and the Bride shall say Come, and whosoever will let him take the water of life freely. Rev. 22:17. Then shall be fulfilled the prophecy recorded in Acts 3:25; Gen. 12:3; Gen. 22:18; Gen. 26:4; Gen. 28:14. M. T. Butcher

TEACHER TRAINING RESULT ANNOUNCED

Class Conducted By Rev. J. D. Richardson Makes Good Showing.

The fololwing is the result of the examinations recently held for the Teacher Training Study Calss of St. James Church. The class was conducted by Rev. J. D. Richardson, M. A., minister of St. James' Church, and the examination is held under the Teacher Training Board of the Religious Educational Council of Canada. Eleven students wrote obtaining the following percentage: Georgina McLackey 90 p.c.; E. Ethel Robson 88 p.c.; Viola Hodson, 85 p.c.; Frances Gillespie 85 p.c.; Doris E. Palmer 84 p.c.; Nina G. Andrus 80 p.c.; Mrs. Geo. Wagar 80 p.c.; Mrs A H Davis 80 p.c.; Edith Wright 73 p.c.; Mary Huston 72 p.c; Donald Rose 64 p.c.

It will readily be seen that the students made a very creditable showing and the result is a credit to them and to their instructor. The subject chosen was "The Teacher's Study of the Life of Christ," and was covered in a course of ten lectures. It is a thre year's course and Rev. Mr. Richardson plans to resume the class in September and the lectures wil cover the second year The course is open for any who may desire to avail themselves of this opportunity.

The firemen received a call at 8.12 this morning to extinguish a blaze in a few packing cases which were piled against a shed. No damage was done.

DIED
McCARTHY.—The death occurred this morning of Mrs. Margaret McCarthy, at Port Arthur. Funeral announcements will be made later.

TO-NIGHT IS THE NIGHT
If you do not feel well there is some reason for it. In nine cases out of ten it is due to your liver. So start tonight and take two Tanol Calomel Tablets or take one before meals and a glass of hot water in the morning to wash all poisons from the system. Calomel, as you know, is the only drug known that acts upon the liver and that is why there has been such wonderful results from the use of it in the new form called Tanol Calomel. Just get a few of these sample tablets from F. C. Webber's Drug Store, Peterborough, and you will be surprised how effective they are. m.-w.s.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

Toronto Mining Weaker In Continued Downturn

TORONTO, May 16 (Canadian Press)—With the exception of Consolidated West, Dome Lake and Larose, the list on the standard mining exchange showed a pronouncedly weaker tendency at the closing session this morning. Stimulated by activity West Dome advanced one and a quarter points at 14½ and Larose a half at 51½. On the weak side Hattie preferred dropped 1½. Teck Hughes 3, Tough Oaks 2, and Keeley 2. The Mining Corporation sold up 14.

Industrials Swing Up In New York Activity

NEW YORK, May 16.—(Canadian Press). — Speculators for advance were in complete control in to-day's brief and active session of the Stock Market, the general industrial list swinging upward under the leadership of Public Utilities. American Waterworks Common, Utah Securities and Virginia Railway and Power sold 5 points above yesterday's final figures. Rails were not as prominent in the upturn, although 'Frisco Common established another new high record. The best gains were recorded in the Motors, Equipments, Steels, Electrical manufacturing and Merchandise issues, particularly by shares of companies which recently have been reporting large earnings. Coppers and Oils lagged behind the rest of the list. Included in the list of 1925. highs were such widely diversified issues as Underwood Typewriter, Julius Kayser Preferred, Eaton Axle and Spring, Virginia Railway and Power and Midland Steel Products.
The closing was strong.
Total sales approximately 300,000 shares changed hands. The stock suffered a recession of ½ to 76 3-4.
Canada Bread also showed signs of improvement, being active and advancing one point at 122. Winnipeg was active but closed unchanged at 45. Atlantic Sugar came to life after several days of idleness, and gained 5-8 to 27. Brazilian closed at 51, a gain of ½ from the last session. C.P.R. had a slight gain of 1-8 to 142½. Twin City also closed unchanged at 64.

Rainy Weather Lowers Chicago Wheat Prices

CHICAGO, May 16. — (Canadian Press). — Rainy weather brought about an early downturn of wheat prices to-day. The moisture extended over a good-sized portion of the wheat belt, and with prevailing cool temperatures, gave encouragement for a better crop outlook, especially as the semi-drought conditions of late through an important section have been causing complaints of spindly growth and shortened stems. Lower quotations at Liverpool to-day than were looked for tended also to weaken values here. Chicago opening prices ½ to 1¾ lower, May 1.67¼ and July 1.50 3-4 to 1.51, were followed by a slight further set-back and then something of a rally.

GENERAL MOTORS DIVIDEND
The Board of Directors of General Motors at their meeting held April 27th, declared, for the second quarter of 1925, a dividend of $1.50 a share on the new common stock, payable June 12th to stock of record May 18, 1925; also quarterly dividends:
7 per cent. Preferred, $1.75 a share
6 per cent. Debenture, $1.50 a share.
6 per cent. Preferred, $1.50 a share
Payable August 1 to stock of record July 13, 1925.

About Walking

The suggestion has been made that Charlotte and George be made through streets so far as the intersection of the two is concerned, and it seems to observers that there is no other way out of the serious jam that marks every busy hour at this corner.

On Saturday night last the constable on point duty stopped the north and south traffic at one time to allow scores of pedestrians to cross from McDermid and Jury's corner to Pringles' and they were afraid to go because of cars turning. There is no safe moment for pedestrians so long as cars can turn around the policeman off Charlotte on to George north and off George onto Charlotte west—or any other way. In fact it appears to the people most concerned about their own safety—the pedestrians—that it is safer to indulge in the so-called 'jay' walk in the middle of a block than to trust to the caprices of motorists at the corners.

Even at Brock street and George, never touted as a particularly dangerous corner, this may be observed any five minutes in the day. Presumably citizens are to walk straight across from corner to corner. What happens? A car comes north on George and the driver intends to turn at this intersection. He crosses the first so-called 'safe' zone, swings out to get a wider turn, crossing a second 'safe' zone; crosses his third on the north side of Brock, and clips off a little of the fourth at the west side of George.

It seems infinitely safer for the pedestrian to cross midway between George and Water.

It would not be so if the cars went straight through, and obviously the same rule applies at the more congested George and Charlotte.

An hour's observation of the tangled traffic, with pedestrians getting the short end of the advantage, will convince anyone of the urgent need for reform.

LEAGUE DEFENDED ARMS CONFERENCE

American Proposal Meets With Spirited Opposition From Small Countries.

GENEVA, May 16. — (Canadian Press).—A spirited defence of the League of Nations characterized to-day's session of the International Conference for the Control of the Traffic in Arms and Munitions.
This came during a debate on the United States amendment to divorce the proposed international arms traffic control bureau from the League.
The smaller states represented at the conference through the Spanish and Roumanian delegates declared that the League, although perhaps imperfect, is a going concern, that it "represents the hopes of humanity and that it would be useless to create a new organization which would only hinder the League.

EAST HASTINGS OTTAWA MEMBER DIES SUDDENLY

T. H. Thompson, M.P., Stricken Saturday and Passed Away Sunday in Madoc.

IN DAIRY INDUSTRY

Known Locally and Throughout Central Ontario District.

Thomas H. Thompson, member of the Federal Parliament for East Hastings in three consecutive terms, died suddenly at his home in Madoc Sunday morning from a complication of heart trouble, acute indigestion and congestion of the lungs. He was 58 years old.

On Saturday morning he apparently hurt himself while cranking his car preparatory to a trip to Belleville, where he was to attend a meeting of the cheese board. After covering about half a mile of the road he was compelled to return home, where he collapsed. During the day he partly recovered, but in the evening he was again stricken, and passed away at four o'clock Sunday morning.

Mr. Thompson was in the cheese business for many years, first as a maker, then instructor and later as buyer. He was well known in the dairy industry of Central Ontario. Not only in business, but also in municipal, political and fraternal affairs he had been a prominent figure. He had served as Reeve of Madoc, Warden of Hastings county, also as a director of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, and he was a Past Grand Master of the Black Knights of Eastern Ontario. He had been signally honored by the riding he represented and as a staunch Conservative had enjoyed the fullest confidence of his party.

Mrs. Thompson and two daughters are the surviving members of his family, together with four brothers, two in Stirling, one in Prince Edward and one in California, and two sisters, one in Western Canada and the other in Madoc. The funeral will take place at Madoc on Tuesday at 2.30 p.m.

Second Vacancy in House.

OTTAWA, May 17.—The death of Thomas H. Thompson, Conservative member of Parliament for East Hastings, Ont., at Madoc today, creates the second vacancy in the House of Commons. The other vacant seat is Campton, Que., where a by-election has been necessitated by the recent death of Aylmer D. Hunt, Liberal M.P.

EARL OF YPRES IMPROVES.

LONDON, May 18. — The Earl of Ypres, formerly Field Marshal Sir John French, who in March underwent an operation, had recovered sufficiently Saturday to be removed in an ambulance from the hospital to his Kent residence, Deal Castle. The patient stood the journey home well.

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 18—Four Chinamen are dead from poisoning at a cannery near Alert Bay, several miles north of this city, according to word received here.

United States' Request Ignored By Newspapers

PARIS, May 18 (Canadian Press).—The request of United States for the settlement of war debts is ignored with striking unanimity by the principal morning newspapers, but The Excelsior leads a few of the smaller political organs in criticising the Washington Government for presenting its bill, "when France is floundering in a grave financial crisis." L'Action Francaise says: "The Anglo Saxons are demanding billions that not only risk giving the death blow to our finances but also make our cup of bitterness run over."

FIRE DESTROYED FARM ANIMALS AND MACHINERY

Robert Cleugh, of Seymour Township, Lost Fifteen Cows and Four Horses.

CAUSE UNKNOWN.

Insurance is $12,000, But Will Cover Only Part of the Loss.

BURNBRAE, May 18. — Fire of unknown origin destroyed the barn of Robert Cleugh, concession 8, Seymour township, at 2.00 o'clock Sunday morning, and seriously threatened the dwelling house. A house used for a hired man was also destroyed, but as there was no hired man working on the farm at the time the house was vacant. Fifteen head of cattle and four horses were lost and a number of farm implements were destroyed.

The fire was first noticed by Mr. Cleugh, who was awakened by the reflection of the flames. The neighbors were summoned and a bucket brigade was quickly formed, but the flames had obtained too great a hold on the barn and the house for anything to be saved. A woodshed containing a considerable quantity of wood was destroyed but most of the season's wood was still piled outside and was saved by pouring water over the pile.

The wind was blowing directly from the burning building to the house but the rain of Saturday night had left the roof very wet and sparks did not gain any hold on the roof. The house is built of stone, and with the wet shingles, is practically fireproof.

Insurance to the amount of $12,000 was carried on the barn and its contents but the loss will be much more than this. The prompt action of about forty of the neighbors in turning out saved the loss of a huge woodpile, contining the winter's cut of wood, and provided a measure of safety if the flames had reached the house. The barn and hired man's house were to far gone when the fire was noticed.

The cause of the fire is wrapped in mystery. It might have been caused by spontaneous combustion, or by a spark from a match or lantern, but the fire was so far advanced at the time of discovery that no opinion could be formed.

STRICKEN AT MOVIES

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 18—A. E. Currie, 45 years of age, believed to be of Winnipeg, died Saturday at the General Hospital shortly after he was taken ill while watching a performance at a motion picture theatre here.

LAME PRISONER GAINS LIBERTY CLIMBING WALL

Escaped From Local Jail Sunday Afternoon After Obtaining Own Clothes.

SIX MONTHS' TERM

Recaptured This Morning at Marmora—Was Convicted of Fraud.

Isaac Mitchell Sellyeh broke out of the Peterborough Jail yesterday afternoon, despite the handicap of a withered leg, and made his getaway. Jailer H. Nesbitt was at the police station at five o'clock to report the missing member of his flock.

He was recaptured at Marmora this morning by Hugh Gillen, chief of police there.

Detective Sergeant W. Meagher and Detective W. Carey will bring Sellyeh to Peterborough this afternoon.

Sellyeh was convicted a few weeks ago of fraud and theft in passing bad cheques on Messrs. Cherny and Atkins, and sentenced to six months in jail. Yesterday the monotony of the life evidently palled on him and he broke his way out of the bastile.

As reported Sellyeh made his way out of his cell and reached the reception room where prisoners are welcomed to Mr. Nesbitt's castle.

Here he obtained keys which gave access to the store room, where he recovered his clothes, and obtained a rope. Then audaciously, he trespassed on the women's cell, where he fastened one end of the rope and threw the other over a wall at the north end of the jail. Then he slid down to freedom.

All of this was, according to the jailer, done in broad daylight, sometime after dinner yesterday.

Is Handicapped.

The escaped man is handicapped by a withered right limb only half of his foot remaining. He walks with a distinct limp. He is believed to be wearing a brown suit and a brown hat, and has an Indian cast of features, being thick lipped and heavy faced. Calls were hurriedly sent out by the police to Campbellford, Cobourg, Port Hope, Lindsay, Lakefield and other towns through which he would be compelled to pass in making his escape from the city, and a close watch was instituted.

It is said that he was previously convicted of stealing a car at Marmora. Other police were patiently awaiting his release from custody here that they might try himon charges on their own account.

Henderson Nesbitt, the jailer, is much worried by the occurrence. He had his prisoner securely locked up at noon yesterday, he says, and does not understand how the man made so clean an escape.

LOCAL GIRL WAS SERIOUSLY HURT

Miss Edna Pammett Suffers Broken Thigh in Motor Accident.

NEAR ROSSMOUNT

Miss Edna Pammett, 228 Carlisle avenue, sustained very painful injuries about 2.00 p.m. Saturday when a motor car in which she was riding hit a post on the Provincial Highway near Rossmount. Miss Pammett was rushed to Nicholls Hospital in Comstock's ambulance and attended by Doctors Eastwood and Cameron, who discovered that her left thigh was fractured.

The accident was peculiar, in that Miss Pammett and the other occupants of the car were not thrown out, but Miss Pammett received her injuries from the force of the blow with which the car was stopped.

Italy To Increase Grant To Prince If He Marries

ROME, May 18.—The annual allowance by the Italian Government to Crown Prince Humbert will be increased by 1,000,000 lire if he marries, Premier Mussolini proposed Saturday in a bill he introduced in Parliament.

The bill provides an annual allowance of 2,000,000 lire for the Crown Prince, and specifies that this shall be increased to 3,000,000 lire if he takes unto himself a wife.

The par value of a lira is about 24 cents. Its present exchange value is between 4 and 5 cents.

BULGARIA HAS TROUBLE WITH RAIDING BANDS

Activities Said to be For Political Motives, Not Robbery.

FURTHER UNREST.

Prospect of Overcoming the Disorder is Not Very Encouraging.

LONDON, May 18 (Canadian Press).—Bulgaria's troubles are continuing, despatches reaching London reporting further unrest, with bands of raiders pillaging villages in the central part of the country. Their activities are said to be for political motives, and the government's action in sending a large number of troops to cope with their is taken here to indicate that they have further aims than robbery.

As it is understood Bulgaria will not be allowed to maintain beyond May 31 the extra troops she was permitted to raise to cope with her troubles, the prospect of overcoming the disorder is not regarded here as very encouraging.

Arms Captured.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, May 18 (Canadian Press). — Recrudescence of Communist activities has been noticed in the last few days. Several armed bands composed of desperate men, all good marksmen, are harrassing the countryside in central Bulgaria. They operate only at night and thus have eluded police and troops sent after them.

Several stores of explosives and arms have been discovered.

LONDON, May 18. — It is learned in official circles that the British government, in agreement with other allies does not feel inclined to authorize the retention beyond May 31, of the excess troops which Bulgaria was allowed to raise to care for the recent disorders in that country.

100,000 AT WEMBLEY

Perfect Weather Brought Out Crowd on Saturday.

LONDON, May 18. — (Canadian Press).—Almost 100,000 people visited the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley Saturday. The attendance at the big Fair since the opening on May 6 has been about the same as the attendance for the same period last year. Beautiful sunshine has been largely responsible for attracting the people Wembleywards, and just now the weather in England is perfect, but as usual a change is predicted as imminent.

Two Britons, Like American, Stop King and Shake Hands

LONDON, May 18.—(Associated Press.)—The recent incident at the Wembley Exhibition wherein an American shook hands with the King has proved infectious.

The King and Queen, the Crown Prince of Norway and other guests Saturday paid another visit to the exhibition, and were proceeding around the grounds on the miniature railway when two of the King's own legal subjects thrust themselves successfully through the cheering crowds and grasped the Sovereign's hand.

Although there were many protests from the crowd at this behaviour, the King graciously reciprocated the greetings.

The police, thinking then that the royal good nature had been sufficiently demonstrated, took steps to prevent further intrusions.

UNITED STATES ISSUES HINT TO DEBTOR NATIONS

"Pointed Suggestion" By Washington That Time Has Arrived For Settlement.

NOT A DEMAND.

Exchanges Expected in Regard to Obligations of Nine European Nations.

WASHINGTON, May 18. — Nine of the foreign Governments which borrowed from the United States during the World War and subsequent to the armistice have received more or less pointed suggestions from this Government that the time seems to have arrived when concrete negotiations looking to debt adjustment are in order.

Great Britain, Hungary, Finland, Lithuania, and Poland have completed funding arrangements with the Debt Commission, a body created by Act of Congress. The nine nations which in effect are now being called upon to follow the example of these five nations are France, Italy, Belgium, Greece, Roumania, Czechoslovakia, the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, otherwise Yugoslavia, Esthonia and Latvia.

Russia, Armenia and Liberia, the other wartime debtor nations, do not figure in the present effort to produce an adjustment of indebtedness.

In confirming Saturday the fact that steps had been taken toward debt settlements, Administration officials were careful to point out that there has been no move having the color or suggestion of a peremptory demand.

Our Envoys Act For Debt Board.

According to officials, the State Department is conducting exchanges on the subject through its Ambassadors and Ministers in the capitals of the nations affected and the function of our diplomatic representatives is merely to carry out the wishes of the Debt Commission.

While one statement made in an authoritative quarter Saturday was interpreted as meaning that this Government had sent a circular note to the nine debtor nations, expressing its conclusion that the time had arrived for definite funding operations, the fact appears to be that the procedure has not taken on such a form, suggestive of a demand, but has been definite enough, in the representations made by our diplomatic officers, to show that this Government believes that a more concrete basis for discussing war time and post-war debts should be reached.

In what has been said by our Ambassadors and Ministers under their instructions there is no suggestion that the Government desires to force payment. Every consideration is being shown for the financial and economic distress of the debtor countries affected, and the debtor nations hove been so given to understand in an informed way.

At the same time it is clear that, however informally the Government is proceeding, it is seeking to impress upon the allied debtors that it expects some exchanges with reference to debt adjustment to take a definite turn.

Previous information has been interpreted as meaning that the tentative effort at debt adjustment has been directed largely or exclusively to France. It now appears from what was disclosed Saturday that all the debtor countries, with the exception of Russia, Armenia, whose national status is not well defined, and Liberia, are included in the new policy of the Coolidge Administration to seek a concrete arrangement aimed to insure an ultimate refund of borrowed moneys.

Policy Change In Taking Initiative.

An important aspect of the policy lies in the fact that heretofore the Debt Commission and the Government have proceeded along the line of waiting for debtor nations to make proposals for debt settlement, but now have concluded that the time for waiting for foreign initiative has passed.

The Government has reason to put faith in press reports from Paris that the French Government is considering the sending of a commission to this country to negotiate an adjustment for funding French governmental indebtedness to the United States.

WEATHER

The rainfall Saturday evening was fairly heavy, .45 of an inch falling. There was frost again this morning (18th of May), the temperature dropping to 30 degrees dusing the night, 2 degrees below the freezing point. In addition there was a heavy white frost. This morning makes six occasions the temperature has gone below freezing this month, and about a dozen times there has been white frost. It is hardly necessary to say that this is something unusual.—W.P.

Dorothy Anthony Wins Prize Shetland Pony

"Miss David," the little Shetland pony that formed the prize in the Capitol Theatre contest, which closed on Friday evening of last week, fell to the lot of Dorothy Anthony, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Anthony, 322 Water Street. Dorothy polled votes totalling 1,607,000. Marion Stacey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stacey, 209 Maitland Avenue, came second, with a total vote of 1,119,000.

The pony was presented to Dorothy on the Capitol stage at the Saturday matinee.

PRINCE RESTING BESIDE THE SEA

Has Spent Several Quiet Days at Port Alfred, South Africa.

MOVES ON TO-NIGHT.

PORT ALFRED, South Africa, May 18.—The Prince of Wales has spent a couple of quiet and comparatively restful days at this popular seaside resort, which has few visitors at the present season. He has played golf and motored and enjoyed a little dancing and other amusements. The Prince will remain here until this evening and then return to Grahamstown, when he will resume his official visits in that neighborhood.

The Prince yesterday expressed himself as glad that he had had an opportunity for rest amid the beautiful surroundings of Port Alfred after the past strenuous days of his tour.

Body of Charlie Hodges Discovered in Scugog River This Morning.

MISSING TWO WEEKS.

LINDSAY, May 18—The body of Charlie Hodges, who has been missing since Monday, May 4th, was found this morning about eight o'clock in the Scugog River, just below Horns Woollen Mills.

43 MINERS DIE IN EXPLOSION

Heroic Work By Rescuers in German Tragedy—27 Injured.

RESCUE WOUNDED.

DORSTFELD, Germany, May 18 (Canadian Press).—The number of known dead in the mine explosion here on Saturday has now reached 43, with 27 injured.

The work of the trapped miners' comrades in recovering dead bodies and rescuing the wounded constitutes one of the heroic pages in the mining history of these regions.

The approach to the victims was both difficult and dangerous. Oxygen apparatus could not be carried on the backs of the rescuers but had to be dragged with difficulty through narrow passages. Many in the rescue expeditions were overcome by poisonous gasses, but their places were heroically taken by others.

Many of the rescuers worked 24 hours continuously.

FATHER OF SEVEN DROWNED LAST EVENING BELOW THE "LOCKS" DAM; FELL FROM STONE WHILE FISHING

James E. Herron, Garage Mechanic, Swept by Swift Current Into Deep Water.

IN SIGHT OF MANY

Attempts at Rescue Hampered by Lack of Life-saving Equipment.

James E. Herron, 44, was drowned at Peterborough lock at 7.45 o'clock last night when he fell from a stone while fishing. He resided at 552 Bethune street, having recently moved there from 280½ McDonnel street, and was employed as a mechanic in the A. Brown and Co. garage on Water street. Previously he had been a blacksmith, and was employed as spring expert with Fitzgerald and Co.

The tragedly is specially sad because of the large family that survives. There are seven children, the oldest of whom is 15 years. Mrs. Herron, who was taken to the scene of the fatality last night, had seen her husband only a short time before.

The victim was fishing from a rock at the east end of the dam, where the bank shelves gradually, water being only two feet deep some distance from the shore. There is a powerful eddy, however, and this carried the unfortunate man quickly outward. He was wearing his overcoat, and this hampered his swimming athough he was, his wife said, a strong swimmer. After circling in the fifty-foot eddy twice, he was carried into the strong current from the sluice and swept downstream away from possible help.

Many Witnesses.

There were fully fifty men fishing from the east and west banks of the river and from the pier near the west shore, and a general rush was made to give assistance. Henry Gordon, a lock man, seized a pole used for handing logs, and tried with this to reach Herron. He succeeded in touching the drowning man, but could not fasten the pole in his clothing. Mr. Campbell, 74 Ware street, threw a hook which touched Herron's clothes but failed to catch. Everything possible was done with the equipment at hand, and had the current whirled the victim around again, or had he been able to grasp the pole or rope, his life would undoubtedly have been saved. A punt was hurriedly pushed across the current at the end of the pier, but its occupants were unable to help, Herron having been sucked under the surface of the water.

Grapple Iron Lost.

The police were promptly at the spot and endeavoured with grappling irons to locate the body, while the firemen stood by at the fire station ready to rush the pulmotor into action, but at half past nine darkness compelled searchers to cease work. The current made attempts at searching close to the dam dangerous, and when the iron caught under the rock the rope was broken. The drowned man's hat was recovered from the water.

Adrift On Lake.

James Herron was one of four men who were adrift on the lake all night in a snowstorm recently when their motor boat engine stalled. A that time they had a terrible experience.

The body has not been recovered

Mother Sees Little Son Crushed By Automobile

MONTREAL, May 18 — (Canadian Press).—While his mother watched him playing in front of his home, Leon Pare, aged three years, stepped from the sidewalk and was almost instantly killed by an automobile here on Saturday afternoon.

The driver of the car did not stop after the accident but was later located and will appear at the coroner's inquest today.

FRENCH TROOPS RELIEVED POSTS AND MADE GAINS

Riffs Used Artillery, But Their Firing Was Very Erratic.

HEROIC GARRISON.

Only Forty Men Left In One Fort When Relief Arrived.

PARIS, May 18.—(United Press). — French troops under General Freydenberg, after sharp fighting, succeeded in relieving the pressed outpost at Boutoumeur, said the official communique on the Riffian struggle.

The Riffs used field artillery, but their firing was erratic. On the eastern front Riffian reinforcements were reported to have come up while on the western line, General Colombat had reached El Klaa Sless.

The new French gain followed Colombat's success in releasing the blockade of the Senegaleze garrison at Alouez, which for a fortnight had held out against onslaughts of the Riff tribesmen.

Heroic Defence.

The story of Alouez's defence is a tale of heroism against odds. Captain Duboin and his handful of Senegaleze kept off the maddened Riffs until their supplies and munitions ran low. Then Duboin communicated to the oncoming relief forces that haste was needed or otherwise "we shall die to the last man."

Aeroplanes dramatically dropped war medals to the brave two score defenders, whereupon Duboin laconically flashed back his thanks, adding: "What we need is grenades."

They came along with Colombat's men, and to-day Duboin and the faithful blacks adorned with the hero medals of the French army are listed as men worthy to rank with their heroic brothers of the world war.

STOCK FOR EMPLOYEES

Distribution of $500,000 Worth by Imperial Oil Company.

REGINA, Sask., May 18.—(Canadian Press).—More than $500,000 worth of Imperial Oil Company of Canada stock was distributed among the employees of the concern working in Regina and surrounding district Friday night at the Community Hall at the Regina plant, when 165 employees assembled to reap the reward of five years' saving under the co-operative trust scheme adopted by the company. Men and women received shares varying in number from 10 to 500.

YOUR CHILDREN'S EYES.
The class-room of to-day makes greater demands upon the students' eyes than ever before. Are you sure that your child is not handicapped by the need of glasses? This is a vital matter which should not be neglected. See W. H. Lacey, Optometrist, 410 George Street. 'Phone 1160.

APRIL RAILWAY ACCIDENTS 15(

13 Persons Killed and 199 Injured on Canadian Lines.

OTTAWA, May 18.—(Canadian Press).—The total number of accidents reported on Canadian railways for the month of April to the return just issued by the Board of Railway Commissioners is 15[illegible] involving the death of 13 people and injuries to 199. Of the killed one was a passenger, one an employee, and eleven "others."

There were nine crossing accidents resulting in two persons being killed and five injured. Six of the nine crossings were classified as unprotected.

Made-in-Peterboro Bulletin.

NO. 1 PETERBORO, ONT. NO CENTS

To the Citizens of Peterborough:

For the next two weeks in this space it will be the endeavor of the Advertising Committee of the Made-in-Peterborough Fair project to "sell you" the idea and the practical worth of whole-heartedly supporting this event, from the different angles that should interest every citizen.

First.—From the standpoint of knowing your own City, its diversified manufacturing plants, and their products. A study of the output of Peterborough plants will convince every visitor to the Fair that as a manufacturing centre Peterborough stands as high in quality of product as any point in the Dominion or on the Continent.

Second.—From the fact that the good work of the Peterborough Health Association would be badly crippled or practically done away with if some $2,000.00 net or more is not realized from the affair which is taking the place of the Motor Show that was conducted for some years back for a similar purpose.

Third—That as a community and district enterprise, it is worth while. Some three hundred or more men and women of all walks of life are organized and working to make it a success. The farming community in this work, as in all such worthy objects, is deeply interested, and the getting together of urban and rural citizens on the everyday problems of life is good for this or any other community.

Through inter-city relations of Kiwanians, Rotarians, Fair Boards, and such organizations, citizens in Lindsay, Cobourg, Oshawa, Port Hope, Campbellford, Belleville and the smaller towns and villages are already giving aid on this, as they have on other occasions, for the good of the cause.

Fourth.—That you will get full value for every dollar you spend. The Entertainment Committee will tell you of the good time you will have, as well as its educational value. And last, but not least, the saisfaction you will have of knowing that, in some way, your support of the Made-in-Peterborough Fair has contributed to the health and pleasure of some little tot who, without this aid, might be deprived of the benefits of the work of the Peterborough Health Association during the coming months.

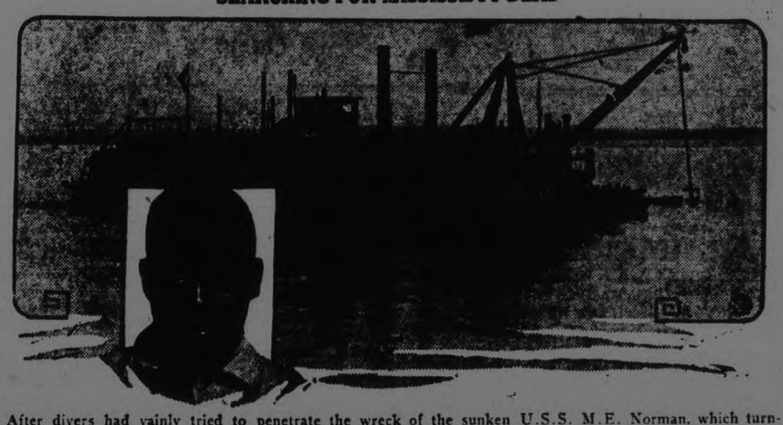
SEARCHING FOR MISSISSIPPI DEAD



After divers had vainly tried to penetrate the wreck of the sunken U.S.S. M.E. Norman, which turned turtle and sank in the Mississippi river with a death toll of 22, the government steamer Choctaw used her anchor, as shown in the photo, to endeavor to break up the submerged vessel so that the bodies in her might be recovered. Inset is Tom Lee, negro boatman, who while the Norman was listing approached the vessel and took a boatload of struggling survivors to shore. Again he returned, making four trips in all and saving more than 20 people.

UNCOVER PLOT TO KILL KING

Large Number of Arrests Made—Public Buildings Were Threatened.

BY COMMUNISTS.

LONDON, May 18. — The Belgrade correspondent of the London Sunday Express wires as follows:

"A well laid communist plot to kill King Alexander in his palace, and all his ministers, has been frustrated and a large number of arrests have been made. Documents seized show that the plotters had intended to blow up the most important public buildings in the country.

"Those arrested include Russian, Bulgarian and Hungarian Communists who has recently arrived from Jugo-Slavia. Sensational developments are expected.

"The plot just discovered, it is stated originated in Moscow."

PROF. GREAVES GIVES ADDRESS TO ROTARIANS

Art of Public Speaking is Discussed by Toronto Professor.

MEMORABLE ADDRESS.

Two New Members Are Welcomed by Rotary To-day.

The members of the Peterboro Rotary Club heard a good deal about the technique of oratory today when Professor W. H. Greaves of Victoria College addressed them on "The Art of Public Speaking." It was one of the most interesting addresses that the club has heard, and the only regret of the members was that it was not possible for Professor Greaves to speak at greater length.

Among the visitors today were Geo. H. Corsan, famous swimmer; Doug. Loomis and Geo. H. Roper, of the local Y.M.C.A., and Dr. Fraser, the new Provincial bacteriologist.

Professor Greaves, who was introduced by Rotarian Rev. W. Harold Young, imparted some most invaluable information on the subject of public speaking, and incidentally supplied his hearers with food for amusement as he imitated the defects commonly found among men who speak in public. While necessarily of a somewhat technical nature, the speakers explanations were so clear and the subject matter so full of interest that the Rotarians were sorry when Prof. Greaves announced that his time was up. In the short time at his disposal, he discussed such things as the production, modulations, approach and inflection, etc., in a manner that for most of his audience threw a new light on the subject of public speaking. Taking the sentence, "I never said that," Professor Greaves showed how it was possible to get sixteen meanings out of the same set of words, and added that many more combinations were possible.

Rotarian Killaly reported that the services of all the members would be needed in co-operation with the Kiwanis club at the Made-in-Peterborough Exhibition.

Two new Rotarians, Messrs. Jack Gillespie and Jack MacDonald were given a hearty welcome.

Next week's meeting will be held on Tuesday.

SUNDAY SERVICE BY STREET CARS

Possibility of Continuing Running on Sundays All Year Named.

Sunday street car service started yesterday, and it may continue from that time throughout the whole year, according to J. L. Clifford, manager of the Peterboro Radial lines.

Mr. Clifford said that it was just at this time last year that the service began on Sundays but it closed last year on September 14th.

Mr. Clifford also stated that the cars should operate to a profit, especially as Decoration Days are of sufficient profit to compensate for several days when the service is not used so much.

STONE FLOUR MILL SOLD TO MILLERS

CAMPBELLFORD, May 18—T. L. Diamond on Saturday sold to George Ivey and W. W. Milligan, both of Campbellford, the stone flour mill owned by ames Cranston of Stirling. The new owners take possession this morning. Mr. Cranston has purchased Mr. Ivey's home in Campbellford and will reside here.

Mr. Ivey was formerly clerk in the office of the local branch of the Peterboro Cereal Company, and Mr. Milligan was engaged as a miller in the same plant. The former resigned some time ago to carry on the cheese buying business that had been conducted by his late father. Both are practical men, the one familiar with the business and the other with the milling department. Their new property is situated in a thriving agricultural section and the firm starts out with bright prospects for success.

Successful Sales

John L. Hay, who has figured in so many real estate and other transactions in town recently estimates that he made a net profit of $400 on Friday when he sold his stock and implements on his farm in West Seymour Friday, J. S. Bottisby being the auctioneer. Mr. Hay placed the value of the stock and chattels at $1200 and the total realized was $1605. The cattle sold were grades of different breeds and several dairy cows sold for $80. As usual the demand for horses was not good.

R. S. Southworth, who is leaving town, sold his household effects by auction on Saturday afternoon. The articles offered were of high quality and good prices were realized.

In Favor of Union

The Presbyterians at Rylstone by a standing vote have declared for Union 19 to 10. This congregation is affiliated with the one at Burnbrae which contains a large number of Unionists and it is likely that the latter wil now find a new church home at Rystone.

Express Company Taxes

Fred Wilsher, formerly C.N.R. express and ticket agent here, and over whom a dispute has arisen concerning the payment of the business and oil tax for the building which he occupied has written George O'Sullivan, owner of the premises regarding the matter.

Mr. Wilsher, who conducted the business on a commission basis, says that as the C.N.R. is a government enterprise it is exempted from the payment of business tax. With regard to the tax for oiling the street in front of the premises, Mr. Wilsher says that this in the past has always been paid by the company and he sees no reason why the same course should not be taken this year.

A. Y. Stillman of Belleville is district manager for the Express Company. It was reported at the recent special meeting of the council that Mr. Stillman had disclaimed all responsibility for any portion of the tax. It was accordingly decided to notify Mr. Wilsher, who has moved to Granby, Que., to appear before the Court of Revision which meets here on May 28.

To Sell Ferguson Beer

Landlord James Blute of the Windsor Hotel and C. H. Coveney of the Queens, have applied for permits to sell the new 4.4 beer. Thomas McAlvoy, who conducts a place for the sale of soft drinks has also made application for a license. Mr. Blute is changing his premises to answer the conditions of sale and the bar in the Queens is already boarded up. As before stated James Kerr of the St. Lawrence Hotel will not handle the new beverage.

No grocers have made any move to take up saloon keeping as a side line.

VICTORIA DAY IS CELEBRATED MAY 25

May 24 Comes on Sunday, So Holiday Will Be Observed Monday.

The occurrence of Victoria Day on Sunday this year has caused a certain amount of confusion among the citizens who are not sure whether the holiday will be observed on Saturday or Monday. The statutes of Canada say that a legal holiday falling on a Sunday shall be observed on the Monday following, so that Monday, May 25, will be a holiday this year, giving a long weekend for motorists who can cover a great deal of ground in the two days and a half, or for those who wish to make preparations for opening up their summer cottages.

MEMORIAL SERVICE ANGLICAN CHURCH

Campbellford Rector Pays Tribute to Life of Late Bishop Reeve.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 18.—In all the Anglican churches in the diocese, memorial services were held yesterday for the late Right Rev. W. J. Reeve, who died recently at his home in Toronto. The services in Christ Church here were impressive, the congregating uniting in doing honor to the memory of a man who did so much to carry the Gospel to native tribes in the outposts of Canada and who was known here, having on more than one occasion officiated at confirmation services.

All the arrangements were in keeping with the nature of the special services. The floral decorations in the church were white and the hymns sung all had reference to the life and death of the departed pioneer missionary. The processional hymn was "For all the Saints Who From Their Labors Rest," and another appropriate number was the hymn, which is a metrical version of the command of the Master to His disciples to go into all the world and preach the Gospel. The late Bishop Reeve heard that message and obeyed the call when he was a young man. He came from England and spent the best years of his life in the service of the church among the Indians and Eskimos of the north, suffering almost unbelievable hardships and laboring with unwavering energy for years with barely perceptible results, but never for a moment losing hope.

The Rector's Tribute.

As a preface to his sermon, Rev. G. C. Clarke explained that the memorial service was general throughout the diocese. Bishop Sweeney of Toronto, in a pastoral letter, had paid a high tribute to the deceased, in whose death he felt that he had suffered a personal loss.

The rector in his sermon gave a brief sketch of the life of the deceased. He was 21 when he entered college in England, and he graduated four years later. From the first it had been his intention to take up missionary work in India or China, but the call came for men for the Canadian field, and, accompanied by his wife, the young man sailed for America. The hardships of a pioneer life confronted them at the beginning of their long journey, for transportation was slow and the discomforts many in those days, and railway travel was a hardship.

Mr. Clarke gave a graphic account of the trials that were met with by the missionary and his wife on the way to their field in the far north, and after their arrival. Even nature was in league against them, and the climatic conditions were something to which they had never been accustomed. For four days they were without food of any kind, and for a long period their diet consisted of fish, three times a day, with a few potatoes. As a special treat there was a small quantity of bread every Sunday, but flour was so scarce that this food had to be given during the week only to the growing children.

As an example of the indomitable spirit of the missionary, Mr. Clarke told of how on one occasion he went 160 miles to see one woman who was ill. When he reached home after a trip of 320 miles, he found his own wife sick, with a family of 10 children to care for. Mrs. Reeve died some years later, her death being in a great measure due to the hardships which she had endured in the mission field.

Mr. Clarke also sketched the career of the late Bishop Reeve, after his return to Ontario, and, as the lesson to be drawn from his life, quoted the verse from Longfellow's Psalm of Life, the first line of which is "Lives of great men all remind us."

The congregation knelt while the choir sang, "Peace, Perfect Peace," and stood when at the close of the service, Miss Gertrude Maynard, the organist, played "The Dead March."

Confirmation services will be held in Christ Church next Monday evening, with Right Reverend Bishop Sweeney of Torfonto officiating.

LABOR CONFERENCE.

GENEVA, May 18.—With the meeting at Geneva on May 19 of the Seventh International Labor Conference, a spirited fight will be made in the re-election of the Governing Board of the International Labor Bureau to secure adequate representation for the Latin American countries.

The governing board of the International Labor Bureau corresponds in that organization with the Council of the League of Nations. The members are elected for a period of three years and the entire board becomes vacant with the coming session of the intenational labor conference.

At the present time the board, as provided in the Versailles treaty, is composed of twenty-four members, of whom twelve represent their respective governments, six the great international labor organizations, and six the employers' federations.

With the May conference, however, it is expected that an amendment enacted in 1922 will become effective, whereby the governing board will be increased from 24 to 32 members, of which 16 will represent governments, eight workers' organization and eight employers' groups.

Of the 32 seats, ten are to be specifically reserved for non-European states, of which six will be filled by government representatives two by workers and two by employers.

FISHERMEN END STRIKE

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., May 18—One thousand Fraser River fishermen who went on strike last week decided Saturday to return to work today. It was announced that a compromise had been reached with the salmon buyers.

SPECTACULAR PREPARATIONS FOR RUM FIGHT

OBITUARY

CHRISTOPHER CROWE

WARSAW, May 18—The funeral of the late Christopher Crowe took place on Friday afternoon to Warsaw cemetery. Rev. F. G. Weir conducted the services at the home and at the grave. The funeral was very largely attended. Among others from outside the township were Dr. Fraser and Mr. Casement of Lakefield, and Mr. Robb of Norwood. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Richard Crowe, Walter Newell, Gordon Crowe, Frank Darling, William Crowe, George Crowe. Some few other quite elderly people who remembered Mr. Crowe as a boy were at his funeral.

RICHARD DEAN

LAKEFIELD, May 18—Richard Dean died this morning about 8 a.m. at the home of Mr. H. J. Abbot, Douro. He lived formerly at Warsaw and was Clerk in the Township of Dummer and Public Notary for 21 years. He wife died three years ago and for the past two and one half years he has made his home with his niece, Mrs. Abbot. About one month after the death of his wife he was stricken with paralysis from which he never properly recovered. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Henry Smith of Lakefield. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and a staunch Conservative. During his life-time Mr. Dean was very wel known and very highly respected throughout the entire community. The funeral announcement will be made later.

MRS. ELLEN KYLIE.

The death occurred Saturday noon at her home at Hiawatha of Mrs. Ellen Kylie, widow of James Kylie. Her husband died six years ago. She is survived by three sons, James at home, Herbert and Frederick of Otonabee, and four daughters, Mrs. Joseph Crowley, Otonabee, Mrs. Vernon O'Dette, Peterborough; Misses Mary and Nellie, at home.

The funeral will take place Tuesday morning at 8.30 to the Church of the Sacred Heart and St. Peter's cemetery.

NEW OFFENSIVE AGAINST RUSSIA

Herald Prints Despatch Saying Britain Was Aiding World Move.

EXPEL COMMUNISTS.

LONDON, May 18 (United Press).—Whether Great Britain is contemplating conversations with France or other Allies looking to a rupture of diplomatic relations with Russia, was the question that Ben Smith, Laborite, proposed to put this afternoon in the House of Commons to Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary.

Smith's proposed move was the upsot of a story in the Labor Journal, The Daily Herald, from Berlin, to the effect that Britain was aiding a new world wide diplomatic offensive against Russia. The Berlin report, credited to an "absolutely reliable authority," claimed that a joint Allied note to Russia was planned, in which the Russian Government would be asked to repudiate the Communist Internationale with expulsion of its headquarters from Moscow.

Whites Rebel.

Meantime, according to a London Times Danzig dispatch, a new White movement involving sixty thousand insurrectionists under General Bozovsky has seized a considerable area in the Minsk region, while the Soviet chieftain Budienny is fighting to put it down.

SINGLE BRACELET

A single wide bracelet with jewels forming some complicated design is now considered smarter than the many small circlets.

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK

The wonder trip of the coming summer will be conducted by Dean Laird of Macdonald College, to Victoria, B.C., and back.

Inspired by the success of the trip to Victoria last year on the occasion of the Teachers' Federation meeting at that point, and filled with patriotic motives for everyone to see their own country, the Dean has arranged for a special train of standard sleeping cars to leave Toronto on July 20, visiting Port Arthur, Fort William, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise, Vancouver, thence steamer to Victoria.

Returning, the trip will be via the Okanagan Valley, Nelson, the Kootenay Lakes, Windermere Bungalow, Camp, from which place the party will be motored to Banff, 104 miles over the newly completed Banff-Windermere Highway, the most charming, and awe inspiring trip it is possible to conceive, with stops at Radium Hot Springs, Vermilion River, and Storm Mountain Bungalow Camps—another day at Banff, then Edmontno, Saskatoon, Devil's Gap Bungalow Camp, near Kenora on the Lake of the Woods, steamer from Fort William, to Port McNicoll, thence rail to Toronto, where the trip will terminate on August 10.

Everything is included at the price of $325.00 from Toronto transportation, sleeping cars, accommodation in hotels and bungalow camps, meals in diners, hotels, and on steamers, sightseeing tours at points visited, and all gratuities.

While appealing primarily to teachers, the tour is open to everyone desiring to go.

All will be welcome.

Fare from other points than Toronto will be named, and descriptive illustrated booklet sent on application to Dean Laird, Macdonald College, P.O., Que.

BODY IN RIVER WELL WEIGHTED

Pockets Filled With Stones and Pails Hung Round Neck.

MISSING TWO DAYS.

MIDLAND, May 18.—(Canadian Press).—After scouring the town and country for two nights and a day, the body of Leonard Clive Parrot was found near the old Fort Bridge on the Wye River by the police yesterday.

The pockets were weighted with stones, and two syrup pails, also filled with stones, hung about his neck. He was sixty years of age, and leaves a widow.

LIGHTNING CAUSED DISASTROUS FIRE

Several Stores in Stony Creek Were Completely Destroyed Saturday.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 18. — It is believed that lightning was the cause of a fire which did $10,000 damage in the business section of Stoney Creek on Saturday night and threatened for a time the destruction of an entire block of stores.

Shortly before nine o'clock, following a flash of lightning, the rear of Frank Cline's flour and feed store burst into flames.

During the hour that the flames raged uncontrolled the stores of Murray Dean, butcher; M. St. John, butcher; Frank Cline, flour and feed store, owned by the Charles Moore estate, and the dwellings of E. Vanduser, were completely destroyed.

The buildings were old, but valuable stock fell a prey to the fire, however.

ECONOMY FOR CANADA.

President of C.P.R. Thinks Condition of Country Requires Smaller Thought.

HAMILTON, May 18 (Canadian Press)—E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, made a plea for National Economy at Saturday night's banquet of the advertising affiliation. He believed that until normal conditions were restored it would be wiser of Canada to think in terms of the farthing rather than in millions.

LIFT STATE OF SIEGE IN SPAIN

General Rivera Advised Restoration of Constitutional Guarantee.

IN FORCE 20 MONTHS.

MADRID, May 18. — A state of siege which has been in existence since the advent of the military directorate has been lifted and constitutional guarantees have been restored in Spain under a royal decree issued yesterday.

King Alfonso, in promulgating the decree says that General Primo de Rivera, president of the military directorate, requested it, and adds "The state of siege declared by the military governors of the provinces and in Baleric and the Canary Islands on September 15, 1923, is hereby lifted."

SUSPECTS INCENDIARISM.

Sawmill and Box Factory Burned With Loss of $15,000, Uninsured.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 18 (Canadian Press) — Fire shortly after two o'clock on Saturday morning completely destroyed the sawmill and box factory owned by Mayor Paul M. Freemont, at Blind River, with a loss of between $15,000 and $20,000 against which there is no insurance. Mayor Freemont suspects incendiarism.

MORE LACES USED

Cream and ecru laces in the heavier meshes are used to good effect on black satin and chiffon gowns.

THERE is only one McCLARY'S Tor-Red (Protected) Element and it does each and every one of these things:

Heats Quickly—By building up and multiplying the heat, instead of dissipating it into the air.

Retains Heat—The Tor-Red (Protected) Element retains heat and once heated will cook on "low" or "off" with stored heat.

Toasts Perfectly—Without risk of short circuit by crumbs getting into, or toaster coming in contact with the wiring.

Cooks After Current Turned Off—The stored heat in Tor-Red (Protected) Elements keeps them at cooking heat long after the current is turned off.

Saves Current—Because of the stored heat.

Reduces Repairs—Because nothing can get into the Elements by pots boiling over or dust or crumbs dropping on to the wiring.

Lasts Longer—Being protected, McClary's Tor-Red Elements need no cleaning or brushing, avoiding burnouts.

The Haunted House

TALES about it were as numerous as its dark, broken windows. Oaks shadowed it thickly; winds sucked through its halls. The shutters sagged and were ivy-eaten—the windows giving in to an emptiness at once foreboding, dreadful.

Excitement ran agog when the place was bought. School children huddled to watch the rooms renovated. A sign swung out: "Stop here for tea." Lights sprang up. It became a frequent pleasure to drop in of evenings. In time, the towns-people loved the place. The inviting sign, the cleanliness, the light banished fear.

Many a product you didn't know and might not have trusted, has become intimate to you through the clearness of advertising. Family standbys in your medicine chest, baking powders, extracts—products that might endanger if less than pure—you know to be pure because widely advertised. You are sure of their quality wherever you buy. You feel safe in using them—in using any product that invites, through advertising, the test that proves its worth. SUNDAY'S TRAGEDY.

Sunday's drowning at the Peterboro lock should call the attention of the authorities to the fact that there are many points on the water front frequented by the public where there are no life-saving appliances available.

The scene of last evening's fatality at the east side of the river is not perhaps a place where it was to be expected that such appliances would be provided—yet the fact remains that had there been a life-saving buoy with a rope attached the fatality could undoubtedly have been prevented.

There are othe rspots along the Otonabee where people congregate, however, that should be protected.

These were listed some time ago by an expert from the Safety First League, who at the request of the Council surveyed the water front and made a report, in which he recommended a number of safeguards that should be established.

Few of his suggestions have been put into effect, however, and at a number of dangerous places where it would quite easy for a person to slip into the water there is no apparatus at hand with which a rescue could be effected.

And it must be remembered that at this season of the year when the water is still numbing cold and people have not discarded all their heavy clothing, even a good swimmer has little chance of saving himself.

The expenditure of a few hundred dollars in placing lifebuoys and pike poles at points where accidents are likely to happen might save a repetition of such tragedies as that of Sunday.

CLEAN-UP WEEK.

Clean-Up Week in Peterboro started today, and Mayor Turner in a proclamation issued to the citizens has urged that they "join in a united effort to make Peterboro a clean city."

It is an appeal that should be readily answered.

Many citizens, of course, have not waited for a clean-up week to put their house in order.

Their residences, lawns, gardens, boulevards and back yards are neat and trim, and for these particular householders the present campaign has no particular significance.

But, as the Examiner pointed out last week, there are other citizens who are good neighbors in every other sense of the word, except in their tendency to neglect the very important matter of the appearance of their property.

A house that is pleading for paint detracts from the appearance of a whole block.

A short stretch of unkempt boulevard discounts the well-kept portions on each side.

One dirty back-yard in a block not only takes something away from the neat appearance of the whole neighborhood but it also is a breeding place for the pestilent fly against which everybody should be fighting.

The present Clean-Up Week affords a splendid chance for those who have been careless about these things to get into the parade with the good neighbors who have anticipated the Mayor's proclamation.

THE FOUNTAIN TAX.

It is granted that the Ontario Government needs a lot of money to carry on the business of this Province—the fact that it was considered desirable to increase the eindemnities of the members and the salaries of the Ministers during the past session has, of coufse, increased the need—but, frankly, this latest tax of $15 a year on soda fountains comes pretty close to being the limit.

When Mr. Price first announced a beverage tax it was assumed that he meant a beer tax, and that he proposed to look to the consumers of the new Ferguson-Nickle brew for some of the additional revenue needed by the Government.

It soon developed that the levy would be extended to "soft" drinks, pop, soda water and other beverages served by restaurants and ice-cream parlours, and that the owners of soda fountains would have to pay $15 a year for the privilege of operating their fountains.

Not long ago the Government lifted the Provincial tax on pool tables, and was given credit for retiring from a field of taxation that more justly belonged to the municipality.

Why Mr. Price should then turn his attention to the harmless soda fountains is difficult to conjecture.

The tax or license will be a heavy blow to many of the smaller refreshment places.

There are so many people already engaged in the business that there has not been a great deal of profit for a large percentage of the proprietors of such places, and the action of the Provincial Government in extracting $15.00 a year as a fountain tax will be regarded by many people as the last straw.

Municipalities had better hurry up and clamp a tax on street gasoline pumps or the Provincial Treasurer will add them to his list.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS.

It is refreshing to note that the Special Committee detailed to suggest changes in the rules of the House of Commons with a view to eliminating long speeches and expediting the transaction of important business has produced some business-like suggestions that would appear to be thoroughly practicable and desirable.

So far as an outsider can judge the situation, there is no reason why these recommendations should not be adopted.

Briefly, the committee's suggestions are:

"Half-hour speeches except for leaders.

"The House to adjourn automatically at 11.30 p.m.

"No all-night sittings.

"The quorum in the House to be increased from 20 members to 50 members.

"The committees to be smaller.

"The chairman to be given greater control over members who persist in wandering from the subject and in repetitions."

These rule sappeal so much to the man on the street that one paper suggests that the day they are adopted should be declared a general holiday throughout Canada.

None of them are drastic.

There is no reason why speeches, except those by party leaders, should be over thirty minutes long, and on most occasions even the leaders might profitably remain within that limit.

It has always been a mystery why in a House of 225 members the presence of only 20 members should constitute a quorum—the suggested change to 50 would keep more members at work in the House.

By giving the chairman more power in that direction members will be forced to adhere to the issue under discussion, while decreasing the size of the committees would do away with an alibi that serves now to excuse members from being more often in the Commons.

The committee has produced an excellent report—may the House show equal judgment in putting the recommendations into force.

SOOTHING THE JAPANESE.

It is with bated breath that we venture to suggest to the neophyte statesmen on this Continent—Canadian as well as American—that they might possibly learn something in ancient wisdom from the trained Chancellories of old Europe, says the Montreal Star. What particularly moves us to make this annoying remark at the present time is the inconspicuous and yet highly significant fact that—just as the great American Armada sweeps across the Pacific after its spectacular "capture" of Hawaii under the watchful eye of a Japanese tanker—an Australian cruiser, the Brisbane (no relation to Arthur) is announced as an early visitor to the ports of Japan.

We rather suspect that, though the gesture is Australian, the inspiration may have come from the Admiralty. Our Australian brothers, for all their sturdy and even breezy independence, are not above profiting by the experience and wisdom of the departments of government established in London and enriched by the traditions and the long-accumulated lore of centuries of service. It is a great thing for Australia that they have not made a bogey-man of "Downing Street." For, after all, "Downing Street" is not our enemy, but our oldest friend.

That single Australian cruiser showing the flag in Japanese waters at the very time when the highest authorities in Japan are quite frankly disquieted by "the blazing indiscretion" of a great naval demonstration in the Pacific just now, will do more for peace than a dozen Leagues of Nations. It is an ocular proof to the Japanese people that the British Empire has no intention of affronting them, but, on the contrary, is anxious to keep their friendship. It says to Tokio that the Washington Treaties did not isolate her, so far as the British go; and Tokio is shrewd enough to infer that there is no real menace to them in an American naval demonstration which the British go out of their way to mark as "not unfriendly."

NEW HOPES OF INDUSTRIAL PEACE.

When the Privy Council handed down its decision some months ago declaring the Industrial Disputes Act ultra vires through infringement of Provincial rights in legislating on a subject assigned exclusively to the Provinces under the British North America Act, there was a general feeling of regret that an act which had been admittedly a powerful factor in the elimination of industrial quarrels should be nullified on what seemed to amount to a technicality.

The constitutionality of the Act had often been questioned and the fact that it remained in operation for eighteen years without its legality being tested was largely due to the fact that both employers and employed were unwilling to have it expunged from the statute books by order of the court and so refrained from joining the issue in the courts.

In the irritation which the judgment of the Privy Council caused in certain minds there was a recrudescence of the foolish babble of "amending the B. N. A. Act so that appeal to the Privy Council should be disallowed" in future and there was renewal of the meaningless talk about Canada "demanding her absolute autonomy." Some of this was repeated yesterday in the Commons.

In view of the good work which has been done through the instrumentality of this Act since it became law in 1907 it was natural that the Government would take immediate steps to validate the measure and it was fortunate that the terms of the learned judgment of the Privy Council indicated specifically the manner in which this could best be done. An act has therefore been introduced limiting the application of the powers sought to matters that are not within the legislative jurisdiction of any Province. To this was added an important corollary enabling any Province to take advantage of the provisions of the Dominion Act if it should desire to do so.

The Government further took advantage of the occasion to introduce certain important amendments. In the old Act penalties for infringement were confined to the employes so far as all practical purposes were concerned. An amendment passed yesterday authorizes fines of from $100 to $1,000 a day for employers making a change of wages or hours effective contrary to the provisions of the act. Other amendments provide that both sides to a dispute shall give at least thirty days' notice of any intended change affecting hours or wages, and that it will be unlawful in the event of a dispute for either employer to call a lock-out or employee to strike until the dispute has been adjudged by a board.

The Federal Bill, with its strengthening amendments, has already passed its third reading. It now remains for the Provinces to bring down such enabling legislation as will allow them to enjoy the benefits and privileges of the Act in all cases of industrial dispute which the measure covers. Ontario has already such an act on its statute books, and it is to be hoped that Quebec will not long delay in passing similar legislation. The Industrial Disputes Act has long been the pride and boast of the Dominion. It has been held up as a model of industrial legislation and sociologists from all parts of the world have studied its provisions and eulogized its aims. During nearly twenty years the necessary machinery for the operation of the law has been built up carefully and assiduously, and it will be a hindrance to our development if that machinery is allowed to stand idle and rust because of Provincial jealousies or for some baser motive.

The Federal Government has shown the way by which full advantage of a new and advanced law can be taken. It is the turn of our own Province to play the next card and win the trick.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Make Clean-Up Week mean something in Peterboro. A clean city by Saturday night is a mark well worth aiming at by everybody.

Four-four beer drinkers are to have about the same degree of privacy as a gold fish, according to Mr. Nickle's plans.

Wise and Otherwise.

French will try a non-stop flight across the Atlantic. Is this a result of Hindenburg's election?

News from London. Rainbow shoes are the fad. Hot dogs!

A straw vote shows a majority will have new hats before long.

King of Bagdad has had his pay cut in half. What the king business needs is a strong union.

The London Zoo has mice smaller than bees, which may look as big as horses to some women.

There being no law against it, Ford made 7,594 cars in one day.

One of our big cities is getting rough. A public official there was reprimanded for taking a bribe.

Experts say a third sex will result from women's entry into business. Then, men using cigarette holders will make a fourth.

Doesn't matter, but Liangling Chang, new Chinese consul, may have been named for a fire wagon.

Uncomfortable chairs in the office will get a lot of work done.

Little poker bids often are raised on the bottle.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 16 — Higher prices prevailed today for wheat. Chicago closing quotations were firm at 1 to 2¼ cents net advance. May 1.70½ to 1.71 and July 1.53⅜ to 1.53½. Corn finished at ⅞c to 1⅛c gain, oats unchanged to ⅛c up and provisions unchanged to 47c higher.

Upturns in the value of wheat came after the market had shown a temporary downtrend that was associated with extensive rain which gave relief from the semi-drought conditions in the West. Furthermore Liverpool prices today were lower than had been looked for.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, May 17—The foreign demand for Canadian grain here Saturday showed no improvement and business generally was reported quiet. The enquiry for ocean grain room was also somewhat limited, but the engagements for the week were fair and rates ruled fairly steady to most ports. The domestic trade in cash grain was also slow, the demand being only for odd cars of oats which were stronger at an advance of 1½ cents per bushel.

Owing to the continued strength in the Canadian cash wheat situation and the fact that prices advanced, a stronger feeling developed in the local flour market for spring wheat grades and prices were marked up twenty cents per barrel by all millers. The volume of business for export or domestic account showed no improvement and the market was quiet.

On account of the foregoing and the higher prices ruling for wheat there was also a firmer feeling in winter wheat flour and prices on Saturday closed 10 cents per barrel higher. The demand for supplies was of a limited character.

Millfeed Price Up

The feature of the millfeed market was the stronger feeling and prices for all lines were advanced $1.00 per ton. This was attributed to the continued good demand from both Canadian and United States buyers and the somewhat limited offerings. The market for rolled oats was firm but the trade was inactive.

The receipts of eggs in Montreal on Saturday were 3,375 cases, as against 3,684 cases for the same day last week, and 3,739 cases for the corresponding day a year ago, while the arrivals for the week ending May 16, 1925, were 18,128 cases, as compared with 17,487 cases for the previous week, and 20,490 cases for same week last year. The total receipts from May first to date were 40,631 cases, as against 55,916 cases for the same period last year. The receipts last week showed increase of 642 cases, as compared with the previous week, and a decrease of 2,361 cases with the same week last year, while the total from May first to date have been 15,285 cases below a year ago.

In sympathy with the higher prices ruling in the country the local market was stronger during the past week and prices closed with a net gain of 1c per dozen. There was a good steady demand for supplies and a fairly active trade was done in a wholesale jobbing way.

Butter and Cheese

The receipts of butter in Montreal for the week ending May 16, 1925, were 5,323 packages which showed an increase of 1,484 packages, as compared with the previous week, and a decrease of 3,798 packaes with the same week last year, while the total arrivals from May 1, 1925, to date have been 13,597 packages below the same period for 1924.

The receipts of cheese in Montreal for the week ending May 16, 1925, were 26,791 boxes which show an increase of 739 boxes, as compared with the previous week, and an increase of 11,302 boxes with the same week last year, while the total arrivals from May first to date have been 38,688 boxes larger than the same period for 1924. Of the total receipts from May first to date there is included 31,686 boxes of New Zealand Cheese so with this amount deducted from the total makes the actual increase in the receipts of Canadian cheese of 7,002 boxes.

The feature of the trade for the week was the advance in prices of 3-16 cents to 11-16c per pound paid at the boards in the country for white and colored cheese for which there was nothing in the situation to warrant as the demand from foreign buyers was of a very limited character and cable advices generally were of a discouraging nature. The trade on spot was also slow and the market on the whole was quiet.

ST. HYACINTHE CHEESE

ST HYACINTHE, May 17—The offerings on the Board were 100 packages creamery butter, and 250 boxes cheese. The pasteurized creamery sold at 31¼c per lb., and the No. 1 creamery at 30½c per lb., the latter price being 1⅛c per lb. below a week ago, and the cheese was disposed of at 17c per lb., showing a decline of ⅛c per lb.

IN CASE OF SUNSTROKE.

In case of sunstroke give the patient cool drinks of water or cold black tea or coffee, if the patient is able to drink.

When the skin is hot and dry sponge or pour cold water over the body and limbs and apply to the head pounded ice, wrapped in a towel or other cloth.

Often no ice will be at hand. When this is the case pour cold water on the head and body.

Ammonia, inhaled, is good when the person is faint or the pulse feeble.

Keep patient in a shady, cool place.

Many persons place green foliage, preferably sassafras leaves, in the hat crown to prevent sunstroke.

A shirt of orange yellow color is effective against the sun's rays. Lining of the coat and hat also may be of this color cloth.

Plenty of perspiration is almost a sure preventive of sunstroke.

And a person cannot be expected to perspire very freely unless plenty of water is taken.

DOESKIN GLOVES

The most fashionable gloves are those of doeskin, made slip-over, and worn very loose and comfortably and generously wrinkled.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton

Gloria was furious with Miss Briggs for bringing Dick home.

He could have come alone in his taxi, just as well as not! . . . But no, she must be a Ministering Angel to Dick! That was her pose, Glory thought angrily.

. . . Why couldn't these secretaries realize that their jobs began and ended in the office? Gloria, herself, had never been interested in her employers when she had worked, except as employers. She was sure of that!

"Miss Briggs didn't come into the house," Ranghild said. "She paid the taxi driver and went away. He and I got Mr. Gregory upstairs, and put him on his bed. . . . Oh, ma'am, what do you think is the matter with him?"

Ranghild was almost in tears.

"Oh, nothing much, but the 'flu," Gloria answered. "He's had it twice this winter . . . and he gets right over it. He'll be all right in a day or two."

"I tried to telephone you all over town," the maid went on. "I phoned Mrs. Seymour, and Mrs. Gail, and Mrs. Hough, and Mr. Gregory's mother . . ."

"Don't ever do it again!" Gloria cried sharply. "I'm usually down town shopping, so it's no use trying to get me by phone, anyway. . . . Let's go up and try to get Mr. Gregory into bed before the doctor comes."

They were unlacing Dick's shoes when Dr. John arrived.

Deftly as a nurse, he undressed Dick and put him into bed. He took out his stethoscope and listened to Dick's back and chest. Then he gravely nodded his head as he timed Dick's pulse.

"Just what I told him he'd have if he didn't take better care of himself," he remarked dryly. "It's pneumonia. I think I'd better telephone Mrs. O'Hara right away. She's the best pneumonia nurse in this town."

Gloria stood like a statue in the middle of the room. In a dream . . . a nightmare . . . she heard Dr. John call Mrs. O'Hara and send a taxicab for her.

She listened to him ordering things from the drug store . . . camphorated oil, cotton, brandy.

And all at once it was brought home to Gloria why it was that Dr. John couldn't go with May to all the parties and dances. . . . People needed him as Dick needed him now! Their very lives depended on his not going to parties with his fun-laving wife . . . on his sticking to his job!

Glory had never thought of it in just that way before. She had always pitied May, because she was a doctor's wife. Well, she pitied her still, and yet . . .

"Now, then, Glory, the best thing you can do is to move all your things out of this room! And I want you to stay out yourself!" Dr. John said briskly.

Glory gave a nervous little laugh.

"No need to ask me to stay out of this room," she said. "I'm frightened to death of sick people."

Her eyes were wide with fear.

"What makes him breathe like that?" she asked. She had been watching the quick rise and fall of Dick's chest under the bed clothes. He breathed as if he had been running a long way and was utterly exhausted.

"Fever and the disease, both," Dr. John said, shortly.

Gloria gathered together her belongings . . . her clother, her perfumes and powders, all the silver things from her dressing-table . . . and took them into the guest-room.

She stood looking out of the window. A taxicab was coming down the street. It slowed up before the house and stopped.

Gloria opened the door for the woman who descended from it and came up the walk toward the house.

The woman's face was vaguely familiar. And when she spoke, her voice was, too, Gloria was sure she had met her somewhere before.

"How do you do? I'm Mrs. O'Hara," she said, as she came up the front steps. "I feel almost as if I know you, Mrs. Gregory. My sister, Sue Briggs, has worked for your husband for a good many years."

Miss Briggs' sister! This woman! . . . That was why she had looked so familiar to Gloria! She had the same shadowy blue eyes and delicate features. Her voice was as low and sweet as Miss Briggs' own lovely voice.

"Will you go right upstairs?" Gloria asked with cold politeness. "Dr. Seymour is waiting for you."

Without another word the nurse disappeared around the turn at the stair-landing.

Gloria went out into the bright kitchen. Ranghild, in her black dress, stood at the sink washing lettuce leaves in a colander.

"Will we have dinner at the usual time?" she asked chokily. Her eyes were red-rimmed.

Without warning she began to cry, covering her face with her wet, red hands. Gloria stared at her.

"What in the world is the matter with you?" she asked. "You've just got to get hold of yourself, Ranghild! Mr. Gregory's not dead, yet, you know!"

"Oh, I know that pneumonia! My man, he died of it five winters ago in Sweden . . ." Ranghild sobbed. She took a handkerchief from her apron pocket and wiped her swollen eyelids.

"That's how I happened to come to this country. I couldn't bear to stay at home without my Henrik. Everything made me think of him . . . the pine woods where we went for picnics, the light from the blast furnace where he worked. . . . Shall we have the potatoes baked or mashed for dinner to-night, Mrs. Gregory?" Ranghild asked, with a mighty effort for self-control. She could see that Mrs. Gregory was not interested in her story.

"I didn't know you were a widow, Ranghild," Gloria said. "And bake the potatoes, please."

She went back into the living-room and picked up a fashion magazine.

"Mrs. Gregory!" came Mrs. O'Hara's voice from the stairway.

Gloria went out into the hall.

The nurse had changed into her white uniform and cap. She was bending over the bannisters.

"Your husband is calling for you," she said softly.

"I thought he was delirious. He didn't know anything a while ago," Gloria answered.

She did not want to go upstairs to Dick. She hated the thought of seeing him breathe in that terrible, hurrying way. It frightened her.

The look of his face had frightened her this afternoon . . . the skin flushed, the eyes bright with fever. No, she was not going to go upstairs and see him again, if there was any way out of it!

"Dr. Seymour told me to keep out of Mr. Gregory's room," she said to the nurse. "He made me take all my things out of it, even!"

Mrs. O'Hara smiled gently.

"Dr. Seymour is still upstairs. He told me to call you himself," she said.

With slow, reluctant feet Gloria went upstairs.

* * *

From behind the closed door of Dick's room she could hear a low moaning sound. It was not like Dick's voice. And yet it was his voice.

"Glory," it said over and over.

With her hand on the knob of the door, Gloria turned and faced Mrs. O'Hara who had followed her upstairs.

"I can't go in!" she protested again; "I simply can't! You don't know what you're asking of me . . ."

She darted across the hall and into the guest room, closing the door behind her.

She threw herself down on the blue silk cover of the bed, and covered her ears with her hands to shut out the sound of Dick's moaning. But she heard it, anyway. It went on and on in her brain . . . "Glory . . . Glory . . . Glory . . ."

At last she got up and tapped on the door of the sick room. Mrs. O'Hara opened it at once.

Glory tiptoed into the room.

* * *

The silk curtains had been taken down. A newspaper shrouded the rosy shade of the reading-lamp. A white towel had been laid on the top of her own dressing-table. And on it was a whole row of bottles. A hospital chart hung at the foot of Dick's bed.

And on it Dick lay, breathing in those short terrible gasps.

"Is he going to die?" Gloria whispered to Mrs. O'Hara.

Mrs. O'Hara studied Gloria with her serious eyes.

"How can I say?" she asked very gently. "He's a very sick man, Mrs. Gregory, but I've seen worse cases than his . . . Don't worry, pray."

Gloria couldn't remember the last time she had prayed. It was so long ago. . . .

She had been so busy living life that she had forgotten all about the Giver of Life!

She went lightly to the side of Dick's bed, and took his hot, dry hand in hers.

At her touch Dick stirred. He half-opened his eyes.

"Rikky-Tikky-Tavy," she said, calling him the foolish little pet name that no one but herself ever used for him.

He closed his eyes.

A ffeling of pity swept over Gloria. Dick seemed so alone in his pain—in his struggle to live.

Had she ever really given him any comradeship? Any happiness? She wondered.

Of course, she had . . . she told herself. She had been his wife. He had had her kisses, hadn't he? He had held her in his arms . . . and what else was there to love but love-making?

. . . Dimly, Gloria knew that there was something else in Dick's love for her. But what was it? Unselfishness, perhaps.

The sick man moved again. He was trying to say something.

Glory bent her head to listen.

"Glory," Dick moaned.

"Here I am," Glory whispered. "Right here, Dick. Right here beside you . . ."

She stroked his forehead. He put up both his hands and thrust her away.

"I want Glory," he moaned again. Glory rose and turned away from the bed. Angrily she faced Mrs. O'Hara.

"He doesn't even know me," she said. "Now don't ask me to come in here again! Because I won't!"

SUBSTITUTIONS AT 'BABY FARM'

Nurse Says They Were Frequent Occurrence —Examined by District Attorney.

DEATHS RECALLED.

NEW YORK, May 18—Chief Assistant District Attorney Pecora examined two witnesses Saturday in his investigation into deaths and alleged baby substitutions in the infantorium conducted at 235 East Eighty-sixth Street by Mrs. Helen Augusta Gelsen-Volk, who is held in $36,000 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury Tuesday.

The first witness was Mrs. Frances Hirsch, author of charges that Mrs. Gelsen-Volk had ill-treated infants left in her care. Mrs. Hirsch, a trained nurse, lodged ten weeks at the institution and, according to Mr. Pecora, said there were nine deaths in the place while she was there. Mrs. Gelsen-Volk, counter-attacking, has charged that Mrs. Hirsch sought unsuccessfully to become a partner in the infantorium, leaving when her offer was refused.

"Did Mrs. Geisen-Volk," asked Mr. Pecora, "ever tell you that she had substituted one child for another?"

"Yes," replied Mrs. Hirsch, according to the prosecutor, "she told me of many child substitutions."

The main charge against the baby farmer is that she substituted the child of Mary Shimkus, Brooklyn factory worker, for the 7-month-old son of William Angerer, steamfitter's helper, 536 East 147th Street, the Bronx. Mr. Pecora admitted Saturday that the fate of young Steven Angerer remained as great a mystery as it was the day the inquiry was begun.

Mrs. Hirsch told the authorities about twins that were at the infantorium at one time, a baby boy and a baby girl. She said that both infants went to Bellevue Hospital shortly after they had been consigned to the care of Mrs. Gelsen-Volk, dying there soon after admission. The baby farmer was distressed by the death of the twins, according to Mrs. Hirsch, because the parents "were good payers" and she "hated to lose the money."

Substituted Girl

There was a deserted child at the infantorium at the time, continued the trained nurse, bearing the name of "Bernice Hughes." Mrs. Gelsen-Volk, charged Mrs. Hirsch, told the mother of the twins that the boy had died, but that the girl was "out on Long Island for its health." She then substituted Bernice Hughes for the dead girl baby. When the mother became tired of finding Mrs. Gelsen-Volk "out" or hearing that her infant was gaining weight on Long Island, the nurse alleged, Bernice was shown to her masquerading as the living twin.

Mrs. Hirsch quoted the mother as exclaiming: "Do you change babies here?"

She refused to take the child, added the nurse, and later Bernice died in Lenox Hill Hospital under the name of the twin. The mother refused to caim the body and the infant was buried in Potter's Field.

Another episode at the infantorium, as related by Mrs. Hirsch to Mr. Pecora, had to do with an infant named David Warren, which became ill and died in Metropolitan Hospital under the name of David Kirschweir. According to the nurse's allegations, when the mother of David Warren called to see her child, she too was told that her child was out on Long Island. Mrs Hirsch was unable to disclose what had been the outcome of the case of David Warren, said Mr. Pecora. Another infant whose case paralleled the Warren incident was Charles Morgan. In this instance Mrs. Geisen-Volk of endeavoring to substitute another child for the Morgan baby. She did not recall just how this alleged effort turned out.

The second witness was William Gardner, described by Mr. Pecora as a friend and neighbor of Mrs. Geisen-Volk and as a person who was familiar not only with the management of the East Eighty-sixth Street farm, but also with the direction of the first Geisen-Volk adventure, at 1,066 Park Avenue. This witness said, according to the investigators, that he knew of between twenty-five and thirty deaths at the two farms. He said he had seen the Angerer baby at the Eighy-sixth Street establishment on or about Feb. 15.

Advertised for Babies

Gardner also disclosed, added Mr. Pecora, that the baby farmer had often advertised in the newspapers for babies to adopt. The witness asserted that the children were sought to take the piace of babies who had died, or who had been adopted out of the infantorium.

Mr. Pecora said he was centering his investigation on the cases of four infants, William Winters, whose skull was fractured; Agnes Toohey, who was said to have died of mastoditis; the missing Angerer infant, and Rose Fielhart, alleged to have been sold for $100 by Mrs. Geisen-Volk.

He said his investigation disclosed "a clear case of records falsified in the Feilhart case." Mr. Pecora said no effort would be made to broaden the scope of the investigation, although the mothers of five infants have asked individual inquiry into the deaths of their babies, until he had completed his investigations in these four cases.

WARSAW WOMEN HEAR LECTURE

Mrs. George Taylor Tells of Trip—Plant Flowers at Monument.

BEES HEALTHY

WARSAW, May 18. — The regular meeting of the Warsaw Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon. Arrangements were made for caring for the plot around the monument.

Mrs. George Taylor gave a very interesting account of her experience and of what she saw on her trip Vancouver. She was a close observer and noticed the little things as well as the big. Central Park, Vancouver, a park practically as nature made it, impressed her greatly. Mrs. Taylor had a large number of picture cards and other views to show; also abrnacles and fossils.

The next meeting will be on Wednesday, June 10th. The delegate will be here, and the business meeting will be at 2 o'clock.

Bees Healthy.

Messrs. Brion and Thompson, the government bee inspectors, were in this district on Friday, and were very much pleased with as much of East Peterboro as they have seen so far. Some of the apiaries are in perfect condition and disease of any kind, including foul brood, is rare.

The cold weather has not destroyed much, but growth is very materially delayed. Spring seeding is well through and the farmers have now time to prepare their corn ground without the rush there usually is.

There seems to be a good show of blossom for currants and gooseberries.

The regular meeting of the U.F.O. was held on Wednesday evening, when prices of farm necessities, 4.4 beer and other timely topics, were discussed.

BALDWIN'S MOTHER DEAD

Premier's Parent One of "Four Remarkable Sisters."

LONDON, May 18.—Mrs. Alfred Baldwin, widow of the founder of the big Baldwin engineering firm, and mother of Prime Minister Baldwin, died Saturday at her home in Worcestershire at the age of 80. During her illness of several months she had been visited from time to time by the Premier. News of her death came to him while he was at Chequers for the week-end, and he cancelled all engagements until after the funeral next Wednesday.

Mrs. Baldwin was one of four daughters of the Rev. George B. MacDonald, a Methodist minister. The daughters were often called "the four remarkable sisters." Alice married Lockwood Kipling, father of Rudyard Kipling; Agnes became the wife of Sir Edward Poynter, one-time President of the Royal Academy; Georgianna became Lady Burne-Jones, wife of Sir Edward Burne-Jones, the pre-Raphaelite painter, and Louisa married Alfred Baldwin, the iron founder, who established the great firm of his name

JACKSON PARK IS BEAUTIFUL

Hard to Find Place With So Many Pretty Scenes.

THE OLD MILL.

Several items I have noticed lately in The Examiner have carried my memory back to other days. When I read about the new bathing place for the children in Jackson Park, I thought of the conditions that formerly prevailed there. This locality was then known as "The Quarry." At different places it can yet be plainly discerned where building stone has been taken out. The material for St. John's Church, the Peter Connal homestead, the building at the corner of Brock and Chambers streets, and others that might be mentioned, were obtained at this quarry. That the stone was of good quality is shown by the condition it remains in to the present day.

How many of the present generation know that a mill was at one time located a little south of where the Swiss bridge now stands? One of my earliest recollections of this locality is of a large overshot water wheel, 16 or 18 feet in diameter, with the falling water striking on its broad and sturdy planking. The sawmill at that time was in decay, but the old wheel still remained as a silent memento of bygone usefulness.

This creek in former days was a considerable stream. When the country was more wooded than now it had sufficient water to supply power even during the summer. The water was utilized at several other places, viz.: Whyte's pond, south of what is now Green's foundry, at Wm. Hamilton's foundry, and at a point several miles upstream. The remains of the latter old dam can still be seen where the railway track, after approaching the first line of Smith turns northward. I have been told by an old resident that 70 years ago there was still another mill (a grist mill) farther to the west.

When the railway to Omemee was built in 1882, it followed the valley of the creek for some distance from town, and to save building bridges the course of the creek was changed in different places. One such place was directly north of Smith street. The stream formerly ran at the east side, and where the artificial lake now is there was a dam. The channel of the creek where it now runs was excavated when the railway was built. The same thing was done at several other points to the west.

There are not many places where so many pretty views are to be had as in our own Jackson Park, and it is a favorite rendezvous for the owner of a camera. Not many have such an article who have not at some time endeavored to transfer to film or glass some of the pretty scenes that are to be found in and around the park.

A Sunday stroll up the railway track is a favorite walk for the young man and his partner—the babbling brook, the towering trees, the shining steel, the singing birds, all add their quota to the enjoyment of the outing. And just here, let me mention, there is no place in this section where so many varieties of the feathered tribe can be seen as in that district west of the park. Birds can be seen there that are unknown in other localities in this neighborhood. One of our much respected taxidermists (now deceased) once brought this fact to my attention.

This piece of railway has been greatly improved of late years. How many know that for about three miles from Doneg alstreet west the steel rails are 100 pounds to the yard, while the C. P. R. through here is laid with 80-pound rails and the line to Port Hope with but 56 pounds. Heavy oak and southern pine, creosoted, well-ballasted, and the heavy rails, make a roadbed that gives smooth, safe travelling to the passenger.

This creek must at some time in the distant past have been a large river. Towering banks on each side of a deep valley speak of a mighty stream in the past. Possibly this was the outlet of our back lakes. The present Otonabee River, from Lakefield to Peterboro' at least, is claimed by some geologists to be of comparatively recent date—that an earlier river ran farther to the east.

About three miles west there is (or rather, was) the Sink Hole. This is a place where the railway crosses a stretch of marsh. At this particular place no solid bottom could be found for many years and it was a source of continual trouble. Brush, trees, gravel and earth by the trainload were dumped into what was eventually considered a bottomless pit. It is only of recent years that the roadbed at this point has become firm.

A JACKSON PARK BEAUTY SPOT.

The Old Dixon Mill, built by the grandfather of Mrs. W. F. Nelson. This mill stood by the creek immediately above where the bridge now crosses at the swimming pool. It supplied lumber and shingles in the early days, having been built about 1842.

PAYROLL STOLEN.

Two Men Held Up Messenger in Front of Silk Mill.

PATERSON, N.J., May 16 (Canadian Press—One silk mill payroll messenger was wounded by a bullet when two holdup men robbed him of a $1,539 payroll in front of the Ramapo Silk Co. plant on Ramapo Avenue today. The bandits escaped with the money, according to the police reports, and the wounded man, John Kesey, was taken to the hospital.

CAR CRASHED.

Four Young Men Had Narrow Escapes—Pole Broken Off.

NORWOOD, May 18. — An accident which might have had a very serious ending occurred on Sunday evening, when a car in which were four men came to grief. The car it is said was going at about 25 or 30 miles an hour, when it hit a telephone pole in front of Mr. J. Graham's home on the Havelock Road, about two miles out of Norwood.

The telephone pole was snapped off and the car practically a wreck.

The occupants escaped injury except for a slight cut on the chin, that one of them received.

LIQUOR STOLEN

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 18. — (Canadian Press).—Forcing the iron bars from a window, thieves Friday night entered the Government liquor store at Parksville, 20 miles north of Nanaimo, and escaped with a quantity of liquor and $100 in cash from the safe.

Provincial Police are now investigating and a check is being made to determine the quantity of liquor stolen.

LIVE TOGETHER HALF CENTURY

Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Carr of Morganstown Celebrate Golden Wedding.

CONGRATULATIONS

MORGANSTOWN, May 18.—(Special).—Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Carr celebrated their golden wedding on Friday evening, when there were over a hundred guests present. A wedding breakfast was served, and congratulations were showered on the couple in view of the half century of happy life together.

Mr. and Mrs. Carr were married at Orland in 1875, in Bethany parsonage, where Rev. Mr. Crouther, since deceased, performed the ceremony. They have three children, M. N. Carr in Saskatchewan, Mrs. James Begg, Morganstown, and Harry at home. They have also eight grandchildren.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Carr are enjoying remarkably good health. One of the most interesting incidents in connection with this celebration is the fact that Miss Crouther, daughter of officiating clergyman, attended the Golden Wedding anniversary and is the only other surviving person who was present at the wedding ceremony fifty years ago.

ARBUCKLE MARRIED.

PASADENA, Calif., May 18. — In the presence of a large company of guests, many of them prominent in the motion picture world, Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, former film comedian, and Doris Dean, film actress, were married on Saturday night at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Charles R. Dibble, in San Marino, a suburb. Judge Hugh J. Crawford of the Los Angeles County Supreme Court officiated.

Buster Keaton was best man.

FATIGUE You Blame on Overwork May be caused by MALNUTRITION

An EMINENT PHYSICIAN says:

"Digestion is intended by nature to be an orderly process, starting in the mouth with thorough mastication and insalivation of the food. "People who eat nothing but soft, lazy foods neglect this step and pay for it with over-worked, worn-out stomachs.

"I consider Grape-Nuts a particularly beneficial food because, in addition to its high nutritive value, it is in a form that induces thorough chewing."

Grape-Nuts starts digestion right. It comes in crisp, golden kernels you must chew.

One out of three persons in this country, rich and poor alike, suffers from malnutrition.

For malnutrition is due, not merely to lack of food, but rather to the wrong kind of food—food that fails to nourish or that is difficult to digest.

The government, women's clubs, schools, doctors, dentists, biological chemists, dietitians, all are at work to check the evils of malnutrition.

OVER-TIREDNESS, lack of energy, nervousness, "break-downs"—these are the conditions we ordinarily blame on overwork. Yet authorities now agree that in most cases this cause is a purely incidental one. Wrong foods is the real cause—the failure of the body to get from its foods the nourishment it needs to repair waste and to provide it with working energy.

The carbohydrates are the energy-giving, tissue-building elements of which the body needs a large proportion—one-half of all we eat should be made up of them say doctors and health experts. But what is most important, the carbohydrates must come to us in such a form that our bodies can absorb their nourishment quickly and easily. And this important point is one of the explanations of the unusual value of Grape-Nuts as a food.

Grape-Nuts is particularly rich in the carbohydrates. Whole wheat and malted barley give to it a mighty store of them. Grape-Nuts undergoes long, slow baking, during which the carbohydrates are changed to the form of dextrins—a food substance which the body can assimilate more easily than any other known. You'll find it very easy to change to Grape-Nuts. You'll like its delicious flavor, its crisp, nut-like crunchiness. Grape-Nuts has added advantages to teeth and digestion and is very economical to serve—four teaspoonfuls, costing less than one cent, is sufficient for each helping. Sold by all grocers in wax-wrapped packages—ready to eat.

FARM NEWS AND PROBLEMS

PLOUGHMEN ARE HOLDING MATCH A T BROCKVILLE

International Ploughing Competition on Ontario Hospital Farm.

MACHINERY EXHIBIT

Tractors and Other Implements Will be Demonstrated at Meeting.

Jos. J. Duffus, vice-president of the Ontario Plowmen's Association, has just returned from Brockville where there was a meeting of the executive to complete the preliminary arrangements in connection with the big International Plowing Match, Tractor and Farm Machinery Demonstration on October 13, 14, 15 and 16 next.

The match will be held on the Ontario Hospital farm, comprising some 400 acres, and Mr. Duffus says that the facilities will exceed that of any match previously held.

The farm is just at the edge of the corporation of the city of Brockville and within a mile of the main street. There is a railway siding on the farm. Both electric and telephone lines go right by.

The spot selected for headquarters and for the displaying and demonstrating of latest and most modern farm appliances is so near the centre of the various fields where the competition takes place that it is not more than 2,000 yards to the farthest field.

The County Council has donated $1,000, the city $500 and the Hon. Senator Hardy, who is an enthusiastic supporter of the project, has also donated the sum of $500.

Prospects are Bright.

Never before were prospects any brighter for a highly successful match, and it is anticipated that at least 50,000 people will visit Brockville during the four days.

An interesting feature in connection with this event is that it is the home of the McIntosh apple and the Fruit and Vegetable Growers' Association is arranging for an extensive exhibit. In addition to this feature there are three of the very best herds of thoroughbred Holstein cattle in the Province of Ontario, one on the hospital farm and two on the adjoining farms, and it has been intimated that the Holstein Breeders' Association may banquet the officials and guests of the match.

It is expected that Lord Byng, the Premier of Canada, Rt. Hon. McKenzie King, Premier Ferguson, and several members of both the Dominion and Provincial Cabinets will be present at the banquet, which will be held on the last night.

Manufacturers from all over the United States and Canada have been communicated with, and owing to the fact that it is straight across the river from Ogdensburg in New York State, it is expected that a score or more of contestants will come from United States and possibly fifteen or twenty thousand people.

The citizens of Brockville and the surrounding counties are delighted that their municipalities have been chosen as the location of this wonderful contest and demonstration, which is the largest of its kind in the world.

CHANCE FIGURES IN POULTRY BREEDING

Careful Selection of Birds and Dependence on Law of Chance Needed.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., May 18.—Only by constant, careful selection and dependence on the law of chance may the poultry breeder expert to develop a flock that can be depended upon for high egg production in the following generation.

This theory is the result of years of observation on the egg-production records of hens entered in egg-laying contests.

"Viewed strictly as a mass proposition," Hervey concludes, "in no instance is it possible to show an existing relationship between the production of daughters and their sires' dams, or between daughters' and dam's production.

"The fact that both the male and female in a given mating may come from a high-producing ancestry does not mean necessarily that the progeny will be endowed likewise. It is only when the right combination is effected by a mating of parents, both transmitting factors for high fecundity, that uniformly high production is manifested in the progeny."

It is therefore left to the breeder to choose such birds in order to get high records from the progeny. This, in addition to good breeding methods.

"The trap nest," Hervey advises, "offers the only certain means of selection, but the trap-nesting for the entire year is unnecessary. Under usual conditions a winter trap-nest record of approximately 50 eggs is an expression of high efficacy in leghorns. Such a record is indicative of the potential 200-egg bird.

"When the stock is not uniformly mature on November 1, it is advisable to band all birds producing 30 eggs in the four winter months and then trap-nest them a second time, commencing July 1. If the late summer record added to winter production approximates 110 eggs, a requirement for the future breeding pen is fulfilled."

HATCH PULLETS EARLY.

To make pullets pay, in egg production, hatch them during March and April. They will then lay in October, November and December.

RATION FOR SOW.

A satisfactory ration for a sow with pigs: 15 pounds of tankage to 85 pounds of other feed or a combination of other feed, such as corn, kafir and milo.

Harrowing Made Easier For Both Horse And Man

Farmers at Warkworth are progressive, as is shown by the use of a new apparatus for harrowing, brought into use by William Thane. Mr. Thane has arranged a sulky to be drawn behind the harrow, and has simplified the work so that a boy can do it. The horses are relieved of the pull of a walking man at the end of the lines, and labor is easier all around.

HINTS ON LAMB AND WOOL CROP

Shearing Floor Should Be Clean and Fleece Rolled Properly.

FEEDING EWES

Address delivered by Mr. A A MacMillan, Chief Sheep and Swine Division, Dominion Live Stock Branch, Ottawa, through Radio Station CNRO, Ottawa, in connection with the Radio Markets Service of the Department of Agriculture.

No doubt, with the warm weather of to-day, farmers are again thinking of shearing and that, naturally, brings to mind the matter of wool markets. During the early part of the winter, prices of wool advanced fully 10c per pound for practically all grades as compared with prices which were realized on the bulk of last year's clip. The recent slump in the price of grains and other stocks has apparently reflected itself through to the prices for wool, and the market at the present time is about on a par with last year's values. Canadian mills are buying very sparingly at the moment Statistically, however, the wool situation is sound, and with the general wool shortage the world over, wool prices are expected to remain firm, as the buying season opens up and mill demands become greater. Naturally, on a somewhat discriminating market attractiveness and cleanliness as well as quality are all-important selling points.

When shearing your sheep this year do not forget to have the floor thoroughly clean and free from dust, chaff or straw be sure that all tags are re moved from the fleece. Any chaffy necks or seedy backs should also be removed. Remember that every fleece has a britch. Lay the fleece out evenly after the sheep is sheared, turn the edges in lengthwise of the fleece until the width is approximately 14 inches from end to end. Now commence at the britch and roll tightly, flesh side out, using the finer and better quality wool of the neck and shoulders to make as good a showing as possible on the outside surface of the rolled fleece. Tie tightly and neatly with a single strand of paper fleece twine. Under no circumstances use binder twine or sisal cords of any kind. Paper fleece twine and wool sacks may be obtained by writing the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, 217 Bay Street, Toronto. Wool sacks should be obtained immediately and the wool after shearing should be packed in these sacks and kept in a dry place until it is shipped to market.

The Dominion Live Stock Branch provides a wool grading service for all co-operative shipments of wool. Graded wool of good quality, properly prepared and well packed always brings top market prices. During the past year Canadian wools have been sold in Britain and the United States, as well as to Canadian mills. The strength, elasticity and spinning qualities of Canadian wools are now being recognized the world over. Our reputation can only be maintained if each individual farmer pays careful attention ot the breeding of his sheep, the shearing operations and the rolling and tying of his fleece when they are being prepared for market.

This is the season of the year when the lambs love to scamper about the barnyard. It is also the season of the year when the careful shepherd adds to his profits or detracts therefrom. On account of the long steady winter many ewe flocks did not get as much exercise as usual, and on this account the lambs are likely to be less vigorous, and in many cases the ewes are producing less milk. The milk flow can be increased by adding bran and oil-cake to the oat ration. The far-seeing shepherd will have saved some of his best hay for the ewe flock at this season of the year. Mangels or turnips are also greatly relished by the ewes. In the absence of roots, fresh insilage may be substituted to advantage. The young lamb is a thrifty, vigorous grower, and its development should not be retarded before the ewe goes to grass. Ewes that are improperly fed so that they give very little milk at this season of the year, do not recover their milk flow properly when turned to pasture, the result being that the lambs do not make the necessary growth or development and in the fall of the year are disappointing in their weights when offered for sale.

Do not forget to dock and castrate. Both these operations are very simple if performed at the right age. These operations should be performed when the lambs are ten days to two weeks of age. Practically all markets pay a premium for straight carloads of ewe and wether lambs. The lamb crop should be so handled that finished lambs can be sent to market at any season of the year. Too large a percentage of Canadian lambs are marketed in an unfinished condition. Winter lamb feeding is steadily developing, and the profits made by these operators during the past few years indicates a further expansion this fall. The lamb feeder will only buy ewe or wether lambs. Indications point to good lamb prices for this season. We understand that an order has already been received for upwards of 30,000 Canadian lambs from Britain. The excellent results obtained from feeding Canadian cattle has apparently interested a number of British sheep feeders in the finishing of Canadian lambs. The improvement in the breeding of Canadian sheep has done a great deal to popularize the Canadian lamb, not only with the Canadian consumer but also with the American consumer. The extension of lamb feeding operations has also tended to increase the appetite for lambs in Canada. All this stimulates market demand and tends to keep up lamb prices. Now is the time to keep the lambs growing. Do not hesitate to feed a few extra pounds of grain.

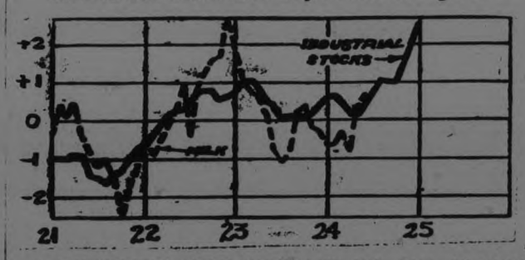
Milk Is Due For a Rise Say Industrial Figures



GRAPH SHOWING COMPARATIVE RISE AND FALL OF INDUSTRIAL STOCKS AND MILK PRICES SINCE 1921.

ITHACA, N. Y., May 18.—If the relationship between the stock market and the price of milk holds, the milk prices this year will be higher than last, say economists.

The prices of milk and of industrial stocks for the period for 1921 to 1925 are shown in the accompanying graph. In the past few years milk prices seem to lag behind prices of industrial stocks only about six months as compared with 15 months before the war.

Before the war, milk prices were announced by the large companies six months in advance so that it was impossible to adjust prices quickly to changes in demand. Since 1921 prices have been determined month by month and are, therefore, responding more promptly to changes in demand.

For the 17-year period from 1897 to 1913, inclusive, the prices paid to New York farmers for milk tended to follow the cycles of prices of industrial stocks, but with a lag of about 15 months.

The reason for this relationship is that business activity usually follows the stock market. When the prices of stocks increase, business activity usually increases a few months later. In periods of full employment at high wages, the demand for milk and dairy products is increased.

Flowers for Farm Garden

(Experimental Farms Note.)

Great is the pleasure of the gardener when the first snowdrop appears. This is the first flower in most gardens, and it would be worthy of a place for that reason alone, but its dainty white bells are very appealing and attractive to most people.

Another very early flower is called Bulbocodium vernum and it makes a splash of color immediately after the snow has gone. The flowers are much like crocuses in appearance though botanically they differ. They are light reddish purple in color and remain in bloom for about two weeks.

Scilla sibirica, a small bell shaped blue flower, and alba, which is a creamy white variety, come next and are in bloom with the crocuses. Some of the best of these showy bulbs are Cloth of Gold, yellow, the earliest of all. Mont Blanc, white, purpureus grandiflorus, dark purple, Margot, pale lilac blue, albion purple dark purple, Madame Mina, pale lilac with darker stripes.

Of the perennials other than bulbs, one of the earliest to bloom is Arabis albida (Rock Cress) which makes the sheets of white in borders and rock gardens so familiar in springtime. The single variety is the earliest, but the double form is a much finer flower and remains longer in bloom.

Another white flower which follows arabis is Iberis sempervirens (perennial candytuft). This plant is of a shrubby nature and the clusters of flowers stand up above the ground and make handsome clumps. The foliage is dark glossy green, very different from the greyish green leaves of Arabis.

Alyssum saxatile, though not quite so hardy as the plants just mentioned, is well worth trying. It makes clumps of bright yellow which are very effective in the spring garden.

Aubretia, a dwarf growing plant with flowers of various shades of mauve, needs protection in the Ottawa district.

Myosotis (Forget-me-not), a well known old favorite should be in every garden. It seeds itself freely, but can be easily destroyed when it encroaches on other plants.

Narcissi are among the most beautiful of spring flowers, and should be mixed in the perennial border in clumps of ten or fifteen of the same variety. The varieties vary in hardiness and the following are among the best: Sir Watkin, Emperor, Empress, Mme. de Graaff, Seagull, White Lady and Barrii conspicuous.

Tulips.—Early flowering varieties can be planted among the Arabis and Forget-me-nots and beautiful effects obtained by careful arrangement of the colors, or they can be put in clumps as suggested for the narcissi. Varieties: Cottage Maid, pink and white; Couleur Cardinal, deep crimson; Chrysolora, yellow; Keizerkroon, scarlet and gold; Fred Moore, ruddy apricot. Darwin and cottage tulips bloom later and are more satisfactory for the perennial border. There are a large number of varieties and it is difficult to make a selection, but the following are beautiful:

Darwins—Bartigon, crimson; Clara Butt, pale pink; King Harold, deep purple; Pride of Haarlem, bright red; Princess Elizabeth, deep pink; Valentin, bluish violet.

Cottage — Gesneriana spathulata, bright scarlet; Inglescombe, pink; Moonlight, pale yellow; Mrs. Moon, deeper yellow; Picotee, white edged crimson.

Tulips are followed by Irises and spring has changed to summer.—Isabella Preston, Specialist in Ornamental Gardening, Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Hot water is an effective remedy for scale insects infesting house plants. The plants are dipped in water having a temperature of 125 to 130 degrees for eight or ten seconds. It is a good plan to dip the plants a second time in about five minutes. A cloth held tightly around the base of the plant will prevent the soil from falling out. Ferns should not be dipped in hot water.

TURNING STOCK OUT TO PASTURE

Good Pasturage Can be Ruined by Too Early Grazing.

CUT UP FIELDS

By CHARLES W. BURKETT.

The man who raises livestock is each year confronted with the problem of knowing just when to turn on pasture. He is anxious to do so at the earliest possible moment, for he knows how valuable good grass is in animal health and growth as well as in making gains. But there is always the weather—a rainy season will make good grass growth, but it keeps the ground wet and the pasture is soft. Somehow the stock knows that grass time is at hand and they get restless. But turning out too soon is to be avoided wherever possible as many livestock raisers know from experience.

In the first place, turning our too soon injures the pasture and the soil. Who has not seen splendid fields completely cut up by cattle hoofs, deep jabs in the turf and ground? Tiny water holes they often become. And a little later, when the season is advanced, there is not much grass available. The field was injured until it was plowed again. Had the stock been kept off for a couple of weeks longer all of this trouble would have been avoided. I know all about the reasons why the stock was turned out. The hay had been used up, grain was expensive and the farm supply had been fed. I know this from sad experience. One year I had to rent an extra pasture field to tide over because I had pastured our principal field before the ground and the grass were ready for stock. Had I planned a bit more carefully, or even bought a little hay and held the stock back a couple of weeks longer, the grass would not have been hurt and the normal supply would have been available.

Early Grass Not Good.

This very early grass is not very good anyway. It is soft, washy, immature. Often it is so young as to do the stock little good. An hour's grazing might do no harm, but when a cow or steer "fills up" on washy, immature grass the effect is often disastrous. Instead of gaining in weight or increasing the milk yield the opposite result obtains. One must accustom stock gradually to this early spring grass. This early grass grows rapidly as the spring season advances, and if only the owners would let it gain a little headway it would reward him in heavier growth, which means more pounds of milk or live weight gained, and in a stiffer turf, both desirable advantages all through the coming months. If you have not already turned the stock on pasture hold off just as long as you can, subject to the climate of your particular district, as island and coastal conditions vary greatly from those of the interior.

There is still another phase of pasture management. Not only is too early pasturing harmful, but too much stock prevents the grass plants doing their rightful work. A pasture should be grazed in moderation, not only in the spring but during early summer, because the plants are then making their growth and storing food in their underground rootstocks. This work is all done in the leaves.

How Leaves Do Their Work.

The leaves are the manufacturing plants in which soil water with plant food in solution and the carbon dioxygen of the air are combined in the plant cells and made into tissue that is known as plants. You can see what happens when overpasturing occurs during this early period of growth —the leaf surface is lessened and hence less material is stored in the rootstocks for providing for plant growth and cell tissues later in the season. Too much stock on the pasture during May and June means dwarfed pasture growth all through the rest of the summer and fall.

Already you may have turned the stock on the grass. You can still avoid overstocking, and if the ground is being jabbed full of holes by animal hoofs you can keep the stock out of the fields until the soil becomes dryer and more firm. This will permit partial recovery and may mean in the end twice as much pasture as would be the case were the "hole-jabbing" to continue.

CAUSES FOR PIG LOSS.

Lack of exercise for brood sows and too much corn in their rations cause weak pigs and loss of many newly farrowed pigs. Well fed sows seldom exercise enough unless they're forced to do it.

SAME PRODUCTION.

Usual Amounts Being Sown of Everything But Corn and Potatoes.

The late harvest last season prevented farmers from getting at early fall plowing, and lack of rain during October made the land so dry and hard for the work, the result being that only about seventy per cent of the expected fall plowing was performed. However, there has been considerable fall plowing done already, as well as some early seeding of grain, and should favorable weather continue the usual acreage will be sown with spring cereals and roots.

The depredations of the European borer, however, are likely to restrict the area given to corn, especially in Essex and other south-western counties where most of the crop is grown for the ear; oats, barley, sugar beets, etc., will be the alternative crops, with perhaps more pasture. In the eastern half of the province about the same acreage of the usual crop will be grown, with the exception of potatoes, which have been discouragingly low in price.

LABOUR AND WAGES.

Many Farmers Are More Inclined to Hire by the Day Than the Month.

There are a sufficient number of men available for farm work in most localities, but really experienced farm laborers are scarce.

The comparatively early and open spring is making it easier to do without help, even though many were behind with their work owing to dry weather hindering fall plowing. Many farmers at present are more inclined to hire by the day than by the month, although the latter is the usual method. Rates for a term usually covering eight months are quoted at from $30 to $40 a month, with board, there being a slight range upward or downward, depending upon the quality of the worker. From $2 to $3, with board, is being paid day workers, according to skill.

A good deal of labour is exchanged between neighbors, and female members of the family sometimes assist in rush work, thus saving the hiring of outside help.

Domestic servants on the farm are almost impossible to procure.

FOODS FOR TURKEYS

Hard-Boiled Eggs and Bread Crumbs Good for First Week.

Following are combinations of feeds used by different turkey raisers, all known to be very successful with this class of poultry:

1. Hard-boiled eggs chopped fine and bread crumbs for the first week, and then whole wheat and hulled oats.

2. Stale bread soaked in milk and squeezed dry for the first few days, and then common chicken feed.

3. Clabbered milk seasoned with salt and pepper and corn bread crumbs.

4. Corn meal and wheat bran mixed in proportion of 3 to 1 and baked into a bread.

Both skim milk and butter milk are excellent foods for young turkeys. Buttermilk seems to be especially beneficial in bringing the poults successfully through the early stages. A good plan is to keep the milk in front of the poults during the morning and water during the afternoon.

EXAMINE YOUR NEW MEADOWS IMMEDIATELY

A Half-Hour Now May Save Great Loss in Future.

UNEVENNESS SHOWN

Each Young Plant Stands Out Distinctly Just at Present Time.

Examine your new meadows now. A half hour's walk over them may save you future loss by indicating whether or not your cropping practices in this connection have been correct.

Each young plant, especially of the various clovers, stands out fairly distinctly as this time of the year, and we are able to see wherein our seeding has either succeeded or failed to measure up to what we might rightfully expect.

Some of the plots at the Central Experimental Farm, when examined in April, were almost completely covered with live plants of the same kind as seeded, while others presented a sorry contrast. These latter plots had been planted with seed from regions where weather conditions were not so severe as at Ottawa, consequently the great majority of the plants had winter killed.

Unevenness of seeding, and the presence of large clods of earth or large stones, were reflected in either the absence of plants in definite spots or in the patchy, uneven appearance of the sod. Some spots, however, were bare where the ground was smooth and in good condition with no large stones present. Such areas, it was concluded, were either seeded too deeply or the seeder had become clogged for a moment.

Here and there plant diseases had taken their toll, and in a few cases insect attacks had so weakened a plant that it could not survive. The greatest reason, however, for the difference between the best and the poorest stands, could be attributed to the kind of seed used, and how and on what kind of land it has been sown. Many crop failures are fore-ordained at the time of planting, but fortunately the essential elements of a profitable crop may be ensured at the same time.

Purebred Jersey Calf Lacks Caudal Appendage

CAMPBELLFORD, May, 18.—Ex-Councillor Redden has among his most cherished possessions a purebred Jersey cow that he has always been willing to pit against anything of that breed in the district, either as a type of her class or as a milk producer. That cow has further distinguished herself by giving birth to a calf, of unquestionable lineage, perfect in every respect except in the one important particular that it lacks anything in the shape of a tail. The calf is doing well and Mr. Redden issues a defi to Elmira, or any of the other south-east corner towns, to produce any animal freak to equal the offspring of his favorite bovine.

CULTIVATE CORN ON SURFACE ONLY

Deeper Cultivation Than Three Inches Breaks Network of Roots.

Corn, potatoes and other cultivated crops are cultivated primarily for three reasons: to kill weeds, conserve moisture and to air the soil. All three are very important. Corn has a network of roots and these roots grow very close to the surface of the soil. The roots grow both downward and across the row, almost parallel with the surface of the ground.

Now, what happens when corn is cultivated deep? Just one thing: the roots are injured, broken off by the cultivator shovels and destroyed. You see how near to the surface of the ground these roots grow? We can cultivate our corn a couple of inches deep, but if we go deeper—three or four inches deep—a great number of the roots will be injured. This explains why shallow cultivation is best. At the first cultivation this matter is not so important. The cultivator may be run close to the rows of corn and the soil may be stirred three inches deep; after that shallow culture is best.

Many farmers like to hill their corn. But tests show that hilling the corn is not necessary; in fact, the yield is lessened. Level, shallow cultivation throughout the season gives larger yields than does any other kind of cultivation. This plan of cultivation kills weeds, provides a surface of mulch to conserve moisture and it aerates the soil. The picture, showing how corn roots grow, should make plain to all why deep cultivation is not desirable and why shallow cultivation is preferable.

POULTRY NOTES

Diarrhea often results from chilling the chicks. A few extra trips to the brooder house during the first week is cheap insurance of the uninterrupted growth of the chicks.

The brooder house should have a tight roof and should be up off the ground. Arrangements should be made to keep the chicks shut in tightly at night and the prowling rodents should be barred out. It is well to have the chick runs fenced against as many rodents as possible. Fresh air is at all times necessary for the normal growth and health of chicks. This must be obtained without a draft.

Sour milk or buttermilk is recommended over sweet milk for feeding to little chicks. Sweet milk will sour very readily when fed in a warm brooder, and the feeding of both sweet and sour milk causes bowel disorders. Dried milk or buttermilk paste may be substituted in case sour milk or buttermilk is not available. In purchasing fresh buttermilk care should be taken to see that it does not contain salt or soda, as these are poisonous to chicks.

SPRAYING FOR MITES

Crank Case Drainings From Motor Cars Repel the Insects.

On many poultry farms where careful spraying for mites is not practiced, infestation is heavy because of the rapidity with which they multiply. Not much difficulty is encountered during the winter months as the mites are rather dormant until the days begin to grow warm in spring and summer.

Preventive measures should be taken before infestation. The houses should be sprayed early in spring before the presence of mites is noticed. The following treatment has been found most successful:

Spray or paint roosts, nests, dropping boards, broody coops and adjacent walls with an inexpensive grade of shingle oil, crankcase drainings from an automobile, a mixture of 3 parts kerosene and 1 part Zenoleum, or crude petroleum mixed with 3 parts kerosene. All these materials are absorbed by the wood and hold their repellant properties for several weeks. A month after the first application a second should be made to insure a thorough killing of all mites in the poultryhouse. Cracks must be thoroughly penetrated with the spray, and the birds removed from the house till it is dried into the wood, as the spray would stain plumage permanently.

GASSING THE RATS.

The Biological Survey states that when rats live under concrete walks, garage floors, chicken houses, and other like places, often they may be gotten rid of by attaching a piece of pipe or garden hose to the automobile exhaust, inserting it into one of their burrows or runways, the other openings being tamped shut with moist earth, and using a rich gas mixture, allowing the engine to run long enough to generate a killing concentration of gas in the spaces where the rats occur. Care should be exercised not to endanger poultry or domestic animals, and no person should remain in a closed room where this gas is liberated.

BANK REPORTS SHOW GENERAL IMPROVEMENT IN CONDITIONS ON FARMS THROUGHOUT CANADA

Seeding Was Commenced Early in All Provinces in Country.

MORE LIVE STOCK

Slight Increase Shown Over 1923, But Demand Still Exceeds Supply.

Seeding operations commenced early in April in practically all parts of the Dominion. In Alberta work on the land was general by the tenth of the month, a full fortnight earlier than last year, and continued steadily, except for slight interruptions through rain. Throughout the entire province soil conditions are satisfactory; the heavy snows of the winter have gradually disappeared, leaving the soil in a condition favorable for seed germination. From those districts in Saskatchewan where the soil is light reports of actual seeding were received early in April, but operations were not generally under way until the middle of the month similar conditions exist in Manitoba. The farmers of all three provinces will have more time for seeding and cultivating this year, and as a result the acreage under crop will be as large as a year ago and will be put in under more favorable conditions. If the weather is good during the early part of May, it is probable that the acreage sown to wheat in the prairie provinces will exceed that of last year. Although the price of wheat has varied considerably from day to day, the minimum reached in the course of the unusually violent fluctuations during the latter part of March and April is such as to leave hope that the 1944 crop will be marketed profitably. This in itself is an important factor in the increase in acreage. Extra labor has not been readily available for the short periods during which seeding operations have been intensive, but difficulties in this respect have been made less irksome by the fact that the seeding season has been longer than usual. By about the middle of April most of the grain seeding in south-western and central Ontario was completed, and conditions on the whole have been better than for some years. In eastern Ontario operations were not so early, but with the milder weather of later April seeding became general.

There is no evidence that the western farmer intends to limit the production of grain; on the contrary a belief that he will be able to market a greater volume will tend to make him seed a larger acreage. In this connection it may be noted that according to the available sources of information there is no large world surplus of farm produce at the present time.

As regards wheat there is a good prospect of our continuing to obtain satisfactory markets. Exports of wheat and wheat flour from August 1st, 1924, to March 31st, 1925, amounted to 137,334,000 bushels, which leaves 140,943,000 bushels out of total stocks of 478,455,000 bushels available for distribution before the new crop comes on the market. From this quantity must be deducted domestic requirements, estimated at 45 million bushels for flour and 40 million bushels for seed, thus leaving 53,943,000 bushels as the quantity available for export during the last four months of the current crop year and for carry-over into the next crop year. The stocks still on hand at the end of March amounted to 121,084,000 bushels, as compared with 404,493,000 bushels the year before, and it should not be difficult to dispose of the exportable surplus, especially in view of the short crop in some of the other exporting countries. The Argentine yield is 56,000,000 bushels less than last season and the Indian yield nearly 44,000,000 bushels less. This decrease is offset by the heavier Australian crop and the favorable prospects in Europe and North Africa. It is not expected, however, that the winter wheat crop of the United States will yield so much as the previous season, nor does the outlook in other American countries promise as large a production as a year ago.

In the case of cattle the supply appears to be no more than will meet present requirements in the chief markets of the world. Prices are better than a year ago, and export business has been accordingly stimulated. During the first three months of the year 38,000 head of cattle were shipped to Great Britain, as compared with 14,000 for the corresponding period of 1924, and 12,000 in 1923.

The total value of live stock on Canadian farms in 1924 exceeded slightly that of 1923, and in this there is basis for hope that the steady decline since 1918 has at last been arrested. There was also some increase in numbers in 1924 as compared with 1923.

"Three years ago, the total outstanding accounts in Saskatchewan for lumber supplies were $36,457,677. There were 657 lumber yards in the province. These yards have 80,952 customers. To-day the outstanding accounts are only $30,367,753. So the customers, principally farmers, have paid over $6,000,000 in the last three years, as well as cash for new purchases. There were only 54 lien foreclosures, and these only when debtors neglected to answer letters and failed to give explanations regarding their prospects. Of late years we have had too many prophets of gloom predicting ruin, if some specific remedy were not applied to save farmers. The few hopeless cases on which the prophets harped advertised their own inefficiency —bad management and bad farming."

A more general trend towards better conditions is shown in the continued purchasing of farm land by men who are competent farmers and know from practical experience how to make profitable use of it. In many cases the land is being purchased by those who hitherto have been tenants and are now able to buy. Having overcome the initial difficulties of carrying on agricultural operations under new conditions, they are now making provision for their sons to continue farming the same land. This is in keeping with the natural development of the country, for in addition to new settlers the indigenous population of the western provinces is steadily growing, as is evidenced by the annual increase in school attendance.

Sad Experience For This Delivery Horse

At Chilliwick an unusual incident occurred when a delivery horse came in contact with a B. C. Electric ground wire. The horse had been left tethered with a chain to a weight and near one of the poles carrying electric wires. At the base of the pole the chain came in contact with an uncovered portion of the ground wire, the current, following the chain to the horse's head. It was with some difficulty that the horse was "disconnected" and it was about 20 minutes before he was able to stand up after being liberated.

REPORTS SHOW CONDITIONS GOOD

Peterboro Representative Says Land is in Fine Shape.

The following is a summary of reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Growth during the past week has been slow owing to cold days and frosty nights. In Western Ontario it has been very dry but dull and showery weather has prevailed in the Eastern Counties which delayed seeding operations. In some favored sections of that part of the Province, sowing of grain has been completed while in others none has been done. As a rule young cattle are out on grass but milch cows and fattening animals are still being stabled generally. A high percentage lamb crop has been reported and these on the average are strong.

Extracts from reports follow:

Peterborough' — Generally speaking seeding is about completed in this County. The land is in fine shape, there being no wet spots but for the past ten days there has been practically no growth and things are pretty much at a standstill. Spring operations are two to three weeks ahead of last year.

Elgin'—The farmers have taken advantage of the slack period to repair fences, buildings, etc. The preparation of hoed crop land is well advanced. There seems to be a marked increase in the acreage of sugar beets and beans.

Dufferin'—Farmers generally are in fairly good shape with spring work, much earlier than usual in this locality. Rain and warm weather would help spring grains and pasture very materially. Many farmers report heavy losses with spring litters of pigs. Generally speaking a very satisfactory crop of lambs.

Huron'—Fall wheat and clovers are in good condition although things have been at a standstill during the past week, owing to the cold weather. Some orchards that are fairly forward have had the first spray applied but further than that they have been marking time during the past week.

There is still considerable inquiry for labor but very little is offering. One of our farmers, a council man in a neighboring township, originated a new way of securing labor which we might mention as it has proven successful. On seeing a Hull, England, paper he noticed that there were apparently plenty of men out of work, he wrote the editor of the paper giving him an outline of conditions in this country and through the correspondence he got in touch with a couple of young men who have come out to the community and have engaged with farmers for one year. Might state that these are of a particularly fine looking type of immigrant.

Kenora'—The live stock situation remains unchanged about the usual number are being carried with a real good demand for dairy cattle.

There is a slight increase in the milk production but not nearly sufficient for the demand.

There is more hay and grain for sale in the district this year than there has been for a great number of years. Hay is selling at $38.00 per ton.

Bees seems to have wintered well as most keepers report and present indications are for a good run this summer.

Two Eggs In One From This Enterprising Hen

MARMORA, May 18.—Marmora's hens are on the whole prolific ayers, and occasionally in the past, the girth of particular eggs has been remarkable. Large eggs has been great enough for record in the press. Doubtless the most remarkable hen's egg for size and composition was that found by Mrs. John Bateman while gathering the daily yield last Monday. Whe measured it proved to be 9 inches around, the long way, and 7½ inches around the other way. Through an oversight, it was not weighed. When the shell was cracked there was discovered within, floating in the yolk and white, and ordinary sized egg complete with hard shell. The flock being a mixed one, it is not possible to discover the breed of hen which laid this abnormal oddity. Many poultry farmres to whom thsi egg was showp, state that never in their experience have they seen such an egg before.

That there is grain congestion is the port of Montreal so early in the season is regarded as serious and due to the poor wheat market during the winter. Officials of the harbour say such congestion is unprecedented.

NEW FACTS ON HEBREW BIBLE

German Professor Claims New Discoveries That Shatter Current Views.

TAKEN SERIOUSLY

LEIPSIC, May 18.—A revolution in Bible research work is foreseen by the investigations, published in book form, of Prof. Franz Wutz of Eichstatt Bishopric Lyceum, entitled "New Facts on the Septuaginta and Hebrew Bible."

The current version that the Greek Alexandrian translation of the Old Testament, known as the Septuaginta, is derived from the original Hebrew text seems to be shattered by the theory of Prof. Wutz. The author is taken very seriously by biblical scholars, even those whose favorite theory he confutes by his statements, as, for instance, the well known exponent of the Old Testament, Rudolf Kittel.

Prof. Wutz now comes out with the new and somewhat startling statement that the Septuaginta is largely a reproduction of Hebrew words written with Greek letters. He claims to have discovered that as early as 200 B.C. Jewish scholars utilized Greek-Hebrew texts for their translations into Greek. These transcriptions, he believes, furnished not only an elucidation of the Septuaginta—a feat hitherto considered impossible — but also open up an entirely new vista in old biblical literature. An authority like Kittel recognizes in these discoveries of Wutz a likely means of arriving at the much sought-for original Hebrew text of the Old Testament.

REDUCE ACREAGE.

Farmers Must Grow Less Wheat Says Saskatchewan Farmer.

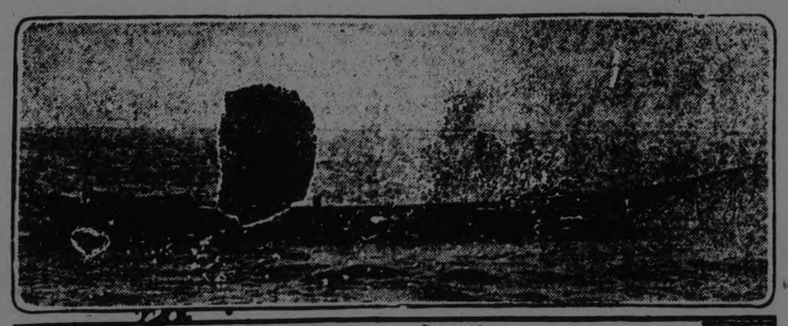
WINNIPEG, Man., May 18.—"I am in absolute agreement with President Coolidge that the wheat farmers of this continent should reduce the acreage they have under cultivation, for I firmly believe, it is the only salvation for them," asserted S. G. Detchon, of Davidson, Sask., in an interview here.

Mr. Detchon, who is a large landowner in Saskatchewan, deplored the lack of co-operation shown on the part of Canadian farmers in respect to acreage reduction.

"If individuals carried out this idea, others would seize the chance to increase their production. Concerted action is essential to such an undertaking," he declared.

Continuing, Mr. Detchon foreshadowed poor times for Canada if Russia resumed her place among the wheat exporting countries of the world. Should Russia recover her pre-war exporting status, heavy inroads, he said, would be made into the American wheat trade, with resultant price reductions.

"HOODOO" DERELICT ELUDES CAPTURE ON HIGH SEAS



"HOODOO" DERELICT AND ROUTE IT HAS WANDERED.

By LARRY BOARDMAN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 17.—The Governor Parr, "hoodoo" derelict, is still afloat.

For nearly two years the once stately four-master, now wallowing drunkenly in the trough of the sea, has resisted storms, waves, firebrands and tow-lines.

For a time it was believed she had grounded or sunk. A false hope. According to a report just received by the Navy Hydrographic Office, she is drifting off the west coast of Africa, still a menace to ocean traffic.

All efforts to bring her into port, to bomb her, to burn her, have been to no avail.

Like the "Flying Dutchman" of tautical legend, she seems destined to sail on forever.

Wrecked by Storm.

As a 200-foot British schooner of 172 tons she set sail from Ingramport, Nova Scotia, on September 27, 1923, bound for Buenos Aires with a cargo of lumber.

Scarcely had she cleared port when she encountered a terrific storm. Her captain and one of her crew were lost, swept overboard. Her main and mizzen masts were splintered.

For six days she floundered helplessly. Then she was sighted 200 miles off Halifax by the American steamship Schodack.

Surviving members of the crew were taken off. The schooner was left adrift.

Making port, the S.S. dock's captain reported the incident to U. S. Coast Guard officials, whose duty it is to keep the sea clear of derelicts.

A search was made, but the Governor Parr was nowhere to be found.

A month later she was sighted by the Canadian steamer Seneca, and an attempt was made to bring her in and salvage her valuable cargo.

No sooner had tow lines been attached than a storm blew up. The Seneca cut loose to save herself—and the derelict disappeared.

The next attempt was made by the Coast Guard cutter Tampa.

The Tampa, sighting the derelict a few hundred miles off the Grand Banks, ran alongside, made her fast, and started for Halifax.

After 130 miles the Tampa's oil ran low and it was necessary to cut loose—and the Governor Parr started once more upon her way.

From then until last August she zigzagged across the ocean. She was sighted many times, but no attempts were made for her destruction or capture until on August 8 she was sighted off the coast of Portugal by the British steamer Zaria.

A crew from the Zaria boarded her, found her dismasted, filled with water, awash midships, and set her afire.

By all nautical odds this should have been the end—but it was far from it. Five days later she was sighted by the Spanish steamship Iberia, farther down the Portuguese coast, the fire extinguished.

Then for a long period there was no trace of her. It was thought certain she had either sunk or gone ashore.

Months passed. Then came word from a steamer cruising south of the Canary Islands, off the African coast—the Governor Parr still afloat!

She is floating now—and superstitious sailors believe she will float on forever, a "hoodoo" derelict!

STRANGER THAN FICTION

A JUDGE GOES HIKING'

His Honor looked out of the window. From where he sat on the bench he could see through only part of a window, and it was closed. Through a slice of a window he could see a fragment of a tree beckoning to him in the wind. While one side of his Honor's mind remained receptive to the eloquence of counsel, the other side reflected that if he had the window opened the pale little juror in the lavender tie wouldn't at once begin to sneeze. Are stuffy court rooms as bad as jurors who sneeze?

The logical thing to do, of course, would be to get outside the window. Superbly logical. What a droning voice that fellow had; what a dull brief he would write. To get outside the window. But that was overruled by necessity, obligations, all the rest of it. Into the idle side of his Honor's mind there popped a picture of a colt kicking up its heels in green grass, but the colt in this vision tripped over its long judicial robes and fell down.

The tree still beckoned. His Honor watched it absently. Perhaps counsel thought the court was deeply impressed with counsel's words. The part of him that remained on duty overruled an objection, but the other part thought of all the men who were looking out of windows at flirtatious little trees. Important citizens, like Judges, weighted down with duty and the gravity of their routine. In the buildings opposite, in the buildings beyond them, in others all through the land, all around the world, sedate middle-aged men peeped at beckoning trees and sighed because of their sedateness.

Just to throw it off, now, even for only a moment, and walk out from this stuffy pressure of the world's woes and tribulations. Somebody's words of doubt came back to him from a half-remembered page: Is it well for a man's own good that he hold, year in and year out, the power that is a Judge's? The judicial machinery admitted of no such doubts. But the tree was still bobbing in the wind.

Why, his Honor expostulated to himself, a tramp in the prisoner's dock knows more of freedom than the man who sentences him. A tramp adventures where he lists and snaps his fingers at court calendars unless his name is on them. But a Judge, now—

The voice droned on and on. To walk on and on till you came to the edge of the world and looked over!

He would have that window opened; let the juror sneeze his head off. At a nod the bailiff came tiptoeing. But as the bailiff bent with one ear sidewise his Honor said, "Never mind." He pictured the bailiff's face as it would look if his Honor said, offhand, "I'm going to stroll over to the other side of the world," and put on his hat and walked out. . . .

A dusty man with a rolling gait and a blanket pack slung over his shoulder passed down the hot road. He smelled the wind and the dust and the hot scent of earth. Behind him, off the country road and a bit up the gully beyond the railroad trestle, a little group of men lazed a while beside the dying breakfast fire.

"Funny," said the one with a mustache, "but that blanket stuff give me a jar. When he came up, I'd a swore I rapped to him as the old block in the rock that give Seattle Red a stretch the time he went out on the gun."

The squat man opined that Seattle Red should have stuck to his trade, which was not picking pockets, while the third man merely grunted to imply that food was welcome to the common pot, no matter what wayfarer chanced to chip in with it.

The dusty man plodded on with the steadiness of those who have all time for their task of traversing all distance. If one day saw him setting out from a jungle under the trestle another day would find him somewhere else, and it didn't greatly matter. He thought a moment of the three by the breakfast embers, and then for another moment of the sort of men who spend their days at cloistered routine and know nothing of the paths of the marching stars when a man watches them like an old shepherd on the hills.

He paused to ease his blankets. A spray of dust far down the road grew swiftly and became a car. The man stood waiting by the side of the road but the driver slowed, dropping one hand to a corner of the seat and keeping his eyes on the other's. The footloose one laughed and made a gesture of submission.

"Could you give a fellow a lift?" he asked.

"How far you going?"

"Oh, two or three thousand miles yet."

The driver thawed and as the car started up again, with the blankets in the rear seat, he said apologetically, "Well, you got to be kind of careful, you know; pretty lonely around here."

"Some pretty tough customers this way, maybe?"

"You bet."

"Met a few myself."

For a mile or two they shared the fellowship of silence. Then the passenger spoke. "Funny, though," he said, picking up where they had left off, "I guess I know more about kindness than you people that ride in autos. It's a pretty good world. You find that out on the road. Look at you, now; you didn't know what I might be, but here you are giving me a lift. And night before last there was a fellow that I divvied my blanket with. Cold at night, this high up. So he gave me half his food. And if you're out of luck or laid up you get the best that's to be had, even if that's not much to brag about. You folks can skim along in your autos, but I can tell you ther's nothing like the road itself to make a man see what the world's really like."

"Maybe so," said the driver, but the other insisted, "I know."

In another hour the man with the car came to the end of his journeying, but the wayfarer, humming a little shouldered the blanket roll again and trudged on toward the horizon and points east.

Ex-Judge Dudley Kinsell of the Alameda County Superior Court, sitting at Oakland, Cal., returned to Oakland a few days ago after a 6,000-mile tramp to St. Augustine, Fla., and return. He walked two-thirds of the way and "bummed" rides the rest. That was his way of curing the effects of the stuffiness of the courtroom over which he presided until his resignation a few months ago. "I learned that the world is good and the people in it are good," he said when he got back. At the age of 51, his expedition has convinced him that life is kindly.

FATHER CORTIE DEAD.

Jesuit Famous as Scientist and Musician.

LONDON, May 18. — (Canadian Press).—The Rev. Father Aloysius Laurence Cortie, famous as an astronomer and director of the Stonyhurst College Observatory, died on Saturday. He was 66 years old.

Father Cortie in 1905 directed the expedition to observe the total eclipse of the sun at Vinaroz, Spain. He also headed the British Government expeditions to the Tonga Islands in the Southern Pacific Ocean and to Hernosand, Sweden. He was distinguished in solar and stellar physics and in terrestrial magnetism. In addition to being an astronomer, Father Cortie won fame as a musician. He was director of music for nineteen years at Stonyhurst.

Utilities Commission Expresses Perplexity

A new picture of the Utilities Commission has been placed in Roy's window. This depicts the commissioners, all of whom have a very puzzled expression, studying two documents, which are marked "$15,000 Campbell Mills Mystery" and "Meter Records". Apparently the members of the Commission are very much puzzled by these documents.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Ladies' Aid Reports to Annual Meeting Show Good Season.

NORHAM, May 18.—At the annual meeting of the Ladies Aid of the Bethany Methodist Church held at home of Alciberis Vanblaricom on Thursday afternoon the following officers were elected by ballot for the ensuing year: President Mrs. Walter Carr; First Vice-President, Mrs. Lloyd Ames; Second Vice-President Miss Edith Vanblaricom; Secretary, Mrs. Robert Ryckman; Treasurer, Miss Mille Wright; Organist, Mrs. John Dinner; Visiting Committee: Mrs. Eric Foster, Mrs. Ben Dusenburg Miss, Edith Vanblaricom, Miss Elizabeth Lindsay, Miss Zoa Cole, Mrs. George Reddon. Sixteen members and seven visitors were present. A social hour was enjoyed at the close of the meeting.

During the year the Aid served dinner and supper at the twelfth of July celebration held in the grove of J. W. Latimer, of Orland; one dramatic play was given and one sugar social held in the Orange Hall, at Codrington and one social evening at the home of Walter Carr. Twelve regular meetings were held.

The total receipts of the year were $187.28 and the total expenditures were $170.03 leaving a balance in the treasury of $17.25. The membership is twenty-three, seven new members having been added during the year. The June meeting of the Aid is to be held at the home of Mrs. Walter Ames.

GALE ON SUPERIOR

Vessels Covered With Ice in Saturday Night Storm.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., May 18.—(Canadian Press).—One of the worst storms for the month of May was experienced Saturday night by boats on Lake Superior. The high northeast winds accompanied with rain and snow drove traffic to hug the north shore route. Downbound steamers reached the Soo Sunday covered with a foot of ice and snow. Some of the old-time sailors had never experienced anything like it for this season of the year.

Several boats were delayed here yesterday lining up their cargoes to make the lower rivers. The steamers Rockfeller, Ranney and Empire City found it necessary to obtain use of the lighter Reliance to shift some of the ore cargo to level up their draft depth.

YOUR VACATION.

By HUGH S. CUMMING.

(Copyright, 1925, by United Press.)

Campers and vacationists should know how to use their first aid kits for treatments of wounds.

In dealing with small cuts it is well to remember that bleeding is beneficial, as it serves to wash out the bacteria. After bleeding has ceased, paint the small cut and the surrounding skin for a considerable distance with a light coat of tincture of iodine.

A dressing of sterile gauze or freshly laundered muslin may be applied and held in place with a bandage. A sterile bandage makes a convenient dressing for small injuries on hands. Care should always be exercised that the part of the bandage or compress which rests upon the wound is not touched by the operator.

Large cuts are apt to bleed freely, but unless an artery or large vein has been opened the bleeding will in most cases cease after a short time. If the blood comes out in spurts, you should apply a tourniquet. Every camper should know how tourniquets are applied to various portions of the body.

While you are awaiting for the arrival of the doctor, make the patient comfortable and see that the clothing does not come in contact with the wound. If the patient has to be carried some distance before medical help can be obtained, cover the wound with a number of thicknesses of sterile gauze, boiled dry muslin, or similar material. If these are not obtainable, use some freshly laundered article, such as a clean handkerchief, towel, or napkin. Hold the dressing in place with a bandage.

One kind of wound frequently occurring among vacationists is caused with the barbed end end of a fish-hook enters the flesh. When the barbed end of a hook enters the flesh, do not attempt to remove it by pulling it directly out. Such a procedure will only cause great laceration and tearing of the tissue. The better plan is to depress the shank of the hook and push the point forward and onward in another direction. Press it out on the surface at another point. The barbed end may then be cut off with a wire cutter or filed off with a file. When this barbed end has been removed the hook may be removed by pulling on the shank. No damage will be done to the tissue if the hook is removed in this way. Fish hook cuts should be treated as small cuts are treated.

In case of wounds caused by a shot gun, rifle or revolver, a doctor should be sent for at once. If sterile gauze is available, the wound should be covered with that. Remember that there may be two wounds, one where the bullet went in and the other where it came out. If only one opening is seen, search for the other on the opposite side of the limb or body.

You should know that there is always danger of lockjaw resulting from a gunshot wound. As soon as possible a physician should be obtained and antitetanus serum administered.

Bites and stings of mosquitoes and other insects may be treated by applying a few drops of household ammonia water or some bicarbonate of soda. In the case of bees, wasps, and yellow jackets, the sting should be removed before applying ammonia. If there is much pain, relief may be obtained by applying cold cloths or a solution of boric acid. In some part of the country, jiggers, or chiggers, are frequent causes of an annoying skin eruption. This insect bores its way directly into the skin and it therefore becomes necessary to take the insect out with a needle. Care should be taken to sterilize the needle before it is used. This can be accomplished by passing the needle once or twice through a flame. After exposure to chiggers, the body should be lathered and washed. This often prevents further trouble.

WEATHER SIGNS WRITTEN IN SKY

Old Proverbs Give Accurate Local Forecasts, Says Expert.

PLAINLY VISIBLE.

By a little study and observation of signs written plainly in the skies, any intelligent person should be able to make accurate weather forecasts in his own locality from day to day, according to Prof. W. J. Humphreys. And in this the old weather proverbs that have proved dependable from long experience will be found of great assistance.

The colors of the sky and the appearance of the sun, the moon, and the stars provide a fairly accurate basis for local predictions, says Professor Humphreys in "Popular Science Monthly" for June. For such predictions, he adds, are really inferences drawn from observations of the atmosphere, inasmuch as the appearance of the sky and of heavenly bodies depends upon atmospheric conditions.

For example, a red morning sun implies a moist atmosphere, and rain may be expected later in the day. On the other hand, a red evening sky means that the air contains so little moisture that rain within the coming 24 hours is improbable. If at evening the sky along the western horizon is yellowish or greenish, it means that there is little moisture in the air, and that the next day will be fair. But if at evening the sky is overcast with a uniform gray, the atmosphere far aloft is saturated with moisture and the next day is likely to be rainy.

The old saying, "Rain before seven, clear before eleven," is based on the scientific fact that an early morning rain dries the air by taking water out of it and cleans it of dust. Likewise, there is truth in the old proverb, "A red sun has water in his eye," for when the air is charged heavily with dust particles that have become laden with moisture, we see the sun as a fiery red ball, obviously suggesting a damp atmosphere and promising rain.

The appearance of the moon depends largely on conditions of the atmosphere, and there is much wisdom in the simple lines:

"The pale moon doth rain,
The red moon doth blow,
The white moon doth neither rain nor snow."

A clear or white moon is commonly understood to give warning of frost, and with good reason, since the earth's surface heat radiates rapidly into a cloudless night sky.

Other old sayings in which there is truth, Professor Humphries declares, are:

"The higher the clouds, the finer the weather."

"Rainbow to windward, foul falls the day; rainbow to leeward, damp runs away."

"The moon with a circle brings water on its beak."

"When the sun is in his house it will rain soon."

GOLD RUSH IN B. C.

Provincial Police Watching Boom at Dease Lake.

VICTORIA, May 18.—(Canadian Press).—According to word received by the provincial police here the rush to the Dease Lake diggings is on. Upwards of 125 men are reported to have reached Telegraph Creek while another 125 are waiting at Wrangel to go up in the next few days.

The provincial police are keeping a strict watch on the mining boom and are prepared to send officers to the field in sufficient numbers to ensure order being preserved.

In The Morning Her Tongue Was Coated HadBad Taste In Mouth

Miss Pearle L. Zinck, Barss Corner, N.S., writes:—"I was awfully troubled with my liver, and used to get such dizzy spells I would have to sit down while I was doing my work.

In the morning, when I used to get up my tongue was coated and I had a bad taste in my mouth and often times, throughout the day, I was troubled with pains in my stomach.

I suffered in this way until a friend of mine who had used your MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS. told me of having taken them, so I decided to try them, and I can truthfully say that they certainly did me a lot of good.

I cannot recommend them too highly to all those who suffer as I did."

You can procure Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills at all druggists or dealers; put up, for the past 30 years by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Explosion Of Boiling Tar Fatal To Highway Worker

MONTREAL, May 18.— (Canadian Press).—Albert Guerin, aged 31, of St. Phillippe De Laprairie died here Saturday, from burns suffered when a barrel of boiling tar exploded and poured over his body on the Provincial Government Road near St. Philippe De Laprairie, on Friday afternoon.

BLAME LIQUOR FOR BLESSING CANADA DOLLAR

United States' Report Shows Canadian Money is Above American.

INVISIBLE TRADE.

Tourist Traffic Has Something to Do With it, Say Bankers.

NEW YORK, May 18.—When the dry armada of the United States began its siege of the rum runners off the Atlantic coast it did a big favor to the Dominion of Canada. The Canadian dollar, thanks to the growth of the American appetite for Canadian liquors, is now worth more than the American dollar, and, with the approach of the season in which thousands of American tourists pour their millions into the coffers of Canadian business enterprises, the premium of Dominion currency over Uncle Sam's is likely to grow larger instead of smaller, bankers believe.

Despite the fact that the balance of trade between Canada and the United States is overwhelmingly in our favor, Canadian money is one of a very few currencies which stands consistently above par with the American dollar. Canada's total foreign trade, including all nations, shows a very healthy balance in favor of the Dominion, and this accounts for some of the strength of the Canadian dollar.

In the opinion of foreign trade experts, the "invisible trade" between this country and Canada, consisting chiefly of smuggled liquor and of huge sums spent by American tourists in Canada, is mainly responsible for the new era.

American dollars are at a discount of 1-32 of 1 per cent in Canada and Canadian money in New York was at a premium of a like amount. The trend of the Canadian unit is believed in foreign exchange circles to be toward higher levels as the summer season attracts flocks of Americans across the border. Last year Canadian dollars reached their highest value as quoted in American funds on August 22, at the very height of the tourist season. Their quotation at that time was 100 in terms of American dollars and from then until the end of the year they fluctuated narrowly just under that level. On December 31 the price of Canadian dollars here was 99.72 cents.

All of this gain in 1924 was accomplished in about five months, for on March 11 Montreal funds were at the lowest point of the year—approximately 96.35 cents to the dollar.

In his report of "invisible trade" made early this week Secretary Hoover estimated the total value of liquors smuggled into the United States last year at $40,000,000—based on the amount of American money which it was necessary to send out of the country to pay for them. Inquiry in Washington reveals that this figure is not considered by Department of Commerce officials to be final and it is believed that the actual total is considerably in excess of that amount. It is also considered that the figure of $40,000,000 would just about cover the amount of liquor smuggled into this country from Canada alone.

International bankers who watch the state of Canadian trade estimate that Americans in Canada spend from ten to twenty millions of dollars each year more than Canadian tourists spend here. Since the adoption of the Constitutional amendment against intoxicating liquors in the United States the amount involved in tourists' expenditures has increased many fold and is growing constantly larger.

In the fiscal year ended with last month exports from the United States to Canada exceeded imports from that nation by $92,546,000. In the preceding fiscal year the balance against the Dominion was $170,548,000 and in 1923 it was $171,909,520. This steady improvement in Canada's trade position has been responsible for some portion of the gain which carried her currency to a level above that of the United States. If, as estimated, tourists' excess expenditures in the Dominion amount to $20,000,000 and smuggled booze is valued at $40,000,000 a year, approximately two-thirds of the exchange balance in Canada's trade with the United States has been wiped out.

5 DEACONS JAILED.

Sentenced For Whipping a Man Who Kept Company With Woman.

SHREVEPORT, La., May 18.—Five men, all deacons of the Atkins Avenue Baptist Church, in Cedar Grove, a suburb, pleaded guilty to-day to assault and battery and conspiracy to commit assault in connection with the flogging last January in Cedar Grove of Hubert Rampley. Testimony showed that Rampley was whipped because he was keeping company with Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Skidmore, who was then suing for a divorce and whom Rampley has since married.

The men were sentenced to seven months in the parish jail. They included C. G. Oliver, choir director of the church, who recently was convicted of conspiracy in connection with the flogging of John Barker for allowing his daughter to wear knickers and ride a bicycle.

AVIATOR KILLED.

Plane Hit Air Pocket and Nose Dived Into Water.

NEW YORK, May 18. — Lieutenant James Jordan died in Staten Island hospital at eight o'clock last evening one hour after the airplane the head mechanic had been flying from Mitchell Field over New York Bay, encountered an air pocket and nose dived into the bay.

The mechanic, Charles E. Lingwall, aged 19, of Brooklyn, escaped with bruises.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

The Anglican churches of the city united in paying respect yesterday to the memory of the late Bishop Reeve, of Toronto, whose death occurred last week. At St. John's church, a special evening memorial service was held, Rev. Dr. Blagrave outlining in his sermon the life and work of the deceased clergymen, one of the patriarchs of the Anglican church in Canada.

Since 1907, when the late Bishop Reeve was forced by advancing age and ill health to retire from his missionary labors in the far north, he was assistant bishop to the late Bishop Sweatman of Toronto, and to his successor, Bishop Sweeny. Prior to that time, for thirty-eight years, from 1869 to 1907, he was engaged in active missionary work in the Northwest. In 1891, he was elected Bishop of Mackenzie River district, and from that time on, spent many years with the Indians in the far Northwestern territories.

In 1869, when the late Bishop Reeve came out from England, he went first to St. Cloud, Minnesota. From there, it was a seven days' journey to Fort Garry, now the city of Winnipeg, and the traveller proceeded to his post in the Northwest by way of the Red River, Lake Winnipeg, the Saskatchewan River, over the Height of Land, down the Athabasca River and the Slave River to Great Slave Lake, and by the Mackenzie River to Fort Simpson.

At the service at St. John's, special memorial hymns were sung, a vocal solo, "There is no Death," was rendered by Mr. D. G. Melton, and the Dead March in Saul was played by the organist, Mr. F. G. Mann. On Friday, during the time of the Bishop's funeral, the flag of St. John's was at half mast.

The Eucharistic service at St. George's church yesterday morning was a memorial to the late Bishop, and Rev. J. K. Hughes gave an outline of his life.

At St. Luke's church a special memorial service was held, and reference to the Bishop was made in the sermon by Rev. J. D. Paterson at All Saints' church. In the district, the Omemee Anglican church held a special memorial service.

ST. PAUL'S

The services in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church yesterday were again well attended, when Rev. William Allan occupied the pulpit for the second week here.

The subject of the morning discourse was "An Old Picture in a Modern Frame," the text being found in Matthew, 17th Chapter, 8th verse: "And when they had lifted up their eyes, they saw no man, save Jesus only."

"There is no waste in the distribution of God's gifts," said Mr. Allan. He exerts His power to feed the multitudes, and when all have been satisfied, He asks that the fragments which fell, be gathered, and there is no waste. God had power, and he never refuses to give it to us when we ask Him and use it aright.

He had power to roll away the stone from the grave of Lazarus, but he commanded the stone to be taken away by one of the bystanders. This is a test of the faith in us when we can feel we have power given from God. His promises are true, and the faithful will never find them to fail. But we must meet the conditions He imposes upon us. We have to ask, seek and knock, and all three actions will be answered in His good time. The old prophets told of God's love and power when they said our strength would be renewed. We would mount up with wings, and run and not be weary. Nowadays there is so much halting, limping and dragging; so little real walking and running, because we do not wait upon the Lord. The burning bush seen by Moses was not like the bushes usually seen on fire—this one he saw was not consumed, and when he asked why it was thus, God spoke in the still small voice. Moses here gave God the chance to re-adjust his life. The keyword of our text is "They saw no man, save Jesus."

Mr. Allan told of a pulpit in Glasgow, on the side facing ministers when they entered being the words, "Sir, we would see Jesus." The congregation had come with the same expectant look on their faces, and the preachers had taken the request to heart and felt they had to give the listeners something they were seeking—the light of God's Word. So are people today—not satisfied with the daily routine, leaving an aching void. The revelation of the Word will be glorious to us who seek faithfully. The handiwork of the Creator is around us, showing our need for God. Our consciences should tell us what is right and wrong in life. "Sin is any want of conformity unto or transgression of the law of God," says our Catechism. When we sin, we fall short of the mark. Men have always failed to find God. We have not located the Father until we have sought Him. Philosophy never reaches any goal, nor does the study of science, towards satisfying our longings to see Jesus. Religious study will get us where we have the most need. Man is in the dark, with no promise of life. Is revelation possible? God gives us power to say something, and gives the listener the same power to hear and understand. A perfect revelation will come through Jesus only. The revelation came when "they lifted up their eyes Abraham took Isaac to the altar and as he was about to sacrifice him, God provided a lamb instead, revealed Himself to Abraham. Christ substituted for us, the innocent for the guilty—a further revelation. This was the appeal of redemption for the liquidation for our debts.

Our courts in murder trials concern themselves with placing the guilt. A murderer forfeits his right to life. Law demands satisfaction in the death penalty. By the Cross of Calvary, Jesus Christ gave every man the right to live.

The adequate redemption of God gives man the moral and spirittual right to live, when otherwise he is legally and spiritually dead. The controversy is raised, and God asks: "What have you done with My Son?" If we live to God we are made partakers of His eternal life.

There is lastly complete emancipation for us when we reach the end of our earthly journey—Jesus only, whatever the death we die. We who are alive will be transfigured. Emancipation will be complete when we meet on the other side of the valley of the shadow.

The preacher concluded with the lines of Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," as a true thought of our great hereafter.

The evening service was very large ly attended, when the subject was: "Standing at last within the gates of Heaven," the text of the theme being chosen from the 122nd Psalm, verse 2. "Our feet shall stand within thy gates, O Jerusalem."

"That word Jerusalem had been given several meanings in the word of God," said Mr. Allen at the outset. It was a wonderful city as it reared its head to the skies Babylon-Rome and other cities were wonderful in those days, but none so wonderful as Jerusalem. Its past and future existence was unusually great. It was dear to the patriarchs, who dreamed of a day when they would at last stand within the gates.

This is one of the 15 Psalms grouped as Songs of Degree, with different meanings put forward anent these. The Jews had gathered together for the Feast of the Passover, and started on the journey to Jerusalem. Here they arrived late in the evening and the gates being closed they waited until morning, in the meantime singing or chanting this 122nd and other Psalms until sleep overtook them, and early in the morning the strains of praise broke out again among them, especially joining in the 121st Psalm.

"I to the hills will lift mine eyes."

The preacher showed what interpretation the Jews then and people now put on the various lines of this Psalm, not the hills where idolatry was rampant but looking to where God dwells above sin of the world, and we must look up to Him with our trust and faith in His goodness, as those people in that land put their trust. They went into the city to worship the Lord Jehovah the next day. The church might be called the mystic company in the New Jerusalem to which we journey.

They were favored people. Our feet shall stand. There are many in our churches who can't be called favourites, because of their separation from the God of our salvation. Our consciences, truth and wills have been made understanding. Our feet must walk the narrow way to enter the straight gate. Is it our way of thinking.

We have to be regenerated to see the New Jerusalem. We know not when our new experience has been reached, but it has happened. Sir James Simpson's answer as to what his greatest discovery had been was —"That I was a great sinner, and Jesus Christ a great Saviour." Jesus knows our shortcomings, but we feel the pull to Him, Godward and Heavenward.

We know not what lies beyond the grave, but by this we are saved a great crushing. "Our feet shall stand within thy gates" if we have the Godward vision of the New Jerusalem. As the Fifeshire lass, who returned from Australia, after a trip for her health, said when she could not see the hills of Largo Law through the fog, put it ere she breathed her last. "My eyes shall never look on the hills of Fifeshire but by God's grace I shall see the hills of heaven." Nothing can prevent people standing on the other side of the gates of Jerusalem. We have not many years before us on this earth, but the Word of God makes it sure we shall enter the gates, if we put God in our hearts And what a happy day for us all, when we meet in the eternal city—at the long rest when we are in heaven our home. The opportunity is ours—may we grasp it, as an answer to Christ's words, "Give me thine heart."

SACRED HEART.

Confirmation services were held at the Church of the Sacred Heart yesterday afternoon at three o'clock, when the big edifice was filled with parishioners in attendance at the confirming of one hundred and fourteen children, with forty-nine boys and sixty-five girls, all between the ages of ten and twelve years.

The Sacrament of Confirmation was administered by His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, assisted by Rev. P. Butler, Rev. J. J. O'Brien and Rev. J. C. Moloney, the latter acting as Master of Ceremonies. The sacrament was administered at the altar rail, the sponsor for each child standing directly behind, and placing his hand on the child's shoulder. The little girls were garbed in white, with white veils, the boys in black suits. The children marched from their school to the church building.

His Lordship spoke on the sacrament of confirmation and its efficacious effects on the soul, and also referred to the canonization yesterday in Rome of Ste. Therese of Lisieux, known as "The Little Flower of Jesus."

During the ceremony, the children, trained with splendid care by the Sisters of St. Joseph, sang hymns to the Holy Ghost and also to the "Little Flower."

GEORGE STREET METHODIST

Rev. W. Harold Young, preaching at George Street, last evening took as his subject the "Crock of Gold" and the text for his sermon from Saint Matthew, chapter 13, 44th verse.

Mr. Young explained that in Biblical times when there were no banks in existence the custom was to bury the accumulated wealth in the ground and it was no uncommon thing for people to find these crocks of gold, and in fact people were always on the lookout for them. Bringing this idea down to present times the speaker said that peope were still searching eagerly for the crock of gold. He said that Jesus always spoke of life as a quest or a search, a seeking after better things.

Mr. Young said the present day crock of gold was the finest treasure imaginable, the treasure of happiness, the treasure of joy, the treasure of content, that men now call happiness. He continued by saying that contrary to the statements of the cynics and disappointed people who cry out in despair that "life is only a grim and tragic jest and only gives to take away again and the winning of contentment and happiness impossible to men." The crock is really in existence and can be found if sought in the right manner He said that when a man has come to believe in no happiness he has lost faith in life and is on the threshold of losing faith in God. Mr. Young said that the supreme example of faith in life and hope was that of a mother holding her babe and visioning the future of her baby. He said that human experience teaches that there is the crock of gold, happiness, content.

The speaker said that this knowledge of the existence of the crock of gold was useless unless we can find it. He said there are three paths, which cross and the crock of gold is buried at the crossing. He said the first pathway was that of ideals, loyalty, not to things seen but things unseen, to things that cannot be bought or sold. He said that in the old testament there are many stories of ancient heroes and he pointed out that what made these men great was that they lived for God, honour and duty and whatever else could be taken from these could not. Modern examples of this were given, Edith Cavell, David Livingstone and one of the greatest, Paul. Men who gave up position, wealth, luxury, and peace to work out a great idea are on the right path to the crock of gold.

The second pathway is that of faithfulness in ordinary duties in the ordinary round of life. He that discovers that performing of his ordinary duties faithfuly is on the point of discovering the crock. The third pathway according to the speaker was that of service and it was pointed that the strange paradox of the crock of gold was that no one could take it with his own hands. The baby gave it to the mother, the black men gave it to Livingstone.

Mr. Young said that these three roads cross at the foot of a cross, Calvary Cross, and in finishing he said the great need is to give oneself in glad obedience to Him who died for you.

The service was splendid musically. Miss Daisie Murray sang a soul, the choir sang a beautiful anthem and Miss Elva McIntyre and Mr. Jack Renwick rendered a duet.

At the morning service Rev. A. I. Terryberry representative of the Lord's Day Alliance made a strong plea for the security of a holy Sababth. He said it was our greatest heritage as Canadians and the greatest thing we could give to our children.

ALL SAINTS' ANGLICAN

Rev. Canon O'Meara, Principal of Wycliffe College, Toronto, was the preacher at All Saints' Church, at both services yesterday, and also at a meeting of the Sunday School teachers after the Sunday School session in the afternoon.

Canon O'Meara chose his text at the morning service from the last chapter of the Old Testament: "The Sun of Righteousness shall arise," and he said these words were written at a time when the days were dark and the menace to the Jewish people was great. These present times, he said, are also dark and difficult and people do not know what is coming.

Although this is a fine morning, said the speaker, this world was originally dark. In the first chapter of the Old Testament, it says, "And darkness was upon the face of the waters." Likewise the human heart is naturally under a shadow. Each day people have an opportunity of choosing between right and wrong and there is no middle course. But the wrong choice made in the moment of weakness does not bring sunshine into the life. Neither does the selfish choice bring sunshine to the heart.

This world owes much to the sun, said Canon O'Meara, but people take it for granted. Every good thing could not exist if it were not for the sun. Steam engines and electricity all owe their energy to the power of the sun.

There was never an event to equal the birth of the Lord Jesus Christ, the Sun of Righteousness. The human heart is dark and cold and needs Him to shine there. Many lives are cold and dull. The daily task is dull and the pleasures of the wealthy are dull, the same thing over and over again. The dulness is not outside but inside. The sunshine is needed in the soul.

Christians, said the speaker, are prone to go around with long faces, instead of proclaiming the gospel of sunshine. Sometimes it seems to rise slowly in a life and at others it seems to rise quickly, but the principal thing, the necessary thing, is that it should rise.

Evening Service.

"Then said I, 'Here am I, send me'," was the text at the evening service. The text was taken from the calling of Isaiah, the greatest of all the prophets. The great need of the world now is prophets, men and women of courage to declare the truth of God.

The call never came to Isaiah until he gave God an opportunity to talk to him, and when he saw what a sinner he was and confessed his sins, they were forgiven him and he was given an opportunity to proclaim the word of God. Until people give God a chance to talk to them and admit their own unworthiness, they cannot hear the call to service. Many people ask where they would be sent if they gave the answer that Isaiah gave, but in many cases they would be sent back to their own homes and work to serve God there. Leave the choice to God, said the speaker, and He will send you where it is best. The command He gives, wherever a person is sent is "Go and tell," and there is need for men and women to tell His message in all places.

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN.

Members of the Masonic Order were present at the evening session of St. Andrew's Church yesterday and occupied the seats in the central portion of the church.

Rev. J. W. Gordon chose for his text the parable of the two structures built upon foundation of stone and sand, the story of which is found in the seventh chapter of the Gospel of St. Matthew.

"These words," Rev. Gordon said, "came at the conclusion of the sermon on the Mount, when Christ was outlining the principles on which all lives must be built because He saw the necessity for a sure foundation."

Those who heed the words of Christ will build a super-structure which will withstand temptation, while others who pay no attention will fail just as the house failed which was built on an unstable foundation.

Mr. Gordon said that constant proximity to greatness takes away that feeling of awe and sense of grandeur which at first seizes one. If there was only one sunset or only one snowstorm or only one telephone, people would flock from far and near to view the miracles, but when they occur in every-day life little is thought of them though they are none the less miracles. In the presence of the most sublime things in the universe people allow themselves to grow heedless. This is so with the teachings of Christ as years pass.

People are allowing His word to become an old story, something with which they believe themselves perfectly familiar, little knowing that years of study could not teach them half of the wonders and glories to be discovered in the Bible.

Rev. Mr. Gordon recalled the time of the early translation of the Bible by Wickliffe and the subsequent printing of it by Tyndall. In those early days a copy of a Bible was chained to a pillar, and people would walk miles just to see it.

Mr. Gordon then changed the tenor of his sermon. He said: "We are taught as Masons to be charitable. No man has less excuse for going wrong than a Mason, because he is thoroughly acquainted with the Scriptural message. People call the Bible a book of law. It is not a book of law, but rather a love letter. Christ said, love one another as I have loved you. The entire subject matter of the Bible deals with love. As a proof of the love which people have for one another, the recent tragedy in Lindsay was cited, and which shows how the love of an entire community can be evidenced when occasion arises.

Is it enough that men should do heroic acts, help crippled children and foster welfare clubs? It can be proven that that humane society which ignores the Word of God ceases to be kind In the unenlightened worlds crippled children are destroyed and not lovingly cared for as in Christian lands. Surely this spirit which is actuated by God's love should be acknowledged. He who loves his neighbor must therefore love God.

In conclusion, Rev. Gordon said: "Take the Book and read it; you will discover what He is like. Who He is, how to find Him, how to build and sometime while reading you will look up suddenly expecting to see him."

The music was a splendid feature of the evening service, and included Mendelssohn's "Hear My Prayer" by Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, "Fierce Was the Raging Billow," by Tertius Noble, an ensemble selection showing very fine choral work, and "Remember Now Thy Creator," sung by R. A. Brown.

MENIE FARMERS POWER MEETING

Majority at Meeting of Users in Burnbrae District Favor New Contracts.

OPINION DIVIDED.

BURNBRAE, May 18—The question of Hydro power has jumped up like a veritable "Jack-in-the-box" to vex and annoy the Burnbrae farmers once more. About a year ago, each of the power users in the district received a twenty-year contract form from the Hydro Commission asking them to sign and return at once. The farmers felt that these contracts were somewhat unfair, as they were absolutely binding on the user while the Hydro Commission was left free to make any increase in rates it desired.

Several attempts were made to come to an agreement with the Hydro officials, and meetings were held to discuss matters but the situation remained unchanged until last week, when each user who had not signed, received a new contract to be filled in and returned by the first of June, or power service would be cut off.

A meeting was held in the hall, Menie, on Thursday evening, to consider these contracts, and find out what percentage of the users were willing to sign.

Mr. A. T. Donald acted as chairman, and he together with Mr. Alex. Hume spoke favorably of the contracts. Mr. C. U. Clancy was present and also spoke on the advantages of the power. These gentlemen felt that they, personally, could not do without power, even at a higher rate. Mr. Hume had made inquiries and found that the rates charged here compared very favorably with those in Western Ontario. The Hydro were not anxious to supply power to this district, as they had plenty of chances to use it elsewhere, and he advised the farmers to sign the contracts and make sure of the advantage of the power. Opinion was somewhat divided upon the question, although the majority of those present stated that they would sign if all the users stayed with the game. A few were rather doubtful, but the general feeling is that the contracts will be signed in the near future by most of the farmers.

Advantage to Farmers.

The Burnbrae district has been given good service by both the Seymour Power Company and the Hydro and the farmers have found the electricity to be such an advantage in their work that they feel they cannot get along without it. A good example of the extensive use of electric power on the farm can be seen at the home of Mr. C. U. Clancy, Rawdon Township, east of Menie. Besides lights in house and barn, Mr. Clancy operates his milker, separator, root pulper and grain grinder as well as all household machinery such as washing machine, churn, and water sysems by Hydro power. Mr. Clancy is also an ardent and successful poultryman and uses his power in lighting the poultry houses for winter egg production and in the hatching and brooding of chicks. The one most admirable feature of electricity on the farm is its absolute safety as regards fire. This is still more appreciated when one reads in the newspapers the appalling list of farm fires caused by overturned lanterns, matches, etc. It is hoped that this matter will soon be settled, so that Burnbrae residents will in the future enjoy the benefits of Hydro service, as they have in the past.

May Build Plant.

Mr. Will T. Allan of Rylstone was at the meeting of the Hylro users on Thursday evening, and informed those present that he was considering the building of a power plant and would build a line to the Burnbrae district if an agreement was not reached with the Hydro. Mr. Allan did not press for a decision, as his plans are not altogether matured as yet. He is awaiting the report of the engineer he has engaged to enquire into the matter, and this report will not be ready till near the end of the month. Some remarked that should they sign up with Mr. Allan he would probably sell out to the Hydro, and they would be in exactly the same position as at present.

This Is Clean-Up Week

CHILDREN PLAY WITH MATCHES

Chief Gimblett Finds Mothers Are Growing Careless Again.

BUSY SUNDAY.

The firemen had a busy week end, as they responded to five calls, the majority of which were of a trivial nature.

The Chief states that mothers are growing careless and allowing children to play with matches. On Saturday at 4.13 p.m. a call was sent in from 330 Sherbrooke, where children had been amusing themselves in this way in a barn.

The Chief states that an alarm box should not be pulled on account of overheated pipes or chimney fires, but the call should be 'phoned in. Otherwise the whole brigade is turned out when only one truck is all that is necessary.

Other calls were: Sunday, 11.40 a.m. to 141 Sherbrooke street, 12.07 p.m. to 490 Driscoll Terrace, 1.58 p.m., 277 Princess street, all of which were for chimney fires.

At 7.45 a call was sent in for the pullmotor to be dispatched to Lock 19.

At 10 a.m. to-day a call to 227 Sherbrooke street for overheated pipes.

GOUGH KNEW OF BANK'S CONDITION

Vice-Presiaent Was Aware of Peril From 1918 Says Crown Prosecutor.

TORONTO, Ont., May 18. — (Canadian Press.)— R. P. Gough knew of the perilous condition of the Home Bank at least from early in 1918, and a special duty was placed on him by reason of that knowledge, it was argued in the First Divional Court this morning by D. L. McCarthy, K.C., Crown counsel, in reply to the case submitted by W. N. Tilley, K.C., for the reversal of Mr. Gough's conviction on a charge of signing or concurring in false bank statements. Mr. Gough was vice-president of the bank from 1916 to its failure.

WHAT IT MEANS TO THE PEOPLE

Some Ask Origin of the Made-in-Peterboro Exhibition.

CIVIC BUSINESS

With the Made In Peterborough Exhibition only two weeks off, it seems late for people to ask what it is all about, but two requests for such information were heard on Saturday.

The Exhibition has a two-fold aim. The proceeds from booth rents and ticket sales will go to help the Peterborough Health Association in its work for the welfare of the city, and the Exhibition itself is intended to show the people of Peterborough the wealth of manufactures produced in local plants.

The Health Association maintains a camp at Jackson park where children who would otherwise have no holiday enjoy two or three weeks of open-air life in summer under competent supervision. They are well fed and well cared for, and every one of them looks forward to the event for months ahead and is sorry when the holiday comes to an end. Trucks make the round of the city every morning in the season to pick them up, and take them home at night. At the camp there is swimming and wading, provided in the pool built by the Kiwanis Club last year. There are sand piles and swings and all kinds of sports under the trees.

And there are the fresh air and healthy food that put new life into the children.

On the other hand there are many hundreds of people who have no conception of the variety and size of Peterborough's productions in the manufacturing world and her contributions to Canada's trade and export. To these the Exhibition offers an opportunity to learn.

Besides the educational programme, which will be as attractive as the sponsors of the plan and the manufacturers can make it, there will be amusements of all kinds, and a programme that should meet every whimsicality.

That is the object and that is the scope of the Made In Peterborough Exhibition.

TO-NIGHT IS THE NIGHT

If you do not feel well there is some reason for it. In nine cases out of ten it is due to your liver. So start tonight and take two Tanol Calomel Tablets or take one before meals and a glass of hot water in the morning to wash all poisons from the system. Calomel, as you know, is the only drug known that acts upon the liver and that is why there has been such wonderful results from the use of it in the new form called Tanol Calomel. Just get a few of these sample tablets from F. C. Webber's Drug Store, Peterborough, and you will be surprised how effective they are. m.-w.s.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

YOUNG LADIES START CONTEST

Made in Peterborough Fair Competition Raises Rivalry in City.

SOME BATTLE.

The popular young ladies, who are lending their popularity for the benefit of the Health Association, got away to even break at 10 o'clock this morning in the ticket selling contest for the Made-in-Peterboro Fair. That they're a speedy bunch and changes can be expected momentarily, has already been evidenced in the short time elapsed before going to press, as some changes in the standings have already been made and reported. We are giving below a list of the names of the entries together with the ones who are sponsoring them, and their standings as given in the last minute reports from a list furnished by Mr. Dickin.

It is too early to predict who will be the winner of the first, second and third prizes. Interest just now centres on who will win the gold Eversharp pencil awarded by Mr. MacDonald to the one standing highest at ten o'clock on Wednesday morning. This is going to be short and snappy and one young lady in the list was heard to murmur, "I am going to grab off that pencil if I swallow my chewing gum." We understand that other entries are yet to be made. Our advice is not to wait too long and let those already entered get too much of a start. This popularity contest is going to be interesting to watch. The results will be given daily and if you have a favorite give her all the help you can, because no matter who she is, she is going to need it before the contest is over.

RECTOR IS CHOSEN FOR HOLY TRINITY

Former Curate of St John's Church Here, Goes to Toronto.

TORONTO, May 18.—Yesterday morning, at the service in the Church of the Holy Trinity, Trinity Square, the news was given to the congregation, by request of the Rt. Rev. Bishop Sweeny, that Rev. Canon Walter Muckleston Loucks, rector of All Saints' Church, Winnipeg, had accepted appointment to the rectorship of Holy Trinity, rendered vacant by the acceptance by Rev. Canon Ralph Sherman of the office of Dean of Quebec, whither he goes in a few weeks' time.

Canon Loucks is the son of a clergyman, his father having been Canon Edward Loucks. He is a native of Ontario, born at Williamsburg. His education was gained at Trinity College School, Port Hope, and Trinity College, Toronto. In 1888 he took his B.A. degree with honors, and two years later that of M.A. In 1891 he took deacon's orders, and was advanced to the priesthood in 1893. Since 1913 he has been at All Saints, Winnipeg, as rector, before which he was rector of St. Matthew's, Ottawa, from 1902 to 1913; on the cathedral staff at Ottawa, 1893 to 1902, and curate at St. John's church, Peterborough, 1891-93. He has been Honorary Canon of St. John's Cathedral, Winnipeg, since 1920 and was Rural Dean of Winnipeg in 1922.

From 1909-13 he was Secretary of the House of Bishops of the Ecclesiastical Province of Canada. In 1910 he was official delegate to the bi-centenary celebration of the Church of England in Canada, at Halifax, N.S. While in Ottawa he helped to found the Canadian Club there, and was chaplain of the football club. He married Miss Harriet Alice, daughter of the late William Fife, M.D., of Guelph.

RUFFLES THAT GO NOWHERE

Each of the ruffles that adorn this frock seems to have a different idea of where to begin and where to stop, and only one feels any responsibility to go ahead and circumnavigate the hem. However, the effect is very French and very unusual and it makes a very distinctive frock on a simple white crepe de chine foundation. A one-sided belt is another original touch.

CONCERT FOR CHARITY.

By Female Voice Choir at the G.W.V.A. Hall.

The Female Voice Choir gave a concert Friday night at the G. W. V. A. assembly hall in aid of charity. Major Winterbottom presided over the presentation of the following programme:

O Canada, the choir; "Dolly," Barbara Gray; Dreams, Miss N. Allen; recitation; "Oh," Jean Gray; "Georgia Lullaby," Mrs. Jackson; The Lost Dolly, Phyliss Pink; song and dance, "Love Nest," by Miss A. Guerin; Snow Flakes, Barbara Gray and nine little girls; "Me and My Boy Friend," Miss E. Harrison; Lullaby Land, J. Gray, Mr. Fletcher and eight little girls; vocal solo, "O Solo Mis," Mrs. Brearley; recitation, Mrs. A. Nicholls; "Love's Old Sweet Song," Miss M. Kitchen; "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses," Miss Jessie Patterson; Peek A'Boo, Miss Fletcher and children; duet, Juanita, Miss Allen and Mrs. Cairns; piano selection, Miss Lucy Fisher; Rose Dream, the choir.

Mrs. J. Mills moved a vote of thanks to the choir, which was seconded by Rev. Father Costello.

HAPPY PARTY.

Junior Swimming Pupils at Y.W.C.A. Had Jolly Time on Saturday.

The junior swimming pupils of the Young Women's Christian Association had a jolly party at the 'Y' on Saturday morning, when about one hundred of them, from the ages of three to eleven, gathered in the pool for an hour's swim, followed by a lunch. Mr. Mathias took some group pictures of the children in the pool, and also arranged them on the lawn for pictures in their pageant costumes.

WHISPERS.

A man is in love when he wants to give his sweetheart everything including himself.

NORMAN JOLLIFFE,
Bass Baritone of New York.

This prophet did receive honor in his own country:

It took the musical powers-that-be in Toronto several years to bring back to the concert platform one of its most successful singers who had made a career in New York City in the interim. But when the young artist did appear there Feb. 6, 1923 in a performance of "Elijah" with the Toronto Oratorio Society not one music critic but what paid him the very highest tribute. The Toronto Mail reported, "He proved to be the greatest "Elijah" that the present writer has ever heard." The Star comment was, "He is a superb artist and his interpretation was a magnificent delineation of religious moods and passion," while the Toronto Saturday Night said: "He gave the greatest interpretation heard since the days of Frangion Davies."

It is interesting to announce that the artists name is Norman Jolliffe, who is booked to sing at Peterborough May 19th, at Symphony Orchestra Concert, in the Grand Opera House.

HOW TO DO YOUR OWN CANNING FOLLOWING COLD PACK METHODS

CANNING BY THE COLD PACK METHOD BY UTILIZING THE WASH BOILER.

Every housekeeper must determine for herself whether she will save money by doing her own canning of fruits and vegetables.

The woman in the country or small town who has fresh vegetables fairly "under her nose" undoubtedly will save an appreciable sum if she cans the surplus of her garden and orchard.

The woman who must buy her vegetables for canning must consider her problem from an entirely different angle. If the quality of the vegetables she is able to procure for canning is desirable, if the price is reasonable and if her finished product equals or excells the standard commodity supplied by her grocer she too will effect a worth while saving.

In order to insure a perfect "finished product" an adequate equipment and the willingness to work with scientific precision are necessary.

Cold Pack Best.

The most satisfactory method for home canning vegetables and fruits is the one-period cold pack. Preserves and pickles are quite another thing and require different handling.

The equipment for cold pack canning is not elaborate or expensive and of course is used year after year. The canner or sterilizer can be of the boiler or pressure cooker type. The pressure cooker can be used for the cooking of many foods and is a good investment. The boiler type of sterilizer is much less expensive.

Take an inventory of your cans and be sure you have plenty of new rubbers in the house before the day you are planning to can. Never try to use old rubbers. This is of utmost importance as a defective rubber means a spoiled product. This precaution applies to any method of canning.

If you are planning to cold pack asparagus you should have the following utensils at your elbow:

Glass jars, preferably one-pint size, new rubber rings, yard square of cheese cloth, colander, large kettle for blanching, wide-mouth canning funnel, paring knife, case knife, sterilizer, measuring spoon, large preserving spoon.

This equipment will be used for any fruit or vegetable you may want to can. The kettle for blanching may be your preserving kettle.

The steps in cold pack canning are the same for all fruits and vegetables with the exception that berries and soft fruits are not blanched before processing. If you keep in mind just what must be accomplished to insure the keeping of canned food the method of procedure seems simple and logical' First the bacteria found in all matter must be killed and second the jars must be made as nearly vacuums as possible.

Always sort the vegetables or fruits to be canned and put those of uniform size together.

Never try to can over-ripe fruit or too-mature vegetables. The fruit will be just as soft after canning and will fail to keep and vegetables will be just as tough as though you had tried to use them fresh.

And now for the actual canning of a specific vegetable.

To Cold Pack String Beans.

Sort beans. Wash and remove strings or "snap." Cut into inch lengths. Put enough beans to fill one can into square of cheesecloth. Tie corners loosely and plunge into kettle of boiling water. Boil five minutes, counting from the time the water begins to boil after the beans are put in. Remove at once from boiling water and plunge into a large pan of very cold water. Lift up and down two or three times to be sure the cold water penetrates to the center. Drain. Use plenty of both boiling water and cold water and have the water as cold as possible. The theory of the boiling water or "blanching" process is that surface organisms are washed off and that any strong flavor possibly objectionable in the cooked product is removed. Blanching make it possible to use the one period cold pack, rather than the "intermittant" method, requiring three successive days of sterilizing.

The cold dip helps to keep the vegetable firm and checks the escape of juices.

Pack sterilized cans with beans, packing firmly and closely, but taking care not to crush the beans. Fill cans to within one-fourth inch from the top. Add one-half teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon sugar to a pint can.

Adjust rubber after testing and dipping in hot water.

Add boiling water to cover beans.

Half seal jars. A screw-top is turned as far as possible with the thumb and little finger and a glass top has the bail over the top, but the lower bail is not snapped down.

Place cans on rack in sterilizer half full of boiling water' Add boiling water to cover jars two inches above the tops. Bring to the boiling point and boil two and one-half hours. Keep the water boiling constantly during the sterilizing process.

Remove from water. Seal tightly and turn upside down to cool.

Cool quickly, but do not let a draft strike the cans. A draft will break the can and all the work will be for naught.

When cool store in a dark, cool, dry place.

Cynthia Grey Says

Dear Miss Grey—I met a pretty girl several months ago and was having many dates with her until about two weeks ago. Then she claimed I was going out with other girls, which was not true. She said I was two-faced and had lied to her about not having dates with other girls. All I did was to speak to other girls, but I did not go out with them. I thought I loved this girl before she went on this senseless rampage. Should I try to forget her or try to make her see that she has an entirely wrong impression about me.—Jack S.

I think I would forget her. In the long run the extremely jealous girl never makes a pleasant companion or a satisfactory wife.

Dear Miss Grey: My mother found out the other day that I had been smoking cigarets when I went out on parties with other couples. She became very angry and said that no decent girl smokes cigarets. I tried to argue that many respectable girls did, but she only became angrier. Is she right about it? —Lolita.

Strictly speaking, there may be nothing wrong in a girl smoking cigarets. I know the mother of two children, who cares for them most tenderly, and yet she smokes a package of cigarets every three days. But it is certainly true that the reputation of any girl is not helped by cigaret smoking. Whether justly or not, she is at once stamped as some sort of a wild woman. I believe it would be better for your health and your reputation if you quit smoking.

HOME TOWN RECIPE.

Here is a recipe for fudge cake, given by Mrs. M. Lang, 489 Murray Street. The name is enough to recommend it.

One cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cocoa, ¼ cup butter, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in ½ cup sour milk, 1½ cups flour. Put together in order, add a little vanilla and ¼ cup boiling water. Bake in two layers.

Filling for Fudge Cake.

Two-thirds cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cocoa, ½ cup cold water, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon corn starch, 1 cup hot water, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Mix well and cook in double boiler, cool and use as filling for cake.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

KEEP SHOES CLEAN.

Light colored shoes should be wiped clean with a cloth after each wearing and placed on trees and put into boxes or covered with cloth.

SPRAY YOUR FERNS.

Spray the foliage of your ferns once a week with tepid water applied with a plant syringe.

PROTECTS SCARFS.

Keep veils, ties, sashes and scarfs

all smoothly folded and protected by tissue paper when not in use.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

MONDAY, May 18—"Beware of weirdupois," is the slogan for persons this day. You will have a marked tendency to become overweight, if you are in good health. You should take steps to keep down your weight, as it will be detrimental to your health in later years. You probably will marry a man or a woman who weighs much less than you do.

Born under the zodiacal sign of Taurus, you will have a full face, with a wide nose and mouth, and shining flesh inclined to reddishness.

KEENE NEWS.

Miss Jean Armstrong Wins Degree in Three Years in Queen's.

KEENE, May 16.—Miss Jean Armstrong, of Keene, has completed a three year term at Queen's University, receiving her B. A. degree. Miss Armstrong covered work for a four year period in three years.

Mrs. Wheeler has left for Kingston to attend the graduation exercises there this week at the hospital, in which her daughter Mary has completed three years of training and who is also graduating.

Mrs. Kindred attended the district convention of the W. M. S. as delegate from Keene at Mount Pleasant.

The last meeting of the W. M. S. of the Keene Methodist Church was held at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Howson on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Hewie was made a life member. Refreshments were served after the business and devotional sessions. The coming meetings will be under the jurisdiction of the Union Church of Canada.

Mr. J. J. Moore is erecting a new garage at his residence.

The Young People's Club and the Township Council held a meeting in connection with the memorial lot. Messrs. Sam. Comrie and Harry Reid, representing the Council, and Messr. Pete Mather, Earl Doris and Clarence Robertson, representing the Young People's Club, formed a committee to look after all details. It was decided not to build a cement promenade, but to seed it down and plant flowers, leaving space enough for a tennis court and bowling green. Operations will be started at once as it is the intention to have everything in shape by the first of June.

A meeting has been called at the Bank of Toronto for Tuesday, May 19 to form a tennis club. All those interested are asked to be there at 8.00 p.m. Tuesday evening.

Mr. Paton, of Peterborough, was in the village Thursday on business.

NEW GOVERNOR.

MELBOURNE, May 18 (Canadian Press) — Premier Stanley M Bruce today announced that Sir John Lawrence Baird had been appointed as Governor-General of the Australian Commonwealth in succession to Lord Forster who has held office since 1920.

Short Cake

HAL COCHRAN'S DAILY POEM

This strawberry season is appetite teasin'. I'll bet you'll agree on that point. I've eaten and eaten and fed on this treat, till I've near thrown my jaws out of joint.

No man ever tarries o'er luscious red berries. What wonderful tid-bits they seem. What more could you ask, than to sit to the task, of devouring some berries and cream?

And then, for relief, it is my firm belief, that you always can tickle your eye by sitting' and grinnin', and shortly beginnin' the eatin of strawberry pie.

Oh pappy, how happy a fellow can be when this fruit's at his beck and his call. But, when they are serving the berries to me, give me shortcake—the best of them all.

Just picture the dough, that with brown is aglow, and the berries all squashed up just right. And here's where I stop, 'cause I guess that I'll hop out and get me some shortcake tonight.

YOUR GARDEN

ANNUALS FOR THE PERENNIAL BORDER.

Even the best of perennial borders will look rather a little shabby and lack in color at certain seasons. The new border also will look rather bare and show rather too much earth before the plants fill out to a fair size. For both these troubles, annuals may be used very effectively if planted in bold, irregular groups in the same manner as the perennials. Color schemes in the perennial border may be supplemented, a new color scheme worked out for the annuals or the colors may be left to take care of themselves, just avoiding severe clashes.

All annuals will not be suitable for such a treatment and only those that are free blooming and of nformal appearance are suitable. Geraniums, coleus, salvia and any bedding plants that are usually associated with stiffness and formal beds are entirely unsuitable and would but add a jarring note. Also the summer cypress on account of its stiffness should be banned for this purpose.

Choose rather Annual Phlox (Phlox drummondii), Verbena, Salipglossus, Annual Forget-me-nots, Petunias, Marigolds, Asters, Zinnias and Marigolds are just a little stiff and prim, but in mass will do. If the Petunias, Annual Phlox and Verbena are pinned down at intervals with wires they will send up a larger number of shoots and will flower more profusey.

CLEAN-UP WEEK WITH US TODAY

Mayor Turner Proclaims Civic Observance of Beneficial Plan.

EVERYONE INVITED

Mayor J. J. Turner has decreed that this shall be "Clean Up Week" in Peterborough. Last year the event was not very well observed, but it is believed that this year will see a big improvement made in lawns and public places.

His Worship has in mind in making this proclamation the beautification of the city outwardly as well as the annual indoor spring cleaning most women have now disposed of. To his mind there is no reason why the annual drive on dirt should stop at the front or back door, but he thinks it might with benefit be carried to the front and back gardens. Disreputable fences can be covered with creeper or paint, old sheds can be hidden in the same way if they must be retained, and generally a spic and span look may be given the city that will impress the citizen with a new dignity and visitors with a sense of the importance of Peterborough.

A well-dressed man sells himself easier and to better advantage than a run down, seedy looking individual, even though he may not have better ability, and with a city it is just the same as with an individual.

Everyone feels better when he has his Sunday best on, and the city will feel better and look better and prosper more when it gets its best adornment on.

It is up to every citizen to do his share, and a few hours' work will work wonders.

DECORATION DAY OBSERVED JUNE 28

Oddfellows Set the Date for Honoring Their Departed Brethren.

Decoration day has been set for June 28. The local Lodges of Oddfellows have selected that date for their annual ceremony of decorating the graves of their departed brethren and conducting a service in their memory. The long notice will give the lot-holders of the cemetery time to get the flower beds fixed up and make preparations for decorations on that day.

DUN ALL DEBTORS.

United States Thinks Time Opportune For Funding War Debts.

WASHINGTON, May 18 (Canadian Press).—Not France alone, but all our foreign debtors except Russia are being reminded that it is time to settled their war debts. The State Department discloses that communications have been addressed to France, Italy, Belgium, Rumania, Greece, Czecho Slovakia, Jugo Slavia, Esthonia and Latvia.

The text of the messages was not disclosed, but the State Department officials emphasized that without being at all peremptory, the view was conveyed that sufficient time now has elapsed since the war and reconstruction has progressed to a point where promissory notes should be converted into funded agreements.

What is the World Coming To Anyhow?

(By Jeannette).

He rattled his paper savagely. The paper, as a matter of fact, did not belong to him. It belonged to the girl who had usurped his rightful place. But he was getting fed up on this skirt business anyway, and he had to do something to relieve his feelings. So he seized the girl's paper and read it, pausing occasionally to glower around the corner at her.

This thing of allowing women to go where they liked and do what they liked was getting absolutely beyond bounds. Everyone knew that Eve was only an afterthought, anyway. Adam came first. But the modern woman and especially the modern girl, didn't have any realization of what was proper and right. He reflected savagely as he glared at the picture of Mr. Jiggs exchanging good coin of the realm for a workingman's packaged shirt, that his mother would never think of getting herself in the situation that this girl was in. Thank God he had never married. He shuddered as he reflected that he might have been the father of one of these modern girls. Only his own caution had prevented such a calamity.

He was positively ashamed to glance at her. There she was, with a blouse anyone could look right through and see the pink straps over her shoulders, lying back in that chair, her skirts up to her knees, and yes — they were rolled stockings, by George! There was a bony-looking bit of knee and what his little niece called a jazz garter, if one took the trouble to investigate. He retired more virtuously behind the screen of the newspaper.

And the fellow's arm was around her neck and his face was extremely close to hers. There was nothing very personal about the fellow, either. He was a common-looking guy, with a white coat and a smart alec swing to his shoulders as he bent over the girl's form. He was positively fondling her hair. Didn't the creature know enough to get up and go home?

The world was in a sad state. His mother, now. There was a woman for you. Always prim and proper, remembering that a lady should be quiet and dignified. No rolled stockings for her, or jazz garters, or bobbed locks. She knew how to cook, too. There was something in the Kaiser's idea, after all, that a woman should confine her attention to "church, kitchen and children." Would anyone suppose for a minute that a girl like the one in front of him could cook, or take care of a child. It wasn't at all likely. He stopped rustling the paper and listened for a moment to the conversation of the two. "And I says to him, another wise crack like that and you can waltz yourself home. "Be yourself," I says. "Get your full two years." It was the girl speaking. The young man was gazing down fondly into her face. A click of approval came from his vacant-looking mouth. The gentleman with the paper groaned.

The man in the next seat nudged his arm. "Your turn now," he whispered loudly. The man with the newspaper got up savagely and thrust the crackling sheets into his pocket. That girl could go without her reading matter or buy another Evening Spasm. He plumped himself savagely into the chair and growled, "Trim the back up a little and give me a shampoo. Make it snappy."

He had been waiting his turn in a barber shop while a girl customer had her hair curled.

GRAY'S SEVENTH CONSECUTIVE VICTORY GIVES ATHLETICS NINE IN A ROW, DEFEATING WHITE SOX

Connie Mack's Young Star Let Chicago Down With Solitary Run.

SPEAKER RETURNS

Cleveland Manager's Hitting Failed in Close Game With the Senators.

CHICAGO, May 17.—The Philadelphia Athletics won their ninth straight victory today when Sam Gray hung up his seventh consecutive win, defeating the White Sox, 6 to 1. The Athletics bunched hits in the first inning off Faber and took a commanding lead. The White Sox had numerous chances to score, but were unable to hit in the pitches. Score:

Philadelphia.. ....400000020— 6 8 0
Chicago.... ....001000000— 1 5 3

Gray and Cochrane; Faber and Schalk.

Washington, 2; Cleveland, 1.

CLEVELAND, May 17.—Washington made it two straight from Cleveland today, winning 2 to 1, in a pitchers' battle between Zachary and Uhle. The latter was a trifle more effective, but Washington made its hits count while Cleveland hit into three double plays when there were chances to score.

Manager Speaker celebrated his return with a double and two singles, lining into a double play his other time at bat. Score:

Washington.. ....001000010— 2 8 0
Cleveland ....000000001— 1 9 3

Zachary and Ruel; Uhle and Sewell.

St. Louis, 11; Boston, 6.

ST. LOUIS, May 17. — The Browns made it two in a row over the Boston Red Sox, winning this afternoon's contest 11 to 6. The Browns scored repeatedly on early inning breaks, Ross' wildness figuring largely in the batting onslaught. Gaston did not yield a hit until the fourth. George Sisler bagged another hit, running up to 32 the number of games in which he has clouted safely. The score:

Boston..... ....000200103— 6 7 2
St. Louis ....13100006x—11 4 1

Ross, Fuhr and Picinich; Gaston and Dixon.

Detroit, 3; New York, 2.

DETROIT, May 17.—Collins and Hoyt engaged in a pitching duel in the second game of the series here today, and Detroit won, 3 to 2.

Ward drove out a home run on the first ball pitched in the eighth inning, scoring the Yankees' second and last score of the game. Detroit's runs were due largely to New York errors:

Score:

New York ....100000010— 2 6 2

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

The clubhead, in the driving swing, travels forward, not around to the left, as it passes through the ball. I recently illustrated this in a rather dramatic manner by having one of my assistants stand directly in front of me about a club's length and 14 inches to the left of the direction line through the ball. I then made a full driving swing and the clubhead, passing through the ball, never touched the man standing in front of me. Drawing in the arms causes the clubhead to cut inward across the ball, too, and results in slicing. This drawing in often results from lateness in timing, and the late timing is caused by a lack of wrist, or hand, throwing of the clubhead. In the forward swing the right elbow shoots directly across the stomach. Say "Bang" when you get near the ball, then shoot the clubhead through it. Throw it, however—don't try to push it with the body.

Kentucky Derby Winners.

The Kentucky Derby, run over the course of a mile and a quarter at Churchill Downs, was established in 1875, in which year it was won by Aristides. Originally run at a mile and a half, the distance was reduced in 1896, Ben Brush's year. In recent years some of the greatest horses of the American turf have been recorded as victors. Winners since 1914 have been as follows:

Year.	Horse	Wt.	Value.
1915	Regret	112	$11,450
1916	George Smith	117	9,750
1917	Omar Khayyam	117	16,600
1918	Exterminator	114	14,700
1919	Sir Barton	112½	20,825
1920	Paul Jones	126	30,375

CITY LEAGUE WILL MEET WEDNESDAY

Schedules and Playing Fields to be Discussed at Important Meeting.

The City Baseball League will meet on Wednesday at 8.00 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce. The schedules for the season will be drawn up and all the teams which have entered should have their representatives on hand. The question of playing fields for the different series will also be discussed. It is impossible for all the teams to play at James Stephenson Park. The East City teams have their own field at Dufferin Park and possibly some games will be played at the Exhibition grounds.

JUVENILE SOCCER WON BY DE LAVAL

Blanked Canadian Woollens in Opening Game of the Series.

The first game in the Juvenile series took place on King Edward park on Saturday afternoon when the Canadian Woollens lost to DeLaval by 2 to 0.

Both teams introduced some new players in their ranks which helped to strengthen these two excellent teams. It was a very well contested game and some excellent football was seen. R. Jones of the DeLaval made a splendid half back and kept playing his forwards like an artist. The diminutive Neut. Downer opened the scoring for the DeLaval with a beautiful goal. This was soon followed by number two from the foot of Eric Jones, who lead the attack for the De Laval.

The Woollens tried hard but the defense of Asa Downer and Langton was great.

For the winners A. Downer was a tower of strength; for the Woollens the Brothers Vinet and Mitchell were very prominent.

The teams:

DeLaval: Goal Parkins; Back, A. Downer, Langton; Halves Hope, Gordon, R. Jones; Forwards, Williams, Eric Jones, Watkins, N. Downer, Dyer.

The Woollens: Goal Walsh; Backs E. Vinet, P. Vinet; Halves, Jordan, White, Saunders; Forwards, Rose, Mitchell, Pammett, Dorrington, Dallon.

Referee, W. Downer.

LEAF PITCHERS EFFECTIVE, WIN TWO ON SUNDAY

Smith and Thomas Register in Double Bill, Putting Toronto Second.

BIRDS DROP TWO

Swaney Credited With Pair of Victories for Providence at Baltimore.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., May 17.—Toronto took 2 games from Rochester here today, winning the first by 8 to 3 and the second by 9 to 3. Both Smith and M. Thomas pitched effectively for the Leafs. Score:

First Game:
Toronto.... ....000004220— 8 9 0
Rochester.. ....200100000— 3 8 3

Smith and Manion; Moore Thormahlen and Lake.

Second Game:

Rochester.... ....0000111— 3 7 2

Thomas and Manion; Tunney, Gressett and Head.

Two for Providence.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 17.—Providence took both games of a double header from Baltimore today, Charlie Swaney being credited with both pitching victories. The Clams hit hard and timely and made five of the seven home runs in the two games. After saving the first game by great relief hurling, Swaney started Providence to victory in the second with a homer with one on in the second inning. The scores:

First Game:
Providence.... ....001203000— 6 13 1
Baltimore ....010010300— 5 8 3

Ellis, Swaney and Styles; Jackson, Henderson and Cobb.

Second Game:

Baltimore.... ....0101010— 3 8 4

Swaney and Styles; Henderson, Egbert and Cobb.

Syracuse, 4; Buffalo, 1.

SYRACUSE, May 17.—Syracuse broke the winning streak of Joe Maley, sensational young Buffalo pitcher here today, downing the Bisons, 4 to 1. Maley's hadn't lost a game up to day, and had scored six straight wins.

Frankhouse pitching for Syracuse held the Bisons to five safe blows and practically won his own game with a home run in the third inning driving in McKee ahead of him. The score:

Buffalo.... ....000001000— 1 5 0
Syracuse.. ....00200110x— 4 7 1

Maley and Hill; Frankhouse and McKee.

Reading Wins Two

JERSEY CITY, May 17.—Hard batting earned Reading victories in both parts of today's double-header played with the Jersey City Skeeters, the Miners annexing the opening tilt by a score of 11 to 6, and repeating in the final by a score of 6 to 4. Reading registered 19 hits in the first game and 10 safeties in the second. The Skeeters were limited to 9 blows in the opener and 8 in the final. The score:

First Game:
Reading.... ....102400301—11 19 0

SPORTS AT MENIE.

Baseball and Tug O' War Teams Practice.

BURNBRAE, May 16.— Thursday evening was "sports night" again at Menie, both baseball and tug-of-war being engaged in. Baseball practice will be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings of each week until the season opens. The tug-of-war team will practice the same evenings this week. The team is fast rounding into shape and a few stiff pulls against the younger generation has served to loosen the muscles that have stiffened somewhat since the afternoon of Warkworth fair. A new recruit may be added to the team in the person of Mr. Fred Jones, who recently moved here from Napanee. Mr. Jones is a large, well-built man of the type that is needed for a long, hard pull.

SPORT GOSSIP AND COMMENT.

As was expected, all the players' certificates presented by the Peterboro ball club were passed by the Central Ontario League Sub-committee. There were no importations in the list, and it was clear sailing so far as Peterboro was concerned.

* * * * * * * * *

The action of the Sub-committee in refusing a certificate to Pitcher Johnny Ouelett of Belleville was not surprising either. The residential qualifications of the big Fenelon Falls right-hander have always been shaky, and to those who knew the facts it was a source of much quiet amusement when the Central Ontario League last year, after suspending Kingston and Peterboro for carrying players who did not qualify under the residence rule, let Belleville with Ouellet on its roster represent the league in the O.B.A.A. play-offs. The decision is a tough blow to Belleville, who finds itself going into a hard campaign with a pitching staff composed of Keon and Jeffrey, neither of which looks to be of sufficiently heavy calibre for the Central loop.

* * * * * * * * *

The committee was justified, too, in wanting to know a little more about several recent additions to the Kingston squad. Last year's experience showed that it is best to sift all doubtful cases before the schedule opens, and the dope on several new Ponies is a little hazy, as it were.

* * * * * * * * *

That all the members of last winter's Peterboro sennor hockey team are still here after May 15th, which is the deadline so far as next season's residential qualifications are concerned, along with a couple of other promising players is a matter for rejoicing on the part of local fandom.

* * * * * * * * *

The good showing of the blue and white last winter naturally brought the players into the limelight, and they have had plenty of chances to change their addresses. Irvin Bailey was not only wanted by the Montreal Maroons, but his services were sought by Fort William, the Sons of Ireland team and Brampton. Joe Dwyer could have hung up his hat in a Sarnia hallway among other places, and Ray Rose had an invitation to the same town. The new Windsor senior club would have liked very much to see "Biffer" Ranger become a resident of the Border City. A Fort William representative interviewed Frank Collins about the advantages of the Thunder Bay district. Bert McLeod was told of the excellent openings that two or three Western Ontario towns offered for a druggist—and so it went. The whole squad might have been scattered all over the Province, but they have remained loyal to Peterboro and deserve the support of the fans.

* * * * * * * * *

In spite of the mad pace the Philadelphia Athletics are setting, the Washington club remains the best bet in the American League. Over the long route the Senators, with their veteran pitching staff, their fighting spirit that refuses to admit defeat and the powerful offensive strength represented by the bats of Rice, Goslin and Judge, will be hard to kill off, and Connie Mack'screw, fast as they are going now, are bound to come back to Bucky Harris and his battlers.

* * * * * * * * *

That was a terrible sentence the O.B.A.A. passed on Johnny Ouellett ordering him to play ball in or near Lindsay.

* * * * * * * * *

Doc Gamsby, the Orono sporting impressario, will be happy now that the O.B.A.A. has decided that Andy Somerville, right-handed curve ball pitcher, will have to perform in Orono and not in Oshawa as was expected.

* * * * * * * * *

Frank Whitehouse, the Petes' left-hander, who has been spending a week's holidays in London with his father, ex-Ald. Whitehouse, now a resident of that city, has attracted the attention of Manager Baker of the London Michigan-Ontario League club, and Saturday was tendered a contract with the Tecumsehs. Although Frankie has ambitions to make baseball his profession, he realizes that he needs more seasoning before he makes the jump, and it is not likely that he will accept the invitation of the London pilot to perform in the M. and O. circuit. The Central Ontario race will furnish a good test for him with batters of the calibre of Batstone, Somerville and Cherry of Kingston, the Mills brothers and Ross of Belleville and Tyson of Oshawa to work on.

* * * * * * * * *

Manager Shiner Johnston counts on shooting Whitehouse into action against the Ponies on Wednesday and on coming back with him against Belleville in the Quinte City next Monday. He is in shape to start the race and should give the Kingston team and fans something to worry about in the opener.

* * * * * * * * *

Poor old decrepit Walter Johnson dragged his weary frame to the hilltop on Saturday and held Cleveland to 6 to 2. Johnson has won five out of six starts, and what is more he has finished all his games. "Barney" is the real "grand old master" of the major league pitchers.

—F. D. C.

Central Ontario League Notes

With the Central Ontario League due to open on Wednesday, Shiner Johnston's Peterborough team will go into the initial clash with the Ponies at Kingston in fairly good shape. The rain Saturday afternoon interfered to some extent with the week end workout but the team got in some useful practice nevertheless, having time for an infield practice and a four innings game before the shower finally drove the players to cover. Practices are scheduled for tonight and tomorrow night at Riverside Park to put the finishing touches on the spring training and all the players are expected to be on hand.

Those out on Saturday afternoon were: Johnston, Swanston, Gartner, Ross, Heckman, Rose, Marchen, Helson, Collins, Legon, Wolfe, Hall and Ash.

Gray, the outfielder, whose Belleville certificate was held up by the Central Ontario League sub-committee for more information was in Peterborough during the winter and figured on playing here, information being sent to the O.B.A.A. to that effect. He hails from Preston.

Peterborough have only fifteen players lined up. By the time the season is half over they'll wish they had fewer, and of better calibre.—Kingston Standard.

Local fans will miss Jake Solomon at the head of his band of ball-totssers next week. Jake knew baseball, and while his disposition was not exactly the sweetest in the world, he was more or less of a drawing card. Its just a question whether Shiner Johnston can get as good results with the team.—Kingston Standard.

Del Cherry has been mauling the pill in great style while his outfielding is as good as ever. Cherry pulled down some great catches in centre field.—Kingston Standard.

Just now Batstone and Somerville shape up as the heavy hitters on the C.O.B.L. team. Batstone has been hitting the ball hard right on the line, in practice, and Somerville has been cracking the ball over second with reckless abandon.—Kingston Standard.

From present indications Kingston will open the season on Wednesday with a fairly strong team. Art Quinn will be behind the plate with either Gallagher or Cairns on the pitching mound. Purvis will cover first, Somerville on second, Batstone at third and Halbert at short. If Halbert fails to round into condition, Art Quinn will go to short with either Walker or Arniel catching. In the outfield will be Cherry Teepell and Scott, with Walker also a possibility there if he does not catch. Arniel has also been working in the field, and looks good, though he will be kept for catching work and utility service.—Kingston Standard.

NEW GOLF COURSE IS WELL LAID OUT

Beautiful Site Chosen by Beaver Meadow Club East of the City.

The formal opening of the Beaver Meadow Golf Course took place on Saturday afternoon. This is a well laid out course situated on the rolling hills of Otonabee, about half a mile east of Zion. The land is well adapted for the purpose and advantage has been taken of all the natural hazards. The course is within easy motoring distance of the city and already a large number of members have signed up. It is thought that the membership fee is the lowest charged by any golf club in Canada. A great many improvements have been made and more are planned to make this one of the best courses in the district. The secretary-treasurer of the club is Robert MacMorran, 590 Sherbrooke street.

C.P.C. DEFEATED DUMMER ELEVEN

First Junior League Game Played in the Township Saturday.

SCORE WAS 2-1.

The C.P.C. Juniors journeyed to Dummer an Saturday afternoon to play their league game with the Township men. The C.P.C. were minus three of their usual team owing to sickness, but the substitutes played a great game and a very stubbornly contested match ended in a win for the Packers by 2 goals to 1.

The Township men won the toss and Munroe was soon testing Montgomery, who relieved by sending out to Mitchell. The Packers' flying outside right made a splendid run. Garveth diverting his final effort outside. Mitchell took the corner kick and sent just wide. From the goal kick, Wasson sent Thompson away, but he overran the ball. The play was very even, and rain made the ball very greasy, and hard to control. First one goal and then the other was visited in turn, but neither team could score. Half time arrived with the score sheet blank.

Second Half.

With the elements in their favor, the Packers at once brought pressure to bear on the Township goal but their backs, Wasson and Garveth, were very safe. Rufus Payne who played one of his best games, made a splendid effort to open the scoring, Montgomery blocking a ground shot that was travelling at great speed.

The Packers, by some nice work by Laidlaw and Curtis, came within an ace of scoring. Wasson headed out, and saved a certain goal. From the corner, well placed by Mitchell, Foster beat Jory with a shot well out of his reach. The game now became very fast. Munroe feeding his wing with nice ground passes. Rufust Payne accepted one and, making use of his speed, nearly equalized with a splendid drive, J. Downer saving a certain goal by heading the ball out of danger. Crossmet the ball and sent to Curtis, who made a dash for goal and, drawing the backs, scored No. 2 with a great shot. Time was now fast approaching, and the Township men were making great efforts to score. Munroe fastened on to the ball and made for goal, and sent in one of his characteristic thunderbolts, which beat Montgomery all the way. Time was soon afterwards called, and the Packers won their first league game by 2 goals to 1.

The Teams.

North Dummer.—Goal, O. Jory; backs, J. Wasson, W. Garveth; Halves, G. Little, H. Jory, A. Jory; forwards, E. Thompson, Munroe, R. Hamilton, R. Payne, S. Payne.

C.P.C.—Goal, T. Montgomery; backs, J. Downer, H. Bradley; Halves, Nicholls, Foster, J. Cross; forwards, J. Mitchell, H. Curtis, J. Laidlaw, J. Buchan, L. Gore.

FLYING EBONY WINS KENTUCKY DERBY, SANDE UP

Rider of Zev in 1923 Home First By Length and Half in Classic.

CROWD OF 75,000.

Second Big Purse For Gifford Cochran Within Ten Days.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 18. — Flying Ebony, a little black horse, raced to victory in the $50,000 Kentucky Derby Saturday, defeating a field of nineteen of the nation's finest three-year-olds, in a downpour of rain.

The colt, owned by Gifford A. Cochran, of New York and superbly ridden by Earl Sane, finished one and a half lengths ahead of Captain Hal, a Louisville owned colt, stepping the mile and a quarter distance in 2:07 3-5. Son of John came thundering back of Captain Hal, losing second place by a scant nose. Single Foot, trailing three lengths behind Son of John, finished fourth, a half length ahead of Step Along, in fifth place.

Swope, owned by Bud Fisher, the famous cartoonist, was sixth and the Prince of Bourbon trailed in seventh. The overwhelmingly played favorite, Quatrain, winner of the Louisiana Derby and New Orleans Handicap, carrying a ton of money, struggled across the finish badly beaten for twelfth place.

Flying Ebony, coupled in the company of eight others, comprising the mutual field, paid his backers $8.30, for each $2 invested on his chances. The place price was $3.80 and the show money $2.80. If Flying Ebony had not been included in the mutuel field, his odds undoubtedly would have reached 100 to 1. Captain Hal rewarded his backers with $5.50 to place and $4.40 to show. A show ticket in the mutuels paid $5.50 on Son of John.

Dramatic Finish.

The race, witnessed by from 70,000 to 80,000 was decided under highly dramatic conditions. Officials saw the approach of an impending storm, and hurriedly decided to advance the post time twenty minutes in an attempt to beat the oncoming downpour. The instant the race was finished, a torrent cut loose, soaking thousands to the skin.

Flying Ebony's victory gave the colt's owner, Gifford A. Cochran, his second turf triumph within ten days, as his Coventry won the $50,000 Preakness a week ago Friday.

The masterful ride of Sande undoubtedly was one of the principle reasons for Flying Ebony's triumph. When the barrier was sprung, the crafty Sande got Flying Ebony away in fourth place and quickly shot into the lead, holding it until the finish except for a few seconds, between the half and three-quarters poles, when Captain Hal displaced him. But when the mile post was reached, Sande had Flying Ebony back in the lead by half a length, and he clung tenaciously to this advantage.

Twenty-five horses were named to start overnight for the race, but five were withrawn before mid-afternoon. Reputation, the first colt to be entered in the Derby, was the first to be scratched. The other withdrawls were Chantey, Reminder, King Nadi and Elsass.

Ovation For Sande.

Sande was one of the last to return to the scales. As he rounded the first turn the spectators at the far end of the enclosure started the demonstration and the cheering grew into a roar as the fair-headed rider, his green silks with yellow hoops fluttering in the breeze, his face flushed with the joy of victory and wreathed in smiles of happiness, modestly acknowledged the spontaneous greetings.

It was some minutes before he was allowed to dismount. First there was thrust into his arms that gorgeous bunch of American beauties which it was his pleasure to grasp two years ago when Zev added his name to the list of equine immortals. Then there was draped about Black Ebony's glistening and arching neck the floral horseshoe and horse and jockey posed while a battery of cameras caught the picture.

Sande finally slipped to the ground, gathered his tack in his arms and fled to the scales. But he had still more to go through, for he was called to the Stewards' stand and there with Mr. Cocran's hand on his shoulder, he was warmly congratulated for the brilliant victory. Mr. Cochran, who has not had the best of racing luck in recent years, also received congratulations all around. He was presented with the gold cup emblematic of victory and this in turn he turned over to Sande. The presentation was made by the former Senator Johnson N. Camden, President of the Kentucky Jockey Club.

MILLBROOK TEAM WON.

Juniors Defeated Cavan Tuxis by 17 to 6.

CAVAN, May 16. — Millbrook junior baseball team won an exhibition game from the Cavan Tuxis team at Cavan on Friday evening.

For an opening game the players showed very fair form.

The final score stood Millbrook 17, Cavan Tuxis Boys 6.

Batteries: Millbrook, Gilmour, Burnham, Russell and Larmer.

Cavan: Cathcart, Barker, Swain and Reynolds.

As this was the first game of the season at Cavan there was quite a number out to see the sport.

SAM GRAY STARRING FOR MACK'S OUTFIT

One of the pitching stars of the early baseball season is Sam Gray of the Athletics. Minus the press-agenting accorded other hurlers, Gray has been pitching top-notch ball for the Mackmen. Over a six-day stretch he blanked the Yankees on two occasions. He looks set for a big year.

BALTIMORE HAS FIND IN OUTFIELDER ROSER.

Baltimore in the International League has picked up a great prospect in Johnny Roser, outfielder. Roser has been hitting the ball at a terrific clip, getting nine home-run wallops in the first 10 days of play.

VANCOUVER MONARCHS WIN

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 17—The Vancouver Monarchs defeated the Los Angeles Monarchs, Saturday night, in the first of a five game ice hockey series. The score was 6 to 5.

DUFFERIN ALL STARS

The Dufferin All-Stars are meeting for practice on Tuesday evening at 6.30 o'clock and all players are asked to be on hand for this practice.

TWO SOFT GOALS GAVE WOOLLENS LEAGUE POINTS

Nice Combination and Tactics by Both Teams Was Very Evident.

QUAKERS' ILL-FORTUNE

Willshaw Hit the Post Twice While Gaskill Added Second Goal.

Very inclement weather prevailed on Saturday afternoon for the league game of soccer between Woollens and Quakers at the Oval, when the former won by 2 goals to 0 in a clean and fast tussle, with a very slippery ball. A drawn verdict would have corresponded more with the run of play.

Features of the Play.

Just before the kick-off, rain started to come down, with a fair attendance of spectators. Neat combination by the Quakers' forwards tested the opposing defence to the limit, until Chambers relieved upfield to Mitchell, who bobbed the ball against the crossbar, while Curtis made a clever clearance. A continued pressure by the fast-moving Quakers confined the most of dangerous play inside the dreaded area that only brought forth two fruitless corner kicks. Both Williams and Smith were in possession in quick succession, but failed to get the ball into goal. The twenty-two players were playing aggressive football and goal keepers were tested repeatedly. A beautiful run along the wing by Clark ended with two successive well-placed kicks inside Quakers' goal, where Stan and Alf. Maher put up an excellent defence in spite of the desperate attacks made by Mitchell and his supports.

A Very Lucky Goal.

The outside left's, Williams' neat elusive work was rewarded with accurate centres that kept the Woollens' defence on the alert to prevent a tally, ultimately Cridland sent his team mates away to the other end, where a bombardment demonstrated Curtis' ability as a goal keeper, but an unfortunate misunderstanding between right back and goalie resulted in the ball rolling into the net from a free-kick taken by Read. It was thus evident that the Quakers would not let this reverse downhearten them, because they worked harder than ever to even up the score, but Fate was against them, as the parting shots missed by inches. Truth to tell, it should have been the Quakers, instead of the Woollens, who led by 1 goal to 0.

Half Time.

On resuming, the defence men of each team responded with determined clearances from the onslaught led by the respective forwards. Woollens' best chance came when Stan. Walker was beat by a slippery ball, the outside left grasped the opportunity to place the ball at his centre forward's foot, but he lifted over the bar amidst a shout of "Oh!"

Then two corner kicks, taken by Burgess, were cleared by the Quakers' full backs, when every movement looked dangerous. At this period of the game, the players became energetic and robust in their tactics to force success their way, in spite of the heavy ball. Again the Quakers invaded and in a surprisingly short time made Griffine respond with his usual smartness.

Hit Inside Post Twice.

The Quakers re-organized their attack to advantage—Smith, at centre, attacking and leading dangerous raids that were discouraging for a player to witness. He went right through until meeting the stalwart defence and, slipping the ball to Willshaw, the latter smashed it against the inside of the upright when a goal was positive, but nothing doing, it rolled into play out of danger.

Then Woollen's left wing travelled along with close-passing combination near corner flag, a throw-in from Blowers let Wilson lift over his opponent's head, two contestants jumped up in the air to head the ball—Mitchell heading to the waiting foot of Gaskill, with a first time shot that Curtis had no chance to save. During the remaining minutes, the losers made very promising raids without success; this time Willshaw choosing to hit the other post with a shot that deserved better reward. The Woollens' early goal had an upseting effect, but the twenty-two players put up clean and sportsmanlike soccer.

Woollens, 2; Quakers, 0.

Goal scorers—Read and Gaskill.

The Teams.

Quakers. — Curtis, goal; Stan. Maher and Alf. Maher, full backs; Logan, Scott and Ross, half backs; Willshaw, Honor, Smith, Norman Maher and T. Williams, forwards.

Woollens.—Griffine, goal; Cridland and Chambers, full backs; Read, Mann and Blowers, half backs; Clark, Gaskill, Mitchell, Wilson and Burgess, forwards.

HOCKEY SCANDAL AMONG AMATEURS

Small Says Agreements Made to Pay Salaries to Players.

BOSTON, May 18 (Canadian Press).—The charge that officials of Boston Arena had paid salaries to amateur hockey players in this city last season, was made last night by Irving W. Small, Jr., captain of the United States Olympic Hockey Team and a player on the B.A.A. team of the United States Amateur Hockey Association. Small announced that he had brought suit for $1,000 against the New Boston Arena Company for non-payment of his salary.

Small declared that the Arena officials had made agreements to pay salaries ranging from $500 to $2,200 a season, but had held back payments, under threat of exposing the players concerned for violation of the amateur rules.

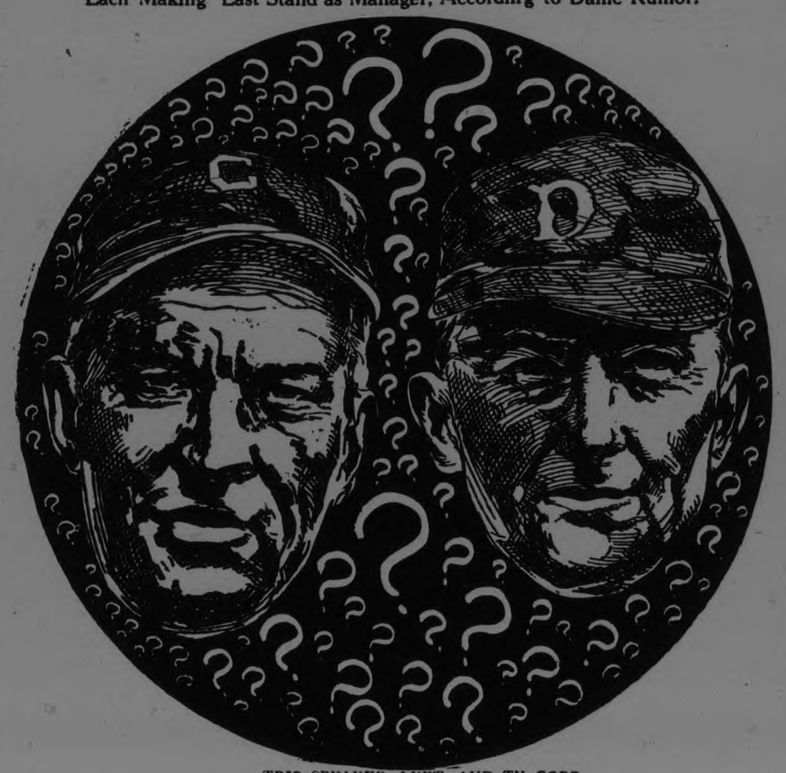
COBB AND SPEAKER MUST DELIVER THIS YEAR

Each Making Last Stand as Manager, According to Dame Rumor.



TRIS SPEAKER, LEFT, AND TY COBB.

NEW YORK, May 18.—Two famous players, American League stars for years, are said to be making their last stand as managers.

They are Tyrus Raymond Cobb of Detroit, greatest ball player of all time, and Tris Speaker, outfielder extraordinary of the Cleveland Indians.

Cobb and Speaker are known to be the highest-priced managers in the American League. Both are working on a one-year contract.

It is said that Cobb's stipend as manager and player calls for $60,000 while Speaker's figures read something like $50,000.

Babe Ruth, baseball's greatest attraction, gets $52,000, or $1,000 weekly the year round.

About Through as Player.

While $60,000 appears like a lot of money for a player-manager, Cobb easily earns it when delivering in that capacity. He hasn't delivered the last two years.

As a player, Cobb is about through. It is physically impossible for him to stand the daily grind.

As a manager he has failed to get the results that the experts feel he should. Detroit is generally regarded as the strongest aggregation in the American League.

Cobb has three good catchers, about 10 capable pitchers, two infields of almost equal strength and six outfielders.

No club in the American League is better fortified than Detroit, yet for some reason the team isn't going anywhere. It has been hinted that the club isn't smart. However, a team with such a punch shouldn't need much strategy to win.

This is said to be the crucial year for Cobb as a manager. He must deliver or go the way of other managerial failures, despite his past greatness as a player.

The status of Speaker is somewhat similar to that of Cobb. He won the pennant and world series in 1920 with a team that had practically been bequeathed him by Lee Fohl, former manager of the club.

Must Deliver This Season.

The following year Speaker was a contender, then the team began to decline and his showing as a manager the last three years has just been so-so.

Possibly the failure of the Indians to do better has been no fault of Speaker's managerial ability, but fandom judges a manager by his club's showing.

This seems to be the "croocial" year for Messrs. Cobb and Speaker in the roles of big league managers. They must deliver!

MASSEYS TIED DELAVAL TEAM

Crowther in Goal Provided Features of Junior League Game.

MARRED BY RAIN.

The Masseys made their first appearance in the Junior League on King Edward Park on Saturday afternoon, when they met the fast DeLaval team. The rain spoiled what would have been a great game. The ground became very slippery and the ball was greasy and could not be controlled, and some good football was witnessed considering the conditions.

The Masseys have found a great goal keeper whose display was the feature of the game which resulted in a draw of 1 goal each.

DeLaval won the toss and had the advantage of a slight wind. Anson was soon around the Masseys' goal. Crowther relieving by fisting out. Hodgson transferred the sphere, and tested Frick with a nice shot. Frost sent Fowler away whose centre Hotson met and sent well up to Dorsett, who gave to Walker, but his final effort went wide. From the goal kick Anson again made a rush for goal. He sent to Long who tested Crowther, the goalkeeper tipping the ball over the bar. From the corner kick his citadel nearly fell, Hotson heading out of danger.

The play was transferred to the DeLaval end but Heagsley and Frost backed up good goal keeping and saved the situation. Pulley got away and sent to Long, who drew first blood with a ground shot which took the watchful Crowther by surprise. From the centre kick Hodgson came again and by a nice combined movement etween Walker and Dorsett, Hodgson equalized with a splendid goal. Half time arrived with the score standing 1 goal each.

Second Half.

Upon resuming the DeLaval forced the game and Crouther was having plenty to do. He saved what seemed to be a certain goal from Pulley by throwing himself full length at the ball and turning it around the post. The corner kick was placed outside. From the goal kick Walker and Dorsett again worked their way up the field, Frost just robbing Walker in time. Rain was now coming down faster and the players could hardly keep on their feet.

There was no further scoring and the game resulted in a draw of one goal each.

The teams:

DeLaval: Goal Frick; backs, Hensley, Frost; halves, Ward, Cooper, Naish; forwards, Fowler, Long, Bennett, Pulley, Anson.

The Masseys: Goal Crowther; backs, C. Hotson, Underwood; halves, Westlake, Smith, P. Vinet; forwards, Dorsett, Hodgson, Collins, Walker, Slaughter.

Referee: J. Rickard.

BASEBALL SIMPLIFIED

Why doesn't the infield fly rule apply with a runner on first base only and less than two out?

The thought of the infield fly rule was to offer protection to the runner by automatically retiring the batsman and thereby doing away with the runners being forced to advance and be in danger of being doubled-up.

With only first base occupied it is a physical impossibility to make a double play on a fly ball to the infield if the batsman runs out his hit.

One of the cardinal rules of baseball is that the batsman should always run out his batted ball, no matter how puny the effort.

If disgusted at having hit a pop fly to the infield, he stops running and walks toward his bench, there is a possibility of making the double play and he should be penalized for his indifference.

Calling the batsman out on an infield fly with less than two out and only first base occupied would do away with much of the initiative of the game. It would tend to make the efforts of the batsman in many cases entirely too machine-like, automatic.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

STEALING FLOWERS.

To the Editor, The Examiner.

Sir: Last week we read of an account in your paper from Mayor Turner which filled every right thinking person with disgust, about the beautiful flowers being stolen from the parks. Well, Peterboro' is a beautiful city, as you say, but sad to say there are a number of low browed "lads" about still in it, and my earnest wish is, that those lads could be caught and made an example of.

Last year me and mine worked hard in the garden, and lawn. We put tulips in in the fall and in early Spring we had a lovely show. It was a joy to go out and view them. But, alas! our joy vanished one morning when the flowers bulbs and all of the finest were gone. Not being disheartened we did the same last Fall and were enjoying the blooms when along comes the low-bred lads, and all the finest flowers have gone. This took place last night. I guess it's the same party that did the trick of turning the water on and flooding my cellar once, and only once. I turn the water off now. They also stole from my verandah a child's easy chair. This south end needs protection quite a bit. Another friend told my husband that he has had his flowers stolen.

When I read, "Are you a good neighbor?"—"No, I'm Not" because—I love my home, and I love my garden, and when I tell the boys I won't let them run on my lawn for their ball, its only happened six or eight times in one evening. And when you drive the chickens and dogs off and tell "grown ups" to keep off the lawn and borders, etc., we are called mean, cranky people, and the kind looks that accompany those words. "Oh, my," they will have to change into smiles before we leave this world, or else, Mr. Editor, we will never enter the "gates ajar" later on. Yours respectfully, —Lover of Flowers.

TWO GROUPS IN EAST PETERBORO'

League Will Operate Rural and City Elections This Year.

A great deal of business was transacted at the meeting held by the East Peterboro Baseball League Saturday evening. The League will operate in two sections this year, rural and city. The teams in the rural section will be Lakefield, Curve Lake, Keene and Cognawagas. There are several teams seeking admission to the city section and another meeting will be held on Wednesday evening to group them and to draw up schedules for both sections. It was decided that the Wright Cup, emblematic of the championship of the League, should be competed for by the teams of the rural section only, but that the two sections should play off for the right to enter the O.B.A.A. playoffs.

NURSE PERFORMED AMPUTATION ARM

London Girl Operated at Chinese Hospital While Doctor Was Away.

LONDON, May 18 — Reports have been received here concerning the heroic conduct of a former London nurse, Miss Bessie Baty, daughter of Thomas Baty of this city.

Miss Batty is the superintendent of nurses at the Canadian Presbyterian mission at K Kwong Hospital, Keung Shan, Kwangtung, China.

Recently during the absence of the medical superintendent, a native worker in a sugar factory, had his arm caught in a sugar crusher, and it was terribly mangled.

When danger of blood poisoning manifested itself Miss Baty got a native doctor to administer an anaesthetic and she herself completed the amputation.

Preparatory School Boys Defeat Upper Canada Cricketers.

Lakefield Preparatory School defeated the Upper Canada College team in the under 17 year class in a closely contested game of cricket on Saturday last the score being 110 to 90.

Christmas bowled well for Lakefield while Barnard, Loosmore and Pedlar were the chief scorers.

A LINE-O-TYPE.

Was It You?

Satan drives with the dare-devil, and he was much in evidence Saturday night. With George street slippery because of the rain, and crowded because of the many attractions in stores and shows, it was a good night for the gentleman to be abroad. A party of young men in a popular make of car tore southward at the height of the rush. Some acquaintances happened to be crossing the street, and the bright young cherub in the driver's seat tried to see how near he could come to his pedestrian pals. He did pretty well, but in the attempt he nearly brought disaster to an innocent person on the other side—where cherub wasn't looking.

No man intentionally aims to injure others, perhaps because in doing so his own life or property may be harmed. It is largely a matter of carelessness and thoughtlessness. With its awkward street intersections and small point duty police force, Peterborough offers every chance to the reckless driver to cause a wreck. Sane drivers will remember that women, children, and the aged are likely to become panicky, and will use more care for their sakes.

Good rules to follow here and anywhere are: Drive only when you have all your faculties about you. Give a wide berth to the dare-devil and speedster. Be a wreckless driver—not a reckless driver.

We have with us today:

Suckers Biting.

It's a long, long way to that Kentucky home people sing about, but it wasn't too far on Saturday to prevent Peterborough "sports" being stung on the Kentucky Derby. About twenty called The Examiner in the afternoon to learn which highly touted horse had romped home first, and a lot of them seemed to think we had a report on the wrong race when we said "Flying Ebony." In other words, the suckers had attached themselves to the wrong nag. Most of them wanted to know where Quatrain finished. Maybe he didn't. He was either scratched or an also-ran. But he wasn't among the first three.

Since away back in March Quatrain was the hot choice of the sporting fraternity, being hailed as the sensation of the New Orleans race track. The sports had their bank rolls riding on him—and the rolls are still riding.

It's trite—but it's true—that a fool and his money are soon parted.

Take the Drum Apart.

The Made In Peterborough Exhibition is appealing to all classes of citizens in a way that the old Motor Show never could. Only the automobile owner and prospective owner was interested in the show of new cars. And husbands were afraid to take their wives, and wives were afraid to take their husbands, for fear either might be bitten with the desire for a new Hyper-Seesik or a Comealong Seven.

The Made In Peterborough Exhibition does not contemplate luring people into more expenditure, but will show them how to buy at home more economically and with greater satisfaction than they ever traded out of the city.

There never was a small boy but wanted to take his drum apart to see what makes the noise, and probably no-one has ever passed one of the city factories without wondering what processes were going on inside. Take the drum apart. Visit the M. in P. E. and see for yourself. There will be a better taste in your morning cereal and even the raucous alarm will not prove so disquieting when you have seen this big show and read in The Examiner's Special Edition just how they came into being.

P.S. The dates are June 1 to 6 inclusive, so you should be able to visit the Armouries two or three times.

MORENO LEAPS INTO REAL REEL REALISM.

Star Declines Safety Nets in Precipice Jump For Cameras.

Some time ago Frank Lloyd, producer-director, gave voice to the belief that what the screen needed most was realism.

While filming scenes for his newest First National picture, "Her Husband's Secret," he had opportunity to realize that he was fully accomplishing this end.

The script for this picture demanded that in the midst of a heated argument between the two characters played by Antonio Moreno and David Torrence the former break away from his companion, run to the edge of a steep cliff and fling himself over.

Being one of the big dramatic climaxes of the play, Lloyd made elaborate preparations to film it, placing one camera on the edge of the cliff and another a few feet off shore, in the ocean below. Moreno refused to accept any substitute or safety nets and insisted on making the leap in his own way. This Lloyd agreed to, with the understanding that Moreno would be alone responsible for the consequences.

Then the arc lights sputtered and the cameras clicked, and Lloyd and his staff waited breathlessly for Moreno to "take off." Seconds seemed like minutes before the star leaped off the top of the precipice and virtually flew through space toward the rocks and the camera on the shore line. Moreno had figured his leap accurately and cleared the jagged rocks and tree trunks close to the top of the cliff and fell on his back in loose sand, finishing his downward journey by rolling over some rocks and brush and stopping within inches of the outside measurement of the camera lines.

Studio veterans said it was the most accurately planned and executed leap they had ever seen. Moreno escaped with only a few bruises and scratches.

"You wanted realism; you got it," Moreno cried.

"Yes," the director answered, "and if your jump gives the audience half the kick it gave me, there will be a lot of movie fans with heart failure."

Local fans will have opportunity to get the "kick" when "Her Husband's Secret" shows at the Capitol Theatre to-day.

"TO-MORROW'S LOVE" MATRIMONIAL MIX-UP, STARRING AGNES AYRES.

Domestic Drama Dedicated to the Perfect Husband—Pat OMalley, leading man in picture directed by Paul Bern.

(Synopsis of Story.)

"To-morrow's Love," Paul Bern's second Paramount production starring Agnes Ayres, adapted from Charles Brackett's Saturday Evening Post story, "Interlocutory," will be the feature at the Royal Theatre today to remain for three days. Pat O'Malley is leading man in the picture, which was written for the screen by Howard Higgin.

O'Malley, as the young groom, goes from one matrimonial mix-up to another. The trouble starts when as he is signing the hotel register on his wedding night, a former flame appears and chides him for having neglected her during the preceding weeks. His efforts to prove himself a perfect husband lead to further complications which endure to the end, humorous situations intermingling with tense drama.

After a year of storm and strife, punctuated with tears and kisses, Miss Ayres and O'Malley come to the parting of the ways. The end comes when the young bride finds her husband in the apartment of the same flame who bobbed up on their wedding night.

She secures an interlocutory decree of divorce to be made final at the end of a year. The second twelve months prove more exciting than the first to both Miss Ayres and O'Malley.

Order from Chaos is achieved in an ingenious way but not before wildly exciting situations are evolved.

Paul Bern, who directed the picture, introduces many deft touches and typical Bern subtleties. Raymond Hatton is featured with Pat O'Malley in support of Agnes Ayres. The cast also includes Jane Winton Ruby Lafayette, Dale Fuller and "Spec" O'Donnell.

ELINOR GLYN'S STORY OF WIFE EDUCATION HERE

"How to Educate a Wife" Handles Subject Via Screen.

Elinor Glyn has the reputation of knowing the ins and out of the hearts of men and women better than any other woman. This is by way of introducing the glad tidings to local film patrons that this British authoress' story, "How to Educate a Wife," will be seen on the screen at the Regent Theatre for three days, beginning to-day.

Ever since Eve put over the apple stunt on Adam, while the sly serpent hee-hawed somewhere among the verdurous foliage, men have wondered if women could be educated, and if they could, how it was to be done. Some have counselled keeping their wives secluded, like the old Turks and their "harems"; others have used force and fists; still others kindness and courtesy.

Elinor Glyn has developed her ideas quite differently in this production, which is a Warner Brothers Classic of the Screen.

The characters are "just folks" such as we all meet every day. Their problems are our problems and the unfolding of the story leaves the spectator with the feeling that he or she has just had a perplexing problem of his own placed in such a way as to show both sides of the argument at once.

A very fine cast has been selected, comprising Monte Blue, Marie Prevost, Claude Gillingwater, Vera Lewis, Betty Francisco, Creighton Hale, Edward Earle and Nellie Bly Baker. Marie Prevost and Monte Blue have rapidly climbed into the vanguard of movie stars by reason of their brilliant work in the Ernst Lubitsch production of "The Marriage Circle."

This picture is said to combine good sense and hilarious comedy. It deals with the efforts of a struggling insurance agent to get on top by having his wife help him. When she flirts too violently with his clients, his jealousy is boundless — then situations get complicated and the drama moves on merrily.

OBITUARY.

MRS. MARGARET McCARTHY.

The remains of Mrs. Margaret McCarthy, who died in Port Arthur Saturday, arrived in the city today. Mrs. McCarthy was in her 85th year. Her husband, Jeremiah McCarthy, predeceased her about fifteen years ago. She was born in County Limerick, Ireland, coming to this country when she was a child. She has lived practically all her live in Peterborough until six years ago, since when she has been living in Port Arthur.

To all who knew her, Mrs. McCarthy was an example of the deepest piety and resignation. Being almost blind for the last few years, the latter part of her life has been one continual prayer.

There are left to mourn her loss four sons and three daughters, namely, Thomas of Portage La Prarie, Man., John, Joseph and Frank of this city, Mrs. M. Brown and Mrs. G. K. Galvin of Port Arthur, and Mrs. J. H. Crawford of Toronto, besides thirty-six grandchildren and ten great grandchildren.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday from the residence of her son, Joseph McCarthy, 211 Park street south, to the Church of the Sacred Heart, thence to St. Peter's cemetery.

WARNING!

Someone yesterday wrote on The Examiner bulletin board the story of a fatal accident, which was untrue. Later in the day further scribbling on the board took place.

The Examiner bulletin board is used for giving citizens prompt news. It is not to be used by irresponsibles, especially for the dastardly concoction of the story of a boy's death that causes worry and distress.

The Examiner will be compelled to take legal action against anyone found defacing or writing on the bulletin board, and this warning will be considered sufficient notice.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

Wheat Market Rise On Adverse Reports

CHICAGO, May 18 (Canadian Press)—With reports of crop damage by frost in Canada and with Liverpool stocks of wheat said to be decreasing rapidly, the wheat market here took an early upward swing today. May delivery showed particular strength, previous sellers of that month being uneasy in regard to the apparent likelihood of the scarcity of wheat available here to fill current contracts. New crop deliveries were influenced a good deal by the action of May. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to 1¾c higher, May 172 to 172¼, and July 153½ to 153¾, was followed by some wavering and then by a rise to 172¾ for May and 154½ for July.

Corn and oats were relatively there was no aggressive support easy. Pit speculators favored the selling side of the corn market and from buyers. After opening at ⅜c lower to ½c higher, July 116¼ to 116⅞, corn sagged all around to below Saturday's finish. Oats sympathized with corn. Starting unchanged to ⅜c up July 45 the oats market later underment slight losses. In line with hog values, the provision market was firmer.

Winnipeg Rails Active; Thousand Shares Sold

TORONTO, May 18. — Winnipeg rails was the most active issue on the board to-day with approximately 1000 shares changing hands. Closing quotations showed an advance of 2¼ points to 47 1-4. Smelters opened at 77 1-4 and closed at 79 1-4, a net gain of 2½ points. Atlantic Sugar, while not very active suffered a recession of 1 point at 26¼. Canadian Pacific Railway gained 1 3-4 at 144 1-4, while Burt F. N. active went as low as 49 7-8, but closed at 50 unchanged.

Winnipeg Wheat Scored High But Dropped Again

WINNIPEG, May 18 (Canadian Press)—Caught in a tight squeeze "shorts" were absorbing all available offerings on the wheat market here today with the result that may delivery was in midsession carried upward to $1.94 scoring an extreme advance of 8¾ from Saturday's final quotations. Before the close this gain was almost completely wiped out, when liberal supplies were dumped on the market, May closing at $1.89.

All coarse grain markets displayed early strength but underwent sharp reactions later, in sympathy with wheat.

Wall Street Swung Up; High Priced Stocks Led

NEW YORK, May 18. — Accumulation of surplus money reflected in the lowering of call loan renewal rate of 3 3-4 per cent. stimualted fore noon trading and the Wall street market swung upward under the leadership of high priced stocks into which investment funds flowed freely. The extension of the super-power system had a tonic effect in the public utility group and a steady expansion of output in the motor industry contributed to the buoyancy of the automotive shares. Aided by a report of an early split up of stock, Naish motors before noon had soared 18½ points to a new peak at 394. Mack trucks stretched its early gain to 4½ points. West Penn power and Utah securities were among the conspicuous strong spots in the public utility list, selling 4 to 6 points higher at midday. Chesapeake and Ohio and Frisco preferred rose to 1924 top prices but Frisco common sagged off on profit taking.

RIFFIANS START BIG OFFENSIVE

Reinforcements Are Arriving at Front By Many Roads.

HAVE TELEPHONES.

PARIS, May 18. — (Canadian Press.) — There are signs that Abd-el-Krim's big offensive against the French in Morocco is drawing near. French air scouts report that reinforcements are arriving along several roads, all well traced and parallelled by telephone lines.

Meanwhile the French are busily completing their plans to cope with the Riff move.

HANEY PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO CHARGES

Former President of Home Bank Was On Trial This Morning.

TORONTO, May 18. — Michael J. Haney, former president of the Home Bank of Canada pppeared before County Judge Emerson Coatsworth to-day, pleading not guilty to the charges laid against him under the Bank Act as a result of the failure of that institution in 1923; he elected to be tried without a jury but no date was set for the hearing.

The charges against the former president are similar to those on wihch six other directors of the bank have been tried.

MUCH POMP AT SANTIFICATION

Sister Therese Made a Saint By Pope in Presence of Thousands.

AMPLIFIERS USED.

ROME, May 18. — (Canadian Press).—All the religious solemnity at the command of the Roman Catholic Church was displayed yesterday morning at St. Peter's on the occasion of the celebration by Pope Pius in the presence of more than sixty thousand people in the ceremony of the sanctification of Blessed Sister Therese of the Infant Jesus, a Carmelite Nun of Lisieux, France.

Sister Therese was beatified in 1923. All the hangings, ornaments, and lighting effects were arranged to preserve the original lines of the basilica, which was filled with a profusion of natural and artificial roses, recalling the promise made by the Saint a few days before her death—"After my death I will send down from heaven a rain of flowers."

A remarkable feature was the presence of amplifiers on the four corners of the Papal altar directly below the Michel Angelo Dome, whereby the words of the Pontiff were carried distinctly to every part of the church.

GOVERNMENT GRANTS TO MILITIA UNITS SO SMALL OFFICERS ARE FORCED TO CONTRIBUTE PERSONAL FUNDS TOWARDS THE MAINTENANCE OF BATTALIONS

Defense Estimates for $725,798 Submitted to Parliament by the Hon. E. M. MacDonald — Officers of Canadian Regiments Making Sacrifices for the Service.

PACIFIST OPINIONS UTTERED BY PROGRESSIVE AND LABOR MEMBERS

Keep Army to Lowest Possible Strength, the Advice of Robert Forke—Woodsworth Suggests Canadian Peace Bureau.

OTTAWA, May 19 (Canadian Press).—"If we talk peace, we shall have peace; if we talk war, we shall have war," said Robert Forke, Progressive leader, in the House Monday, when Defence estimates were under consideration. During the discussion, it was claimed that the votes for some military units were so low that officers in charge sometimes had to dig down into their own pocket to keep the units alive. Artillery units, stated General J. A. Clark, of Burrard, were parcularly bad off financially.

Hon. E. M. MacDonld, Minister of Defence, said he had a vote in the supplementary estimates in mind for artillery training.

Defence estimates were still under discussion when the House passed to other business.

The requisition submitted by the Hon. E. M. MacDonald, Minister of National Defence, called for a total of $725,798. He said he was not one of those who felt that the taxpayers should be pressed for money for defence purposes at this time, but his visit to Europe last year had convinced him that the world was not free from the menace of war, and it was best for the country to maintain military and naval establishments just as other countries of the world.

Sacrifices by Officers.

Gen. J. A. Clark (Conservative, Burrard) said that there were some 250 militia units in Canada receiving less than $2,000 a year each, and the commanding officers of the most active of these units and the junior officers, were compelled to raise privately as much as $8,000 or $10,000 in order to keep the units alive. The minister said he was aware of the great sacrifices made by militia officers throughout the country.

Dr. Murray1 Maclaren (Conservative, St. John), and R. B. Hanson (Conservative, York, Sunbury) both spoke briefly in favor of further advance for artillery training. Dr. MacLaren said Canada could not afford to reduce the defence expenditure. The department was already spending less than was in the interests of the country.

Progressives' Views.

Robert Forke, Progressive leader, said that so soon after 60,000 Canadians had laid down their lives in a war to end war, Canada and the other nations were again talking war, and planning how to raise more men to fight them. He believed that Canadians should "keep the banner of peace flying." If we talked peace, we would have peace, and if we talked war, we would have war. In any event, the Canadian army should be kept down to the lowest possible strength."

W. G. Good (Progressive, Brant) quoted a Navy League pamphlet as saying that so far as defending Canada from invasion was concerned, Canadians did not need to worry at this time. If there was no danger of invasion, there could be no need for a large standing army.

Mr. Hanson thought the last two speakers had missed the point. The question under discussion at this moment was whether Canada's vote for military units should be so low that the officers in charge of these units sometimes had to dig down into their own pockets to pay necessary expenses of the units. He knew of officers who had been doing this, and who would discontinue the practice and abandon the units if necessary.

Hon. J. B. M. Baxter agreed that it would be better to abandon artillery altogether if a sufficient vote for upkeep could not be made.

No Threat of Invasion.

J. J. Hughes (Liberal, Kings), said that the maintenance of the nucleus of the military force was necessary. But people who talked of defending Canada surely would not suggest that Canada was threatened with immediate invasion.

If the suggestion was that Canada should participate if war broke out in Europe, was it not obviously impossible to maintain in Canada at present a really effective standing army for such a purpose. A very large force would be needed. It was safe to assume that the last war would be "a pink tea" in comparison with the severity of the next great European war.

Mr. Hughes said the whole training of rural units was a farce, and the training useless. In the cities it might be of some benefit, but money spent on rural units was wasted. Armaments was the most effective way of bringing about war, and to bring world peace, a new mentality must come into existence.

Avowal of Pacifism.

J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Winnipeg Centre) undertook to challenge the statement that armament was a guarantee of safety. Advocates of military preparation had had their innings, and the advocates of disarmament and world peace were growing in numbers and were demanding a hearing. Mr. Woodsworth said that personally he was opposed to the last war, and he would oppose the next. A section of the church would also be in opposition to the next war. Mr. Woodsworth questioned the propriety of members of the headquarters staff of the Department of Defence advocating throughout the country military preparation which was a political policy. Officials of other departments were not permitted to do so.

Press reports had stated that an American fleet of small ships was to be put on the Great Lakes, armed to prevent rum running. Everyone knew that the Government had not succeeded in putting down smuggling operations from Canada to the United States. Under the Rush-Bagot treaty armed ships on the Great Lakes were limited.

Winnipeg Boys Calmly Confess Robbing Shop

WINNIPEG, May 19.—(Canadian Press).—Three youngsters, aged respectively ten, eight and six, calmly stood in the City Police Court witness box Monday and related how they had staged a robbery in a local carpenter's shop last week, which netted them tools valued at $60, which it is alleged by the police they sold to Thomas Wilson for a few cents. Wilson was charged with receiving stolen property. One of the youngsters said he went with the other boys "just to get some little wooden blocks." The case was remanded.

SELLYEH GETS AN EXTRA TERM

Man Who Broke Out of Jail on Sunday Appears in Court.

BACK IN CELL.

A ceremony of welcome was held in the Police Court this morning on the occasion of the return of Isaac Mitchell Sellyeh to Court Houst Hill after a flying trip to his home town, Marmora.

White it is regrettable that Mr. Sellyeh could not be permitted to remain longer away from Peterborough, still the rousing ovation which signalled his return should amply compensate for the brevity of his vacation.

The Police Magistrate decreed that Mr. Sellyeh should complete his sojourn of not more than two years, and on the conclusion of that time would serve an additional term of six months for his ingratitude in leaving the Castle on the Hill.

The Court was not pleased with the abrupt method used by the guest and it is intended that provision shall be made to guard against a repetition of the hurried departure.

The other occupants of the Court House dormitories were given a similar opportunity to vacate the premises with Sellyeh, but they courteously refused to avail themselves of the opportunity. Possibly they did not wish to intrust themselves to the slender cord by which their fellow inmate proposed to effect his exit.

Sellyeh's hands were slightly burned as a result of sliding down the hemp. He acknowledged to the policeman that he was a fool to leave such hospitality as had been extended to him and expressed the grief which consumed him. He narrowly escaped falling off the wall while making his getaway.

HORSES BURNED IN BARRACK FIRE

Twenty-five Animals Lost By Strathcona Horse This Morning.

STABLE DESTROYED.

WINNIPEG, May 19 (Canadian Press) — Twenty or twenty-five horses were burned to death and the stable of the Strathcona Horse at Tuxedo barracks were completely destroyed in a spectacular fire which was discovered shortly after two o'clock this morning. The blaze was discovered by the sentry on duty. It spread very rapidly owing to the building being entirely of wood and containing a large quantity of hay. The barracks fire brigade assisted by fire fighters from the Winnipeg department were unable to cope with the flames. It is suspected that the fire was started by a careless smoker.

W.C.T.U. BOYCOTT OF GROCERS WHO SELL BEER, CRIMINAL OFFENCE, DEALER SAYS

Any Concerted Action By Consumers In Restraint of Trade Illegal, Declares Campbellford Man, Citing Stirling Case.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 19. — A local merchant who it may be explained at the outset, has no intention of selling the Ferguson beer, read in the Examiner yesterday the criticism by T. H. Burnham, ex-M.P., of Peterboro, of the action of the Campbellford W. C. T. U. in passing a resolution to boycott grocers who handle the new drink. This dealer goes further than Mr. Burnham — who apparently contents himself with questioning the wisdom of such action—and declares that such a boycott is a direct violation of the criminal code, a conspiracy in restraint of trade.

It is, he says, the inalienable right of any lady in Ontario, whether she be a member of the W.C.T.U. or not, to individually refuse to deal with a particular grocer for any or no reason at all. When however she attempts to enlist others, and to form a combination of forces to the detriment of any dealer, the matter is carried beyond the legal limit.

— In support of his contention the Campbellford man cites a recent case in Stirling when several merchants for some personal reason refused to purchase goods from any traveller who put up at a certain hotel. The owner of that hotel brought action in the courts and recovered damages.

PASS SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT CONSTRUCTION CONTRACTS AND WIPE OUT OLD PARKING BYLAW

Special Meeting of the City Council Brings Out Some New Ideas—New Parking Area Includes Everywhere But Near Intersections—No Defintion of 'Parking.'

PAVING IS BROACHED BY ALDERMEN.

The last "i" was dotted and the last "t" crossed last night in the City Council's official part in the construction of the sewage disposal plant, when construction by-laws aggregating $154,615 were passed at a special meeting for the purpose. Work will be started within three days of the signing of the contracts, but as these must be sent away for signature the exact date is unknown. The actual beginning of construction, however, is not far away.

The final discussion was not a walkover by any means. Alderman Nagle Phelan was insistent that the members of the Council should be let into the innermost secrets of the agreements to be signed by the Mayor, and sought an explanation of a provision for payment for extras. He recalled that the "extras" for Hunter street bridge totalled almost as much as the original cost, and remarked that the Council was signing cheques for weeks. He was informed that this is something entirely different; that the City Engineer has taken cognizance of every eventuality his mind can conceive in preparing his specifications; and that only a crystal gazer or very efficient fortune teller could see any farther ahead. Alderman E. Mel. Turner remarked that the members of the Council should all be familiar with the situation, and he saw no reason for the upheaval but Alderman Phelan countered with the declaration that with $200,000 at stake the Aldermen should take every precaution to know what they are voting on.

The by-laws passed their several readings and a sample agreement was read by the City Solicitor, presenting no knotty problems or objectionable provisions.

What Is "Parking"

Alderman E. Mel Turner voiced a query that has puzzled more than a few citizens when he demanded of the Council the meaning of the word "parking" as applied to automobiles. "Does it mean five or ten minutes, or half an hour?" he asked.

Alderman J. O. Fife, chairman of a special committee on parking rules, answered in the negative. It does not, according to Alderman Fife, mean any specified time, but remains in the discretion of the police who enforce the by-law. Some people, he said, might take five minutes to transact their business while others would require half an hour.

It was remarked that this leaves a heavy responsibility upon the members of the police force, who will under this ruling be compelled to study psychology and other things in order to estimate a person's business ability and arrive at a decision as to how long he should spend in shopping.

The motion presented by the special committee passed without amendment, leaving the "parking" time limit unsolved. It provides that the by-law passed a year ago setting apart certain streets as parking areas be rescinded, and as to this part must be ratified by by-law. It goes on to state that "no parking of motor cars be allowed on any street within 30 feet of curb line of any intersecting street or opposite any railway switch or turnout." Guidance is to be given by marking the prohibited areas where required, and Alderman Fife suggested or promised that thousands of cards bearing these regulations be distributed to motorists. In addition, the Hydro-Electric Commission will be asked to stop street cars before crossing the intersection of George and Charlotte streets.

Sign of Summer

The first sign of summer in a rather late spring came with Alderman Turner's motion to ask for tenders for caretakers at the bathing beaches, which was passed.

Eddy Sucked Man to Death And Delivered Up His Body

The body of James E. Herron who was drowned on Sunday night when he slipped from a stone while fishing at Peterborough lock, was found yesterday evening by lockmaster W. Edwards. The same treacherous eddy that carried the man to his death and sucked him under the surface on Sunday, yesterday brought back his body to the spot where the tragedy took place.

75 ARE INJURED IN N. Y. SUBWAY

Two Fatalities May Result From Mad Panic Underground.

TRAIN CROWDED.

NEW YORK, May 19 (Canadian Press).—At least seventy-five persons were injured, two of them probably fatally in a mad panic which swept a crowded east side subway train when near Grand Central Terminal Station today.

Most of the injured passengers of the southbound train were hurt when the train came to a sudden stop due to a short circuit. As clouds of smoke enveloped the train, the passengers, many of them women and children, became panic stricken and kicked out the windows of the cars. Many were cut by broken glass when they tried to climb through the windows.

Attendance of Delegates Is Assured at Convention

A unique method to settle the difficulty found by all conventions in obtaining attention and attendance at business sessions was put forward by Alderman Joseph Crowe at last night's meeting of the City Council. The question arose in connection with the invitation from the Association of Canadian Municipalities for a delegate to attend the annual convention to be held on a steamer on the St. Lawrence. Aderman Crowe said this had been prosposed at the last meeting as a measure to secure the presence of delegates. They couldn't get off the boat.

OTTAWA POWER EXPORT SCHEME TO GOVERNMENT

Retain 100,000 H.P. From Carillon Falls for Canadian Users, Contract Proposes.

TO BE DISCUSSED

Project Outlines Expenditure of $500,000 on Development Work This Year.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 19.—(Canadian Press).—A tentative contract, as yet unsigned by the Government, dealing with the export of electric power to the United States from the proposed Carillon Falls dam in the Ottawa River was tabled in the House of Commons Monday. It is undated, apparently drawn up some time in 1924, and would give the development company the right to export all power developed over 100,000 horsepower, which is the quantity suggested for Canadian users. One clause would provide that if sufficient power is not available at Carillon for the company's commitments, other arrangements would be made to supply the deficit.

Based on 1907 Contract.

The contract is based on the original leases granted to Crawford Ross in 1907 and to the National Hydro-Electric Company, Ltd., of Montreal in 1921. The latter name is changed in the contract to "The Carillon Industrial Corporation of Ottawa," which would be required to spend $500,000 of the proposed expenditure this year. The original lease gave the company the right to dam the waters of the river, below the present Carillon dam, to a height of 120 feet for the development of power. Some changes are proposed in the contract from the 1921 lease in the matter of rentals. The rentals now proposed are $50,000 per year from January 1, 1925, to January 1, 1931; $75,000 for the next year, $100,000 for the next year, $125,000 for the next year, and $150,000 from 1934 to 1964.

Some slight development, to fulfil the terms of the original leases, has been made on the Carillon, Raymond work is practically all to be done. The contract referred to is one of many papers and letters, exchanged with interested parties over a number of years, tabled by the Government Monday to an order of the House. The whole subject of power export will come up in the House shortly, possibly to-day, the House then goes into supply on estimates of the Departments of Trade and Commerce.

SEARCH OF SHIPS IS NOT FEASIBLE

Say United States and Other Nations—Britain Favored It.

GENEVA, May 19. — (Canadian Press).—The amendment to establish the right to search ships suspected of conveying arms improperly was to-day eliminated from the proposed convention of the international conference for the control of traffic in arms and munitions. Great Britain favored the amendment, but numerous delegations expressed opposition to it. Theodore E. Burton, head of the United States delegation, claimed indiscriminate search of ships was implied under the provision.

He declared the proposed searching of ships would probably result in misunderstandings and abuse and expressed the view that it is undesirable to modify the existing international law.

CONTINUE ARGUMENT.

Double Liability Trial Will Come Up Again on June 16.

TORONTO, May 19.—(Canadian Press).—Argument by counsel will be proceeded with when the Home Bank double liability defense trial before Charles Garrow, K.C. comes up again on June 16 at Osgoode Hall here and it is expected that the end of this phase of the ligitation resulting from the failure of the bank in 1923 will follow shortly afterwards.

Dog Catcher's First Victim Was Property of G. N. Gordon

While G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P. was holding down his position as Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons at Ottawa yesterday, Peterborough's official dog catcher sneaked up on and captured Mr. Gordon's dog, holding him to ransom for the sum of one dollar.

It was his first capture after commencing his season's duties yesterday morning, but later in the day business picked up and finally became so brisk that he applied to Alderman Nagle Phelan for permission to take on an assistant.

Alderman Phelan is considering obtaining an adding machine to tabulate the captures, the dog catcher conceiving it his duty to report every unfortunate pup to the chairman of the finance committee.

FALLING BEAM BROUGHT DEATH

George Armstrong of Douro Was Instantly Killed Helping Tear Down Barn.

WAS HOLDING BEAM

DOURO, May 19. — A sad fatality occurred yesterday afternoon at 4.30 when George Armstrong, aged 39, was killed by a beam which fell on his head. Mr. Armstrong was helping a neighbor, Bruce Kidd, tear down an old barn on Mr. Kidd's farm when a beam which he was supporting fell, striking him on the back of the head, and killing him almost instantly. Dr. Fraser of Lakefield was called and decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Mr. Armstrong was a well known resident of the township and is survived by a widow, formerly Matilda Barrett, and three children, Raymond aged 13, Myrtle 11, and Verna 9.

His father, Edward Armstrong and one brother William, live in St. Catharines, and one sister, Mrs. George Young, lives in Alberta. The funeral will be held to the Warsaw cemetery on Wednesday morning.

FRENCH REINFORCED.

The Troops Are Organizing Strong Defences in Menaced Territorty.

RABAT, Morocco. — General Billot has arrived with heavy French reinforcements on the Riffian front.

The troops began organizing strong defences in the Cheel aouen territory which is directly menaced by the concentration of the Riffians.

BUILDNG BOOM IS STRONG YET IN PETERBORO

Vacant Lots Are Fast Disappearing Under Modern Homes.

MANY GARAGES.

Repairs and New Shingles Will Improve Appearance Throughout City.

The building boom which began in March has apparently not lost any of its force yet. The sixteen business days already gone this month have produced thirty-five permits for amounts ranging between $20.00 for a shelter consisting of a roof mounted on posts, to $3,500.00, which is the estimated cost of a house at the corner of Murray and Aylmer Streets being built by F. H. Rowan. This house will fill in the last vacancy at that corner. Waterford Street is also being built up, two permits having been issued for houses at 22 and 25 Waterford Street to cost $3,000.00 each, and being built by Messrs. C. T. Tuggey and Clark. The new subdivision south of Romaine Street, for which sidewalks were recently authorized by the Council, will also be the scene of building operations. Charles Williams is having a bungalow erected on Douglas Avenue in that district at a cost of $2,500.00. Alphons Levasseur will spend $2,500 in erecting a dwelling-house on Perry Street, near Aylmer Street. The vacant lots which dotted the city a few years ago are fast disappearing as people erect new houses, thereby expressing their confidence that the city has a long period of prosperity in store, and will continue to be a good place to live in and invest money in.

Ahead of Game.

The spring of the year is the time for cleaning up, and many citizens have forestalled clean-up week by taking out permits for new shingles, new verandahs and many other repairs and alterations to improve their premises. The permits for garages bear out the figures of the Chamber of Commerce that many more permits for automobiles have been issued this year than in any previous year.

The largest amount for alterations will be expended by the estate of Matt Carton, in altering a house at 497 Donegal Street and building new kitchens, so as to change a single house into a double house. This will cost $1,000. The garages are of many types and vary in cost from $50 to several hundred dollars, and the shingles to be laid this year are just as divergent in cost and style. The city will look much different when all these repairs have been effected and the new houses have been erected and occupied.

Call Out The Reserves.

THE LOCAL FIRE DEPARTMENT, GOOD AS IT IS, WILL BE UTTERLY UNABLE TO COPE WITH THE WHIRL-WIND BLAZE OF THE POPULARITY CONTEST

The Popularity Contest for the Made-in-Peterborough Fair is spreading like wild-fire. The young ladies who are engaged in it are putting in all the pep, vim and enthusiasm that goes with youth, and the organization to which they belong are taking it up. Interest centres, at the present moment, in the winning of the beautiful gold Eversharp pencil, awarded by Mr. MacDonald, to the one having the highest number of votes at ten o'clock Wednesday morning. When the clock strikes the solemn hour of ten, no more votes for that particular prize will be received, and Wednesday's paper will announce the winner. The three principal prizes, amounting to several hundred dollars, will not be declared until the last day of the Fair. The various organizations supporting the young ladies have each vowed their candidate would be in the lead when the final count is taken. The young ladies are selling strips of seven admission tickets for $1.00, good for any night of the show, and each strip sold entitles them to one thousand votes. The low price of admission enables everyone to go and take their entire family. Give your favorite candidate all the support you can because, no matter what standing she has today, she is going to need it before the contest is over, and if you want to see her win this beautiful pencil, give her all the support possible before ten o'clock tomorrow morning. We give below a list of the candidates and their standing at the present writing:

Mildred Archer	31,000	Sophia Haggis	1,000
Marjorie Evans	27,000	Lily Naish	1,000
Hazel Jackson	25,000	Helen Fowler	1,000
Elma Coon	23,000	Ethel Bossence	1,000
Wilhelmine Kemp	17,000	Miss Bell	1,000
Rose Noonan	16,000	Mary Dunlop	1,000
Gertrude Gimblett	15,000	Jane McDuffee	1,000
Truice Pearson	14,000	Bernice Billington	1,000
Isobel Hopkins	10,000	Margery Gray	1,000
Eva Fife	9,000	Marjorie Gladman	1,000
Marita Collins	9,000	Hazel Henry	1,000
Maida Connor	6,000	Arleigh McKone	1,000
		Eunice Bearnie	1,000

You will notice there has been many changes since last night. Watch the paper closely, because the standings will be published daily.

The Contest Committee wish to especially welcome two new candidates in the Popularity Contest:

Made-in-Peterboro Bulletin

NO. 2 PETERBORO, ONT. NO CENTS

WHAT would you think of a man who had lived all his life within a few miles of the pyramids of Egypt, or the falls at Niagara, or the beautiful St. Peter's in Rome, and had never gone to see them? You would consider him anything but a live-wire.

What would you say about a man—or woman—who lived in the west half of Peterborough and never went to see the Lift Lock?

The men who conceived the idea of holding a Made-in-Peterborough Exhibition had in mind that there may be people in Peterborough who do not know the hundreds of varieties of goods produced in city factories. They realized that it is impossible for every man, woman and child in Peterborough to see the inside of every plant. And they decided they would gather samples of all the products in one place where everyone might obtain a bird's-eye view of the splendor of the city's achievements in manufacturing.

That is the idea behind the Made-in-Peterborough Exhibition.

Maybe there are some people who are not interested in the work that is being done daily in the city.

Go back to the first paragraph and read it. Now, what do you think of such people?

Of course, there aren't any such narrow-minded people. No matter how able a man may be in his particular line he is interested in the work of other men. Perhaps the abler he is in his own business the more eager he will be to see how the other fellow does his stuff.

That's another idea in the Made-in-Peterborough Exhibition. It will give you a line on the accomplishments of your neighbors.

It is the biggest boosting business ever undertaken in the city, and it commands attention from every citizen, not because of the merits of the Peterborough Health Association alone, but because of its intrinsic worth to him. If it wasn't for the little—or big—part of the manufacturing done by every working man in Peterborough the exhibition would not be possible. So every man has a part in it.

Make it a worth-while occasion by taking the family. Let that boy of yours see what you do, and what his friend's father does, and maybe he'll see what he would like to do.

Every public-spirited citizen will be at the Made-in-Peterborough Exhibition on one or more of the nights from Monday, June 1st, to Saturday, June 6th, inclusive.

NO RELIEF FROM DISCRMINATION

Brantford's Appeal Against Crow's Nest Pass Rates Dismissed.

NOT ON RAILWAY.

OTTAWA, May 19 (Canadian Press)—The complaint of the city of Brantford against the freight rate discrimination resulting from the restoration of the Crow's Nest rates last July has been dismissed by the Board of Railway Commissioners. Chief Commissioner H. A. McKeowan in giving judgment admits the existence of discrimination against Brantford and in favor of Toronto and Hamilton. "Undoubtedly," he says, "the serious discrimination complained of exists, but it is authorized by the Crow's Nest Pass statute and agreement. Consequently no relief can be afforded at the hands of this board."

The Chief Commissioner finds that both Toronto and Hamilton are entitled to the reduced rates because they were points on the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1897 when the agreement was made.

A.Y.P.A. REPORTS SPLENDID YEAR

J. H. Price Elected as President of All Saints' Young People.

BANQUET JUNE 1.

The annual meeting of All Saints' A.Y.P.A. was held last evening at the church. There was a good attendance of members and the reports read showed the branch to be in a flourishing condition. A great deal of good work was done during the year just ended. Officers were elected for the next twelve months as follows: President, J. H. Price; Vice-President, A. Hope; Secretary, Miss Dorothy Worboy; Treasurer, Miss Lillian Rootes. The Executive Committee consists of J. C. Adams, convenor, and Misses J. I. Maconomy, A. Stout and B. Dawson. The members of the Social Committee are Mrs. C. Curtis, Mrs. E. LeBarr, Misses A. Stout and Kelly. The visiting Committee is Misses G. Collinson, J. I. Maconomy, E. Hill, and P. Twigg. The tennis courts will be managed by Messrs. A. Hope and J. C. Adams.

The incoming officers were installed by the Rector, Rev. J. D. Paterson, and they took their places. A vote of thanks was tendered to the officers of last year, and arrangements made to hold a closing banquet on June 1.

COMMUNISTS ARE QUITE CHEERFUL

Smoke and Play Cards While Awaiting Execution For Bombing.

LONDON, May 19. — (Canadian Press).—The correspondent of the Daily Express at Sofia, Bulgaria, in a despatch, says he was allowed to visit the Communists recently condemned to death for the Cathedral bomb outrage and other subversive acts. He declares he found them cheerful, chatting, smoking and playing cards, although expecting execution. He saw no signs of any of the men having suffered from physical torture or any bodily harm.

HOLD-UP NEAR OTTAWA.

Occupant of Car Shot—Barbed Wire Across Road.

OTTAWA, May 19. — (Canadian Press).—Reports that motor bandits are operating on the road from Montreal to Ste. Anne De Bellevue, were brought back to the city Monday by a party of forty members of the capital city water polo club, who were in Montreal for a game over the week-end. They report that a car just ahead of the automobiles transporting the members back to Ottawa early yesterday morning, had been confronted by a barbed wire fence strung across the road, and when the driver turned his car and attempted to drive back, a shot was fired from the roadside, shattering the windshield and wounding one of the occupants in the arm.

BARN DANCE GUESTS.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fallis Entertain Friends.

MILLBROOK, May 18.—A 'barn dance' was held on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fallis, Fallis Line, to mark the completion of the large, up-to-date building he has recently erected as an improvement to his farm property.

Over one hundred guests from Millbrook, Peterborough, and other outside points, as well as from the immediate neighborhood, gathered for the occasion, and a most enjoyable ttime was spent. Round and square dances provided entertainment, music being furnished by Messrs. Gilmour and Todd with their violins. Mr. L. R. Morton acted as floor manager in his usual capable manner.

The event was a unique one in this neighborhood, and this fact increased the pleasure of those participating in the evening's enjoyment.

Dancing was resumed after supper had been served shortly after midnight, and it was some two hours later before the final goodnights were spoken, and the guests left for their respective homes.

Among those attending from Millbrook were: Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bell, Mr. H. R. and Miss Margaret Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Garside, Misses C. Hunter, Pearl Lamb, Thelma Ball, H. Barnard, Alice Armstrong, Geraldine Morton, Elizabeth Russell, Messrs. L. R. Morton, M. Todd, J. Kellett, H. Martin and O. Shepard.

J. D. DORT DROPS DEAD.

Pioneer In Automobile Industry Died at Golf.

FLINT, Mich., May 19.—(Associated Press).—J. Dallas Dort, former president of the Dort Motor Car Company of this city, fell dead while playing golf with a company of friends on the Flint Country Club course Sunday. Death was due to heart disease. Mr. Dort was 61 years old.

Mr. Dort had just completed eighteen holes of golf and was talking with his friends when he staggered and fell to the ground.

Mr. Dort was known throughout the country as one of the pioneers in the automobile industry. With W. C. Durant he established and managed the old Durant-Dort Carriage Company. Later he established the Dort Motor Car Company and was its president until it closed down about a year ago.

GOVERNMENT GRANTS

The surest preparation against the United States putting armed ships on the Lakes would be for the government to see that the law was maintained in Canada.

Mr. Woodsworth referred to the publicity given to the official statement that 25 members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force had been executed during the war. Such truths about the war were only now coming to light, the spirit of Rule Britannia and Germany Over All was fundamentally the same and would never bring about world peace.

Economic Causes of War.

Commerce was behind the whole of our military preparations today, Mr. Woodsworth said. The economic war pursued by countries in periods of alleged peace, was the cause of physical war. He produced a pamphlet issued by the Navy League of Canada, containing statements in regard to the importance of preparedness, which, he said, were very similar to those made in a pamphlet issued by the same organization in 1912. It would be a tremendous advertisement for Canada to declare to the world that she was done with war. This country was spending millions on preparedness. Would it not be a good idea to spend a few thousands on the establishment of a peace bureau? "I am perfectly well aware that the policy I propose involves risks," said Mr. Woodsworth, in closing, "but the present policy involves almost certainty of failure."

LADIES' AID MEETING.

Social and Business Time Enjoyed by Warkworth Methodist Ladies.

WARKWORTH, May 19.—Twenty-four members of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. W. S. Jackson on Thursday afternoon. After the business was discussed and settled the ladies then busied themselves with almost every kind of needlework, after which a dainty lunch was served.

FISHERMEN LOST.

Only By Co-operation Did Canoe Loads of Men Get Ashore.

KEENE, May 19.—Some of the pickerel fishermen had a hard time finding the right direction home on Saturday night. They got caught in the rainstorm and darkness descended quickly, and one of the men was found paddling around in a circle when another canoe came up, and between the two of them succeeded in getting to Keene wharf, drenched to the rain. The pickerel fishing is excellent on the Indian River and Rice Lake, and many fine fish have been landed.

OBITUARY.

JOHN HOWSON

Mr. John Howson, who has been staying for the past three years at the House of Providence passed peacefully away at 5.00 a.m.

Mr. Howson was in his 85th year and leaves one daughter, Mrs. Hawkins of Port Hope, and three sons, Thomas, Henry and George, the former two of Vancouver.

Mr. G. H. Howson of this city, is a brother of the deceased, who is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Pue of Frazerville.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday at 2.00 p.m., and will go from Keene church to the Keene cemetery wheer the body will be interred.

LADIES' AID HAD SOCIAL GATHERING

Cavan Presbyterian Ladies Met For Working and Social Time.

The Ladies' Aid of Grace Presbyterian Church held a social afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Armstrong, Fourth Line, Cavan, on Thursday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. R. McKnight, was in charge. The ladies had been invited to bring their work with them, so while a social time was enjoyed, all were busy.

There were eighty present. Lunch was served and all enjoyed a real social time.

Among the visitors present were: Mrs. Grassett, Miss A. Armstrong, Mrs. Chas. McNeil, Mrs. Mulligan and Mrs. Jack Allen.

Institute Meeting.

On Wednesday afternoon, May 20, the Cavan Women's Institute will have its summer open meeting at the home of Mrs. D. J. Hunter.

A lady delegate from the Department, Mrs. R. Boyers, Lefroy, Ont., will be present to give an address.

Trousers Now of Great Size and Brilliant Hue

LONDON, May 19 (Canadian Press) So blooming voluminous have London styles in men's trousers become that they are now known everywhere as "bags."

More striking, however, than their extent are their colors. Solomon in all his glory was not attired like the dandy young Oxfordians, for these latter day youths affect glowing purples and heliotropes, to say nothing of royal blues and daring greens.

SOME RELIEF ANYWAY.

In eliminating cheques and money orders to the value of $5.00 from the stamp tax provisions of the War Revenue Act, Hon. James A. Robb, Acting Minister of Finance, has done away with a cause of inconvenience and annoyance to many people.

It has never been clear that the revenue secured from the tax on these small cheques has been sufficient to make up for the bother involved in the transaction, and the concession announced by the Minister will be appreciated by people of modest means who have been inconvenienced by this petty tax.

The exchange of business will, of course, be facilitated by the relaxation in the regulations, and at the same time it will be a measure of relief to people not too well provided for in the matter of this world's goods.

Upon such a class should the benefit of taxation ameloriation first be conferred when changes are to be made, and while the monetary relief may perhaps be only slight, the change is at least a means of banishing an inconvenient and bothersome regulation that failed to contribute revenue enough to justify its existence.

In these days when the average man is almost afraid to pick up a newspaper for fear of being confronted with the announcement of some new levy, anything that savours of tax reduction will be gladly received by Canadians.

TONIGHT'S CONCERT.

The triple attraction of the Peterboro Symphony Orchestra, Mr. R. Norman Joliffe, former Peterboro vocalist who has won wide fame, and Mr. Leo Smith, famous 'cellist, should be sufficient to fill the Grand Opera House tonight, even if the claims of the orchestra itself for community support were not sufficient reason in themselves for a capacity audience.

No development along musical lines in Peterboro in a long period has been more significant than the organization of a symphony orchestra, and the progress that has been made during the short career of the Peterboro Symphony should be gratifying to citizens generally.

We have had to thank Mr. Gliddon and his band not only for providing local music-lovers with a series of worth-while programmes but for giving to their home city by reason of their success in competition at Toronto a reputation of being a centre well worth while musically.

It is the city with an all-round development that attracts people to it, and surely no community can call itself developed when music has been neglected.

For what the Peterboro Symphony Orchestra has already done, for what it believes it will do in the future, and because of a keen appreciation of the fact that an organization of this calibre cannot be maintained on air but must have a substantial financial backing, the Examiner recommends tonight's attraction to citizens generally as deserving of every support not only on its own merit but also because of what is entailed in its success or failure.

CANADA'S NATIONAL GAME.

The older generation of Canadians in those centres in which the game has almost dropped out of sight was doubtless thrilled the other day by the announcement that a determined effort is being made to have lacrosse adopted as a major sport on the programme of the Olympic games.

Lacrosse is Canada's national game—or was.

Perhaps the past tense should be used, for the United States game of baseball has been steadily crowding lacrosse out of existence, except in isolated centres.

Its passing is to be regretted.

It is a game full of thrills and action, a game that calls for a sound body and a courageous heart, a game that is as exciting as hockey, and should appeal to every red-blooded Canadian.

Older Canadians can recall the lacrosse fixtures of the past as offering the acme of thrill, and they hate to think that the game is struggling for its existence.

Various causes have contributed to this condition of affairs.

Veiled professionalism, lax residence rules helped to destroy the popularity of the game.

Even more were the actions of many of the players—a direct cause for lacrosse growing into disfavour.

When they were clubbing each other they did not realize that they were clubbing the life out of the game they loved.

Rough tactics caused the idea to get abroad that lacrosse was a brutal game—and the impression is still hard to down.

It is not necessarily so—under proper handling it can be made as clean as any other competitive sport.

If the game wins a place on the Olympic calendar it may come back into popular favour here.

There are thousands of Canadians who hope that such a consummation may ensue.

GOOD ADVICE.

The message of the Ontario Safety League to the motor, truck and motorcycle drivers of Ontario puts the need of more careful driving before the motorists of the Province that good results should surely follow its distribution.

Pointing out that the hazard in their hands, the Safety League asks all drivers to read, remember and act on the following:

Keep brakes and steering gear in good order.

Never start or stop suddenly.

Always keep well to the right and drive as far as possible in a straight line.

When making a right turn always pull to the curb before reaching the corner.

Never pass another car at a street intersection.

Always slow down for every street car crossing.

Always keep a safe distance behind the car ahead.

Never get squarely behind another car. Follow where you can see the traffic ahead.

Always watch oncoming traffic. It may cut you off.

Dim your lights when meeting other vehicles.

Always assume that nobody but you knows how to drive properly and give everybody else the right-of-way.

Stop, look and listen before crossing a railway track.

These are all excellent suggestions, but the best is reserved for the last.

It is: "Drive your car as you would like everyone else to drive."

A WORTHY BODY.

Parliament did a thing recently which was creditable to its sense of justice, says the Ottawa Journal. It made a favorable readjustment of the pensions of members of the North West Mounted Police force who had for some years been on the retired list and whose allowances had been fixed when the cost of living was lower than it is today. Not only was this a just thing to do, but it will command universal approval throughout the country on sentimental grounds.

These men whose pensions were adjusted upward had seen service in the Mounted Police before settlement had made the West what it is today. As a body of policemen, dealing with Indians and those conditions as to lawlessness which have always been inseparable from frontier life, the Royal Northwest Mounted Police has won world-wide fame. Many of its members had thrilling experiences.

The authority of the Mounted Police was all but absolute. That was due to the utter fearlessness and coolness of the men who made up the force in its early days. They were picked men. The inviolable rule of the force was: "Never draw a pistol to intimidate. Draw it to shoot; and always shoot to kill." That rule was so well known in the West that on but a few occasions was it necessary for a policeman to use his revolver. It will be a pity if the history of that picturesque and honorable body is not written by some one competent to handle a really big subject.

To an interviewer in New York, Commissioner Starnes said the real mounted policeman of the West bore little resemblance to the hero of the movie films. He got his man if he could, and his work beyond the borders of civilization had made him resourceful; but "the slick young giant, with the glossy black mop of hair liberally plastered and neatly parted, simply does not exist in the R.C.M.P.," said the Commissioner. "The movie version of the mounties is a lot of rubbish," he added. Those who know the force will agree with that judgment.

THE TRADE RETURNS.

The balance of trade in favor of Canada continues to grow. In the fiscal year ending March 31, 1921, the imports were $1,240,000,000, and the exports $1,210,000,000, an unfavorable balance of nearly $30,000,000. In the year ending March 31 last the imports were less than $797,000,000 and the exports $1,069,000,000, a favorable balance of $272,000,000, and an improvement in the four years of $300,000,000.

This does not tell the whole story. In the year 1921-22 there was a decline in both imports and exports and a small favorable balance of trade. In 1922-23 there was a [illegible] in exports that the favorable balance was $142,830,000. In 1923-24 there was a similar movement, imports increasing, exports increasing still more, so that the favorable balance was $165,000,000. The last year's report shows a decline in imports of nearly $100,000,000 and an increase in exports bringing the favorable balance up to $272,000,000.

Protectionists have always regarded an excess of exports over imports as an evidence of prosperity. But in the Conservative party today the politician is more vociferous than the protectionist, and it would never do for a politician out of office to admit that the country can be prosperous without him. So an attempt is made to explain away the favorable balance. Canada is pictured as a country full of humble, unskilled laborers, cutting down trees, digging ore out of the ground and shipping it off to the wicked foreigner to be manufactured. Anybody who walks the streets of Toronto or Montreal, or any city or town in Canada, or motors through the thriving countryside, may see for himself without statistics the absurdity of the picture; but the statistics agree with the impressions of the observer.

In the year 1923-24 the exports of Canada were valued at $1,045,351,056. Of this sum nearly 53 per cent. represents the products of the farm. Agriculture is now generally recognized as a calling involving not only skill but science, rivalling in that respect any manufacturing industry. Raising the wheat is at least as difficult and delicate a process as turning it into flour or bread. The same is true of stock raising, fruit growing and dairying. More than 44 per cent. of the exports have their origin in the forest and the mines. Nearly half of this is fully or chiefly manufactured before export. More than a third of it is partly manufactured. The remaining one-sixth is classified as raw material. There may be some room for controversy in the term "partly manufactured," but no controversy can do away with the fact that the bulk of our exports are the product of skilled labor, and that a very small proportion is that of "hewers of wood and drawers of water." We export some raw material; we also import very considerable quantities from the United States.

That Canada is not performing this humble function is shown also by the statistics of production. The product of our factories increased from less than half a billion in 1901 to $2,747,928,675 in 1921. The estimate for the present year is $3,500,000,000; and even if this be too optimistic it is evident that the industrial progress of Canada has taken it entirely out of the class of hewer of wood and drawer of water. The product of the farms represents not only scientific thought and skilled labor, but independence and homes for millions of Canadians. It is as silly as it is unpatriotic to represent Canada as a sort of unskilled servant of the United States, or the occupations of its people as inferior to those of their neighbors. Even partisan exaggeration ought not to go to that length of misrepresentation.—Toronto Globe.

STERLING RATES

Sterling demands $4.85.

Sterling cables $4.85 1-2.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 18.—Wheat underwent a decided setback in price today at the last, largely as a result of extensive sales of wheat to be shipped here from Minneapolis, Kansas City, Omaha and other centres. Closing quotations of wheat were unsettled, 1 to 2 1-8 cents net lower. May $1.09 1-4 to $1.09 1-2, and July $1.57 7-8 to $1.52; with corn 7-8 to 1 5-8 cents off; oats 1-4 to 5-8 cent down, and provisions varying from 45 cents decline to 7 cents advance.

At first, the wheat market displayed a notable upward trend, with a scarcity of offerings of May delivery in particular. New crop months were influenced a good deal by the action of May, and there was also much buying on account of unfavorable crop reports from the Middle West, as well as on Canadian advices about damage by frost.

EGG PRICES

OTTAWA, May 18—Several Canadian markets have advanced their prices during the past week. This was particularly the case in British Columbia where production is falling off and the market strengthening daily. Latest wires from Winnipeg quote extras 30 1-2, firsts 28 1-2, seconds 25 f.o.b. Western shipping point. For the most part extras and firsts are shipped in export cases and seconds in used cases. The movement into storage continues freely, stocks are becoming fairly heavy. Ontario country shippers report paying extras 28, firsts 26, seconds 22, making sales extras 33, firsts 31, seconds 24 1-2, f.o.b. in new cases.

Toronto—Jobbing, extras 33, firsts 31, seconds 27 to 29.

Montreal—Extras 35, firsts 33, seconds 30.

Manitoba — Dealers' quotations higher; extras 28 to 29, firsts 26 to 28, seconds 22 to 24 delivered.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, May 18—Owing to foreign buyers showing no disposition to follow the higher prices asked on the Montreal market for Canadian grain, the demand today was very limited and little new business was transacted in any position.

The receipts of butter were 678 packages, as compared with 847 for the same day last week, and 433 for the corresponding day a year ago. The market was without any feature to note, the feeling being steady with a small trade passing for local account, owing to the fact that buyers are only purchasing sufficient to meet their immediate wants as they are of the opinion that prices will reach a lower level as soon as supplies commence to come forward more freely.

The receipts of cheese today were 2,747 boxes, as against 2,463 for the same day last week, and 2,168 for the corresponding day a year ago. The exports of cheese from the Port of Montreal last week showed a decrease of 3,010 boxes, as compared with the previous week, and an increase of 3,949 boxes with the same week last year, while the total shipments from May 1 to date have been 11,358 boxes in excess of the same period of 1924.

In sympathy with the higher prices paid for cheese at the country boards at the close of last week a stronger feeling prevailed in the market here today and sellers were asking an advance, but apart from the above there was nothing in the situation to warrant it, as the demand from foreign buyers showed no improvement and business on spot was slow.

BELLEVILLE CHEESE

MONTREAL, May 18.—At the United Dairymen Co-operative auction sale of cheese, held here today, there were 474 boxes of Belleville white and colored offered for which 17 1-4 cnts per lb. was bid for 258 boxes No. 1 white, with 17 5-16 cents per lb. asked, and 17 3-16 cents per lb. bid for 165 boxes No. 1 colored, with 17 5-16 cents per lb. asked, and 16 3-16 cents per lb. asked for 51 boxes No. 2 colored, with 16 5-16 cents per lb. asked, f.o.b. cars Belleville, for shipment to Montreal.

UNLISTED SHARES

MONTREAL, May 18.—Trading in unlisted shares on the Montreal market today was as follows:

200 Argonaut, .26 1-2.

ACCOUNTANT FREED OF FORGERY CHARGE

Employed in Federal Department of Public Works.

OTTAWA, May 19. — (Canadian Press).—Sidney E. Smith, accountant in the Deputy Minister's branch of the Federal Department of Public Works, was acquitted of charges of forging cheques, the value of which aggregated $585, in Police Court on Monday. Smith obtained his liberty on a legal technicality, Judge Constantineau holding that the evidence of the handwriting experts had not been corroborated.

The judgment concludes a case that has been in the courts for many weeks. The cheques in question were taken from the Deputy Minister's branch in November and December last, and after forged signatures were placed on them they were cashed in a local bank.

PASS SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT

The Board of Education having made repeated requests for an advance of its May allowance, owing to an overdraft, Aldermen Phelan and Denne put through a motion that it be paid forthwith. According to provisions made by the Council this year the monthly payment is not due until the end of the month, in an effort to save interest.

Paving Proposed

One of the things that made this spring conspicuous in the history of Peterborough was the absence of paving apparatus in the steets, and a belated effort to rectify the omission of an important spring sign was made last night by Alderman Jones when he mentioned a petition for the paving of Park street south. He did not urge the work, but said cognizance must be taken of the petition.

Alderman Roland Denne countered with a proposal to pave Rubidge street from the end of the present paving all the way down to the C. G.E. instead of Park street if any paving is done.

The question will come up at a meeting of Board of Works within a few days.

A Trade in Land

Alderman Fife, as Chairman of the Board of Works, communicated to the Council an offer made by Mr Wilson to trade a twenty foot strip of land at the sewage disposal plant site for a twenty foot strip owned by the city. The proposed change would benefit the city by giving a better means of access to the plant, saving the making of hundreds of yards of road, the City Engineer said. Alderman McIntyre counselled care, declaring the city made a mistake in the first place in putting the plant across the river, where it cost $17,000 extra for a pipe line, and no more mistakes should be made.

Alderman Fife, Mayor Turner and the engineer will investigate and report back. A vote gave the committee power to act, but on protestation of Alderman Joseph Crowe the members smilingly waived the right conferred on them by the majority and will report to Council before taking action.

It was proposed that in order that the Aldermen might become better acquainted with the plans in connection with the proposed plant a picnic be held on the ground on Thursday. There was no seconder, and Council adjourned.

There were present Mayor J. J. Turner, Aldermen Nagle Phelan, R. N. Jones, E. Mel Turner, J. O. Fife W. J. Hancock, Malcolm McIntyre, J. M. Greene and Roland Denne.

SOLUTION OF YESTERDAY'S CROSSWORD PUZZLE.

THE McDERMID DRUG CO.
McDERMID & JURY,
E. L. PAYNE.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton

Gloria went downstairs. She put on her hat and coat to go out of doors. She felt that, somehow, she must get away from the sound of Dick's voice moaning "Glory . . . Glory!" It kept repeating itself over and over in her ears.

Gloria's impulse was always to escape the unpleasant things of life—poverty, hard work and sickness. She hated them with all her soul.

With a sigh of relief she opened the front door and went out.

Someone was coming up the walk. In the light that streamed out from the hall door Gloria could see that it was Mother Gregory. Her face was haggard with anxiety.

"What in the world has happened?" she asked, as she came up the front steps. "Maggie says Ranghild has been phoning for me. I've been at the church guild all afternoon sewing."

"Dick's sick. Dr. John says that cold of his has developed into pneumonia," answered Gloria. She followed her mother-in-law back into the house.

Mother Gregory covered her face with her large capable hands, and began to cry.

"Oh, my dear God!" she sobbed. And the very voice of prayer was in her tone.

Gloria watched her in surprised silence. She wouldn't have believed there was any tenderness or softness in Mother Gregory. She had always thought that the love she had for Dick was the grim kind that a Spartan mother might have had for her son.

Presently Mother Gregory dried her eyes and started for the stairs.

Halfway to the first landing she stopped and turned.

"There's something I've been wanting to say to you, Glory, and I may as well say it now," she said emphatically. "If Dick dies, remember, it is you who've killed him! He's been all run down from worry for weeks and weeks. Maggie's told me how you've worn him out with your rowdy parties and your late hours! And just the other day he had to come to his father for money to pay for some of your foldeols! . . . If you had any brains you'd know that worry kills more people than hard work ever does! . . . It's no wonder to me . . ."

Her voice broke again, and she went on upstairs.

Gloria slammed the door behind her and went outdoors.

Her heart was filled with hate and anger toward her mother-in-law.

She walked along the lamp-lit streets thinking of cruel cutting things she might have said to her, if she had only thought of them in time! How she wished she had!

The streets were very quiet. Scarcely anyone passed. And as Gloria wandered along, a sort of peace stole over her.

There was a hint of spring in the air. The town itself seemed to be waiting for the caress of a divine hand that would waken buds on the trees and early crocuses in the brown earth

Gloria suddenly wanted someone to whom she could go with her trouble—her misery.

Not her mother! . . . she had never confided in her mother.

Not May Seymour—nor Stanley Wayburn, either. They were fair weather friends. There was no sympathy for anyone in either of them. That was a cinch!

Then Gloria thought of Lola Hough. Shabby, neglected Lola, whom she had hurt and insulted only yesterday.

Would Lola forgive her? Gloria knew she would.

And not only would she forgive her. She would probably have comfort and understanding for her, too . . . Lola was like that.

Trouble softened people and made them more human. And when it came to trouble, Lola certainly had more than her share. In fact, trouble was about all she did have!

* * *

Fifteen minutes later Gloria was ringing the bell of the old Hough homestead.

Lola herself came to the door.

She was covered with a big flannel bath apron. And under one arm she carried young Teddy Hough.

"Well, of all things; it's Glory Gregory!" Lola cried. She smiled. "I'm just on my way upstairs to put the babies to bed," she went on. "Come along, and then we can talk in peace."

Lola seemed to know that Gloria had come because she was in trouble, without being told.

Upstairs in the big front bedroom, the twins, in nighties and red bathrobes, were having bread and milk for their supper.

Before the grate fire a bath basin was waiting for young Teddy. On the mantel-shelf, his bottle of milk stood in readiness.

Gloria sank into an armchair covered with clean, faded cretonne. With sombre eyes she watched Lola bathe her baby.

"Isn't he a little old kewpie?" Lola laughed, as she took him out of the tub and bundled him into his sleeping-bag.

In Gloria's opinion, Teddy was far too fat, but she didn't say so. She knew that, in Lola's eyes, her three babies were beautiful as cherubs.

Lola tucked them tenderly into their little beds and turned out the light.

"Good-night, baby birds," she said, softly closing the door.

Gloria followed her silently downstairs to the dining-room.

A cold supper was laid there for one. Sliced corned beef, bread and butter, and a bowl of canned peaches.

Lola took an extra plate from the china closet.

"Stay and have a bite of supper with a lonesome woman," she begged. "And while I'm boiling the water for the tea you can tell me what's on your mind. I can see that something's bothering you."

"Something? . . . Everything!" Gloria cried. "My whole life's wrong, from start to finish, and I'm just beginning to find it out. . . . Lola, I'm married to a man I don't love."

Lola stared at her with wide-eyed astonishment.

"You don't care for Dick?" she asked incredulously. "why, you must be crazy, Glory! Dick's the very nicest man I know. . . ."

Gloria interrupted her with a harsh laugh.

"And not only that," she said, "but the man I do care for doesn't give a snap of his fingers for me!"

"Who's the man? Anyone I know?" Lola asked curiously.

"Yes, you know him. But I'm not going to say who he is," Gloria answered, stubbornly, "so don't ask me!"

Lola was silent. She measured tea into the little brown pot on the table. Her eyes were thoughtful.

"Oh, I see!" she exclaimed presently. "What do you see," Gloria asked.

"I see why you come to me with this story," Lola said. "I wondered why you'd picked me. . . . It's Bill you're in love with, isn't it?"

Gloria threw back her head and laughed wildly. That Lola should think she was in love with Bill Hough was too funny. . . . Couldn't she see that he was fat and middle-aged, and had puffs under his eyes? . . . But that was the way with women who loved their husbands. They thought everybody else was in love with them, too!

"Bill? Not in a million years!" Gloria answered soberly. "No, the reason I told you about myself, Lola, is because you have more sense than the rest of the girls I know. And you won't blab it all over, either. . . . And I just had to tell somebody! What would you do if you were I?"

Lola pondered.

"Well," she said at last, "if I were you, I'd go right home and tell Dick about it. That's the only square thing for you to do, so far as I can see."

Slowly Gloria shook her lovely head. Her eyebrows straightened into a frown.

"Of course, I can't do that, with Dick so sick," she mused. "But when he's better, I think I will tell him—that is, if he gets better."

Lola set her cup down with a clatter. "Do you mean to say Dick's sick?" she asked. She couldn't believe her ears.

"I forgot to tell you. He's down with pneumonia," Gloria answered. "That's why I had to get out of the house. . . . There's a nurse there, and Mother Gregory, besides. And the whole place sounds and smells like a hospital. Oh, it's awful!"

Lola gasped. For a minute she was speechless.

"Well, my advice to you is to get home as soon as you can!" she cried, when she had found her voice. "The idea of leaving a sick husband! Suppose Dick wants you and you aren't there? . . . For goodness' sake, Glory, don't sit there! You've got to go home right away!"

Dully, Gloria rose to her feet.

"I suppose I must," she sighed drearily. "But, gosh, how I hate to go back there!"

* * *

The next ten days were a nightmare to Gloria.

Dick hovered between life and death. Sometimes he called for her in his delirium. Sometimes it was his mother he wanted.

Mother Gregory came every morning and sat in the sunroom, knitting or reading her Bible.

At meals, she and Mrs. O'Hara told each other all their best stories about operations and unusual diseases. Gloria shivered through these meals.

One sunshiny afternoon she made up her mind to ask May Seymour to go for a walk with her. She went out into the hall and picked up the telephone to give May's number.

Mrs. O'Hara was talking on the extension, up in Dick's room. Gloria listened intently.

"He'll get well if his heart holds out. But it's pretty weak," she heard Mrs. O'Hara say.

Then another voice answered her. "Well, I'm at his office. Phone me if anything happens," it said. It was Miss Briggs' voice! She and her sister were talking about Dick!

MONTREAL, Que., May 19.—(Special).—Milton Sills, ex-university professor and now "the darling of the flappers," will be a visitor in Montreal to-morrow where he will arrive at 7.50 a.m. standard time, at Windsor Station. He will be a member of a party of thirty-three movie artists from Hollywood en-route to Beauchene, Quebec, where their next picture, "The Comeback" is to be filmed.

They will leave Montreal via Canadian Pacific Raiway on Train No. 1.

Two private cars in addition to the dining car will accomodate them during their journey to Beauchene on Tuesday, May 19.

HAD BOILS ALL OVER HIM

There is only one way to get rid of boils and that is by going right to the seat of the trouble—the blood—as the bad blood must be made pure before the boils will disappear.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

cleanses the system and removes all the foul matter from the blood in a way that few medicines will do.

Mrs. Chas. Rankin, Bulyea, Sask., writes:—"A few years ago my husband had a terrible time with boils. On one arm he had 16 between his elbow and wrist; five on the back of his neck, and several more on different parts of his body. He tried everything he could think of, but got no relief until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, and to his surprise it completely relieved him of his boils in a very short time."

FUTURE PASTOR OF GEORGE ST. LEAVES GUELPH

Congregation Says Farewell to Rev. J. E. Todd and Mrs. Todd.

HERE JULY 1

Address and Presentation Attest Popularity of Retiring Minister.

GUELPH, May 19.—At a recent congregational meeting of Dublin street Methodist church, one of the most pleasing features of the evening was the address and presentation to Rev. J. E. and Mrs. Todd Mr. Todd has accepted a call t Peterborough, subject to the approval of the stationing committee, and it is with genuine regret throughout the congregation that the ties between pastor and people are being severed. He is expected in Peterborough about July 1. The address was a wonderful work of art prepared and read by Mrs. R. A. Payne.

To Rev. J. E. and Mrs. Todd, at the close of their pastorate in Dublin Street Methodist Church, Guelph.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Todd.—The officials and members of the Dublin street Methodist church have met this evening, in their annual congregational meeting for the last time as a Methodist church; henceforth we shall be known as part of the United Church of Canada. Our hearts are somewhat sad on account of the fact that we are to change our relationship to each other as pastor and people. For three years you have been winning the people by a ministry that has endeared you to them, and makes the parting all the more real.

As pastor you have been a welcome visitor in the homes of the congregation, ministering to their various needs, visiting the sick, comforting the distressed, relieving the destitute, and by your personality and kind words, cheering the hearts of many that often feel the burdens of life too heavy to bear.

Your messages on the Sabbath days have been most acceptable at all times, and helpful to the soul of each and every member of the congregation. Under your chairmanship the officials of the church have worked harmoniously together in the carrying out of the secular interests of the church.

A large amount of money has been raised for the renovation and decorating of the entire building, adding much to the comfort of the worshippers in the regular services of the church.

And not in our church alone, but in the sister churches of the city you, by your helpful services and brotherly conduct, have established a name for yourself that will live long after your departure from our midst.

The Ladies' Association will miss the counsel and help of Mrs. Todd, as well as that of thier pastor, in the arrangement of their work in the church and elsewhere. Her kind words and smiling countenance made her a very welcome visitor at all times. Now what shall the people do for those whom they delight to honor?

We ask you to accept this "Service of Silver" as a souvenir of our esteem for you, and a gentle reminder of our appreciation of your faithful service to us. We trust that in its use it may often remind you of the many friends you leave behind in the old Dublin street church.

In the church to which you have been called you may find a larger field of opportunity to work for the Master, and we are confident you will do all that is required of you, and you efforts will be crowned with success.

We now bid you a formal "Au Revoir," and trust that the Divine Spirit that has made your pastorate with us so pleasant and helpful, may still be the controlling power in your new field of labor.

Good-bye Brother Todd, we shall miss you, we know,
But our loss will be somebody's
gain;
New friendships will greet you
wherever you go,
We hope soon to great you again.

As pastor and people we're sorry to sever
The ties that have bound us in love;
The hope in our hearts is that nothing may ever
Prevent us from meeting above.

Three cheers for our pastor, three cheers for his wife!
God speed! to their services elsewhere,
With joy and contentment and freedom from strife,
And security under His care.

And now unto Him who is able to keep you
From falling, secure in His care,
You friends in old Dublin street
church commit you,
And trust He will answer our prayer.

Signed on behalf of the congregation,
Ethel H. McNally,
W. G. Howell,
W. J. Greenaway,
A. L. Moritz,
John H. Hockin.

Mrs. McNally made the presentation of the silver, and Mrs. A. L. Moritz presented the illuminated address. Mrs. Todd was also the recipient of a basket of roses at the hand of Miss Margaret Mustard. Mr. Todd replied in his own gracious way thanking the people of Dublin street for this mark of affection and assuring them that he and Mrs. Todd would carry with them to their new field of labor the happiest recollections of the years spent as minister of Dublin street Methodist church.

Chu Chin Chowesses From China

These young people have just returned from a trip around the world on the Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of France. Among other places, too numerous and difficult to spell to be mentioned, they visited China. They were so impressed with the scenery there that they brought some of it back with them and here they are seen in their mandarin costumes, purchased, with the help of several interpreters, guides and arbitrators in the bazaars of Peking.

Those in the big pictures, reading from left to right (standing) are Miss Kathryn Littler, New York; Miss Hazel Taylor, Belleville, Ont.; Miss Mary Kurt, Kansas City; Miss Edna Hewitt, Chicago; Mahlon Hutchison, Jr., Devon, Pa.; George Fulford, Brockville, Ont.; Mrs. Henry Price, Buffalo, N.Y.; Miss Ethel Morrow, Paducah, Ky.; Mrs. Ira Smith, Providence, R.I.; Miss Aileen Hall, Winnipeg, Man. (Sitting) Miss Marjorie D. Martin, Winnipeg, Man.; Miss Bettina Clark, Chicago; Miss Lorraine Clark, Chicago; Miss Ursula Burns, New York; Mrs. T. C. Desmond, New York; Miss Betty Fulford, Brockville, Ont.

In spite of any contrary impression given by the smaller picture there is really no shortage of chairs on the "France," it is simply that the playful little ladies wanted to test the capacity and power of resistance of a chair before recommending a substantial friend of theirs to recline in it. Their names are, reading from left to right, Miss Hazel Taylor, Belleville, Ont.; Miss Ursula Burns, New York; Miss Mary C. Kurt, Kansas City; Miss A. Hall, Winnipeg; Miss B. Clark, Chicago, and Miss Betty Fulford, Brockville, Ont. They enjoyed themselves so much they are firmly determined to induce their friends to join the "France" when she makes her Mediterranean trip in February, 1926.

(1) A bunch of American and Canadian beauties decked out in Chinese finery. They are back from a tour of the world.
(2) Pity the poor chair! These dainty travellers have seen what the world looks like and are enjoying the last few days of their holiday on board before going ashore.

WESTERN CROPS MARK TIME FOR WARM WEATHER

Conditions Ideal in Parts of Alberta—Elsewhere Growth Held Up.

WORK WELL AHEAD

Early Spring Progress Generally Negatived by Night Frosts—No Damage.

WINNIPEG, May 19.—(Canadian Press).—With wheat seeding nearing completion on the Western prairies, the excellent progress on the land this season has been negatived in some districts by slow germination and slight damage by night frosts, according to the weekly crop report issued yesterday by the Agricultural Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

At points where wheat has shown above the ground, reports indicate that the cold weather has materially retarded growth, but generally the frosts are believed not to have caused serious or extensive damage. Early sown oats and barley also are up, but some sections report that frost has set these crops back considerably.

In Manitoba wheat seeding is completed and aproximately eighty per cent. of the coarse grains are in. Growing conditions are comparatively favorable, with adequate moisture. Fall rye throughout the province, seeded on stubble, is making very good progress. Rye sown on summer fallow has fared badly and many fields already have been plowed down.

Slow in Saskatchewan.

Generally, work is from ten days to two weeks ahead of last year in Saskatchewan, but growth up to the present has not been so rapid. From a few districts in east, central and north-east parts of the province seed is reported to be showing low vitality. In these areas, however, farmers are putting in more seed per acre to offset this condition. Seeding is expected to be completed by the end of this week.

More favorable weather in Alberta has permitted uninterrupted operations, and the 1926 wheat crop is about 85 per cent. seeded. There is abundance of moisture and at present germination is reported to be good. The Provincial Department of Agriculture has taken steps to combat a grasshopper menace in the Parvella district, otherwise the province is free from pests.

Weather Ideal Here.

Seeding is well advanced in all districts along the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway. Ideal growing weather prevails.

Weather conditions have materially improved in British Columbia during the past week, with the frost danger apparently passed. Grasshoppers and tent caterpillars have appeared in large numbers in the Vernon district and at Kamloops. Measures of eradication have been taken.

DAIRYING IN WEST DOUBLED IN YEAR

C. N. R. Finds Increase in Winter Feeding and Dairying.

WINNIPEG, May 19. — Dairying and live stock raising is on the increase in western Canada, and in the districts of Manitoba where mixed farming is practised, the dairy business has been more than doubled over that of a year ago, according to a report by the Canadian National Railways, based on replies to questionnaire sent out to all points on the company's lines in the west.

While some few points report fewer live stock being handled the majority of districts tell of increases both in winter feeding and in dairying.

Feed supplies are reported to be good everywhere but warm weather and rain are needed to bring along the pastures for summer feed.

MANY GOLD DIGGERS.

Over Fourteen Thousand Are Working Alleuial Field in Africa.

LONDON, May 19.—(Canadian Press).—A dispatch to the Daily Herald from East Africa states that one hundred whites and fourteen thousand natives are engaged in working what are described as the largest alluvial gold fields in Africa on the Lupa river. Gold was first discovered in the neighborhood in June, 1923.

FORD IN WALL STREET.

Connection Through Recently Acquired Investment House.

NEW YORK, May 19.— The entrance of Henry Ford into Wall street was seen by some bankers Monday in the announcement that the Guardian Detroit Company had been established as the New York investment bra[illegible] of the Guardian Trust Company of Detroit, of which Edsel Ford is a director.

The Guardian Trust Company of Detroit, a recently organized institution, which is believed to have the backing of the Ford millions, obtained its foothold in New York by the acquisition of Keane, Higible and Company, Inc., an investment firm.

CRISIS AVERTED.

There Will Be No Central Bureau to Control Traffic in Arms.

GENEVA, May 19.—(Canadian Press).—Crisis in the International Conference for control of the traffic in arms and munitions which had been created by the refusal of the United States to have the League of Nations council appoint the central office for arms control was averted by the decision to abandon the plan to establish the proposed central bureau.

COUNSEL SAYS COURT BIASED

Appeal Against Conviction of Christian Science Practitioner in Winnipeg.

FOR GIRL'S DEATH

WINNIPEG, May 19.—(Canadian Press).—Charging that the judge and jury were prejudiced against Christian Science and that the weight of evidence did not warrant the jury in returning a verdict of manslaughter against William Elder, A. J. Andrews, K.C., before the Manitoba Court of Appeal Monday, argued that the conviction should be quashed.

Elder, a Christian Science practioner, was found guilty on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of 12-year-old Doreen Watson here last November. He was tried at the Spring Assizes and sentenced to four months in jail.

In charging that the court was biased, Mr. Andrews asserted that he did not make the statement in an "offensive way."

He had felt, however, that throughout the trial, "the whole court was prejudiced as to the merits of the case."

Mr. Andrews claimed that inasmuch as the jury which rendered the verdict was only composed of eleven men, a new trial should have been ordered. Despite the fact that the accused had consented to the case proceeding before eleven-man jury, the verdict could not stand, counsel contended.

NEW FIRE TRUCK FINE EQUIPMENT

Made Speed of 53 Miles Per Hour and Climbed Westclox Hill.

ARTISTIC PAINTING

The new fire truck was tried out yesterday under the supervision of the fire chief.

It is a Reo speed wagon chassis, having a full equipment of hose and chemical tanks and the word speed means something as was amply shown in the tests.

The truck and equipment have a gross weight of 5500 pounds and throughout the trials four men aggregating six hundred and ten pounds were aboard, making a total of 5660 pounds. Under this load the truck climbed the Westclox hill without a murmur of protest.

She was then piloted out to the Port Hope highway and showed on the outward trip a nimbleness of 48 miles per hour.

The sharp turns were taken without the slightest evidence of side sway at forty miles per hour. On the return trip a maximum speed of 53 miles per hour was attained and the radiator was perfectly cool at the finish; she wasn't even breathing fast when brought to a halt.

The firemen are to be complimented for their work in grooming the new chariot, as it certainly is a credit to the artistic hands which labored over it and worked up the color with such loving care. With flashing nickel radiator and hub caps, coupled with bright red paint and varnish, it certainly makes a brilliant spot in the otherwise sombre landscape.

The fact that the firemen took time to paint it also shows that they have an economical sense which added to the artistry shown should materially decrease the budget for the year.

MILITARY RANK FOR OFFICERS OF R.C.M.P.

Honorary Titles Conferred to Facilitate Work With Militia.

OTTAWA, May 19. — Official honorary rank in the Canadian militia has been conferred by the government on the officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, it is announced in the latest issue of the Canada Gazette. During the war special ordinances gave the R.C.M.P. officers standing in the militia to facilitate duties wherein the two forces worked together.

After the armistice, however, these arrangements automatically lapsed back to pre-war conditions, and the police had no officially recognized rank or authority in the militia.

Action to have this rectified was recently completed with the result that Commissioner Courtlandt Starnes receives the rank of Honorary Colonel. Superintendents of police become honorary majors, and inspectors honorary captains.

CAILLAUX NOMINATED.

Will Contest Lemano Senate Vacancy as Candidate of Radicals.

LEMANS, France, May 19.—(Canadian Press).—Finance Minister Joseph Caillaux accepted candidacy for the Senate from this district offered by the radical party. He will replace Senator Gignon who offered his resignation in order to enable the return of the Finance Minister to Parliament.

MISSING MAN TRACED.

Disappeared From Vancouver Hotel, Leaving Personal Effects.

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 19.—J. P. Dargan, who disappeared from a local hotel on Sunday, May 10, and who was believed to have been lost in the mountains near North Vancouver, went to Bellingham, Washington, on Monday, it was learned to-day. No explanation is forthcoming as to why Dargan left his personal effects in Vancouver.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

Drastic Decline During Early Winnipeg Trading

WINNIPEG, May 19 (Canadian Press).—After opening fractionally higher, the local wheat market recorded a drastic decline during the first half hour of trading this morning, May delivery dropping 6 cents from the initial quotations of $1.89 1-4 to $1.83 1-4.

July declined .. cents, while October was holding comparatively steady. Lower Liverpool cables were reported.

Chicago Wheat Increase On Unfavorable Reports

CHICAGO, May 19 (Canadian Press).—Influenced by unexpected upturns in Liverpool quotations and by unfavorable crop reports from various parts of the domestic winter wheat territory, the wheat market here averaged higher today during early dealings.

Liverpool strength was ascribed to the scarcity of offerings from this side of the Atlantic, and to the general character of the international supply and demand outlook. On the other hand, May delivery here showed a pronounced weakness after an early bulge. Chicago opening prices which varied from unchanged to 1½ higher; May $1.70½ to $1.70¾ and July $1.52½ to $1.52¾, were followed by a reaction to $1.67½ for May, and $1.51¼ for July, but then by rallies in which the new crop months went again above yesterday's finish.

Warmer weather made the corn market easy. After opening at ¼ decline to ⅝ advance, July $1.15 to $1.15½; corn prices underwent a general sag. Oats sympathized with corn. Starting at ⅛ off to ¼ up, July 44¼ to 44⅜, oats lated showed slight decline all around.

Lard lacked support, but other provisions were firm.

Smelters Had Big Jump In Trading at Toronto

TORONTO May 19 (Can. Press) Smelters had the biggest advance of the season on the Toronto Exchange this morning, when it close at 18⅝, a net gain of 2⅝. Winnipeg Rails closed at 48½, a net gain of 1⅝. Burt also figured in the active column, but with only quarter the number of sales as Smetlers, but had a jump of 2 points at 52. Twin City gain 1¼ at 6 .

Qauker Oats Company Annual Dividend Basis

NEW YORK, May 19.—(Canadian Press).—The common stock of the Quaker Oats Company to-day was placed on an annual dividend basis of $3 a share with a declaration of an initial quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share, payable on July 15th to holders of record July 1st. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share on preferred was also authorized.

Maxwell Reaches Record; Oils Bought Liberally

NEW YORK, May 19 (Canadian Press).—Wall Street market was largely a specialty affair. Recognized industrial and railroad leaders were practically neglected. The outstanding buoyancy of Mack trucks which soared to 183 before it met a substantial volume of profit taking, stimulated activity in other motor shares. Maxwell B attaining a record high for all time at 90⅜, and Pierce Arrow Preferred a new top for the year at 63¼. The announcement of an increase in price for certain grades of crude Smackover and rumors of an early increase in Pennsylvania crude attracted new buying in Oils; Houston standing out with a gain of five points before noon.

PETERBORO MALE VOICE CHOIR ANNUAL BANQUET AND ELECTION

Martin Chenhall Again Unanimously Chosen as Musical Director.

SPLENDID YEAR.

John Anderson is the New President, Succeeding C. S. Thompson.

The fifth annual meeting of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir was held last night in the Auditorium of the Great War Veterans' Hall, and took the form of a banquet, practically the entire choir being present.

During the course of the banquet, the choir drank toasts to the King, proposed by C. S. Thompson, president; to Musical Director Chenhall, proposed by Dr. C. H. Fulford, and replied to by musical director; to the retiring executive, proposed by F. J. Gandy, and replied to by C. B. Adair. Solos were ably given by W. A. Moore, and C. H. Crowe, also community singing, led by Paul Manning, under whose guidance the programme committee made a successful banquet possible.

After the splendid banquet, which was tastefully arranged by the G.W.V.A., and thoroughly enjoyed by the choir, President C. S. Thompson took the chair, when the regular business and election of officers for the ensuing year followed.

Reports, which were very gratifying, were presented by the various officers and chairmen of committees, and showed the organization to be in a very creditable condition, financially, socially and musically.

By a standing unanimous vote, the choir asked Mr. Chenhall to again be their musical director for next season, and were delighted to have him accept.

Following is a list of officers elected for the year 1925-1926:

Honorary President, G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., Hon. Vice-Presidents, Mayor J. J. Turner and R. J. Kidd; Past President, C. S. Thompson, B.A.; President, John Anderson; Vice President, F. J. Gandy; Secretary-Treasurer, A. Pitchford; Assistant Secretary, C. H. Crowe; Musical Director, Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O.

Chairmen of Committees.—Membership, G. S. Parlour; Music, Dr. C. H. Fulford; Social, P. Manning; Publicity, W. F. Skitch; Librarian, F. E. Kerr; Auditors, T. Pitchford and A. H. White.

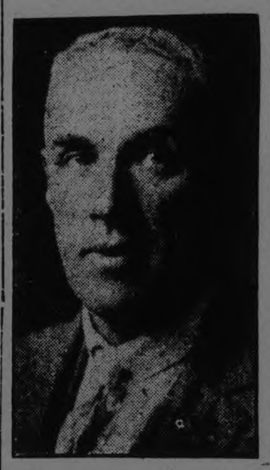
The Male Voice Choir is in a much better condition from every point of view this year than at any other time of the organization's history.

The enthusiasm shown at last night's meeting augurs well for next season's work.

Incidentally, the choir will provide a little music during one evening of the Made-in-Peterboro Fair, and is glad to be of help to such a worthy organization as the Peterboro Health Association.

The choir will be performing in the park during the summer, and is also booked for another engagement out of town, this time in Fenelon Falls, on May 29.

UNANIMOUS CHOICE



MARTIN B. CHENHALL, A.R.C.O.

by a standing unanimous vote last night again chosen musical director of the Peterboro Male Voice Choir.

SPECIAL SERVICES ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Why Was Man's Temptation in Eden Permitted? Asks Preacher.

"Why did God permit man to be tempted in Eden when He knew that it involved the possibility of the Fall?"

This was the subject of the discourse by Rev. William Allan, at St. Paul's Church last night, before a large and interested audience.

Mr. Allan took as his texts for his theme verses from the second chapter of Genesis referring to the placing of Adam in the Garden of Eden, commanding him concerning the eating of the fruits of the Garden and of the Tree of Knowledge.

Proceeding, Mr. Allan said the importance of this question could not be denied. Many good people have been greatly troubled by it—it is not to be brushed aside in a care-free fashion. The temptation and fall seem to reflect on the wisdom of God, therefore we will be repaid if we study the question in the light of the teaching of the Word of God.

Man was made innocent—a negative condition. He was made a free agent, with ability to choose. Was God wise, in the knowledge of the sinfulness of man, in subjecting him to the temptation, is a natural question to be asked. He must have known there was the certainty of a fall. If man had not been made free to choose he would have been a purely mechanical creation, and not a moral being as he undoubtedly is. If man is to go from a negative to a positive condition, it can only be along the line of a moral test. And there are three ways in which this can be done:

1—Along the lines of obedience. So long as a father's commands and a child's inclinations run in the same direction, it is not possible to tell which is the predominating motive. Will it obey because it wants to obey or will it obey because it has to obey? If it is so made that it cannot do anything else but obey how are we to tell that its obedience is the result of its own free choice? To know whether this is so or not, it must be possible for the child to disobey. God made man and over His handiwork are the words "Very good," with complete satisfaction in His creation. The highest effort of creation was included in man—he was made innocent, made in the divine image and likeness.

The second condition is along the line of trust. As long as no mystery is unexplained no course of action enjoined that limits freedom or impose conditions not fully understood there is no test of faith. But, when something not understood is imposed the question of as he understands the reason for any restrictions which God may impose? Or will he go along because he believes God knows best and has good reason for not making everything plain now?

The third way—the line of communion. Only in communion with God is man's highest development reached. True communion is the result of pure free love. If man is so constituted that he cannot do anything but love God, or if there is no rival for his affection there can be no real moral development. In the former there is no capacity; in the other, there is no opportunity. We listen to Satan readily, and thus break the communicating line. God seeks our development along the line of obedience to His divine commands.

The preacher concluded by saying if we did not entertain or encourage sin, we are not guilty of contemplating sin, and thereby do not fall. With the Psalmist we should be able to say: "Oh that I might not sin against Thee."

The subject for tonight's address will be a sequence to the above subject "What Would Have Been the Result for the Race if When Tempted Man Had Not Sinned."

DISTANT QUAKE WAS RECORDED

Seismographs at Washington and Toronto Record Several Shocks.

8,000 MILES AWAY.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(Canadian Press).—A pronounced earthquake was registered early to-day on the Georgetown University seismograph between midnight and 2.30 a.m. The shock was estimated to be eight thousand miles distant.

TORONTO, May 19.—(Canadian Press).—Earthquake shocks of considerable intensity were recorded on the seismograph of the Dominion Meteorological Observatory here this morning between 1.48 and 1.52, eastern standard time. Scientists at the observatory were unable to determine the direction or distance of the disturbance, but estimated that the shocks occurred some thousands of miles from this city.

She Was Obliged To Take To Her Bed

Then Mrs. J. Derocher Used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Quebec lady suffered from kidney trouble and found complete relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

South Stukeley, Que., May 18.—(Special).—That relief can be obtained from all kinds of kidney disorders by using Dodd's Kidney Pills is again evidenced by the testimonial received from Mrs. J. Derocher, a well known and highly respected resident of this place. She writes:

"I was attacked with a malady that at first I did not think was serious until about the beginning of last March, when it became evident that I could do nothing. I consulted a doctor and he told me I was suffering from kidney trouble.

"I was obliged to take to my bed. I had a Dodd's Almanac in the house and read a few of the testimonials, then bought 3 boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and a box of Diamond Dinner Pills.

"I can assure you that they have made me well, and the pain in my back between the shoulders is gone. I am completely relieved of my trouble."

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH IS MAKING READY

Celebration of Centenary of Established Regular Anglican Services.

A special meeting of the Vestry and congregation of St. John's Church was called for last evening in the Parish House. The purpose of the meeting was to consider the report of the Advisory Board with respect to improvements which in the judgment of the board ought to take place in order to properly carry on the work of the parish and to fittingly celebrate the centenary of the established regular services in the Anglican Church in this city — the beginning of St. John's Parish. It was decided at the meeting last evening to proceed with preparations—financially and otherwise—for the extension of the Parish House and improvements in it, and also for the erection of a cement retaining wall on the west side of the building and the installation of a new organ in the church. The whole is to be completed before June, 1927.

SEWER CONNECTIONS ORDERED BY BOARD

Some May Be Installed To Be Paid For Through Tax Collector.

A meeting of the Board of Health was held this morning with Mayor Turner, Dr. Young and C. H. Rogers present. Owing to the absence of Chairman Alderman McIntyre, Mayor Turner was elected chairman protem.

A number of recommendations for sewer connections was made and orders for the installation of sanitary conveniences will be issued. Several requests for installation of the city's plan of payment in the taxes were referred to the city solicitor. One such request was refused and the secretary was instructed to write the applicant that the board could not ask the council to make this installation as they could not say that the owner was unable to pay.

The question of charges at the Queen Mary Hospital was discussed especially with regard to people who could not or would not pay. A letter was read from the city solicitor advising what steps should be taken, and advising against suit when other methods failed.

Rheumatism

Torturing Pains and Swollen Joints Vanish When Rheuma is Used or Money Refunded.

If you want relief in two days, swift, gratifying relief, take one teaspoonful of Rheuma every night and morning.

If you want to dissolve the uric acid poison in your body and drive it out through the natural channels so that you will be free from rheumatism, get a bottle of Rheuma from your druggist at once.

Rheumatism is a powerful disease strongly entrenched in joints and muscles. In order to conquer it a powerful enemy must be sent against it. Rheuma is the enemy of rheumatism—an enemy that must conquer it in every instance or money will be refunded.

Rheuma contains no narcotics—is harmless and thoroughly reliable because it is the one remedy that has relieved the agonizing pains of rheumatic sufferers who thought nothing would give relief. It should do as much for you. McDermid and Jury will supply you on the no-cure-no-pay plan.

FIVE YEARS ON PERJURY CHARGE

Man Acquitted of Murder Found Guilty of Perjury at Trial.

HULL, Que, May 19 (Canadian Press).—James E. Carey, acquitted on a charge of murdering Joseph Bouchard, Glenlevet, Quebec, was this morning sentenced to a term of five years in the St. Vincent De Paul Penitentiary, following a conviction on a charge of perjury. Evidence was adduced to prove that Euclide Courville was at Pickerel, Ontario, on December 23 and 24 last, and not at Bouchard's home, as Carey had sworn.

RUMOR SAYS WORK WILL BE STARTED

Premier Has Heard Nothing About Extension Into Rouyn Field.

TORONTO, May 19 (Canadian Press)—Qusetioned this morning regarding the despatch in a Toronto morning paper to the effect that Ontario interests, favoring the extension of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railroad into the Rouyn gold area, are to make efforts at Ottawa and Quebec to obtain permission to start construction work pending the reference to a court as to the right of Quebec Province to object. Premier G. H. Ferguson said "I haven't heard of any such move."

According to the report the railway would remove rails and construction work in the event of the attitude of the Province of Quebec being upheld.

PERMITS FOR SOME GROCERIES READY

All Hotels Will Have Authority For 4.4 Sale By Thursday.

TORONTO, May 19. — While it will be impossible to have permits for the sale of 4.4 beer issued to all the grocery stores making application before Thursday, Hon. W. F. Nickel attorney general stated today that a number of selling licenses would be issued to that class of trade to allow them to enter the trade at the same time as the standard hotels. The Ontario License Board has been devoting most of its attention to getting out permits for hotels and it is stated that in a great majority of cases this will have been accomplished by May 21.

SALVATION ARMY'S SCOUTS AND GUIDES

Demonstration of Work of Local Corps Juniors Last Night.

The Life-Saving Scouts and Guards of the local Salvation Army Corps put on a special demonstration of their work last evening, in a repetition of the domonstration given some months ago.

Mayor Turner, scheduled as chairman, was unable to be present owing to press of other business meetings. Captain T. H. Martin was in charge of the programme.

The entertainment, which was very interesting, constituted an exhibition of the work learned by the Boy Scouts and Girl Guards at their meetings, when the four-fold purpose of their organizations is carried out: the salvation of the body, the salvation of the mind, the salvation of the soul, and the salvation of others.

The lessons learned in their parades and meetings were demonstrated in a series of drills, readings, songs and pyramids. Scout Leader Barton was in charge of the Scouts, and Assistant Guard Leader R. V. Shadgett of the Guards, in the absence of Scout Leader Mrs. Barton.

Let Tanlac restore your health

If your body is all fagged-out and run-down, if you are losing weight steadily, lack appetite, have no strength or energy—why not let Tanlac help you back to health and strength?

So many millions have been benefited by the Tanlac treatment, so many thousands have written to testify to that effect that it's sheer folly not to make the test.

Tanlac, you know, is a great natural tonic and builder, a compound, after the famous Tanlac formula, of roots, barks and herbs. It purges the blood stream, revitalizes the digestive organs and enables the sickly body to regain its vanished weight.

You don't need to wait long to get results. Tanlac goes right to the seat of trouble. In a day or so you note a vast difference in your condition. You have more appetite, sleep better at night and the color begins to creep back into you washed-out cheeks.

Don't put off taking Tanlac another precious day. Step into the nearest drug store and get a bottle of this world-famed tonic. That's the first important step back to health and vigor.

Tanlac Restored Her Health

RESTORATION OF GOLD STANDARD IN GT. BRITAIN MOST IMPORTANT EVENT IN EUROPEAN RE-BUILDING

Other Countries Awaited Great Britain's Action Before Beginning to Clean House— Significance of Leadership is Profound Nationally and Internationally, Affecting Whole World.

POUND STERLING LEADS INTERNATIONAL FINANCE

Through Recent Action Britain Assumes New Poosition in World Markets, and Will Compete More With Arbitrary Trade of United States— Stimulate Other Nations.

By JOHN PARKE YOUNG.

AFTER nearly eleven years of paper money Great Britain has returned to the gold standard. The paper pound is now equal to the gold pound, and Great Britain has announced that this relationship will be maintained at all costs. The prodigal pound has thus returned and has assumed again its dignity, carried for so many generations. The restoration of the gold standard in Great Britain is one of the most important events that has taken place in European post-war reconstruction.

The significance of this event is profound, both nationally and internationally. Australia and New Zealand have followed the lead of Great Britain. Already Holland has announced that she is also returning immediately to the gold standard. A similar announcement may soon be forthcoming from Switzerland, and before long Germany may have the full gold standard. Great Britain has led the way—rather tardily perhaps—and has given the sign that it is time to do something in the way of currency reform.

Europe, for several years, has been waiting for Great Britain to act, and did not desire to do much in the way of currency reform until Great Britain set the example. One of the greatest obstacles in dealing with the question of European currency reform has been the depreciation of the pound. The pound has long been looked upon in most parts of Europe as the predominant currency unit—a sort of big brother to other currencies. Until the British pound was restored to health, therefore, other countries felt little compulsion about putting their currency systems in order.

The leadership of the pound in international finance led many countries to feel that currency reform was actually impossible until Great Britain acted. Although several countries have proved this view erroneous, nevertheless such a belief has been a practical difficulty, continually arising to block reform. If the question were asked bankers or Government officials on the Continent, "When do you intend to return to the gold basis?" the answer almost invariably would be, "Not until Great Britain does," or "Great Britain has not yet been able to return to gold; how can we be expected to?"

France Must Act Soon.

With the return of Great Britain to gold, it is to be expected that within a year or two the general restoration of the gold standard will be well toward an accomplished fact. France and Belgium are the principal countries remaining which have not stabilized their currencies or accomplished relative stability. France will soon be compelled to deal with the question of stabilization, which means Belgium will also stabliize with reference to gold.

The absence of the gold standard in Great Britain has interfered in a further way with currency reform elsewhere. The pride and prestige of Great Britain naturally were offended when other countries were able to accomplish a prior return to gold. Thus Great Britain could not view with much favor the introduction of the gold standard into countries of Europe.

What went on in Paris during the formulation of the Dawes report with reference to the return of Germany to the gold standard showed clearly what Great Britain thought of the restoration of the gold basis in countries whose position was regarded as subordinate to her own. It is no secret that the British opposed the introduction of the gold standard into Germany. Had Great Britain at that time been upon the gold standard, Germany would probably at present have had the full gold standard rather than an approximation to it. The argument, which appeared to be one of whether the dollar or the pound should serve as the basis for German currency, was really a question of the gold basis or not the gold basis for German currency. Even the approximation to the gold standard, which was given to Germany, did not redound to the prestige of the pound.

Prestige of the Pound Suffered.

When Sweden anticipated Great Britain by over a year in the return to gold, the feeling in London was that this did not strengthen the position of the pound. Comment in Lombard Street was unfavorable, and it was generally conceded that Great Britain would soon be forced to do something. Some criticized Sweden, saying she was tying herself to the apron-string of the dollar or to that of the Federal Reserve Board.

The return to the gold standard, or stabilization with reference to gold, by countries such as Sweden, Germany, Poland, Austria, Hungary and Russia, and the return to par of the Swiss franc and the Dutch guilder placed the pound in a distinctly unfavorable light.

Furthermore, British colonies have been growing restless under a fluctuating pound, and were taking measures to return to the gold standard independently of Great Britain. South Africa engaged an American currency expert, Professor E. W. Kemmerer of Princeton, and the President of the Netherlands Bank, Dr. G. Vissering, to advise her how to return to the gold basis. The recommendations of the experts were accepted, and after July 1 of this year South Africa will be on the gold standard. Great Britain has thus been practically compelled to take the step she has now taken.

Effect on Trade and Finance.

The question arises, "What is the real significance, economically, of the restoration of the pound to its former position?" Aside from the question of Great Britain leading the way for others, and aside from the change in the position of Great Britain from one where the country was tacitly opposed to the introduction of the gold standard (or, in some cases, not very tacitly) to one where the country is now definitely lined up as an advocate of the general resumption of the gold standard, the return of the pound to par will have far-reaching consequences upon international trade and finance. The return of Great Britain to gold in this respect, and as a signal for general reform, is the most important single development in the realm of currency reform since the war.

The pound is back on the level with the dollar and will be a formidable competitor in the world's markets. As a result of the war, New York has assumed a position of leadership as an international financial centre. In all important recent loan operations United States bankers have played a dominant role. A dollar draft, payable in New York, is now acceptable almost anywhere. In many countries dollars have come to be more acceptable than pounds, since dollars have represented definite amount of gold. Much trade formerly financed in London in sterling has come to be financed in terms of dollars in New York or other American centres. But now the pound represents a definite amount of gold, and the situation is different.

The rivalry between the dollar and the pound, between New York and London, will be more active, and the pound will doubtless recover part of what it has lost. The two money centres are so inter-related and dependent upon each other in so many ways that the rivalry will not be of an objectionable kind, but will be more of the nature of aggressive co-operation.

Although to all intents and purposes Great Britain has returned to the gold standard and restored a free gold market, technically these conditions will not prevail until the end of the present year. Regulation requiring that licenses be obtained before gold can be exported will not expire until the end of 1925. The Chancellor has announced, however, that the Bank of England has been given a general license to export gold.

Freedom to export gold is not yet general, but the implication is that the Bank of England will exercise freely its right to export gold as occasion demands. This temporary interference with free gold exports is of no great consequence, and Great Britain will be regarded generally from now on as on the gold basis. The psychological effect of this is healthy and will inspire confidence in industry and trade, as well as stimulate other countries toward currency reform.

A new and important phase of currency administration is embodied in the bill which the Chancellor has announced will be presented. The plan is for the Bank of England to resume specie payments only in large denominations of gold. The Bank will be obligated to pay out gold in return for legal tender money only in amounts of not less than 400 fine ounces ($8,268). The Government in this way plans to continue the circulation of paper money, and not restore gold to actual circulation. Appeals to the public are made against the withdrawal and circulation of gold. Gold will be maintained through redemption of the paper only in large quantities.

The significance of this policy is that gold will be economized and centralized and may never circulate freely as before the war. Economizing gold in this way may have important effects upon the value of gold, or, in other words, upon the price level.

Gold does not circulate in the United States to any extent, and has become centralized. This was the case to a large extent, even before the war. In Europe, however, gold constituted an important part of the circulation. The present action of Great Britain in redeeming in large denominations only, and keeping gold out of ordinary channels, indicates that gold as actual hand-to-hand currency is disappearing. When gold is concentrated in banks it can serve as the basis for more paper currency and bank credit than when scattered throughout the country in the hands of the people.

Can Gold Standard Be Maintained?

If, as conditions become more normal, large quantities of gold accumulate in money centres and serve as the basis for currency and credit expansion, the value of gold will become less, or, in other words the general level of prices will rise. The extent to which artificial control will prevent this and be successful in attaining stability is a question to be answered in the future. Great Britain has lined up, even more definitely than the United States, as a country where the actual circulation of gold does not take place.

Arguments have been heard in Great Britain for some months that the country was not yet in a position to resume gold payments, and fears were expressed that it might not be possible to maintain the gold standard after resumption. The Chancellor in his budget speech has shown these fears to be unfounded. Funds necessary to meet debt payments to the United States during the present year have already been accumulated in the United States, so that purchases of dollars by the Government will not depreciate exchange rates. The Bank of England stands ready to export gold, if necessary, and has a gold reserve of £155,000,000, or about $750,000,000. Furthermore, gold to the extent of $200,000,000 has been made available to the Bank of England by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. In addition, a credit of $100,000,000 has been provided by J. P. Morgan & Co.

The economic condition is sound and the above resources available are so ample that there seems no doubt that the Bank of England can maintain the pound at par. The price levels in the two countries are in close harmony, and purchasing power parities and exchange rates are not far apart, so that fundamentally Great Britain is ready for the gold basis.

Economic Condition Sound.

The gold standard has been victorious over the principle of a "managed" currency. That Great Britain would accept a system of managed currency as advocated by certain distinguished economists, was never seriously believed, even by those favoring such a system.

On the other hand, the system which Great Britain is adopting is far from an unmanaged one. Par with the dollar will be maintained to a great extent by deliberate action of the Bank of England, through the utilization of credits in New York or shipments of gold, and through alterations in the discount rate of the Bank.

Although the pound will represent a fixed amount of gold (which is not in harmony with the idea of a thoroughgoing managed fiduciary currency), the value of gold will not be left entirely to itself. On the contrary, efforts will be made through changes in the bank rate to maintain a stable level of prices. Since gold will not be demanded for domestic circulation, the Bank will not be guided merely by the reserve ratio in determining its discount policy. The reserve ratio has been practically ignored since 1914 and will not again be placed on the throne as the chief criterion for the discount policy. The reserve ratio, of course, must be reckoned with if the gold standard and exchange stability are to exist; but, in maintaining exchange stability, foreign credits are as useful as gold. The value of gold, especially for short periods, can be controlled within substantial limits.

Fears voiced in Great Britain that the country is subjecting itself to the control of Wall Street are unfounded. The relationship is rather one of co-operation. Wall Street cannot break British exchange even if it should so desire. As normal conditions are restored the United States and Great Britain will wield a powerful influence in the realm of finance. They can together counteract many of the ups and downs in price movements and can check business depression or excessive inflation; on the other hand, they can stimulate prosperity if conditions warrant.

Lapse of Gold Standard.

The gold standard ceased to exist in Great Britain in August, 1914, although nominally it continued until May, 1917, when the exportation of gold was prohibited by proclamation. The paper currency has nominally been redeemable at all times in gold, but due to pressure of various kinds, neither redemption in gold nor the exportation of gold was feasible following the outbreak of the war. The paper notes have legally been redeemable in gold at all times, but in practice redemption has been frowned upon, and, in fact, actually refused.

During the war any one endeavoring to secure gold was put in the position of being very unpatriotic, while since the war redemption in gold has been prevented by various means. If a note was presented at the Bank of England and gold demanded, the person was asked to step inside and talk the matter over. Seated in a chair with an array of bank officials before him, he was asked if he would not waive his right for gold out of public spirit. If he insisted, he was finally told, as gently as possible, that the Bank could not comply with his wishes, the reason being that the assumption was that a person who demanded gold wanted it for illegal purposes. Melting coin was illegal and exportation was also illegal. Inconvertibility of the bank notes and currency notes has existed on this de facto basis. The Export Control Act of 1920 prohibited the exportation of gold, except under license, until the end of 1925. This has been the chief legal interference with the gold standard.

The note circulation in Great Britain in 1913 amounted to about $30,000,000 and was backed by gold to the extent of over 100 per cent. During and after the war the circulation of the Bank increased continually, reaching about £130,000,000 in 1920, at about which figure it has remained to the present. The law has been rigidly adhered to in that the increases are backed, pound for pound, by gold.

In addition to the bank note currency there has been issued by the Government wartime emergency currency, or the so-called currency notes or "Bradbury's." These increased from nothing before the war to a maximum of about £370,000,000 in 1920, and at the present time amount to about £285,000,000. They have a gold reserve of about £27,000,000. The gold reserve behind the Bank of England notes and the currency notes combined amounts to about 40 per cent., which is a respectable amount, although insufficient if domestic circulation of gold were encouraged.

The increase in the note circulation during and after the war, leading to the accompanying rise in prices in Great Britain, was the primary cause of the depreciation of the pound from its par of $4.86. The par of $4.86 means that the gold pound contains 4.86 times the amount of gold in the dollar. The two currencies will thus normally exchange at about that ratio as long as gold can flow back and forth freely.

The pound began to depreciate at the first of 1915, but during the war the pound was maintained artificially at about $4.76. When the support was withdrawn in March, 1919, the fall was rapid. The lowest point the pound touched was about $3.20 in February, 1920. The fluctuations were wide during 1919-21. Since the first of 1922 the fluctuations have been reduced but have been sufficiently wide to be a source of considerable disturbance. Thus during 1922 the low point was $4.19 and the high point was $4.68. In 1923 the fluctuations were from $4.29 to $4.72. In 1924 the fluctuations were from $4.21 to $4.73.

Further Reform Necessary.

Although Great Britain has returned practically to the gold standard, the internal currency situation is not yet satisfactory. The conditions are not serious, but should ultimately be changed. The question revolves about what to do with the existing currency notes and how to consolidate them with the Bank of England notes. The notes of the Bank of England, according to the law, must be backed pound for pound by gold, with the exception of a fiduciary or uncovered issue to the extent of £19,750,000 (now about 12 to 14 per cent. of the total bank note circulation). The so-called currency notes are Government currency and are supposed to be redeemable in gold. They have behind them Government securities, a small amount of gold and notes of the Bank of England.

The currency system of Great Britain as arranged by the Peel Act of 1844 was rigid, providing no elasticity for the amount of circulation outstanding. The note circulation could be increased only as gold in equal amounts was brought to the Bank of England. This has not been satisfactory and some change is desirable. The maximum amount of currency notes which may be outstanding is also definitely fixed. The actual maximum of any year becomes automatically the legal maximum for the following year. For 1925, the legal maximum is about £248,000,000.

Plans for comprehensive reform have been discussed for some time. It is generally expected that arrangements adopted will provide for the taking over by the Bank of England of the currency notes and the assets behind them. Also it is expected that some flexibility in the amount of notes which may be outstanding will be introduced. Recommendations of this type were contained in the interim report of the Cuncliffe committee in 1918.

The smallest Bank of England note is £5 (about $25). The currency notes are in denominations as small as 10 shillings (about $2.43). These small denominations of notes have proven very useful. Whatever is done with the currency notes, the small denominations will be continued.

Need of Decimal System.

The introduction of the decimal system into British currency is a step which has been discussed at various times in Great Britain and which is long overdue. The present system of twelve pence to the shilling and twenty shillings to the pound is very cumbersome, especially in the keeping of accounts. For many decades Great Britain has been practically the only country whose currency has not been upon the decimal basis. Although various attempts toward currency revision have been made, popular opposition and other difficulties have hitherto proved insurmountable. Comprehensive currency reform in Great Britain should involve the introduction of the decimal system.

The pound has been criticized as being a unit too large, and is very much larger than units of other countries. The shilling, worth a trifle over 24 cents, or the two-shilling piece, worth 48.4 cents, would be a convenient unit and useful for general purposes. If when currency reform was undertaken the two-shilling piece were given a distinctive name and divided into ten parts, an important step forward would have been taken. Such a unit, worth 48.4 cents, would be so close in value to that of the American 50-cent piece that if the two units could be brought together many advantages would accrue.

Greater uniformity among the currency units of the various countries is desirable, and the increase in the value of the pound presents an appropriate occasion to fix it at a point in harmony with other units.

Before the war, monetary unions, such as the Latin Monetary Union, and the Scandinavian Union, gave several countries identical currency units. The selection of a unit to which the various countries could adjust their currencies involves questions of sentiment and tradition which often prove difficult. On several scores the dollar is the logical unit to adopt, since it is a unit which several countries have already adopted and is familiar throughout the world. It is also the leading unit in the decimal system. If Great Britain and the United States had a uniform unit other countries would ultimately conform to this unit. At the present time twenty-seven different currency units exist in Europe, compared with only ten really distinct units in 1913.

BOARD PASSES SCHOOL PLANS

Collegiate Institute Building Committee Will Submit Them to Department.

TO ESTIMATE COST.

The plans for the addition to the Collegiate Institute for Vocational and High School classes, were approved by the Board of Education at a special meeting last night.

Mrs. Morris read a report from the building committee, stating that these plans had been unofficially approved by the Department of Education and had been approved by the Advisory Vocational Committee of the Board, by Mr. Kenner, Mr. Hagerman and Miss Moffatt. The committee recommended that it be given power to have these plans officially approved by the Department of Education and to advertise for tenders so that they might have a price to lay before the City Council when they asked for funds to build the extension. There was some discussion among members as to whether contractors would tender before the council had approved the project but the committee was given power to advertise for tenders.

The finance committee to consider an extension to the Collegiate Institute to contain a gymnasium and others was appointed at the meeting of the board on October 5, 1920, and since that time many schemes, including the repair and alteration of the old South Central School, have been suggested. The present plans include a gymnasium, technical workrooms, commercial classrooms and ordinary classrooms besides making changes in the existing building to provide more room. The cost of the combination school was estimated in December, 1923, as $265,000.00.

NAVAL ARMAMENTS NOT IN CONVENTION

Will Escape Supervision With Warships, Airplanes and Armoured Trains.

GENEVA, May 19. (Canadian Press) — France lost a bitter fight last night to keep the armaments of warships within the scope of the proposed convention which will control by publicity the international trade in armaments. After a heated discussion, the military commission of the arms conference by a vote of 16 to 8 decided to accept the British amendment whereby guns, ammunition and al other equipment of warships are dropped from the draft convention and hence not subjected to supervision. Thus warship armaments meet the same fate as the warships themselves, which were excluded last week from all control. They meet also the same fate as airplanes and armoured trains.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

DRIVER FINED $50.

Settled For $300 With Persons He Injured.

SARNIA, Ont., May 19.—(Canadian Press).—A fine of $50 was the penalty imposed in County Police Court here Monday on Carlos Maitland, found guilty on May 11 of criminal negligence by driving his car into a group of seven young people returning from a dance at Bayview Park on May 1, injuring six. The court was advised that Maitland had made settlements with the injured parties for their damages, amounting in all to about $300. Don Finch, 15, most seriously injured is now out of danger.

CAT CAME BACK.

Man Who "Killed" It, Was Discharged.

WINNIPEG, May 19.—(Canadian Press).—Just as John Rolnickt had pleaded guilty to "unlawfully killing a cat," and was about to be sentenced in City Police Court on Monday, a detective rushed in and whispered to the prosecutor. John was immediately discharged. The cat was alive, still pursuing the sparrows on his home lot.

MILITIA OFFICE DENIED HEARING TOEX-SOLDIER

Accused of Forging His Papers of Discharge From the Army.

LOST POSITION

Minister of Defence Promises Enquiry Into Case of New Brunswick Veteran.

OTTAWA, May 19. — (Canadian Press).—"The absolute autocracy" of men in military uniform was deplored by Hon. J. B. M. Baxter (Conservative, St. John) in the course of a discussion in the House of Commons yesterday on defence estimates. Mr. Baxter described at some length the case of a young man in St. John who had been accused of forging his discharge papers from the army and had lost his job with a railway company because of the stigma attaching thereto. The man had signed a paper as directed by regimental authorities, said Mr. Baxter, and when his "bona fides" was questioned had temporarily surrendered this paper for purposes of investigation. He had never been given a hearing by any military authority.

Denied a Hearing.

Some man in the Militia Office had peremptorily denied him consideration, giving five reasons for believing his papers to have been forged, reasons which Mr. Baxter asserted would never convince any reasonable and impartial tribunal or jury in the land. He demanded that the Minister of Defence appoint an impartial investigator, give the ex-soldier an opportunity for civil trial and establish once and for all whether he was a forger or not.

Mr. Baxter complained bitterly of the methods of the military authorities in dealing with the case, and supposed "officers would sooner put in their time playing golf than listening to the defence of a man accused of bad conduct."

Enquiry Promised.

Hon. E. M. Macdonald, Minister of National Defence, promised every consideration. This case was somewhat out of line with the usual cases handled by the military authorities, and perhaps it might be possible to accord it special treatment. If it was possible for his Department to relieve the situation for this ex-soldier, it should be done.

ROGATION SUNDAY MARMORA CHURCH

Bert Inkster Elected President of Conservative Association.

MARMORA, May 19 — Sunday last being Rogation Sunday, the morning service at St. St. Paul's was in keeping with the day. The choir rendered Caleb Simper's anthem, "Be glad, O ye righteous." Mr. F. S. Pearce was the tenor soloist. The Rev. P. Caiger-Watson preached on Conversion which he described as the growing of the soul into the mind and purpose of Jesus. It was announced that Canon F. W. Armstrong, formerly Rector of Trenton, would be the preacher at both services next Sunday.

At the meeting of Marmora Township Liberal-Conservatives on Friday, Mr. Bert Inkster was elected president in succession to Mr. John Richardson, whilst the duties of secretary were entrusted to Mr. Wm. Pack, Junior.

Messrs. A. V. Yates and R. Hunter attended the Bay of Quinte League meeting at Picton on Saturday. It is expected that the Deloro team will enter this league for the coming season.

At the Methodist church service on Sunday evening Mr. Brock Leonard sang "Crossing the Bar" with very pleasing effect.

CHILDREN SCALDED.

Little Girls Fell Into Pail of Boiling Water on Floor.

BELLEVILLE, May 19 (Canadian Press).—Daisy and Jeanette Knight, aged six and three years, daughters of Albert Knight of this city, were yesterday badly scalded when they fell into a pail of boiling hot water which their father had temporarily left on the floor.

CHINESE BOY COMMITTED.

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 19.—Wong Foon Sing, Chinese house boy in the home of F. L. Baker, Shaughnessy Heights, charged with the murder of Janet K. Smith, Scottish house maid, on July 26, last, was late yesterday committed for trial at the next Court of Competent Jurisdiction by Magistrate G. R. McQueen, in Point Grey Police Court.

CHINA SHOWER TO MISS MILNE

Bride-To-Be Is Honored By Her Campbellford Friends.

LOCAL NEWS.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 19.—Sixteen lady friends of Miss Dorothy Milne met yesterday at the home of Mrs. George E. Hay, Rear Street, and tendered Miss Milne a china shower on the eve of her marriage. The room were tastefully decorated, the flowers and spring blossoms being arranged by Mrs. Hay, who gathered them from her own garden.

Many beautiful gifts were received by Miss Milne, who is one of the best known members of the younger social set in Campbellford. One feature of the function was the arranging on the centre of the table on which the articles were displayed, of the white satin covered boxes in which the gifts had been brought in the form of a bride's cake.

Local Cheese Factory.

Grant Anderson is cheesemaker at the local factory this year. Two years ago he was maker at West Seymour, but last season he had a milk business in town. His reputation is well established, and the cheese shipped from here this season has commanded the top price.

Re-stocking the Waters.

R. H. Cole yesterday placed in the water at Crow Bay 50,000 pickerel fry. All anglers from town who have tried their luck this season report big catches, although so far no big fish stories have been heard.

"At Home" at the Regent.

Capt. Hyland held another of his popular "At Homes" in the Regent Theatre last night, and as usual the attendance of young people was good. Two cars from Peterboro brought to the function the same dancers who attended the 'At Home' held a week ago. Guests were also present from Marmora, Havelock, and other places. Round and novelty dances were enjoyed up to one a.m., excellent music being furnished by the Bon Ton Orchestra of Belleville. The theatre was artistically decorated, and the entertainment was voted one of the best yet held in this popular place of amusement.

Road Machinery Expected.

A representative of the J. I. Case Company, the firm from whom the town purchased the road-making machinery recently ordered, was in town yesterday, coming here with the expectation of finding the outfit at the depot, and intending to oversee the unloading and getting the equipment into working order. The car with the road roller, scarifier and stone crusher has not yet arrived, and has probably been sidetracked in the yards at Belleville.

A number of applications have been received for the job of operating the roller, but no selection has yet been announced by the members of the Roads and Bridges Committee, who have the matter in charge.

"BIRTH OF A NATION" BILLED

For the first three nights of next week Capt. Hyland has secured the famous picture, "The Birth of a Nation," that has held its place for the past 10 years as the greatest story ever told on the film. Popular prices will prevail. Seats will be on sale at the drug store of J. A. Loucks later in the week. Reserved seats 35 cents, rush seats 25 cents. As Monday is a holiday, the crowd that is certain to be attracted from outside points by the Victoria Day celebration to be held here would do well to remain over for the evening in order to witness one of the greatest pictures ever shown on the screen. 1d-118-702

HOME IS WORLD OF CHARACTER

Children Are Entrusted to Parents by God—Lindsay Pastor at Millbrook.

JOY IN CHILDREN.

MILLBROOK, May 18—"Take this child and nurture him for me, anod I will pay thee thy wages.' So said Pharaoh's daughter, and so God says to all parents to whom He commits a child, for children are emphatically more His offspring than ours."

"Mother, you are the guardian of the Moses of the future; why should not the needed emancipator and Christian leader be your son, as well as some other father's boy?"

These statements contain the seed thought of the morning sermon preached by Rev. W. H. Barraclough, B.A., B.D., of Cambridge street church, Lindsay, who conducted the educational anniversary in the Methodist church on Sunday, and also took the service at Zion in the afternoon.

The text was chosen from Acts 7:22, "And Moses was earned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in deeds." Education was defined as "the sum total of the influences brought to bear upon our lives," and three stages in the training of Moses were noted, and applied to modern times. The very names of Moses' parents reveal the character of the teaching given in his earliest years, Amram, "the Kindred of the Lofty One," and Jochebed, "Whose Glory is Jehovah."

Moral Basis at Home

If in the home a moral basis of life is laid the child is almost sure to aspire to the best things, and develop as God would have him do. "Instruct your son well, or others will instruct him ill. No child goes untaught. Send him to the school of wisdom, or he will go himself to the rival academy of dissipation."

"Parents sometimes wonder why the streams are bitter when they themselves have poisoned the fountain."

Evidently Moses' mother instructed her son well in the great truths, for he always remained a Hebrew at heart, and the impression of the glorious covenant and heritage that linked him forever and forever with God was indelibly stamped upon his inmost consciousness. "If parents persevere in the reiteration of divine truths custom wil come to their aid and make those practices agreeable which they insist upon; and they will find a treasure in their offspring which will infinitely outweigh the treasure and toil expended upon them. It's the reward of your faithfulness—the expression of His grace—I've seen it again and again."

Christian Atmosphere

In a place in Egypt, as the supposed son of the princess royal, Moses entered upon the second stage in his educational career, and this period, the speaker said, corresponds to the years spent in High School, College or University, as the boys and girls go away from home for the first time. The advantages of a Christian atmosphere were stressed, and the fact emphasized that just such environment is provided in the various schools, and colleges under the church's supervision, for the financial assistance of which appeal was being made on Sunday.

Rejected and misunderstood by his own people, with something of fear in his soul, his spirit fretting and disturbed, Moses was driven away into the desert of Midian, and here God completed the third stage in the moulding of his character. "Sometimes God has to take us clean away from the things that engross our minds that we may have leisure to meditate on the lessons He would have us learn."

A "University of Midian" experience comes into many a life as an absolute necessity in preparation for its real place in the world, and its culminating service.

Appeal to Parents

Parents were solemnly exhorted not to carelessly and unkindly criticize teachers, pastor, or any who have to do with the training of their children outside the home, because of the lessening of influence, and the general weakening of character.

"Do not put monetary interests first; if you would have your sons wealthy men, let their patronomy be well-stored mind, a practical experience of Christian truths and a good reputation. These, with habits of industry, and economy, are a priceless heritage."

Much depends, in this young country, upon the training of its future leaders, and the church, by her Christian institutions of learning, is doing what she can to mould and develop men and women of lofty ideals, and deep-rooted moral character, that will measure up to the requirements of the hour, and of the years that lie ahead.

SCHOOL BOARDS' JOINT MEETING

Public and Separate School Trustees Discuss Joint Continuation School.

ASK INFORMATION

HASTINGS, May 19.—The new school question for Hastings was again taken up on Friday evening in the Council Chamber when a meeting was called by the Public School Board. The members of the Separate School Board were invited to be present and every one turned out, making a total of twelve School Board members from Hastings.

The meeting was called for the purpose of presenting a proposition to the Separate School Board in reference to continuation classes from Hastings.

The building of a new Public School has been under discussion now for sometime, and it was thought advisable to build a school large enough so as to have rooms for continuation school work.

The members of the Separate School Board were made acquainted with this fact, and the matter was laid before them.

C. P. Doughty, Secretary of the Public School Board, was appointed chairman of the meeting pro tem, and J. F. McCarthy, Secretary of the Separate School Board, was appointed Secretary for the meeting. Both of these men were nominated by J. F. Jones, and R. Walsh seconded the motion.

Mr. Doughty addressed the gentlemen and as he had been appointed as a delegate to the Ontario Educational Association, gave an account of what might be done.

The members of the Separate School Board were asked for their opinion on joint continuation classes and works of both the public and Separate Schools, and the members of the latter seemed genuinely interested in the proposition.

Mr. Doughty was finally instructed to write to the Department of Education to see what could be done as to the building of the proposed school, the necessary equipment for it, and how the taxes might be levied on each ratepayer for his own school, as at present, and also as to what arrangements might be made concerning each ratepayers' taxes for the continuation part of the school.

Plans of several schools, obtained by Mr. Doughty from the Minister of Education, were submitted to those present. None of these, however, was thought suitable.

As soon as possible after the necessary information can be obtained another meeting will be called.

Those present were:

Separate School Board—Messrs. J. F. Jones, J. F. McCarthy, P. M. Howard, Richard Walsh, B. Crowley and J. J. Collins.

Public School Board—Messrs. A. V. German, C. P. Doughty, H. Dodd, J. Stewart, G. Whitred and R. Simpson.

Attended W.M.S.

Those from Hastings who attended the Women's Missionary Society convention held at Mount Pleasant on Friday were: Rev. and Mrs. M. L. Hinton, Mrs. W. T. Tate, Mrs. R. Collins, Mrs. McCalf, Mrs. J. M. Baker, Mrs. B. F. Doxsee, Mrs. A. V. German, Mrs. R. Johnson, Misses Ona Doxsee and Sara Moise, Mrs. J. E. Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Stinson, Misses Mae Hinton and Carrie Doxsee.

BAILIEBORO FIELD DAY.

Programme of Games and Sports For Holiday.

BAILIEBORO, May 19. — The Bailieboro sports are planning a big field day for Victoria Day, which will be observed May 25th. Baseball games, races and athletics of various kinds will be indulged in. The sports will be held in Mr. Wes Thompson's field. The ladies of the church will provide supper on the grounds.

OBITUARY.

CHARLES NOYES.

The following friends and relatives from out of town attended the funeral of the late Charles Noyes on Saturday: Mr. and Mrs. J. Cole and Mr. Paul Maier of Rochester, New York; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Noyes of Brighton, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Juby and Mr. H. Orchard of Fairport, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Noyes and Miss Edna Noyes of Madoc, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Noyes and Miss Thelma Noyes of Belleville Ont.; and H. Lavoie of Belleville. The name of Mrs. Charles Noyes, widow of the deceased was not in the list of survivors published on Friday.

MRS. ELEANOR A. ALLEN.

LAKEHURST, May 19. — The death occurred on Saturday, May 9 at 2 p.m. of Eleanor Agusta Allen, widow of the late Hugh Allen, who predeceased her seven years ago. Mrs. Allen passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Shearer, where she resided during her illness.

The late Mrs. Allen was born in North Monaghan in 1861. Her family moved to Harvey, where she resided till her death.

She leaves to mourn her loss three daughters, Mrs. H. D. Coons of Lakefield, Mrs. W. R. Smith of Hall's Bridge, Mrs. W. J. Shearer of Lakehurst; also two sisters Mrs. H. Pearson of Smith and Mrs. Elizabeth Fawcett of Lakehurst.

The funeral, which was largely attended, took place from the home of Mrs. Shearer at one-thirty o'clock on Monday, May 11, and proceded to Lakefield Cemetery, the services being conducted by Rev. Mr. Edgar of Gilmour Memorial church. Mrs. Allen was a life long member of the Presbyterian church.

The pall-bearers were: H. D. Coons, W. R. Smith, W. J. Shearer, H. R. Allen, W. R. Coons and R. A. Smith.

NO ELECTION FOR TWO YEARS YET

Chief Liberal Whip Says No Party Desires General Election Now.

SPOKE AT FORD.

WINDSOR, May 19 (Canadian Press)—Speaking at Ford, George Kyle, M.P., chief Liberal whip, at the first of the rallies for Edward G. O'Dette, candidate in East Essex, declared there was no reason why the government should go to the country within two years. "The cabinet had never considered an election this year," said Mr. Kyle, "and furthermore neither does the opposition want an election. The majority of government continues to increase and for this one reason an appeal will not be made. It is only when the strength of a Government declines that elections are assured."

Speaking of the government's proposal to reimburse the Home Bank depositors for a portion of their losses Mr. Kyle said: "I believe, however, that the depositors will be given a pleasant surprise."

PLUM TREES IN BLOOM.

Cavan Orchards and Hedges White With Blossoms.

CAVAN, May 11. — The plum trees are in blossom. The frost of Sunday night will likely be the cause of "no fruit from them."

Rev. R. T. Richards spoke on the topic, "The Unpardonable Sin," on Sunday evening. The text was taken from Matthew, 12:31

Mrs. Skuce is staying with Mrs. I. Keegan.

The section house at the C.P.R. station is being repaired and made fit for occupation.

LABOR MAN SPOKE NORWOOD PEOPLE

J. S. Woodsworth Addressed Meeting in Methodist Church on Sunday.

NORWOOD, May 19.—A forum of the citizens of the community was held on Sunday afternoon in the Methodist Church at 3 o'clock. The meeting was addressed by J. S. Woodsworth of Winnipeg, leader of the Labor party. Mr. Woodsworth when a very small boy resided in Hastings, his father having been pastor of the Methodist Church in that place. The speaker, who had himself been a Methodist minister, had charge of the "All People's" Mission at Winnipeg. His subject, "Strangers Within Our Gates," was exceeding interesting and instructive and greatly appreciated by all present.

Splendid Play.

The three-act play, "My Irish Rose," put on in the Town Hall on Friday evening last by the young people from the Wildman Sunday School and under the auspices of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Y.W.A., was all it had been advertised to be. It is really difficult to tell which one took his part the best as every character was well represented.

The solo numbers, given by Mrs. R. McNeeley, Mr. H. Hall and Mr. J. S. Weir, were well received and highly applauded. Mrs. McNeeley, who has a beautiful contralta voice, sang "In the Heart of a Rose." Mr. Hall sang "How Do You Do, Mr. Gump," and Mr. Weir "The Smile O' Molly Maloney." Instrumental numbers were rendered by Mrs. F. B. Garlick. There was a large attendance and the proceeds were very gratifying.

HODGES DEATH WAS ACCIDENT

Lindsay Coroner Issues a Statement Declaring Inquest Was Unnecessary.

NO "FOUL PLAY."

LINDSAY, May 19.—(Special.)—In view of the fact that Mrs. Charles Hodges, mother of Charles Hodges, Jr., (whose body was recovered from the Scugog Monday morning) still believes that her boy met with foul play, Coroner Dr. Logan yesterday afternoon issued a public statement.

The Coroner states that he examined the body of the youth; that there were no marks of any description on the body except about the wrists, where an impression had been left due to the clothes being tight on the bloated body. The hair had been washed off the head in areas near the forehead and the remainder was very loose.

The Coroner expresses himself as perfectly satisfied that the boy was drowned on Monday night, May 4th, and that his body had been in the river from that date. There was, in his opinion, no evidence of foul play. He did not deem an inquest necessary, and issued a burial certificate with the cause of death as "accidental drowning."

The finding of the boy's body has not revented tongues from wagging. A great many recall the story told the authorities by young Scott in which he declared that he was present when Charley Hodges fell off the town wharf while fishing. Although the boy afterwards repudiated the statement, the finding of the body of young Hodges in the river has given it additional color. It is argued that the boy, owing to his mentality as well as nervous temperament, went back on his story because of persistent questioning on the part of the authorities.

The father of Charley Hodges was in Barrie over the week end and did not arrive home until last evening. The remains were interred to-day.

GROUPS ENTERTAINED.

Be Loyal Group Entertained C.G.I.T. Girls and C.S.E.T. Boys.

BRIGHTON, May 19.—On Thursday evening, May 14, the "Be Loyal Group" of the Presbyterian Church entertained the C.G.I.T. Girls of the Methodist Church and the Trail Rangers and Tuxis Square. There was a short programme, Miss Ruby McCracken and Miss Marjorie Coulter each giving recitations, Miss Gywneth Frise a solo and Miss Bernidene Brintnell an instrumental solo.

Each group put on a stunt—the C.G.I.T., a circus; the Be Loyal Group, a burlesque band; the Trail Rangers, a boxing exhibition and starting a Ford; the Tuxis Square put on a three-act show, "Robbery."

After lunch was served Miss Margaret Lapp, Mr. Bill Brown and Dr. Dunnett, representing the C.G.I.T. group, Trail Rangers and Tuxis Square, respectively, thanked the Be Loyal Group for their pleasant evening.

MOTORS COLLIDED DUNSFORD STREET

Lady Received Severe Injuries When Thrown Out of Car.

DUNSFORD, May 19.—A collision took place in Dunsford at noon Thursday which might have resulted seriously when cars driven by C. D. Logan of Bobcaygeon and Frederick Humphries came together at the corner in front of the Methodist Church. Mr. Logan was driving home from Lindsay with a new car which he had purchased the day previous.

Mrs. Humphries was thrown right out of the car and lighted on her shoulder, receiving severe cuts and bruises. Both of her legs were hurt so that she is not yet able to walk. Her daughter, Miss Norma Humphries, also received a few bruises. None of the occupants of Mr. Logan's car was injured.

The fenders of both cars were torn off, that of Mr. Humphries receiving more damage than the other.

GERMAN POLICY WAS ANNOUNCED BY STRESEMANN

Will Enter League When Allies Evacuate Cologne and Rhine Bank.

NO SECRET ARMIES.

Will Fulfill Dawes Plan to Letter Because Loser Must Pay.

BERLIN, May 19. — (Canadian Press)—Foreign Minister Stresemann forestalled the French and Allied notes to Germany with an elaborate and sometimes bitterly satiric exposition on current international problems last evening in the Reichstag. It was the first significant address of the foreign situation since the election of President von Hindenburg.

Briefly, Stresemann hammered out these indicators of the German foreign policy:

"Germany will not enter the League of Nations unless the Allies evacuate Cologne and the right bank of the Rhine.

"Any security pact evolved by the Allies without full German co-operation will be a pact against Germany and will be interpreted here as such.

"If, as advance formation indicates, the Allies will excuse their failure to remove troops from Cologne on the basis of the Reich's secret armies, Germany will counter with a flat statement that the secret armies are an imaginative fiction. While willing to concede the western frontiers as they stand, no German government will grant the present Polish frontiers.

"Germany will fulfill the Dawes plan to the letter. Not only this government but any government that follows it; irrespective of party composition, will meet the reparations obligations. At the same time Germany maintains that she has no moral obligation to pay in the sense of atonement for war guilt, but pays because the loser must pay."
